It is safe to assert that no other man has done so much in throwing light upon the agricultural profession as Dr. Lawes, of England. Being a practical farmer, and a practical chemist, with a heavy purse, and a thorough, enduring enthusiasm as an experimentalist, he has, in conjunction with Dr. Gilbert, given the world, of late years, many most valuable facts, from the inquiries of some forty years, in regard especially to the relationship of food to animal life.

In our report of 1879, upon the cattle feeding experiment of that year, I had occasion, in explaining the position of the debit and credit sides of the transaction, to quote Dr. Lawes as authority for the fact that no fattening animal whatever pays for the food it consumes by the direct increase of its weight from such food. This seemed to be an interesting and perhaps even a new thing to many in England, for on the 11th February The Live Stock Journal, of London, published our chapter of 1879, entitled "What it costs to make beef." To this Dr. Lawes made reply in the same journal, and as the opinion of such an authority always takes the highest place in agricultural literature everywhere, the occasion should not be lost by us in showing Canada what her experimental farm has done so far, and what the world thinks of certain branches of her work.

As the whole original article of 1879 and Dr. Lawes' letter are not lengthy, it will be best first of all to reproduce them.

FROM REPORT OF 1879.

What it Costs to make Beef.

Few of us have any idea, as I have elsewhere remarked, as to the actual cost of feeding, because few of us are in the habit of placing a value upon the produce consumed upon our own farms. Dr. Lawes, of England, recently asserted that in no case would an animal pay for the cost of its food by the direct increase of its weight from such food. What has been our own experience here of late?

1878—To make 1,610 lbs. cost $193.27, or 12 cents per lb.
1879—To make 4,593 lbs. cost $636.00, or 13 cents per lb.

6,203 mean 12¼c. per lb.

This is charging every possible item in food, bedding and attendance; and I have no doubt the figures are in correspondence with the average of the country.

So then it costs 12¼ cents per lb. live weight to make good beef that is usually sold at 6 cents per lb. live weight! How is this accounted for?

Debit, as above		$0 12½
Credit actual increase at market price for improved beef		$0 05½
Credit also for extra quality given by 6,203 lbs. new to 26,139 original lbs. = 4 at 2 cents per lb		0 08
Credit manure, according to chemical value, $0 06c. " ordinary value, 0 02c.		0 04
		$0 17½

Balance being credit of $0 05 per lb. over all animals.

This needs explanation. We purchase a steer, or take one of our own breeding, and put it into regular systematic feeding when 1,163 lbs. weight and worth $40.70 at 3½ cents per lb. During six months it is fed upon materials that cost, with attendance and bedding, the sum of $43, which have added 360 lbs. to its weight, thus making the prime animal 1,523 lbs. But the food has not only added 360 lbs. to weight it has improved all the original 1,163 lbs.—raising them from 3½ to 5½ cents per lb., as a purely marketable subject. It is obvious therefore that the food and its associations have to be credited with what they have done at the ratio of 4, that is every 1 lb. of new weight improved the quality of 4 of the old, thus making 8 cents, as given in the foregoing statement. The real value of manure not being known, or rather, as the chemist and practical farmer do not agree as to its value, I have adopted a mean, or 4 cents, as resulting from the refuse that goes to make every additional pound of flesh.

Our example steer cost originally	$40 70
And to feed, etc., cost	43 00
	$83 70
It sold for	83 76

Showing no profit or loss when all food, etc., is valued, and no other items credited, as shown in the above example of 17½ cents per lb.

But according to honest book-keeping there is, as we have seen, 5 cents per lb. on 360 lbs. or $18 of clear profit for six months from an investment of $83, which is equal to 43 per cent. per annum.

LETTER FROM DR. LAWES.

"In the Live Stock Journal of February 11th, you publish the result of some experiments in cattle-feeding, made at the Ontario Experimental Farm, which, while they in one sense confirm my views yet arrive at very different conclusions from mine, owing to the very different estimate of the value of lean as compared with fat stock in Canada and in Great Britain.

"When I stated, some years ago, that the increase upon a fattening animal was of less value than the cost of the food consumed to produce it, I did not intend my remarks to have a world-wide application.

"The Ontario experiments appear to have been carefully carried out. It is stated in the report that a steer weighing 1,163 lbs. increased 360 lbs. in six months. This is nearly 14 lbs. per week increase, or a little over one per cent. increase per week on the weight of the animal, which I consider to be a fair average. The total cost of producing the 360 lbs. was $43 or £9, which is equivalent to 6d per lb. As the report puts the case:—'It costs 12½ cents to make good beef, which is usually sold at 6 cents per lb. live weight;' but then the report goes on to show this loss is converted into a profit, because 'the food has not only added 360 lbs. to the weight, it has improved all the original 1,163 lbs., raising them from 3½ cents to 5½ cents per lb.'

"The great distinction between Great Britain and Canada, as regards cattle feeding, is, as I have mentioned above, the very low price of store stock in the latter country. I am now going to make a further statement, which very possibly may be called in question—viz., that we pay more per pound for beef in a lean animal, than we can make of it when fat. I will proceed to give my reasons for holding this opinion, and your readers will thus be able to judge for themselves whether they justify the conclusion to which I have come.

"I will take the case of a bullock of the same weight as that given by way of illustration in the report of the Ontario experiments, and will endeavour to follow out the transaction as it would probably occur in this country.

"A bullock, in good store condition, weighing 1,163 lbs., would give about 53 per cent. carcass, or carcass, 616 lbs., offal, 547 lbs.—1,163 lbs. The increase, 360 lbs., I estimate to contain 70 per cent. carcass, or carcass, 252 lbs., offal, 107 lbs.—359 lbs. By the addition of the two we get in the fat animal, carcass, 868 lbs., offal, 655 lbs.—1,533 lbs.

"This is equal to 57 per cent. of carcass. Now, assuming that the selling price of beef is 8d. per lb., I do not think that a store beast of good quality could be purchased at much under 4½d. per lb. live weight; which would be equal to 8½d. per lb. for the carcass, and make the value of an ox weighing 1,163 lbs. £21 16s. It costs in Canada, 6d per lb. to add the 360 lbs. weight to the animal or £9 altogether.

"I estimate that it takes 12 to 13 lbs. of absolutely dry food of good quality to produce 1 lb. of increased live weight; about two tons of food would therefore be consumed in the production of the 360 lbs. increase; this increase I estimate to contain 252 lbs. of butcher's meat, which at 8d. per lb. amounts to £8 8s.

"Now, it is quite evident that no combination of fattening food which we could use in this country could cost as little as £4 4s. per ton, in an absolutely dry state. Swedes, at the purchasing price of 15s. per ton, would cost £6 6s. in a dry state. Therefore, as beef on a lean animal costs as much per pound, if not more, than beef on a fat animal, it is not with us, as it is in Canada, a question of raising each pound of our store stock from 3½d to 5½d. On the contrary, we may be only too thankful if we can start even, and do not pay more for the meat on our store stock than the price for which we can sell it to the butcher when the animals are fat.

"It will be a happy day for British farmers when they are able to purchase cheap store stock from foreign countries, without risk from disease: but until that day arrives I must still adhere to the opinion I have expressed, that a profit in feeding can only be obtained by charging a certain sum to the manure.—J. B. LAWES."

Presuming upon a careful perusal of our original article, I should like to look into Dr. Lawes' statements somewhat fully: When he says he did not mean the remark that I made use of in 1879 to have a world-wide application, he implies, I think that at the time he advanced it (address to the Berkshire Agricultural Association, 3rd May, 1879), he thought the much smaller cost of food in America might bring about a result entirely different from British practice, but now, he says, his views are confined by our experiments, though through different causes, the chief of which is, "the very different estimate of the value of the lean as compared with fat stock in Canada, and in Great Britain." Herein lies the cream of the point at issue, and Dr. Lawes proceeds by saying,—"I am now going to make a further statement, which very possibly may be called in question, viz., that we (in Britain) "pay more per pound for beef in a lean animal, than we can make of it when fat." This will be a startling fact, for it is a fact as fully explained in the foregoing letter, even to old experienced hands in Britain, and it is one upon which we in Canada may congratulate ourselves, for "as beef on a lean animal costs as much per pound, if not more, than beef on a fat animal, it is not with us, as it is in Canada, a question of raising each pound of our store stock from 3½ to 5½ cents. On the contrary the British farmer may be only too thankful if he can start even, and has not to pay more for the meat on store stock than the price for which he can sell it to the butcher when the animals are fat." Thus then, the British farmer can only look for profit in feeding by charging a certain sum to the manure.

The reverting question at this point is, is it a matter of fact in Canada that lean or store cattle cost less to produce per pound than they do when matured; we have said so in all our previous reports, and the practice of the country in every instance says so. But all commercial practice is no correct test of the actual cost of everything, and thus it will now be interesting to ascertain, as exactly as possible, what is the real cost to the producer of a store cattle beast. In doing this, it will be best to keep to the average steer reported upon by me in 1879, and since handled by Dr. Lawes.

COST OF A STORE STEER WEIGHING 1,163 POUNDS, ALIVE, AT 30 MONTHS OLD.

Bull service	$ 2 00
Half cow's milk during six months	11 25
Extra food to calf during nursing	2 50
Food of calf, from six to twelve months' old, during winter	6 89
Food of yearling steer, twelve months	20 04
Food of two-year-old, during six months of summer	12 50
	$55 18
Attendance and risks	6 50
Total actual debit	$61 68

This is the first time we have publicly attempted to show what it costs to rear a steer from birth to thirty months old. The statement is one which must be most critically examined, and I advance it now for that very purpose, trusting our feeders will spare no pains to thoroughly sift.

A good Shorthorn grade cow is put to the bull on 1st July, and drops a bull calf on 1st April following, which is steered in due course; the calf gets half the mother's milk for six months, along with some grain and green fodder, therefore it is justly chargeable with one-half of the milk—equal, on an average, to 1,500 lbs. at ¾ of a cent per pound. After weaning, when six months old on 1st October, the calf is treated to a regular diet of hay, roots and grain, which, at lowest, is equal to one-fourth of what is required by a two-year-old, as shown in Chapter II herewith; then, for the next twelve months, the summer grazing with some grain to keep up the "calf fact," will amount to $20.04 as above debited, and during the time from 24 to 30 months, which is on grass with grain to suit, the steer's keep cannot be less than $12.50; these, with a proper allowance for attendance and risks by death, etc., will amount in all to $61.68.

The animal now weighs 1,163 lbs., and has consequently cost 5¼ cents per pound.

But the producer has had an annual revenue from the manufacture of manure; we must credit the steer with the results obtained in this line, as detailed in Chapter III, and according to kinds and quantities of food consumed; this will figure up to $11.00 for the term of thirty months.

We have now obtained the clear sum of $50.08 as the actual cash cost to the farmer of producing a thirty months old steer that weighs 1,163 lbs., so that were he to sell to the feeder at 4½ cents per pound, he would neither be a gainer nor a loser by that part of the transaction. But it is obvious that were such an animal sold at 3½ cents, as we have put it in 1879, the producer would certainly lose, and the feeder gain, as illustrated. It is well known that steers about 1,000 lbs. live weight did fetch from 3½ to 4 cents. and even now, not more than 4½ cents per pound, or exactly what it costs to produce them, on an average.

The lesson to be drawn from these facts is that no breeder of store stock can be making a safe profit who sells under 4½ cents per pound, and that, as the matured steer at three years, according to present prices, will not fetch over 6½ cents, the feeder cannot safely give more than 4½ cents for the store animal.

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family, handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle. 6-1y

PEOPLE TORMENTED by the many disagreeable sensations produced by dyspepsia, or are thin, nervous and weak, should use the standard tonic—Northrop & Lyman's Quinine Wine. They will find it agreeable and beneficial. It enriches the blood by aiding digestion and assimilation; soothes and invigorates the nervous system, and imparts a healthful appetite. When used as a remedy for bilious and intermittent fever, it produces the happiest results, if taken between the attacks. Convalescence is hastened, and untimely decay of the physique and constitution is arrested by it. The spirituous constituent, sherry wine, is of the best quality, and the aromatics combined with it renders its flavor additionally pleasant. They who use it gain flesh as well as strength and it exerts a cheering influence upon the mind. It promotes a healthy secretion and flow of bile, sound repose and regularity in the action of the bowels. If judiciously used it may be taken without apprehension of any ill result by persons of the most delicate constitution. A fair trial is all that is needed to prove the genuineness of its claims to public confidence,, and to the truth of the general verdict in its behalf. No article of its class commends its self so strongly to nervous invalids who require building up—none is so well adapted to fortify the system against the dangers which threaten the debilitated. It should not be mistaken for a mere stimulant of appetite, which so many so-called tonics simply are. It so regulates the stomach that it is enabled to perform its various functions with regularity and vigor, and its action is not only thorough but prompt. Ask for the "Quinine Wine of Northrop & Nyman." Sold by all druggists

NOT THE SLIGHTEST AFFINITY exists between the numberless cough mixtures with which the market is flooded and that successful preparation—Northrop and Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. It stands alone, distinct, itself, and nothing else. It embodies the best results of pharmaceutical science. It accomplishes positive, decisive results, effectually relieving coughs when the lungs are not tuberculous or hopelessly affected) colds, larnygitis and diseases of a scrofulous origin. While it does not cure Consumption it is the most reliable means of defence against that dreaded scourge. The invigorating properties of the hypophosphites reimburse the system debilitated by the constant tear and wear of a cough, while the paroxysms rapidly diminish in violence, in consequence of the soothing emollient action of the cod liver oil upon the inflamed lung membrane. The phosphorus, lime and soda, in combination with it are all natural components in the construction of the bodily edifice, which, in a state of decay, lacks a sufficiency of those elements. These the hypophosphites supply, increasing the nutritive properties of the blood, and building up and rehabilitating the tottering human structure with a degree of promptitude as astonishing as it is gratifying to the invalid. A perceptible gain in flesh as well as strength is one of the consequences of using this standard preparation, which both time and experience have demonstrated to be fully worthy of the confidence reposed in it. Prepared by NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto and sold by all druggists.

CHAPTER VIII.

Robert Constant had put away in the early days of his great trouble all thought of the fortune which awaited him "taking possession." It seemed impossible at that time that anything could interest him that threatened to interfere with the necessity of his accustomed routine of work; for it was only by increasing the amount of his usual labour, and thereby inducing fatigue enough to secure him each night so many hours to sleep, that his reason was preserved of him during the first few months of Fancy's absence

It was not until a second and a third communication from the lawyers had reached him that he began to rightly understand his position. It is not necessary to go into the details of the will of this almost unknown relative, who, dying in America had left his vast wealth to the children of a favourite brother and sister in the old country. Rob was the only son of the brother; the sister's child or children the lawyers had not been able to trace; and it was upon this subject that they had written to him, at the same time begging him to assist them in their search by any papers, or letters, or information he happened to possess as head of the family.

Fortunately in this dilemma Jenny, who had every name and date and incident connected with her master's family at her thirty years at her fingers' ends, was virtually able to supply the missing threads. The sister, according to Jenny's recollection, had also one child. She married an English gentleman named Darrell, and, after his death, married a second time and went with her husband and little girl to France. Jenny declared that the child's name was Marion, and that she had been baptised in the same church in which her mother's second marriage had taken place. The name of the church was also given; so there was no difficulty in proving whether Jenny's memory as to names and occurrences could be relied upon. She also mentioned the name of the pension in the Rue 14. Honore where the newly-married people had lodged for a short time before leaving Paris for the country. Here at least was solid ground to work upon, and the lawyers found it so; but, this little excitement over, Rob suddenly collapsed, and his restless days and feverish nights began to tell upon him.

The spring came earlier than usual that year to Langley; the orchards and trees put on their beauty of young leaves and blossoms, and no chilling winds or sharp frosts caused them to regret their early confidence. Lambs frisked in the sunny meadows, birds began to build their nests; every cottage window was full of the primroses that bloomed by thousands upon the banks and in the woods; and day by day the sun shone more brightly over the land, and every living thing rejoiced in its existence.

But to Robert Constant this sweetest of springs came with so many sad and touching recollections of the child who was gone, as to seem in some moments almost like a mockery to him. Everything about him seemed to speak of her—the primroses, the sunny meadows, the birds' song. The lengthening days and long twilights became at times almost too bitter to be borne, with their crowd of happy memories; and when he looked up, almost expecting to find in the night at least some little sympathy with his despair, the bright clear moonlight seemed to mock him with its calm and serenity. After weeks of stolid misery, however, a change ensued. A slight attack of fever laid upon a sick bed, and memory and retrospection took upon themselves a new phase, and even dared to hope and trust.

The years that were gone came back to him in those fever-dreams with a reality that was only half a pain; instead of wishing to forget, he prayed to remember; and to have had her for but one moment by his side at these times he would willingly have thrown away his life. He accused himself of having been harsh and brutal to her, now that he was incapable of viewing his conduct from all points. In ignorance of love or friendship, she had fallen into the snare set for her by one of whom he could not yet think without his brow darkening; but, after all, was she so much to blame? Was his own conduct so free from the suspicion of neglect and selfishness as to justify his severity to her? In spite of her piteous entreaty he had left her to her fate, and what fate was it? What misery and temptations might not have beset her since she left him that sad autumn day! He had loved her so passionately, so completely, that his very love had been the sternest judge she could have had. To be near her, to carry her image, like some precious thing, continually in his mind, and to know that she was gradually learning to love and watch for him, would have been joy unutterable. He worshipped her with all the strength and fibre of his nature, and never more so than when, in his righteous anger, he put her proffered love away and killed all hope in her by a severity that had in it more of madness than determination.

Stretched helpless upon this sick bed, many things that he had not permitted himself to recall presented themselves, and took their proper place in his mind. His anger rose up as a sin to condemn him, his hasty judgment tortured him like a crime. He remembered how he had surprised her weeping and in sore distress, how she had sprung to him with that heart-beating cry of his name upon her lips. If she had at first deceived him as to those stolen interviews with his unknown rival, might she not have had reasons that so far seemed good and satisfactory to her? Afterwards she did not seek to deny any of the charges he had brought against her—nay, her very confession had placed her utterly at his mercy, so full and humiliating had it been! And how he had received her humble supplication—how guarded and saved her for the future?

That night a ray of hope lighted up the darkness, for a dream came to him when he closed his eyes towards early morning—a dream that roused up all his latent energy and delivered him a sane man to the world at large; for he thought that, as he lay there, Fancy came through the half-closed door. She had on a long white dress and flowers in her hair; but, as she came nearer, the dress and blossoms took a bridal colour, her sweet eyes radiant with love gazed into his, and her trembling lips met and pressed his own; then the vision faded, the dream dissolved; and the next morning Robert Constant, in defiance of doctors and nurses, had made one step towards recovery by crawling down to the dining-room, although half-fainting from weakness as he tried to walk across the floor.

He had made up his mind to go to town and prove for himself the truth or falseness of the impression this dream had left upon him. At any rate, he told himself that he had been greatly to blame for his long silence and neglect so far as she was concerned. He was her lawful guardian still, and her father's friend, bound by the most solemn promises to the dead man to protect and care for his child.

He would not alarm her by any idea of wishing to be considered other than a friend, anxious only to serve her interest. She should stay in town just so long as she pleased, or return with him if already the splendours and gaieties of Lady Winton's world should have ceased to charm her. It might be, and Rob's heart beat fast as he pursued his dreamings, that she had waited long and wearily, wondering why he never came.

In a week's time he thought he would be ready to travel; and so he ate, drank, slept, and almost willed himself to obtain the strength necessary for all he longed to do. When the day was at last fixed upon, the truth of the adage, "Man proposes, but God disposes," was once again verified by the course of events. The lawyers, who had been prosecuting their search for Marion Darrell, arrived one afternoon suddenly at Langley, and Rob was closeted with them in a long interview. The result was that they all left for London the next day; but they did not stop there; they pressed on to Dover, took the steamer for Calais, and reached Paris by easy stages the same night. Only a few hours of rest and sleep were possible; and then Rob and the lawyers and some French officials presented themselves at the parlour of the little convent in which Marion Calderon had taken refuge, and stated their case to the gracious lady who received them with the utmost courtesy. The name of Calderon, as of Darrell, was unknown to the Lady Abbess; Marion having entered herself in the books under her mother's maiden name of Constant. This was the reason why Garth had been unable to satisfy himself as to her reception.

She too had been dangerously ill since her return, and grave fears had been entertained for her sanity; but, although weak and ill, looking more like a ghost than a living woman, Marion elected to leave her peaceful home and once more return to the world.

"I shall come back—to die," she said, weeping, and embracing the sister who helped her to prepare her scanty wardrobe. "I have one thing yet to do—to proclaim my marriage. When that is known I have nothing left to live for."

"You will never return to us," answered the sister sadly. "You have a new life before you, new friends to live for; you owe something to them, and they will fill the place in your heart which has so long been a void. We shall never cease to think of and pray for you; but you will never come back."

CHAPTER IX. AND LAST.

Fancy's wedding-day is fixed, but she has not yet seen Rob. Lady Winton has given her consent to the marriage, and a letter has been sent to Langley, asking Rob's sanction to what is already looked upon as a settled thing. Fancy has not once spoken of the contretemps of her meeting him in the Museum, and Lady Winton has no idea that he is in town. The marriage is to be performed by special license, and the bride and bridegroom are to depart immediately for the Continent. Fancy's wedding-dress is also to be the one she travels in, a costume of Venetian-red velvet, enriched with her usual accompaniment of furs.

And now that she is really to pass away for ever from her old life and early associations, a foreboding of evil that will not be driven away hangs over her like a dark and heavy cloud. Nothing of the joy or sweetness of love's actual realisation comes to her, as day by day she bids farewell to her girlish life—a miserable apathy, at best indifference, marks her interest in everything that goes on around her.

Occasionally, to please Lady Winton, she rouses herself a little, and tries to talk, to smile, to hide herself and her daily increasing wretchedness under an assumption of the gaiety that once was so natural to her; but it is weary work, and by no means so successful as she could wish. In the meantime Lady Winton wonders why no reply comes to her letter. Unknown to Fancy, she sends a telegram not only to Langley, but to Winton, to learn, if possible, the secret of this strange silence; and her own people sends her news of Rob's illness and absence from home.

Jenny is written to next to forward the letters, et-cætera, to her master; and so far, Lady Winton tells herself, she has done all that is necessary.

But she would feel much happier and more satisfied as to the result of this marriage if Fancy herself was not so pale and dejected. The girl's manifest strangeness and unhappiness trouble her kind friend greatly; but nothing that Lady Winton can do seems to make things any better. Fancy and Garth had settled and arranged their love-affairs almost to the smallest detail without consulting any one. This hasty marriage and determination to leave England had been at first strongly opposed by Lady Winton; and only with great difficulty had she been brought to give a reluctant consent. Although Garth was a favourite of hers, and there was every reason, so far as his wealth and position were concerned, to regard the marriage as a favourable one in every respect for Fancy, the girl's increased distress and illness as the time for its celebration came on gave Lady Winton an uneasy feeling of wishing the responsibility of this step to be at least shared by Robert Constant.

On the night before the wedding, Fancy, who has been crying night and day until all her tears are exhausted, kneels by Lady Winton's side in her pretty dressing-room to hear what the letter just received from Rob contains.

He had only just reached Langley and heard of Fancy's approaching marriage from Lady Winton's letter.

"There is very little of consequence in anything else, he says," Lady Winton declares. "He has been in Paris, hunting up some obscure relative, who has come into a fortune, or something of that kind. He will be in town to-night, so he says."

"He is not married then, Laura!"

"Certainly not! Whatever put such an idea into your head? This lady—a cousin of his, I suppose—is staying with him for the present. Lester writes me this piece of information. By-the-bye, I wonder how Jenny likes a new mistress."

Fancy lays her head in her friend's lap, and strokes her jewelled fingers caressingly.

"Laura," she says suddenly—and a little shiver runs over her as she presses against Lady Winton—"you must not let Rob be present to-morrow, nor must you let me see him to-night. I could not bear it. You will promise that I shall not be called down, even if he wants to see me; will you not?"

"That is rather serious, Fancy. I will tell him that you prefer to be alone to-night."

"And to-morrow I could not be married were Rob present——"

"I will see what can be done," she says gaily; "but I should hardly think he would wish to be present."

Half an hour later, and Fancy, dressed in white satin, and with Laura's wedding-present of pearls on her throat and wrists and wound in shining strings in and out of her shining hair, stands in the conservatory with Garth Calderon and knows that, at this very moment, Lady Winton has taken Rob's hands in one of the many pleasant reception-rooms, and is breaking to him, as kindly and delicately as possible, his ward's determination not to see him again.

A choking sensation rises in her throat as she thinks of this, but at the same time comes a despairing resignation to her fate,

The only thing she dreads now is the chance that yet remains to her of a possible interview,

HOPE FOR BALD HEADS.

In a letter sent to the New York Sun the writer says:

Three years ago the top of my head was as bald as the palm of my hand. On the recommendation of a friend I used the following simple preparation, and now have a good head of hair:

To a pint of water add a trifle more salt than the water will dissolve. In other words make a very strong brine.

At night before retiring rub the bald part briskly until a tingling sensation is apparent, taking care not to make the head smart. When the head is perfectly dry there will appear a thin coating of salt.

In the morning wash the head carefully with pure water, cold, no soap, and apply a minute quantity of some emolient.

I have never known an instance where this remedy has been applied to hair that is falling out that there was not an immediate strengthening of the growth.

With some bald heads it has failed.

DEATHS OF PRESIDENTS.—James A. Garfield was the twentieth President of the United States, the fourth occupant of the Presidential chair who has died in harness, and the second to perish by the hands of an assassin. President William Henry Harrison, of Ohio, died April 4th, 1841, having served but one month in office. He was succeeded by Vice-President John Tyler, of Virginia. Zachary Taylor, of Louisiana, was the second President to die while holding the office of Chief Magistrate. He served one year, four months and four days, and died July 9th, 1850. His successor was Millard Filmore, of New York. Abraham Lincoln, of Illinois, was the third President to die while holding office, and the first to die a violent death, being shot down in a private box in Ford's theatre, Washington, by John Wilkes Booth, a prominent actor and brother of the great tragedian, Edwin Booth.

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes o adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price in a sealed envelope, on 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

Lines on a Lady's Ulster.

Now let the "Ulster" be the theme.
For o'er the season fain confess
That men and goddesses may dream
Or write the "Poetry of Dress."

"The apparel oft proclaims the man,"
Thus truly saith the immortal bard:
And who shall say that women may
From fashion's influence be debarr'd.

'Tis true she adds a charm to dress,
And dress too oft her beauty blurs,
But when she's graced with faultless taste
Her garments oft add charms to her.

The dress in which are best allied
The subtest art and perfect skill,
Adds to the charm 'twas meant to hide,
And makes them more bewitching still.

No careless folds the Ulster shows,
But round the human form divine
The perfect fit will still disclose
The rounding form, the curving line.

The autumn chill, the winter snow,
The heavy dew, the pattering rain,
The frosts that bite, the winds that blow,
Invade the Ulster all in vain.

Thus use and elegance combine—
That shields the form that charms the eye;
And art is shown in each design
That M. & A. so well supply.

And to crown all, each rare device
In Ulsters, M. & A.'s display
Is sold at such a wond'rous price,
We feel amazed and well we may.

Faultless fit, splendid style, vast variety, good work and a very great saving in price will be found in M. & A.'s Mantles and Ulsters.

The Market.—In spite of the threatening weather there was a good attendance at the market last Saturday, and seasonable commodities commanded good prices. Farmers from all parts of the surrounding country were in with produce, and accordingly the markets were well stocked with all sorts of grain, fruit, and vegetables.

Thanksgiving Service.—The usual Harvest Festival service will be held in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, to-night at 8 o'clock. The church has been nicely decorated for the occasion, and the sermon will be preached by the Rev. Dr. Clark, of Belleville. We hope the attendance will be as large as on former occasions.

A Modern Invention.—Attention is directed to the advertisement in another column "Edison's Guide to the Piano and organ." This guide is one of the greatest and most practicable of modern inventions, by which any one can play the most difficult musical composition with a few hours' practice, the idea being the substitution of figures for notes.

Too Bad.—Several persons of 'high-standing' have complained of the low degree to which overhanging awnings are allowed to descend. Some have been heard to say that they will bring an action against some of the owners for 'tiles' unroofed and other damage sustained. The Street inspector should see to this matter.

Military.—Our Peterboro cavalry, who encamped this year at Picton held a short parade on Saturday when they were paid up. As a whole, they are a handsome set of troopers and those who can translate are fond of quoting the following line, no doubt as an evidence of their undying patriotism: Dulce et decorum est pro patria mori.

Sale of Household Furniture, Etc.—We would draw the attention of our readers to the sale, advertised in another column, of Mrs. W. J. Larmour's household furniture, and dwelling with quarter-acre lot on Brock street. The sale takes place on Monday next, and those interested should make a point to be present.

Bee-Keepers Convention.—A convention of the bee-keepers of Peterboro', Victoria, Northumberland and Durham will be held in Lindsay at the time of the central exhibition. It is the intention to form an association to include the four counties. Meetings will be held in the council chamber on the evenings of the 4th and 5th prox., commencing at 7.30 p.m. Mr. S. Corneil will look after the preliminary arrangements.

The "Star" is the title of a new aspirant for journalistic fame (in the amateur line), which has been placed upon our table. The initial number, although issued under the disadvantages common to the launching of all such enterprises, is very readable, and is credible to the publishers, Messrs. M. F. Kincaid and C. H. Lee. It is to be a four pager, 4 by 6, at 50 cents a year, or one cent a twinkle.

Father Quinn.—As announced in last week's Examiner this gentleman occupied the pulpit of St. Paul's Church on Sunday last, both morning and evening and preached to large congregations on both occasions. On Monday evening he delivered a lecture in the same place to a very large audience. He is a pleasing speaker, has a good command of language and kept his hearers wrapt in attention. He lectures again to-night in St. Pauls on the subject of "the Romish confessional."

Fall Clothing.—Mr. H. LeBrun's return from Montreal has been followed by an avalanche of new fine fall goods filling his commodious premises to repletion. The new styles, the beatiful fabrics and the tasteful selections throughout the immense stock must be seen to be appreciated, and we advise our readers who have clothing to buy this fall to call early at his establishment and make personal examination of a stock, that for extent, variety and low prices stands unrivaled in Peterborough. The goods were bought from Gault Bros, who took good medal at the Montreal Exhibition.

The Pedestrian Tournament.—A very successful pedestrian tournament came off in the Skating and Curling Rink on Friday evening last. The events on the programme were a three mile walking match, an acrobatic performance, a walk against time, a one mile race for both men and boys, a five mile walk, a two mile and a one mile race, and exhibitions of club swinging. The events were closely contested there being several from a distance present. The Peterborough men, although in some cases competing against professionals made good record and in most of the events carried off the honors.

The Midland Grain Route. The Montreal Star of the 23rd says: "The opening up of this route by means of the Midland and Grand Junction railways connecting the lake vessels at Midland City on Georgian Bay with the river barges at Belleville on the Bay of Quinte, has been looked forward to by Montreal grain merchants and shippers for some years past with almost the same interest as attaches to the improvements on the Welland Canal. By the new route much time will be saved and only the two classes of vessels will be necessary, which would be otherwise if lake ports west of Belleville were used as the Eastern Terminus of the railway. The first cargo of grain has been transhipped by the new elevator at Midland City into cars on the Midland Railway and will arrive here shortly."

Educational.—Some parents are complaining that the younger children at school have too many lessons to study at night, are being injured in health thereby, are being jammed with facts alone and are not taught to reason on their own responsibility. Parents should remember that before commencing to reason, with any degree of satisfaction and hope of advancement, children must have a few facts from which and on which to base their deduction. No doubt there is a probability that young and weak children in climbing Parnassus' hill may become mentally bow-legged. Such chances might be run. There are no Pullman cars on the road to Learning. Rich and poor alike must foot it to her abode.

"The Fall Fair Advertiser."—The success last year attending the publication of our Fall Fair Advertiser has induced the publisher of the Examiner to again issue a similar sheet this year. They will be distributed gratuitously at all the agricultural exhibitions in the County of Peterborough, and cannot but prove an excellent means of advertising to those who have made use of its columns for their announcements. We would advise our readers attending the fall shows to procure a copy, peruse not only the reading matter but the advertisements, and when making their fall purchases to not forget those who make use of printers' ink.

Fatal Accident.—Last Thursday, a young man, Samuel Reynolds, aged a little over 20, son of Benjamin Reynolds, a former hotel keeper of Peterborough was suddenly called home to his forefathers, being instantly killed on the Midland Railway on this side of Coldwater, a station about six miles from Waubashene. No explanation can be given of the sad affair, the whole accident being wrapt up in stygian darkness. The young fellow, who was acting was brakesman, was not missed until the train reached Waubashene, when the conductor fearful of some disaster sent back a locomotive. The dead body of young Reynolds was found cut in two, one half on one side of the rails and the other half in an adjoining ditch into which it had rolled. Telegrams were immediately sent notifying friends and others here of the shocking occurrence. A Committee from McWilliams Lodge of True Blues, of which he was a member made preparations to take care of the remains and look after the funeral which took place on Saturday last at four o'clock, the body being brought to Peterborough by the evening train on Friday. He leaves a father, brother and sister to mourn his untimely decease. His funeral was attended by a considerable number of Young Britons and True Blues. His coffin, a beautiful silver mounted one, was supplied by th Midland Railway, who did all in their power to alleviate the effect.

GENTS' EMPORIUM

Neatness in personal appearance is the young man a certificate of character his fellows. A slovenly dress indicates an uncertain, careless, and unreliable disposition and shiftless habits, which do not recommend the wearer to favor. In these days, no matter what your means, there is no excuse for being out of the fashion.

D. CAMERON, has constantly in stock large assortment of Cloths, Tweeds etc., and ranging from the cheapest to the best grades, from which the most fastidious chaser may select to suit his purse.

In every class of goods the best value and good material are guaranteed, and the cheapest suit is made up in good style and as fashionably cut, to suit the wearer's taste, as the most expensive.

Special attention is paid to the Order Department, which is under the advertiser's personal supervision, and satisfaction and perfect fit are guaranteed with every order.

Attention is directed to the extensive stock of Gents' Furnishings, comprising Shirts, Collars, Cuffs, Ties, Underclothing, Hosiery, Handkerchiefs, etc., every variety, in which special value given to customers.

FALL ASSIZES.

The Fall Assizes for the County of Peterborough opened in the Court House on Monday at one o'clock, before Mr. Justice Armour. Besides the local members of the Bar, we noticed present Mr. Hector Cameron, Q. C., Toronto; Hon. Sidney Smith, Cobourg; and Messrs. Kirkchoffer, Millbrook; Lyman English, Oshawa; T. G. Blackstock and William Maloek, Toronto.

The Crown business was attended to by Mr. Ashton Fletcher, of Woodstock.

THE GRAND JURY.

Upon the opening of the Court the following gentlemen were empanelled as the Grand Jury:—

C. S. DUDMAN, Foreman.

John Garbutt,	T. E. Bell,
Wm. Collins,	Wm. Burgess,
Robt. Fife,	Johnston Cooney,
John L. Aunger,	Henry Bennett,
John Boreland,	John Clarkson,
John W. Clark,	Wm. Carter.
Chas. Crawford,	J. P. Davis,
Edward Foley,	James Hicks,
George Hooey.

ADDRESS TO GRAND JURY.

After the Jury had been sworn in, His Lordship addressed them, congratulating them on the lightness of their duties as, so far as he knew, there was only one case—a case of homicide—to come before them. The charge of homicide might be a serious one or not, according to the evidence. Homicide may be justifiable or excusable. There were three kinds of justifiable homicide, and two kinds of excusable homicide. If, in order to prevent a crime or in arresting a person for felony, one person kills another, that would be held as justifiable homicide. Excusable homicide was where the killing was accidental, or in a sudden encounter, in the necessary defence of one's person or a member of their family. Where there was malice implied the law would hold murder. Implied malice meant where the act was done wilfully and deliberately as in the case of one person poisoning another, or where one person threatens to take another's life and afterwards carries the threat into effect. They would have to adjudge from the evidence in this case if it was one of justifiable or excusable homicide, or of murder. Another duty they would have to perform was to visit the County Jail and find out if those imprisoned were legally deprived of their liberty, and if they were properly treated. Under the present system this duty was a superfluous one. The goal inspection now was unnecessary, as the Government appointed an Inspector for that purpose; and if any one deemed himself illegally detained in prison, he could easily get redress. His Lordship referred to a class usually found in every gaol—the vagrants. Some of these were physically incapacitated from work, but many of them were able-bodied persons who preferred to live in gaol rather than outside, as in most cases they were better off, especially in the winter season. In some places in the West there were county poor-houses for those who were unable to support themselves, but in some cases it was thought unadvisable to have such places, as if built there would be found plenty to fill them. He thought that where County Gaols were not fully taken up a portion might be set apart for the really deserving poor, as the whole community should bear a portion of the expense of keeping them. He then referred to the usefulness of the Grand Jury system in former days and the present feeling among some in favor of its abolition, but none of those who would do away with it had suggested anything to take its place. In concluding he expressed a hope that they would be expeditious in the discharge of their duties, and not leave themselves open to the charge sometimes made that Grand Juries were as anxious to draw their pay as to perform their duties.

Hunter vs. Sykes.—This was an action brought by Mr. John D. Hunter, of Millbrook, against a Mr. Sykes, of Oshawa, to recover damages for injuries received while being treated by him in a contrivance which he had constructed, called a compressed air bath. This was the first case which came before the Court, and occupied the whole of the afternoon. The facts of the case are briefly as follows: The plaintiff, a young man of about 20 years of age, was suffering from partial deafness and catarrh. To cure himself he was advised to take air baths. To obtain these he went to Oshawa, where the defendant had a chamber erected for the purpose of administering these baths. The chamber or bath was made something like a boiler, being about six feet in diameter and the same in height. The patient entered through a door which opened inwardly, and sat down on a seat. Air was then pumped in by means of a steam engine, a safety valve being attached to the floor to prevent the pressure becoming too great. When the patient had remained in long enough he was directed to open the safety valve, and so let the air escape. The plaintiff in this case states that he was sitting in the bath when suddenly, without any previous warning, it exploded, causing him severe injuries, for which he now claims damages, basing his claim on the ground that the defendant was guilty of negligence in not seeing that the safety valve was in a fit and proper condition; also that the construction of the chamber had been faulty, and that due care had not been exercised in managing it. On the part of the defence, it was urged that the plaintiff must have been down upon the seat and placed his feet upon the safety valve, thus rendering it impossible for it to work. Verdict in favor of plaintiff for $900. W. Mulock and Kirkchoffer for plaintiff; Cameron, Q. C., and English for defendant.

TUESDAY.

The Court opened at 9 o'clock a.m. The first case called was that of the prisoner being charged with the murder of Joseph Larocque on the morning of the 4th of September last, in the town of Peterborough. After calling the roll of Petit Jurors, the following gentlemen were sworn in as a jury in this case, namely:—

THE QUEEN vs. NELSON HAMBLIN,

Washington Reid,	Wm. Fowler,
Joshua Smithson,	John Stark,
Geo. A. Elliott,	Hugh N. Duff,
Wm. Geary,	Andrew Davidson,
Thos. Ferguson,	Denis Maloney,
Thos. Gordon,	Wm. Dixon.

Mr. Fletcher, Crown Council, then addressed the jury, laying the case very fully, ably and impartially before them.

Mr. D. W. Dumble conducted the case for the prisoner.

The witnesses for the prosecution were the same as those called at the Coroner's inquest, and the evidence in effect the same. As a full report of this appeared in the EXAMINER at the time, and the event being so recent, we think it undesirable to again publish the evidence. For the defence Moses Rougier and Joseph Pine, who live on Charlotte street, east of George, testified that on the night in question they were both in bed and had upon hearing the noise on the street gone to their windows and heard an argument between two persons, who, from the subsequent events, they believed to be the prisoner and the deceased. The former swore that he heard one say to the other, "You did say it, and you'll have to swallow it," referring to what the deceased had charged the prisoner with saying after he had come the second time into Mrs. Berubee's, namely, that he "would like to see the son of a b——h that held the door." The other person said "I didn't say it." Pine swore that he heard deceased say to prisoner, "If you own up to saying it I'll not touch you, if you don't I'll lick you." Timothy Dorgan, Antoine Dabois, J. S. Grandy and Joseph Lavine testified to the prisoner's good character.

Mr. Dumble forcibly and eloquently addressed the jury in behalf of the prisoner. He was followed by Mr. Fletcher in behalf of the Crown, after which His Lordship summed up the evidence and delivered a very full and explicit charge to the jury. The jury then retired, and after an absence of about an hour entered the Court and returned a verdict of manslaughter.

His Lordship, in addressing the prisoner previous to pronouncing the sentence of the Court, said that the jury had evidently taken the most lenient view of the case. The evidence had been sufficiently strong to have convicted him of murder. As it was, his duty would be to pass the heaviest sentence in his power, and he accordingly sentenced him to imprisonment in the Kingston Penitentiary for life.

On hearing the sentence the prisoner was much affected, and fairly broke down. He was then removed to the cells in the gaol.

An unusually disastrous railway collision occured on the G. W. Air Line near Aylmer. An excursion train crashed into a freight train which had been stopped in full view, and as the driver of the excursion train was killed, no one will ever know why he failed to stop. At least five lives was lost, and many people were injured.

Thomas N. Pillow, living in the third concession of Ernestown, drove up alongside of a steam thrasher with six barrels of water on a waggon and dropped the reins. The engineer, not noticing the team, blew the whistle, when the horses made a jump, and Pillow, in attempting to catch the reins, was knocked down by the waggon, which passed over his chest, killing him instantly. He was thirty-seven years of age, unmarried, and lived with his brother.

On the 14th of February last Mr. Gilbert Gilmour, of Mount Forest, sent a letter to the London and Canadian Loan and Agency Co'y, Toronto, agreeing to borrow money from them at the rate of 7 per cent. The letter was delivered in error to the London Loan Company, and opened by Mr. Kent, who replied to the writer, by offering to let him have the money at 6½ per cent. All of this afterwards became known, and the upshot of it was that criminal proceedings were entered at the Middlesex Assizes, the result being that Mr. Kent was found guilty, and condemned to pay a fine of $400.

Mr. W. A. Foster, of the Bay of Quinte brick works, formerly Mayor of Belleville, was drowned in the Bay, at Belleville, on Saturday. He, his eldest boy, and a boy named Lingham, were returning from the quarries at Point Ann in a small open sail-boat when the boat upset a short distance from shore. All clung to the bottom of the boat, which after a short time righted and turned over again in the opposite direction, the canvas covering them. The boys managed to work themselves clear, and were rescued by a schooner's yawl, but Mr Foster sank. His body has been recovered.

With the steady march of improvement in science and mechanics, medicine has kept even pace. It now gives us remedies in a perfection of form and composition that the crudities of earlier medical science never approached. Among the most effective of medicines are Dr. J. C. Ayer's Pills—beautiful, sugar-coated, glistening globules—universally known and used as a reliable family physic. These pills possess great efficacy as a preventive of, or cure for the diseases incident to this section of the country; especially diseases of the stomach, liver and bowels, which often result in dangerous fever. They also give vigor to the circulation, remove constipation, create an appetite, and aid digestion, thereby promoting health. Their ingredients are entirely vegetable, and they are a safe remedy in the hands of the most experienced. Macon, Ga., Telegraph & Messenger.

Elijah Vankoughnet, at Kingston, on Friday was placed on his trial for the murder of John Richardson at Buck Lake, last August. The evidence taken was almost purely circumstantial, no reference to the prisoner's alleged confession after his arrest being allowed. The Chief Justice attached some importance to the evidence of Lawrence Dennie, who said that the prisoner when at his place had admitted that he accidentally shot Richardson. The jury at half past nine said they could not agree on a verdict, and were locked up for the night. At nine o'clock on Saturday morning the jury came into court and announced that they could not reach a verdict. The judge discharged them, and the prisoner was borne back to his dungeon sobbing hysterically. It is said nine were for conviction and three for acquittal. The case for the crown was rendered somewhat weak on account of the inadmissibility of certain confessions of the prisoner. The result of the trial is very unsatisfactory in view of the universally admitted necessity of making the punishment for murder absolutely certain as a means of deterring others from committing this crime.

A WATERY GRAVE.

When the Norseman left Charlotte on Wednesday night, there was a young man on board, named Walsh, said to have been boss carpenter or foreman at the Auburn Mills. He was under the influence of liquor, and Capt. Crawford fearing that he would fall overboard, as there was considerable sea rolling, had him taken down to the lower deck. During the night, he seems to have gone on to the main deck again, as his hat was found near the stairs, but at daylight on Thursday morning, he could not be found on the steamer. There can be no question but that he fell overboard and was drowned.—Port Hope News.

PETERBOROUGH, OCT'R 6, 1881.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Hon. Edward Blake will address his constituents in the third week of October, and will speak at Cartwright, Orono and Bowmanville.

The Hamilton Gas Light Company have notified their customers and the public that commencing with the current quarter 1st August, the discount has been increased to twenty five per cent., thus reducing the net price of Gas to $1.87½ per thousand cubic feet, if paid at the company's office in conformity with the usual rules.

President Arthur is being commended on all hands for the excellent tone of his address issued after being sworn in at Washington. He promises to carry out the measures of reform devised and suggested during Garfields brief administration of the affairs of the nation, and says he will be guided by the late President's example and experience.

The Globe of Tuesday asks "where are those tall chimneys?" To which we answer that there is one in Peterboro' near the river beside the Brick Works standing idle that was to be used as soon as the N. P. came into force. But the N. P. has proved to be N. G. and the chimney is likely to remain quietly and peaceably where it at present stands. There are other chimneys similarily situated in Peterborough that were to be made hum as soon as John A. got into power, but they are still idle.

The managers of the Irish Land League have made a formal pronunciamento against the Land Bill, and for continued agitation. It declares that the Bill "cannot be accepted even as a temporary "settlement," that "the cause of the "political and social ills which impoverish the country is the detestable system "of alien rule; and that the people can "never be prosperous or content until "they enjoy the right of self-government, "for which they will never cease to "struggle." Which means secession, an independent Irish kingdom, confiscation and distribution of lands, and a high old time. The most intelligent of the Irish people think that Irish independence would be the beginning of trouble which would make the previous state bliss. The agitators are in a fair way to ruin both tenants and landlords, and to create a reaction in England which will make sympathy with Irish ills a by-word, and will overthrow any Government which shall venture to introduce any Irish measure but stern repression.

A deputation from the East York Reform Association waited upon ex-Vice Chancellor Blake, at his residence in Toronto, on Saturday last, and urged him to accept the nomination of the Liberal Party in East York, of which riding his revered father was at one time member. Replying to the deputation, Mr. Blake said he went to the Bench a poor man, and he left it a poorer one, and on resigning had determined to endeavor to better his circumstances, and with that view had entered the firm of which he was now a member, then promising to devote himself to his profession. His duty therefore, to his family and to his firm demanded that he should in the meantime give his undivided attention to this work. He did not think it honest at present to accept a position which would call him away from the work he had undertaken. He did not think it right to enter Parliament unless in independent circumstances, and unless with ample time to study the questions of the day and represent fully the constituency at all times in the House. This was impossible in his case at the present time, and for these reasons he was compelled to decline the honor offered him. He was not afraid of a contest—he would, indeed, rather have a fight for the position than otherwise. It was no question of being easily returned or the reverse, although he had no doubt that the many influential members of the deputation present would enable him to secure the position. But, as he had shown, his hands were tied for the present. He would wait at least for another five years, and then, if he was spared in health and strength, it might be that he would go up with them and assist in the advancement of the cause of reform. He would be willing to go on to defeat or victory for those great principles which actuated the Liberal party.

He would be a strong force in Parliament and in the country, and a general regret will be felt that his service cannot be procured earlier.

NORWOOD SCHOOL TROUBLE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Sir,—Your correspondent from Norwood, referring to the Division Court held here on the 24th August, says "Our Division Court." What does he mean? Am I to understand it was expressly held in the interest of the School Board, for it is in their interest he is writing? He says it was difficult to collect five men to act as jurymen, I may say that when the list of jurors was called only six were present out of twelve, there being seven of the twelve summoned that were exempt by law from acting as jurors, and this accounts for absentees. He says the counsel for the defendants raised the objection to my action. He gives Mr. Edwards credit for more than he done. His Honor the Judge was the person that raised the said objection, and told me to sue them as individuals. I do not know of anything that Mr. Edwards done but make the following affidavit before the Clerk of the Court, on leaving the village:

AFFIDAVIT.

"I, Elihu Burritt Edwards, of the town of Peterborough, in the county of Peterborough, solicitor for the defendants, make oath and say:—

"1st.—That the several persons whose names are mentioned in the first column of the schedule at the foot hereof, were necessary and material witnesses on behalf of the plaintiff, and attended at the place appointed for the sittings of this Court, and at the time when said sittings are usually held, on the twenty-fourth day of August, 1881, as witnesses on behalf of defendants, and that they did not attend as witnesses in any other cause, to my knowledge; but said witnesses were not called owing to plaintiff being nonsuited.

"2nd.—That the said witnesses necessarily travelled in going to the said Court, the number of miles respectively mentioned in figures in the second column of the said schedule opposite to the names of each of the said witnesses respectively.

"3rd.—That the several and respective sums of money mentioned in figures in the third column of the said schedule, opposite to the names of the said witnesses, respectively, have been paid by me through the Bailiff of this Court, to the said witnesses, respectively, as in the said Schedule set forth for their attendance and travel as witnesses in this cause.

"(Signed,) E. B. Edwards.

A. R. Anderson, Bailiff of the Division Court, made the following affidavit:

ORIGINAL SUBPŒNA.

[WITNESS FOR DEFENCE.]

"I swear that this subpœna was served by me, on the 15th and 24th days of August, A.D. 1881, by delivering a true copy to Thomas Buck, Charles Dutton, W. H. Stephenson, Robert Scott, S. P. Ford, M.D., and that I travelled three miles to do so.

"(Signed,) A. R. Anderson,
"Bailiff.

"Sworn before me, at Norwood, this 24th day of August, A.D. 1881.

"(Signed), Jno. Butterfield,
"Clerk"

I now beg to say that Mr. Buck was not in Court, nor summoned by the Bailiff but was left at his house; also, that Charles A. Dutton was not in Court, nor was he (Dutton) served to give evidence in the said case until some time after the Court was adjourned. This speaks well for the Bailiff of "Our Court." But His Honor the Judge would not allow these costs. Is it not time the Inspector of Division Courts was looking after "Little Russia?" or, is he a man after Inspector Brown's heart—pocketting his salary and winking at such conduct. Mr. Brown is responsible to the parties that appointed him, and if I am alive and well I will bring a complaint against him for wilful neglect of his duty at the next sitting of the County Council, and I feel certain I will get a gentlemanly hearing from that body, whether Mr. B. gets his time or not.

In your issue of Sept 22nd I notice an article which justly calls for a few remarks from me, and without wishing to intrude far on your valuable space, I will, with your sanction, appear before your readers in reply to the unkind, unjust and ungentlemanly communication from "Reader." It is not for me to censure a writer who descends to the use of language akin to a Billingsgate fishwife—in that case I should leave "Reader" to the retributive justice of a discerning public, which, in the long run, seldom fails to estimate either a man or a writer at his true value, or to mete out to him his just deserts. Whoever the person may be who conceals himself behind the very general cognomen of "Reader," one thing I am sure of, and that is, he is a very young man, or, if old in years, a very young and inexperienced writer, for no one of gentlemanly breeding, of experience or culture would, in an article on school matters or school management, stoop to the use of slang words or slang phrases, such as "promising shoot," "old 'un," "young 'un," "dressing some more unsavory meat," &c., &c. I cannot believe that any of our teachers would be guilty of such a violation of good taste, even if some of them do feel bitter because injustice cannot quietly be inflicted upon me and my family.

And now a few words about the real question at issue. My boy pinched Hetherington, who in turn kicked at my boy under the seat. Now, do you not think, Mr. Editor, that a just and impartial teacher would have called up both boys? I think so; and in truth the very fact that only my boy was called up is sufficient evidence of the teacher's partiality in the beginning. At the time of this fracas my son was sixteen years of age, and the simple fact that he alone was called up, that he alone was questioned and scolded by the teacher while the other lad went scot free, was sufficient to rouse rebellious feelings in the breast of any one; and there lies the kernel of the whole matter. The partiality and injustice of the teacher was the root and rise of the whole thing, for, smarting under this injustice of the teacher, and feeling the undeservedness of his position, my boy declined to tell how the trouble began, and for that he was ordered to stand upon the floor till noon, which order he obeyed. This was punishment number one, and a wise teacher would have let the matter drop there. Hetherington got no such order. But now my boy must get more. He received an order to remain in after school was out at four p.m. (No. 2). He obeyed that order. Hetherington was not kept in. He is again ordered to tell the cause of the disturbance. He obeyed the order, and told all. He is ordered lastly to receive six slaps with the taws on each hand (No. 3), and now at last the boy rebels again. What wonder. He says, "I have been punished enough, sir," and refused to take the punishment. Hetherington gets no slaps. The teacher then pummels the lad with the handle of the taws (a stick) with the leather wound round his hand. Still Hetherington was not there, and still the farce goes on. And how? On the 13th of April he thrashed the boy, and on the 14th the teacher was at my instance served with a summons to appear before the magistrates. On the 25th he writes his charge against the boy, after having his own tried by the magistrates and twice postponed, and on the 30th of May the trustees met for the purpose of investigating this charge without having notified me. They then adjourned until 2 p.m., when I got an hour and a half's notice to attend—a notice which I could not recognize, the time being insufficient. And so this time it was not Hetherington but Sargent who was not there, and as the teacher Dutton had done in the school, so the trustees likewise decided this charge upon one-sided evidence—the evidence of the teacher alone, who was himself to be tried next day before the Magistrates' Court, where he confessed before that Court that this was the first trouble he had ever had with the lad. I have no doubt the whole affair was concocted for the purpose of influencing the Magistrates on the following day, and failing to do so they will not retract, though well aware of the wrong. Punishment No. 4.—My boy "to apologize before the whole school to the teacher, and promise good behavior for the future. Punishment No. 5.—A written apology to be sent to the School Board for his non-appearance when summoned on an insufficient notice. Punishment No. 6.—"Suspension till these apologies are made."

Yours truly,
W. Sargent.

Montreal Star; In Canada the temper of the people is undergoing a change, and no party can ever again make them look to the interest, commercial, social, political or otherwise, of any society before their own. The spirit of Canada First is abroad; It has taken root, and before it every other "consideration" must give way.

Owen Sound Advertiser: Those who go in for cutting down our local legislature would do well to consider whether it would not be better to dispense first with some of the ornamental appendages with which our constitution is burdened. Among these we believe is the office of lieutenant-governor.

Ottawa Free Press: The attempt to build up an aristocracy in Canada has alienated the progressive spirit of the masses in Great Britain, and it would be no exaggeration to say that for every imperial title bestowed apon us we sacrifice thousands of hardy immigrants. People who flee from hateful institutions will not go to a country where they see them flourishing in shoddy transplantation.

Port Hope Guide: We are in favor of reducing the number of members of the local house; failing to get this measure, we are in favor of the next best thing—biennial sessions. Let us try it, and if it will not work successfully we can repeal it. It would stop this eternal tinkering of our laws.

Ottawa Free Press: Exemptions of any kind are unjust, whether they be the free admission of liquors and goods for the use of a governor-general, or the relief of officials from the payment of taxes imposed on the rest of the people. There is nothing offensive or invidious in raising the question at the present time.

Port Hope News: "It is said that the Picton camp cost the country in the vicinity of $30,000. In this connection it may not be out of place to state that the rumor is going the rounds that full pay was drawn for those men who only served three or four days; in fact, who only went down to fill up the companies for inspection day."

A Public Meeting should be called of the citizens of every city, town and village in the Dominion, to consider what should be done to prevent the hair from turning Grey—and falling out. If this important question received their earnest consideration they would unanimously decide that science had at last discovered something that would answer the purpose—and furthermore would recommend Cingalese Hair Renewer as being this something for restoring the hair to its natural color, and prevent its falling out. 50 cents per bottle. 40-4t

The Bobcaygeon Independent says: "The Peterborough Review and the Lindsay Post are wrestling with the Trent Valley canal, and both are endeavoring to turn the thing into a political dodge. The Review has done the scheme a great injury in striving to make the project tributary to Tupper's popularity and at the same time endeavoring to strike a blow at Mr. Mowat's government. It will be difficult to induce the people to believe that the scheme as it stands at present is not a mere political move to get votes for the one government and to cast discredit on the other. The Review has ruined the scheme in the estimation of many."

HEAD OFFICE, - WATERLOO, ONT.

DOMINION DEPOSIT, $66,295; RESERVE, or re-insurance fund, nearly $200,000, and increasing every year. SURPLUS over all liabilities, $49,187, and rapidly increasing. The ONTARIO is the ONLY purely MUTUAL CO. in the Dominion. It has NO STOCK HOLDERS except its POLICY HOLDERS, who get ALL the PROFITS each year. NO PREMIUM NOTES; NO ASSESSMENTS; all AFTER-CLAPS are contrary to its charter; its RATES are all on CASH basis and self-sustaining. PAYMENTS ONLY in 15 to 20 years. Large CASH PROFITS every year, after the third. Its eleventh year (1880) was over 30 per cent. more successful than any previous year, and the death rate about half the expectation. A Mutual Co. gives the same security as the oldest Stock Co. gives.

THE ONTARIO gives Larger Cash Surrender Values, Larger Loans on Policies, Larger Paid up Policies, than any other Co. doing business in Canada. The Canada Converts its ordinary life policies into LARGER ENDOWMENTS, for the use of the insured Monthly, late in life, than any other Co. doing business in Canada, and PAYS the BALANCE to its family in 30 days after its decease is proved to the Co., and MAKES NO CHARGES ANY DISCOUNT on its paid-up claims. Its shortest time in 1880 behind none. Its claim papers were signed through the law courts in days for payment.

...SMITH, ENNISMORE AND LAKEFIELD FALL SHOW.

The twenty-fourth annual show of the ...ve society was held at Lakefield on ...sday and Friday last, and was undoubtedly the most successful exhibition ... held by these municipalities ...ich are united for agricultural pur... The entries numbered 710; being ... more than last year, and over 339 in ...ess of that of the year previous. The ...t day was devoted to the reception of ... exhibits other than live stock and ...ing them placed in position; and in ... afternoon the judges proceeded to ...mine the articles present and to make ...ir awards. The Hall presented a ...dsome appearance, being tastefully ...anged and well filled, especially the ...ies' department. In grain, the number ... actual exhibitors was not very large, ...ough a considerable number of entries ...e made for a Township show. The ...eral impression seemed to be that ...t was shown was not a great deal ...r the quality of the average yield of ... year. If so, the crop must have been ...ellent. The display of roots, considering the extreme dry weather, was good, ... if the samples exhibited may be ...en as a criterion a splendid crop has ...n grown this season. The dairy display ... in most respects above the average, ... of a quality far ahead of what comes ...he market as a whole. It would do ...y of the butter makers much good if ...y could be impressed with the value ...leanliness in making up their wares. ... butter that was shown was all that ... desirable in that respect. The ...play in the different departments was ... that could be wished for, and the ...rectors and the people cannot but be ...isfied with this year's exhibition. The ...terborough Fire Brigade Band was on ...d on Thursday evening and Friday ... enlivened the proceedings with ...ice selections. The attendance during ... show was large and the proceeds from ...e sale of tickets was largely in excess ...ny previous exhibition. The weather ... most propitious, and outside the ...unds was the usual patent medicine ..., who done his utmost to please the ...ple and sell his goods, as did also the ...idential soap seller, who tried to sell ...ut a cent's worth of soap for 50 cents ...ause there may be $5.00 in the packet. ... following is the prize list:

THE BEST REMEDY

FOR

Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency, and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is of acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it. The test of half a century has proven its certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

Manhattan Feed!

—FOR—

HORSES, CATTLE, MILCH COWS, SHEEP AND PIGS.

IT is a source of health, because it keeps the organs in a natural healty tone. It acts as a relish, promotes perfect digestion, and purifies the blood, thereby keeping the coat in a free and glossy condition. TRY IT! BUY IT!

READ THESE RECOMMENDATIONS:

Toronto, March 8th, 1881.

We have used the "Manhattan Feed" for six weeks, reducing our oats one-quarter and using no bran. We have ordered more, considering the system of feeding a good one, having saved about $15 per month on the feed of 12 horses, their condition being fully kept up.

COSGROVE & SONS,
Maltsters and Brewers.

Office of
Prescott Brewing and Malting Co.
Prescott, Ont., May 3rd, 1881.

MESSRS R. W. SMITH & Co., MONTREAL:

Gentlemen,—We have used the Manhattan Feed this winter with our horses, one of which we have hitherto found it difficult to keep fat;—but since using your feed he has picked up and become remarkably well conditioned, so much so that it has been the remark of the townspeople how well our horses looked. Apart from this, we find that we are not obliged to feed as many oats as before; and have great pleasure in recommending its general use.

Yours etc., GEO. LABATT,
Manager P. B. & M. Co.

Peterboro, Jan. 4th, 1881.

Messrs Taylor & McDonald. Agents,—Dear Sirs:—The Manhattan Feed bought from you has not only done all you professed for it, but much more. Before feeding it to our hens we were only getting on an average two eggs per week from each hen, now we average five to six. The difference it has made in our sheep one would have to see in order to credit. I would advise all interested in getting their cattle in good condition to get a bag. It has more than paid me its cost twice over.

NOTICE.

Subscribers in arrears are just now receiving from our counting-room statements of their accounts, and we request that they will make it a point to pay up as soon as possible. There is no longer any valid reason why they should not. The season's produce is now being marketed, and out of the returns the farmer should be well able to pay the small sum required for a year's subscription to the EXAMINER. It ought not to be necessary to suggest that it is impossible to conduct business without a periodical settlement. As most of the delinquents stand so simply through carelessnes, we take the liberty of pointing out to such how desirable it is that these accounts should be promptly attended to, now that they are in their hands, and would remind them that, for every item the publisher has been at a cash outlay, on which a very narrow margin of profit is charged.

We have to thank many subscribers and advertisers for their kind attention already in the matter of prompt payment, and would say to those who have not yet had the opportunity of squaring up on our books, that we have still an abundant supply of thanks on hand which will be liberally dispensed to all who call or send for receipts for their accounts. Let everyone who still owes for the EXAMINER for the past year, or more, think of this, and rest not till he forwards the amount of his indebtedness. Many hundreds of these small amounts make up a very large sum, and their collection would benefit us immensely.

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

WE wish to call the attention of our readers and the public generally, to the following very favorable Club rates which THE EXAMINER is offering for 1882. All subscriptions taken from this time till the end of the year will date from the first of January, giving subscribers the intervening numbers free. Those handing in their names early will receive the best value for their money, as those who subscribe at once will receive, besides the extra low rates, the papers for which they subscribe free for three months:—

Examiner and Weekly Globe	$3 00

Lindsay Central Exhibition.

(From our own Reporter.)

LINDSAY, Oct. 4th, 1881

The exhibition to-day is a great success. Yesterday was cold and cheerless, and the attendance was thin, but to-day eclipsed all previous gatherings. The show is pronounced very good, and especially fine in horses, cattle and other live stock. The inside department is not so good.

SUGAR refining is a profitable business in Canada just now. The Moncton refinery has been in operation eight months, and the profits during that time have been thirty-five per cent., or at the rate of FIFTY-TWO AND A HALF PER CENT. PER ANNUM. As it was not thought well to announce a dividend at this enormous rate, the directors returned ten per cent. to the stockholders and carried the remainder of the profits to a rest.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

President Garfield was a distinguished member of the Masonic order.

THE Princess Louise is paying a farewell visit to the Queen at Balmoral before leaving for Canada.

Sir Hector Langevin got but a sorry reception at St. Thomas. There were but three carriages in waiting for him at the station, and his party had to wait two hours for the lunch, which after all was but poorly attended.

Hon. Mr. Joly is going to Europe with his family for two years. It is thought he will retire from politics. Mr. Turcotte, another leader of the Quebec Liberals, is about to leave that province and take up his residence in Manitoba.

THE Senate of Knox College, Toronto, offers a scholarship of $100 for the best essay on "Scriptural authority for Presbyterianism in its essential principles," to be competed for by all who shall be theological students during the coming session in the various Presbyterian Colleges throughout Canada.

There are well-founded rumors circulating about that the Marquis of Lorne will return to England after the close of the coming session of the Canadian Parliament, and that he will then be called to the House of Lords. Lords Rosebery and Elgin are also spoken of as likely to succeed him in the Governor-Generalship of Canada.

Sir John Macdonald mentioned incidentally at Ottawa the other day that Kingston is his native city. His biographers have stated that he was born in Sutherlandshire, Scotland, and Sir John is reported having pointed out to some friends the house on the Adelphustown shore, where he first opened his eyes to the light of day. Can anybody tell exactly where he was born?

The Lieut.-Governor in Council has been pleased to order that it shall not be necessary in cancelling any law stamps to mark thereon in ink the date of the issue or receipt of the matter or proceeding to which the stamp is affixed, but in lieu thereof the said stamps shall be cancelled by perforation, and for this purpose a punch similar to those used by railway conductors shall be used.

The Stratford Beacon condenses from Mr. Blake's Maritime speeches a synopsis of his trade policy as follows: (1) That it is unjust and impolitic to compel farmers and mechanics and laborers to pay extra prices for articles they buy so that a few manufacturers may be enriched. (2) That the pretended "protection to farmers" has not afforded them the slightest benefit, and was only held out as a bait so that the selfish demands of some manufacturer might be satisfied. (3) That the right to buy and sell freely in the best markets should not be crippled by legislative interference.

THERE is a lesson to be learnt from Guiteau's crime which it behoves all to ponder. Had this most miserable of all men, descended, so far as can be learnt, from an honorable and Christian family, whose name he has dishonored in the eyes of all the world, applied himself to some industrious calling and honestly worked at it, he would have had neither the time nor inclination to pester public men for Government positions, and thus would have avoided the snubs which irritated, and finally made a murderer of him.

MR. CHARLES STEWART, of Port Hope, has just returned from the country around Lake Temiscamingue—which lake is about thirty miles north of Lake Nipissing. Mr. Stewart lived in that district for thirty-four years as an employee of the Hudson Bay Company. He has brought with him some samples of spring and fall wheat, which he is told by Port Hope grain dealers is absolutely the best grain they ever saw—far better than anything produced in the front in its best days. This is probably an entirely correct judgment. The fact is well known that the cereals attain their best condition the nearer they are grown to the northern limit of cultivation. The value of this new country to Ontario, and Toronto particularly, is beyond computation.

We are much pleased in having an opportunity of seeing some samples of the rich iron ores now being mined and shipped from the county of North Hastings, township of Madoc, to the United States smelting furnaces, and we are safe in saying that richer ores of iron we have never seen. It is almost a pity these rich deposits of iron cannot be utilized and manufactured in our own country, in place of having to pay duty for allowing the crude ore to enter that country, and paying a still larger duty on its return manufactured into bar-iron, steel, and other qualities of iron. It is to be hoped that our people will soon see the necessity of making an effort in this direction, and a little experience will soon show them the large profits derived from this branch of industry. Before, however, we can hope to bring the coal to the iron ore advantageously, we must have the duty thrown off coal.

HERE is an item which is of special interest just now to our town authorities and to the people of the town in general: "The contract for constructing the first section of the Brampton waterworks has been awarded to Messrs. Stevens, Turner & Burns, of London, at $17,000. Their contract involves the laying of five miles of pipe, erecting forty hydrants, and constructing thirteen valves. These works are being constructed on the gravity system. The water is obtained from a lake 172 acres in extent, 175 feet above the level of the town, from which it is distant five miles. Stevens, Turner & Burns are to begin work immediately, and finish on the 7th of December. Gartshore of Hamilton has the contract for the pipe. It is contemplated that the whole work will be completed by the 1rt March.

The Review can see nothing but good in the Dominion Government, and nothing but evil outside of it, and it last week repeated the wild story that Mr. Blake extolled Kansas at the expense of Canada. The Review does so probably on the principle that a falsehood well stuck to is as good as the truth. Mr. Blake never made any such comparison. Some remarks which he made in speaking about the United States, in which Kansas was compared with some of the other States of the Union, were seized, dispoiled of their connection, and issued in pamphlet from (garnished with Mr. Blake's portrait) by a well-known supporter of the present Dominion Government, a brother of a gentleman who at one time occupied the position of editor of the Mail. The trick was transparent at the time, and it is too late in the day to vitalize it. The device at best was a subterfuge of a confidence politician and its repetition is not only unprofitable but stale and flat.

Hon. Edward Blake has retired from the practice of his profession and handed over his law business to his brother, the ex-Vice Chancellor. When we consider that Mr. Blake is in the prime of life and the enjoyment of the largest and most lucrative practice in the Dominion, we can form an estimate of the sacrifice he has made, in order to devote all his time and energies to the service of the country. Few men in his position could be capable of so great a surrender of personal advantage, but that he has done so is a proof of the earnestness with which he has entered upon the duties of his position as leader of the Liberal party. The task he has undertaken of rescuing his country from bad government, and securing its safe conduct through the dangers which have thus been made inevitable is one which he rightly conceives will need his undivided attention. That he will succeed there cannot be a doubt, for of all the public men in Canada, he alone stands forward in public estimation as the one capable of saving the country from the disasters which must follow the wild period of extravagance on which we have just entered.

THE SURPLUS.

Ministerial organs are printing the following in large letters:—"Surplus, $4,132,895.60." The Ottawa Free Press pertinently asks:—

What does this mean?

Let us consider.

The Government of the Dominion of Canada has taken from the people four million one hundred and thirty-two thousand eight hundred and ninety-five dollars and sixty cents.

How?

By imposing taxes to the extent of more than one dollar a head on every man, woman and child in the Dominion over and above what is required to carry on the business of the country, pay the interest on the public debt and provide the sinking fund.

What does this mean?

It means that the Government has made a forced loan of over four millions from the people—four millions that were not needed either to meet the liabilities or discharge the obligations of the country.

This money, instead of going into the government vaults, should be in circulation among the workers and traders of the country.

WINNIPEG.

The Free Press says:—The property bequeathed by the late Rev. E. Morrow, M.A., to the Methodist Church of Canada for college purposes consist of ninety-six acres. It is situated on the west bank of the Red river, and about a mile and a half south of the Assiniboine. The location is an exceedingly beautiful one, the river winding around it so as to enclose it on nearly three sides. The property is already valuable, and is certain to become very much more so. When the church whose welfare entered so largely into the thoughts and plans of Rev. Mr. Morrow during the last years of his life, shall have honored his loyalty by erecting college buildings such as the property is worthy of having placed upon it, there will be a well deserved monument to the memory of the reverend gentleman, in the form of an educational institution of which the Province will have no cause to be ashamed. * * * The Historical and Scientific Society of Manitoba was also remembered in making his will. The reverend gentleman had a fine large library in Ontario, but he had never sent for it until shortly before his death, and it had not yet arrived here when he died. His directions as to the disposition of the books was that they should be placed at the disposal of the Manitoba Historical and Scientific Society, to select from them such as they should consider adapted to promote the objects of their organization. The library referred to was received here yesterday, and taken to Mr. Morrow's late rooms in the Grace Church block.

A $70,000 FIRE IN COBOURG.

COBOURG, Oct. 4.—A disastrous fire broke out here at five o'clock this morning, which destroyed part of the best block of buildings in town. When the fire was first discovered it was in the third story of Dumble's block. Fanned by a northerly wind, it spread to J. Sutherland's grocery store below, thence to R. Mulholland's grocery store and Burnet's grocery. Over these stores were the Sons of Temperance hall, the hook and ladder fire company meeting room, and several law offices. The fire brigade worked nobly, and confined the fire to those buildings which were totally destroyed. At one time it was thought the whole south side of King street, from the Town Hall to Division-street, would go. The loss is about $70,000.

A large and enthusiastic Reform meeting was held at Port Rowan on Thursevening, when Mr. Charlton delivered a two-hours' speech, dealing with the leading questions of the day.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The Board of Education met on Tuesday evening in the Collegiate Institute building. Present,—James Stevenson, Esq., Chairman, and Messrs. Toole, Wrighton, Burnham Sawers, Robinson, Rutherford, McClelland, Stratton, Dumble and Pousette.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From Maggie Flavelle tendering her resignation as teacher. Referred to Committee on Appointments.

From Carrie Fair, asking to be appointed to Miss Flavelle's place; also one from A. Dowling, asking for the same. Both referred to Committee on Appointments.

From the Town Clerk, enclosing copy of resolution passed by the Town Council appointing Mr. A. P. Pousette to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Dennistoun's resignation.

[The Secretary stated that Mr. Pousette had made the necessary declaration of office.]—Received.

From Mr. John Braden, asking for instructions in reference to supplying the room lately occupied by Miss Keele. Referred to Committee on Appointments with power to act.

From Mr. Smith, asking for an increase of $100 in his salary.

From the Education Department stating that the Intermediate examinations had been properly carried out and that the examiners were entitled to their pay. —Received.

From J. George Hodgins, stating that the Government grant to the Schools was $732.02, and that this sum was placed to the credit of the Board. —Received.

From the Department of Education, transmitting extracts from the report of High School Inspector Buchan on his visit to the High School on the 2nd and 3rd March, 1881. This was during the last term of Mr. Jeffers' principalship.

EQUIPMENTS.—The material equipment is good. The staff is sufficiently large and very good.

ORGANIZATION.—The High and Public School Boards are united, and the Head Master exercises a supervision over the Public School.

FEES.—Residents pay 50c. a month; non-residents pay $2 a month.

REMARKS.—This school, which has for many years been good, is now better than ever before. It has no superior in my District.

The report was received.

Reports from the Principal of the Institute and Head Master of the Public School on the attendance for the month of September were read as follows:

	On Roll.	Average.
Collegiate Institute	109	92
Central School	342	267
West Ward School	177	133
South Ward School	218	162

Mr. McClelland suggested that the names of the Inspector and Head Masters be added to the Committee on Appointments to consider the resignation of Miss Flavelle and the applications for her position.

Mr. Jas. Stratton, Inspector, drew the attention of the Board to the necessity of providing a waiting room for the boys during the coming winter. A portion of the room now occupied by Miss Graham had been used previously; but the crowded state of her room prevented it being now used. He suggested a re-arrangement of the rooms, and drew attention to the unequality of the numbers in some rooms—some teachers having but 25 or 30, while others have as high as 86 on the roll. He thought the Board should give sanction to the Principal to make the changes.

Moved by Mr. Stratton, seconded by Mr. Toole,—That the name of Mr. Pousette be placed on all Committees of which Mr. Dennistoun was a member.—Carried.

Mr. Dumble thought that the matter of re-arrangement of the attendance at the rooms could be better carried out by the Inspector and Head Master than by the Board.

Mr. McClelland thought it should be taken up by the Committee, as otherwise it might lead to unpleasantness between the Head Master and the teachers.

Mr. Dumble thought there was not enough attention paid to the physical development of the pupils in these schools. There was no gymnasium or anything to develope their muscles. He thought the resolution which Mr. Stratton was preparing for a waiting room was a good one, but he would go further and provide them with appliances to develope their bodies and straighten them up.

Moved by Mr. Stratton, seconded by Mr. Dumble,—That the matter of providing a waiting room for the boys during the coming winter be referred to the Property Committee and the Principal of the Public School with power to act.

Moved by Mr. Toole, seconded by Mr. Burnham,—That the question of equalization of the salaries of teachers be referred to a Committee of the whole Board, with instructions to report at the next meeting of this Board. The Committee also to consider the matter of the notice of motion submitted by Mr. Toole at the April meeting, and also the communication of Mr. Smith for an increase of salary.

Moved in amendment by Mr. Stratton, seconded by Mr. Dumble,—That the matter be referred to the Committee on Appointments.

On the amendment being put it was declared carried.

The Board then adjourned.

SKATING AND CURLING RINK CO.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Skating and Curling Rink Company was held on Tuesday evening last in the Huffman House. There was a large attendance of the stockholders present. The President, Mr. W G. Ferguson in the chair.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

The President read the annual report from which we glean the following:—

RECEIPTS.

Balance from last year	$ 4 39
Sale of Tickets	422 39
Door Money	74 75
Box Money	6 25
Curling Club	289 60
	$795 75

EXPENDITURES.

Paid Expense account	$522 :0
" Dennistoun Bros & Hall, advance	12 50
Balance in Bank	260 45
	$795 75

The total cost of the building is $2894.50. Total amount of stock subscribed, $1,870.00. Amount taken from revenue of former years to wipe out indebtedness, $824.50. Instead of declaring a dividend this year the Directors deem it better to hold the amount in the Bank available as dividend ($260.45) as a rest, in order to meet any expenditures which may be required, instead of taking it out of this year's earnings. The financial position of the Company must be extremely gratifying to the Stockholders, and if anything like the same success attends the efforts of the Directors in the future, very handsome and paying dividends may be looked forward to.

On proceeding with the election of Directors, Messrs. R. Innes and E. B. Edwards, acting as scrutineers, the old board was re-elected, viz:—James F. Dennistoun, W. G. Ferguson, Adam Hall, R. S. Davidson and H. LeBrun.

The thanks of the meeting were tendered to Jas. A. Hall, for auditing the accounts, and to the Directors for the satisfactory manner in which they had conducted the business of the past year.

The Directors were requested to see if ice for the outside rink could be procured for the coming season.

The Secretary was instructed to write the Town Council asking to have the appropriation made last year for a sidewalk from Hunter Street to the Rink, expended this season.

The meeting then separated.

MEMORIAL SERMON.

(Winnipeg Free Press, Sept 26th.)

Rev. Dr. Rice preached in Grace Church Tabernacle last evening a memorial sermon having reference to the death of the late Rev. E. Morrow, M.A. The text was 1st Corinthians, chap. 15, v. 41. "There is one glory of the sun, another glory of the moon and another glory of the stars, for star differeth from star in glory; so also is the resurrection of the dead." The thoughts were presented that the infinite variety of natural objects, and of mental endowments in this world have counterparts in the spiritual world, and that, as it is possible to attain through energetic and persistent application, positions in the present life which would not otherwise be attainable, so by concentration of all the powers upon the one object of serving Christ and by length of service higher degrees may be reached in the future life than would be possible under other circumstances. Hence it was argued that there were great advantages to be gained from early consecration of the divine service, and from the constant, steady and determined pursuit of this one great object in the face of all difficulties and discouragements.

In the latter part of his discourse the Rev. Dr. dwelt briefly on facts connected with the life and death of Mr. Morrow. He spoke of Mr. Morrow's conversion at the age of sixteen years, at a camp-meeting at Millbrook, Ontario., on the occasion of a visit of Rev. Dr. Palmer, made in response to an invitation from Dr. Rice, who was then chairman of the Cobourg District. The Dr. being then associated with Victoria University, the preparatory course of which Mr. Morrow was then pursuing, gave him permission to remain at the meeting and so had the opportunity of observing his experience. This was remarkably clear and free from hesitancy and doubt. The speaker referred to Mr. Morrow's mother as being from Fermanagh, Ireland, a county which has perhaps furnished this country with more strong, vigorous Methodists than any other. By her the son was instructed in divine truth, but the consecration, of the energy of his life to God was his own personal act. After his graduation at college there followed twelve years of ministerial life, and then his health failed. Some time later he came to this country for the benefit of his health, and also to engage in secular life. He was a man of strong will, and this had undoubtedly lengthened his life. A minister of the Church of England had spoken of him as having been a blessing to this land, which had been indebted to him for the first Sunday-school convention held here. It had been his aim to do nothing to compromise his ministerial, not to say his Christian character. He did for the Lord what his strength enabled him to do. His death had been one of the strangest the speaker had ever known. He had no trouble about the future, and spoke of it as of an ordinary matter. He had no fear, but felt perfectly at home, and perfectly conscious of his safety. The state of his health for a long time had no doubt made him more familiar with death than he otherwise would have been. In conclusion the speaker exhorted his hearers to live with such a consciousness of the divine favor that to die would be but to exchange the key of earth for the key of heaven.

The funeral service was attended by a large congregation, notwithstanding the disagreeable state of the weather and the streets. The pulpit, organ and choir gallery were draped in mourning; the choir rendered effectively an appropriate anthem, and the hymns sung and other portions of the service were of a solemnity in harmony with the occasion.

Lemons are high and pickles sympathise with lemons. The cucumber crop of 1881 is about one-half the ordinary yield. By reason of this falling-off pickles may be expected to be raised in price this winter, as the pickle manufacturers have to pay a much higher sum than usual. The usual production per acre is 100,000 cucumbers, and it costs about one-third of the selling price to pick them. The farmer nets about $65 per acre. In place of the market price being $1 per 1,000, as is usual, they now sell at $2.20, and a further rise may be looked for before the season is over.

SPRINGVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

One of the most fashionable churches in the land is now completed at Springville.

Mr. M. E. Wilson, has left, intending to finish his course of study, in preparation for the Methodist ministry, in Victoria College, Cobourg.

Rev. Mr. Blain arrived here on Thursday last. His numerous friends are rejoiced to see him. He is the guest of Mr. A. Goodfellow.

On Sunday, September 25, while one of Mr. John Bothwell's horses was at the pump he stepped on the boards, and as the boards were slightly the worse of wear the horse soon found himself at the bottom of a 42 foot well, having 15 feet of water. Before many minutes some 20 or 30 men had surrounded the well, and pronounced the horse dead, and as the Presbyterians were on their road home, many deemed it necessary to call and render assistance if necessary. Owing to the skillful management of two or three of the members of the Witenagemot, Fraserville, the horse was soon on dry land. It is somewhat singular that this horse's mate was also drowned.

The following is an address in connection with a presentation to Mr. M. E. Wilson, leader of the Young Men's Christian Union, Springville, on the eve of his departure, compiled and read by A. J. H. Strike:—

"DEAR BRO. WILSON,—On behalf of the members of the Young Men's Christian Union, and your numerous friends in the vicinity of Springville and elsewhere, we avail ourselves of this opportunity of giving expression to the deep sense of obligation under which you have placed us, by your earnest and unremitting efforts to promote Christ's glorious cause in our hearts, especially since the organization of our prayer meeting. We beg to assure you that your zealous and self-sacrificing labors are most highly appreciated by us, and we sincerely congratulate you on the success which has attended your efforts. We are reminded, however, by the rapid flight of time, that your present relation to us, during which we have learned to esteem and love you on account of your estimable qualities of mind and heart, is fast drawing to a close, and as a slight token of our appreciation of your services, so cheerfully rendered, we ask your acceptance of this writing desk, trusting that when you chance to look upon it, it will carry your thoughts back to the time when you assembled yourself in our prayer meeting; also accept this book, entitled "Mosheim's Institute of Ecclesiastical History," hoping it will be the means of edifying you in your work for the ministry. Accept these, not on account of their intrinsic value, but on account of the friendly feelings which they represent.

"Kindly accept our best wishes for your future prosperity in connection with the hope that the Great Head of the Church may direct your course, and that your life may be long spared to labor in the vineyard of the Divine Master. During some time past you have mingled your voice with ours in prayer and praise to our Heavenly Father, and when we hesitate for a moment and meditate upon the glorious meetings we have had together, it causeth us to feel sorry on account of your departure, feeling that probably it will be the last time we all shall meet here. Before your return many of us may be absent from here—some of us, who knows, may be lying in the cold, cold grave. But the prayer of our hearts to-night is that we may be all kept faithful to the last, so that bye and bye you and all of us may stand with glittering crowns on our heads, and palms of victory in our hands, praising God in that land where sorrow is unknown.

"Signed on behalf of the Young Men's Christian Union, Springville."

The address was followed by a very sincere reply, touching the hearts of all present.

NORWOOD.

From our own Correspondent.

Margaret Nicoll, relict of the late Mr. Wm. Nicoll, sr., of Dummer, and mother of Mr. Thos. Nicoll, Norwood, and Mr. R. Nicoll of the former township, died very suddenly on Sunday morning last, expiring while getting out of her bed. Deceased was about eighty years of age and in apparently good health up to the hour of her demise.

Our sidewalks here recently received a thorough overhauling, and new planking throughout. A really very substantial job has been performed in this direction, and pedestrians can now enjoy a lengthy and pleasant promenade.

Saturday last opened the deer-hunting season when several parties from Norwood tried their luck thereat, but, unfortunately, with their usual success. The deer run well and were plentiful and in fine trim, but strangely evaded the bullets.

Mr. W. E. Roxburgh attended the Central Exhibition at Lindsay as one of its judges.

The Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer fall exhibition will be held here next Tuesday and it is expected that its exhibits will be abundant in quantity and excellent in quality.

Mr. John Clifford and family, for about three years residents of this village have returned to Peterborough, intending there to open up business on a more extensive scale than while here. His friends here wish him success.

Mrs. Thos. Carr, who has purchased the shop on Peterboro' street formerly owned by Mrs. Clifford, has opened a fancy goods store therein. It is to be hoped she will meet with an encouraging patronage.

Mr. Wm. Rodgers, butcher, of this place, met with a serious mishap while undertaking to drive homewards a refractory heifer for slaughter. The animal in its resistance jammed Mr. Rodger's head against a fence, severely injuring his face and head and knocking out several of his teeth. His injuries were promptly attended to.

Dr. Pettigrew, formerly of Campbellford, and only son of Mr. John Pettigrew of Asphodel, has taken up his residence here, and intends still carrying on the practice of his profession. The Doctor comes amongst us enjoying an excellent professional reputation and judging from the patronage he has received since his arrival, the confidence extended to him in this community.

ENNISMORE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

WEATHER NOTES.—September of 1881, now gone for ever, ranges high as a hot month on the average at sun rise and sun set, viz.: 64° 30'. The lowest was on the morning of the 14th, the thermometer standing at 46°, and the highest on the evening of the 5th, being 86°. On the 5th it stood 100°, and on the 6th 101° in the shade at 1 o'clock p.m. No doubt local bush fires had an effect to some extent in increasing the high temperature. Rain fell on twelve days, making in the aggregate 2¼ inches.

BUSH FIRES through the late copious rains are now almost extinguished. Although wind storms may blow, still the season being so far advanced, and showery weather, it is not likely they will gain any large dimensions for the future.

EXPERIMENTS AT THE ONTARIO AGRICULTURAL FARM.

VI.—THE COMPARATIVE SIZE, WEIGHT, AND VALUE OF VARIOUS GRADES OF FAT SHEARLING WETHERS.

While we have in previous reports occasionally referred to our farm experience regarding pure breeds, and some grades of sheep, we have never systematically submitted any figures specially upon the size, weight and value of fat shearling wethers as bred and fed here in view as a lesson for the Province.

After all, the great question with the average farmer is not so much what can be got for particular pure breeds of sheep, as which of them will improve his common stock so as to secure the greatest weight and best quality of wool and flesh in the shortest time.

I should hope most of our farmers are now well aware of the important fact that, under the best management, there is always most money in getting rid of fat sheep as shearlings in place of holding them on for another year. It pays best in (1) earlier returns, in (2) greater weight proportionately to time, and (3) in quality of flesh, and (4) in quality of wool. I shall not therefore labour this chapter with any details regarding the conduct of two-shear wethers, except to note that on an average of kinds, the increase to weight during the second year is only at the rate of one-fifth pound per head per day—that is, the average shearling of 183 lbs. would not exceed 250 lbs. twelve months afterwards.

We shall not be able to present anything on this subject regarding the Shropshire Down and Merino, until next year, when, from our own breeding and management, similar figures should be on hand.

During the last five years we have regularly bred and fattened the first crosses resulting from pure-bred Leicester, Cotswold, Oxford Down and Southdown rams upon ordinary Canadian ewes; and as all the management and food has been identical in every detail, the results may be relied upon as valuable for comparison.

Lambs are usually dropped about the middle of March and weaned 1st July, getting some grain at all times, and such other management as was fully shown in our 1880 report on "Fattening of Young Sheep."

Under such treatment we have had, on an average, the following sizes:

	Heart Girth.	Flank Girth.	Length.
	ft. in.	ft. in.	ft. in.
Cotswold grade...	4 3	4 0½	4 2
Leicester grade...	4 1	4 1	4 0
Oxford Down g'de	4 0¼	3 11	4 0
Southdown grade	3 11½	3 11½	3 10
Averages.....	4 1	4 0·	4 0

The two first measurements will be easily understood; the third is the length of the the animal as it stands, taken from the drop of the tail to the mouth, when the head, or face proper, is held in a horizontal position, and the tape line tightened from point to point. By this method we get the nearest test of a well-made animal, as all the measurements should practically agree—as they do in these examples.

The Leicester leads in flank girth, and the so-called small Southdown gives nearly as much as the others, and is but little second to the Oxford Down in heart girth also. Some will expect to find a proportionately better heart girth in the Leicester grade, but then they are the most even all through—that is, of the most perfect form—by having the three things agreeing, the Cotswold being the least so.

WEIGHT OF FAT SHEARLING WETHERS.

Cotswold grade.....	199 lbs.
Leicester grade.....	198 "
Oxford Down grade.....	177 "
Southdown grade.....	157 "
Mean.....	183 "

So, practically, the two long-wools are equal in weight as shearlings, and even to ourselves this result has been somewhat surprising because we have been accustomed to look upon the Cotswold as a slower and more irregular fattener; that they are so in the latter respect we have already seen, and while they do not want in weight, they certainly do not give it proportionately to size of bone or length and height of frame. The two Downs are, relatively to weight, very much greater in girth than either of the long-wools; for example, were girth to be regulated by the standard 4' 1" to 198 lbs., then the Oxford Down should heart girth only 3' 8" and the Southdown 3' 3", in place of 4' 0¼" and 3' 11½" respectively.

COST.

In this it will simplify to state generally that, inclusive of all food, proportion of ewe's keep during nursing, dipping, washing, clipping, proportion sire's service, management, and casualties, an average shearling wether runs up a debit of $7.70, presuming that as many are kept as will wholly engage one shepherd's time. Taking this as data, the following is the respective cost of the several grades:

Cotswold grade.....	$9 30
Leicester grade.....	8 10
Oxford Down grade	7 40
Southdown grade	6 00
Mean.....	$7 70

It is a point, subject to no dispute, that the great, roomy, raw Cotswold will eat one-half more than the hardy, compact Southdown, and the others very much in proportion to their size.

WOOL WEIGHT AND VALUE.

Cotswold grade.....	9 lbs. at 28c.	$2 52
Leicester grade	8 " 28c.	2 24
Oxford Down grade.....	8 " 35c.	2 80
Southdown grade.....	6 " 40c.	2 40
Mean.....		$2 69

FLESH VALUE.

Cotswold grade.....	199 lbs. at 5c.	$ 9 95
Leicester grade	198 " 5c.	9 90
Oxford Down grade..	177 " 6c.	10 62
Southdown grade.....	157 " 6¼c.	10 20
Mean.....		$10 17

In conclusion, gather up the items, and make a balance sheet, thus:

Grade.	Carcass	Wool	Cost.	Balance.
	$ c.	$ c.	$ c.	$ c.
Cotswold...	9 95	2 52	9 30	3 17
Leicester...	9 90	2 24	8 10	4 04
Ox'd Down	10 62	2 80	7 40	6 02
Southdown	10 20	2 40	6 00	6 60
Mean				4 96

From which we obtain very striking evidence in favor of short and medium wooled sheep—such figures that, in view of the present export trade, no one need hesitate, even supposing they are fifty per cent. in error.

THE CANADIAN CROPS.

The crop reports gathered by the Grand Trunk Railway concerning the state of the crops in the districts through which its line pass confirm the opinion that for once the yield is going to exceed the expectations formed during the growing season. Only a general impression can be gained. A synopsis of the report gives the following result:

	Below Aver.	Above Aver.	Total
Fall wheat	11	29	86
Spring wheat...	9	29	89
Oats	4	34	127
Peas.....	19	22	89
Barley.....	5	46	107
Hay.....	54	17	127

In all crops except hay there are thus more reports over average than below average. As respects the fall wheat, this is undoubtedly too sanguine an estimate; but, as to the spring grains, there is a concurrence of testimony to the effect that the yield is far above the average in quantity and quality too. From all appearances our farmers will be blessed with good prices as well as good crops.

VENNOR HEARD FROM.

Vennor is out with the following weather predictions:—

Sept. 26 and 27.—Cold and wet, with high north-westerly winds on the Lower Lakes and St. Lawrence; storms in England; possibly snow flurries in the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

October—Entering cold and wet; heavy rains during the first week, with probably snow-falls in many sections between the 7th and 10th. Cold and wintry weather on the 14th, 15th and 16th. Warmer weather on the 18th, 19th and 20th. Wet every other day for the rest of the month.

November.—Not much fine weather again until the 4th and 5th November, when a fine and open term is probable.

Mr. Vennor directs attention in particular to the storms of the 26th and 27th of the present month, in the St. Lawrence Valley and Britain, and thinks he will get a peg or two ahead of the Government weather bureau in this prediction.

BRUDDER GARDNER'S OPINION.

Brother Gardner of the Lime Kiln Club, says, in the Detroit Free Press:—"What punishment am it to a loafer to go to jail for a month? He gets plenty to eat an' a good bed to sleep on, and gains five pounds of fat. If dat same man was tied up an' thirty lashes laid agin his bar back he'd open his eyes pow'rful wide. Go on de ribber—go on de kyars—walk on de streets, and you fin' de loafer. He pushes an' crowds an' abuses an' insults. What kin you do wid him? Make complaint an' de law will play wid him an' let him go. Let an officer give him a sound floggin' an' his hat would come down off his ear in no time. De whippin' post may be barbarous, but what ye call it when a loafer follers your wife frew de streets? It may be degradin', but what do ye call it when three drunken loafers take possesshun of a 'scursion boat an' knock men down an' frighten women half to death? Take a tramp, a loafer, a drunkard or a petty thief, tie him to a whippin' post an' ply a raw-hide on his back fur five minutes an' you hev done mo' to make dat man respect de power of de law an' de rights of odder men dan any workhouse sentence can do."

A KINGDOM WHERE SCOTCHMEN ARE NOT.

"Gif a' stories be true, then this ane's nae lee."—Old Saying.

The Liverpool Mercury is responsible for the following story:—Long years ago, in times so remote that history does not fix the epoch, a dreadful war was waged between the King of Cornwall and the King of Scotland. Scottish valor prevailed, and the King of Cornwall was defeated. The Scottish monarch, elated by success, sent for his Prime Minister, Lord Alexander. 'Weel, Sandy,' said he, 'is there ne'er a king we can conquor the noo? 'An' it please your Majesty, I ken o' a King that your Majesty canna vanquish.' 'An' who is he, Sandy? Lord Alexander, reverently looking up, said, 'The King o' Heaven.' 'The King of whaur, Sandy?' 'The King o' Heaven.' The Scottish King did not understand, but was unwilling to exhibit any ignorance. 'Just gang your ways, Sandy, and tell the King o' Heaven to gie up his dominions or I'll come mysel' and ding him oot o' them; and mind, Sandy, ye dinna come back till us until ye hae dune oor biddin'.' Lord Alexander retired much perplexed, but met a priest, and, reassured, returned and presented himself. 'Weel, Sandy,' said the King, 'hae ye seen the King o' Heaven, and what says he to oor biddin'?' 'An' it please your Majesty, I havena seen the King himsel', but I hae seen ane o' his accredited ministers.' 'Weel, and what says he?' 'He says your Majesty may e'en has his kingdom for the asking o' it.' 'Was he nae civil?' said the King, warming to magnanimity. 'Just gang your ways back, Sandy, an' tell the King o' Heaven that for his civility the deil a Scotchman shall ever set foot in his Kingdom.'

FEMALE BARBERS.

(Oil City Derrick.)

There is a female barber in Bradford, and we are not surprised that she has the heft of trade; that men shave who never shaved before, and those who always shaved now shave the more. Why, they just tumble over each other to get to her chair, and the lucky man just straightens himself out and puts himself under the influence of her hands as if she was a female doctor.

When she runs her fingers around his face and tickles him under the chin with the lather brush it makes his blood grow hot and his toes tingle, while his scalp tickles like an electric brush. Then when she slips one arm under his head and grabs hold of his off ear, and draws the razor to starboard, he feels like paradise regained. It's bad on the nerves, but it's nice. Then she hauls his face over toward her, and leans forward, bringing his nose up against her, and proceeds with the off side of his head.

That is the time the man calls up all his patriotism, and his courage, recites the Declaration of Independence, and dreams of houris and the harem of the Old Man in the Mountain, and gets so weak that he takes hair oil, bay rum and a shampoo, and has his hair cut twice.

MANUFACTURERS of Reapers, Mowers and Threshing Machines prefer "Castorine Machine Oil" to any other. It will outwear Lard, Seal or Elephant, and is guranteed not to gum. 1-1y

"THE LEAVES SHALL BE FOR THE HEALING OF THE NATIONS."—The leaf of the Wild Strawberry has verified that Scriptural quotation. Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is the marvel in all varieties of Summer Complaints, and Fluxey, Cholera Morbus, Cholera Infantum and every form of Bowel Complaints of children or adults promptly yields to its power of healing. 38-2t

A FARMER'S SALARY.

A writer asks, "What salary does a farmer receive? and thus answers his own question:

He receives the equivalent of a larger salary than ninety-nine out of a hundred of them are willing to admit. They under-estimate their own profits, and over-estimate the profits of men living on a salary.

There is a great difference among those who live by farming. A great many work the soil because they cannot live by anything else. Many of this class hardly deserve to be classed as farmers. They lower the standard of farming as a business.

The farmers' profits are concealed in the rise of lands, in improvements by ditching, clearing, and new buildings, more tools, or better stock. Most farmers have no idea how much it costs them to live. They forget to figure in the poultry, mutton, butter, flour vegetables, etc.

The salary-man lives entirely by his individual efforts. In estimating a salary we must do so by looking at the privileges enjoyed, the hard work of the brain and muscles, and the gain in property and improvements.

I FEEL MYSELF AS GOOD AS NEW!—From Mrs. S. B. Bemis, of West Fairlee, Vt. "For seven or eight years I have been in poor health, and for the past year very feeble. My flesh and strength wasted away, until I was unable to work or even go up-stairs without great exhaustion. I suffered from frequent and distressing attacks of palpitation of the heart, my food distressed me, causing acidity and pain in the stomach; and I suffered from extreme nervousness, constipation, and debility of the system generally—my blood being thin and poor and sluggish in circulation, and I was for years suffering all the tortures of a confirmed dyspeptic. About six months since I concluded I would try a bottle of Peruvian Syrup, and received so much benefit from it that I purchased five bottles more, and have continued the use of the Syrup until quite recently. It has restored my health to such an extent that I feel myself as good as new. My digestion is good and my weight has increased in the past four months from one hundred and twenty to one hundred and thirty-eight pounds; thus wonderfully improved, and I can truly say I owe it all to the use of your Peruvian Syrup". Sold by all druggists.

NO RISK.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL! WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD. DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING OF IT? IF NOT IT IS TIME YOU DID.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common Sore Throat. One bottle has cured Bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old Standing Cough. One or two bottles cures bad cases of Piles or Kidney Troubles. Six to eight applications cure any case of Excoriated Nipples or Inflamed Breast. One bottle has cured Lame Back of eight years' standing. Daniel Plank, of Brookfield, Tioga Co., Pa., says: "I went thirty miles for a bottle of our Oil, which affected a wonderful cure of a Crooked Limb, by six applications."—Another who had had Asthma for years, says: "I have half a bottle left, and $100 would not buy it if I could not get no more."—Rufus Robinson, of Nunda, N. Y., writes: "One small bottle of your Eclectric Oil restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper for five years."—Rev. J Mallory, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes: "Your Eclectric Oil cured me of Bronchitis in one week."

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. It is as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be immeasureably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense.

NOTE—Eclectric—Selected and Electrized

THE ALEMBIC OF THE BODY.—The stomach is the alembic of the human system. In it those wondrous chemical changes take place which result in the transmutation of food into blood. When it is vigorous the necessary processes of digestion and assimilation go on uninterrupted, and the system is suitably nourished. When it is feeble or disordered, they are obstructed, and being in consequence ill supplied with blood of a vitalising quality, the physical organism becomes week and feeble, the nerves suffer, the liver and bowels are semi-paralyzed, and appetite and sleep fail. These disastrous consequences may, however, be prevented, or remodled with the supreme stomachic and aperient, NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, a medicine of rare purity and efficacy, which reforms a disorderded and repairs a weakened state of the digestive organs, overcomes biliousness, relieves the bowels when obstructed without straining or weakening them, and promotes the exit from the system of impurities which infect the blood, which cause serious organic maladies. No objectionable mineral contaminates it, and its value is not marred by a subsequent re-action prejudical to the general health. For perferable is it to the ordinary nauseous drugs used to produce a similar effect, but which are frequently ineffective as well as unpleasant; nor is it a cheap and valueless medicine, puffed into existence. It is used for dyspepsia, biliousness, affections of the blood, kidney complaints, famale weakness, lumbago, &c., and in all blood diseases it is unequalled. Price, $1.00. Sample Bottle 10 cents. Ask for NORTHROP & LYMAN'S Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

CHAPTER IX.—(concluded.)

* * * *

"It is Miss Carlyon I want to see," ert Constant says with authority to servant who ushers him into Lady nton's favourite room. "Miss Carlyon, mber—not Lady Winton."

The man bows and withdraws, and in w moments returns with the message t "my lady" will be down directly.

"Is not Miss Carlyon at home?" asks

"Yes, Miss Carlyon is at home, but ticularly engaged—she is in the conservatory with Mr. Calderon.

ash gives the man a couple of sover-

"Where is the conservatory?" he asks tly. "Show me the way to it, and, u can manage to let me see her five utes without her knowing of my ence, here is this for you."

He holds out a five-pound note.

The man hesitates a moment, then quickly—

"Follow me, sir."

ash obeys; they pass through the of rooms in which they now are, a wide passage at the end, up a t of richly-carpeted stairs, and then ugh more rooms, until the murmur ices and the drip-drip of a fountain d together in one almost indistinguish- music. Through the partially-open- lass door Rob can see a tall white re standing a little apart from her panion and apparently lost in thought. face is deathly white, and her eyes dark shadows under them. Rob the bank-note into the servant's d.

"Go," he says hoarsely. "I can find way back when I am ready."

"Well, now I am ready to listen to "

is Garth who speaks; he has a clus- of yellow roses in his hand, and he es forward from the trees he has to put the flowers in Fancy's t.

"How lovely!" she cries involuntarily; instead of fastening them in her , she continues to hold them in her t.

"And now for your wonderful reve- n," he says, looking down upon her dy with a glad proud sense of ab- te ownership.

"You had my letter, Garth?"

"Yes, but could make nothing of it."

"You did not read it?"

"Well, dear, to confess the truth, I t—at least not all of it," he adds. beginning did not inspire me with idence."

"I am sorry for that," she answers, ng still farther from him and nearer oor of the little room from which watching her; "because it makes I have to say now so much more lt."

"Do not be afraid," he says kindly; uld rather hear from you whatever ave to say."

e raises her beautiful eyes to his ; but no answering light or joy meets ove in his own.

"It is nothing new, Garth—at least art of it is not—and I dare say you ed the other many months ago; it ly that I do not and cannot love you ife ought to love her husband; and for the last time, I beg of you to e me from my promise."

e looks down at the flowers in her , and her nervous fingers begin to he petals to pieces.

"I thought we settled that, once for t week," he answers, with quiet ess. "It is hardly worth while to to it again; we both accepted the ion then, and I have not changed cision. I am content—why should ot be?"

t," she cries excitedly, "I have nished yet! I have something to you now which I did not speak of which perhaps you do not know. do not interrupt me"—as she tries ess herself of her hands. "I must this once, so that there may be no ility of your pleading ignorance in e to come; but, after that, if you en then to see any reason for our tion, I will never open my lips up- subject again."

"If your child, you are excited, ill; nervous overwrought. I cannot seriously anything that you say in state. I love you well enough, to believe that, once away from place, you will learn to smile at your fears of to-day."

"I wish I could think so," she goes on mately, repulsing his attempt to her to him. "But I have not said t. When I was first engaged to was quite sure that I loved you than any one in the world; but, you went away, I found out my ke. Without knowing it, I had Rob all my life, but even then I know how much. I went back of my own accord the day I met the moor at Winton. I offered to with him; I told him how I loved but he had had your letter to me very day, and he would not forgive anything to do with me. He was ight, I dare say, for I had behaved to him; but I think, if had known uch I loved him, he would not en quite so merciless." A little eaks the last word in two, and 's face is white with pain and pas-

"Confound him!" he says vehemently; en he draws her face to his in one ss. "My darling," he whispers, life's love atone to you for his y."

"You still wish to marry me?"

"Yes," he answers, smiling.

"But you do not wish me to see him again?" she asks, making a great effort and conquering a momentary weakness which suggests to her escape, and a deluge of tears. "I suffered so much in my last enterview—so much misery and humiliation——"

"You shall never see him again," declares Garth.

"Then perhaps you will tell Laura so," she pleads. "He is expected here to-night; and I know he will wish to see me."

"I will speak to Lady Winton at once, my darling, if that will reassure you."

"Thank you very much. I will wait for you in the drawing-room."

They pass out together into the drawing-room, and Garth hurries away to prevent this dreaded meeting. In the meantime Fancy throws herself upon the couch and covers her face with her hands.

"I wish I could kill myself," she cries bitterly; "or, better still, I wish I could die! I know I can never forget him, never while I live; and even now my heart is breaking for his love."

With her face hidden, she is not conscious of some one standing over her, some one who, during that short interview, has learnt, for the first time, of the noble and priceless love which, in his wrath and madness, he recklessly cast away, and whom now the wonderful joy surging through every vein threatens to deprive alike of speech and motion. It is only for a moment however that this overpowering experience keeps him silent. Kneeling by her side, the floodgates of that long-repressed emotion are broken down; he calls her by her name, he kisses her hands and fair bowed head with gentle, nay, almost reverential, tenderness; yet every word, every touch is as a tower of strength built round her.

At first she is too bewildered and startled to rightly understand what he says; she only knows that he is telling her over and over again of his great unchanging love, and that, despite everything, she loves him still, better even than life itself. She shrinks away from his touch, his caresses, with a great cry of fear and horror at a sudden recollection of Garth; but, as the darkness of a swoon falls over, she knows that her head is on Rob's breast, and that he holds her there—and will never let her go—tight, silent, in one long and passionate embrace.

* * * *

Everything after this was a long blank to Fancy; her swoon was followed by a fierce attack of brain-fever. The day that should have seen her a bride saw her instead delirious and helpless; and for many weeks her life and reason were despaired of. During this time Lady Winton and Robert Constant learnt to understand each other better, to become in fact very good and sincere friends. Both devoted themselves with unwearying love and patience to the task of nursing the poor child and bringing her if possible to life and health. The battle was a severe one, for the fever was fierce and deadly; at times Rob almost lost heart in his love and despair. But Lady Winton stood bravely by him in these days of trouble; and, when doctors and nurses alike denied him hope, she nerved him by her courage and trust to meet afresh the agony of each coming day.

Fortunately from Fancy, her youth saved her; and one morning she came back from her strangely-troubled world of fantasies to find herself in her own little room with Rob, and not Garth, watching over her. She was too weak to think or to speak; a little smile passed over her face, and a look of recognition came into her eyes; and then Rob disappeared, and Lady Winton took his place; and, with a faint sigh of perfect satisfaction, Fancy closed her eyes and fell asleep.

During her illness Garth's marriage with Marion Darrell was made public, and Garth himself disappeared from the scene for ever.

The fortune left to his wife remained at her own disposal; but nothing would induce him to see her again. He stayed in London until Fancy was out of danger then left England and joined an expedition that was being organised at the Cape for a raid into the interior where a native colony had shown signs of rebellion. Afterwards he entered the general service, and perished in the massacre of Isandula.

During the short time that he was in the Army he bore the reputation of being a brave and gallant gentleman, and was greatly beloved by all who knew him; so it may be said that he strove for and actually re-won a portion of that honour in which his private life had been so sadly deficient. A portrait of Fancy and a little bunch of withered pansies were found together in a little case upon him after he was dead; they were laid back upon his heart—that reckless beating heart now stilled for ever—and buried with him.

Upon news of her husband's death, Marion turned to Paris and took the irrevocable vows of a Sister of Charity; but her health, which had been failing so long, was not proof against the silent and secret sorrow that night and day preyed upon her. A few months after her return to the gentle sisterhood who had been so prompt to help her in all her trouble, her place among them knew her no more, and she too passed "to where beyond these voices there is peace."

* * * *

It is autumn again; and the moors are glorious with purple heather and golden bracken. It has been a wonderfully lovely summer at Langley, and the autumn that has succeeded is even still more lovely. Every where the doors and windows of the old Manor House stand open on account of the heat, bees buzz among the flowers and ivy, and the sun gives the usual sign of setting presently in unimaginable splendours of rose and gold. In the spotlessly clean kitchen, where preparations are going on for the evening meal, is an unusual stir and excitement. A smart-looking young woman is bustling about under Jenny's superintendance and her tongue keeps pace at time with her quick feet and nimble fingers.

"And to think think that Master Rob should be the richest man in the county!" she says to Jenny, as though the question had not been discussed and commented upon until it was actually threadbare. "They do say that when his cousin, as is now a nun, dies, he'll have more money than he'll know what to do with; not but that I dare say Miss Fancy will know how to spend it. I heard tell"—lowering her voice and speaking with an air of extreme confidence—"that the things she bought in Paris were something frightful! Lady Winton's maid told my sister-in-law that she used to be out shopping all day, flinging money about like water, and he a-standing by smiling all the time. Well, there's no accounting for the luck that comes to some folks; most likely she'll be having a French maid of her own some time and spending more than half her time in London. And to think that this time last year she had hardly a decent gown to her back, and was thankful to get a cast-off thing of Lady Winton's! Why, upon my soul, if there ain't the carriage coming down the moor; and here I stand a-talking as if I'd nothing else to do!"

It is quite true that a carriage is slowly winding down the side of the moor, and in it are Fancy and Robert Constant. They have been married more than a month, and this is their first visit home. There is a great shout from the tenants and labourers of the various farms about Langley who are gathered in a little group at the foot of the hill to welcome Rob and his bride home, his own men especially thronging forward and vociferously cheering and waving their hats. Rob gets out of the carriage, which has been kindly sent by Lady Winton to meet them at the station, and replies to the hearty congratulations of all present by much hand-shaking and many kind inquiries.

"My wife is tired to-night," he says cheerfully; "she has had a long journey, and is not very strong; but to-morrow she will be glad to see you all, and then you will know that she has not forgotten you."

For Jenny, who stands waiting in the hall to receive him, Rob has a warmer greeting. He wrings her hands in silence, while Fancy kisses her wrinkled cheeks tenderly.

"Heaven bless you, Master Rob, and you too, Miss Fancy!" And then Jenny breaks down and sobs outright, and the kind old heart is won for ever.

When the evening has at last deepened into night, and the moon has risen, Rob folds a shawl round Fancy and leads her into the little garden they have wandered in so many times before.

Under the very trees where the knowledge of his love had first come to him with so much of bitterness and fear blended with its strong passion, he pauses again to draw her close to him and take her sweet fair face in his hands.

"My darling," he says tenderly, "I am going to ask you a question."

A little breeze rustles among the golden leaves over their heads, and the warm soft night is almost as light as day with moon and stars.

"What is it, Rob?" she asks; and a few happy tears tremble on her long lashes.

"Did you love him very much, Fancy, in those early days—as much, I mean, as you love me now?"

She nestles closer in the loving arms that hold her strained to him; her voice is very low and sweet, but a little sad too as she answers—

"Garth knew the truth, Rob; he knew I did not care for him at all. He always said my love for him was only 'love in idleness.'"

"And now, Fancy?"

"Ah," she says, with a little broken laugh and hiding her face on his breast, "I have loved you the whole of my life, I think, and I shall love you until I die!"

ALICE PELLS.

THE END.

A MODEST REQUEST.

"Darling, wake up and stop snoring," said a Detroit woman to her husband.

"Eh? Whazza matter now?" he asked as he half raised up in bed.

"Won't you please stop snoring? If you only knew how homesick it made me I'm sure you would."

"Homesick! How the deuce can my innocent snore make you homesick?"

"Why, you know, darling, that the home on the coast from which you took me a joyous bride, was only half a mile from a Government fog-horn, and every time you snore it reminds me so of home that I just can't stand it. Please lay on your side and have some little respect for my feelings."

And then the brute spread himself out on his back and in five minutes had her bathed in tears as visions of the old home crept upon her.—Detroit Free Press.

LIFE OF GARFIELD.

(Guelph Daily Herald, Sept. 28, 1881.)

We have just examined advance sheets of the "Life of Garfield" from the World Publishing Co's Office, Guelph. It contains about 700 pages, beautifully printed on good paper and profusely illustrated with some 30 engravings, including steel plate of Gen. Garfield and Arthur, this is the only authentic work published, endorsed by the family and relatives of General Garfield. Read the following endorsement from S. H. Hindsdale, of Hiram College, Ohio, the most intimate friend that General Garfield had: "I beg leave to say that I regard this book as a most valuable and well worthy of a general circulation.—B. A., Hinsdale. This work is being issued by the World Publishing Company in connection with the largest publishing house in the United States, and neither labor or expense has been spared to make the work all that it should be. Several cheap imitations are on the market, be sure you see the Life of Garfield that you buy is written by James D. McCabe, the great American Historian, author of Pictorial History of the World, Pathways to the Holy Land, History U. S., &c., &c. Also be sure the work you buy is nine inches long and six inches wide. About 700 pages and profusely illustrated. The cheap catch-penny editions that are being advertised do not compare with them in any way, buy only the best. Agents wanted; apply to the World Publishing Co., Guelph.

New York Truth sums up the duties of the hour laconically in these words: "For Garfield—pity. For Guiteau—death. For the country—peace. For Arthur—confidence."

A Mrs. Johnston, of Coldwater, Mich., has gone to England, where she purposes to collect 300 to 400 servant girls to bring back with her. It is not more servant girls that America wants. What this country really suffers for is somebody who can successfully boss one of them.—Chicago Tribune.

Effigies of Guiteau hanged by the neck are ordinary decorations in the streets of several American cities. In New York a mob constructed a straw man, tried him by judge and jury in a saloon, found him guilty, and immediately the rope round the neck was seized by the crowd and the effigy was dragged into the street.

This is unhappily an age of scepticism, but there is one point upon which persons acquainted with the subject agree, namely, that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is a medicine which can be relied upon to cure a cough, remove pain, heal sores of various kinds, and benefit any inflamed portion of the body to which it is applied.

It is quite possible that amidst the bustle of the larger and smaller exhibitions and also the public excitement caused by the death of President Garfield the many sufferers by the late terribly fatal fires in Michigan have not received the public sympathy and aid which their circumstances imperatively demand. So far as can be learned two thousand families have been reduced from comfortable to destitute circumstances by that fire.

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes o adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

Lines on a Lady's Ulster.

Now let the "Ulster" be the theme,
For o'er the woman fate condemn
That men and goddesses may dream
Or write the "Poetry of Dress."

"The apparel oft proclaims the man,"
Thus truly saith the immortal bard;
And who shall say that women may
From fashion's influence be debarr'd.

'Tis true she adds a charm to dress,
And dress too oft her beauty blurs,
But when she's graced with faultless taste
Her garments oft add charms to her.

The dress in which are best allied
The subtlest art and perfect skill,
Adds to the charm 'twas meant to hide,
And makes them more bewitching still.

No careless folds the Ulster shows,
But round the human form divine
The perfect fit will still disclose
The rounding form, the curving line.

The autumn chill, the winter snow,
The heavy dew, the pattering rain,
The frosts that bite, the winds that blow,
Invade the Ulster all in vain.

Thus use and elegance combine—
That shields the form that charms the eye;
And art is shown in each design
That M. & A. so well supply.

And to crown all, each rare device
In Ulsters, M. & A.'s display
Is sold at such a wond'rous price,
We feel amazed—and well we may.

Faultless fit, splendid style, vast variety, good work and a very great saving in price will be found in M. & A.'s Mantles and Ulsters.

Local News Record.

FINE STOCK.—The Guelph Mercury says:—"Mr. Mossom Boyd, Bobcaygeon, yesterday shipped a car load of stock for his farm. The stock was purchased from breeders in this neighborhood.

DIVISION COURT.—On Friday last the regular sitting of the Division Court was held, his Honor Judge Deanistoun presiding. A large number of cases was disposed of.

BOYS Tweed Suits are being sold by I. Robinson & Co. for $3 and upwards, and men's good all wool suits for $8.00 and upwards. 10-tf

FINE RESIDENCE.—Dr. Geo. Burnham's fine new residence on the corner of Water and McDonald streets is being rapidly pushed forward by the Contractor, Mr. J. W. Alford. It will be quite an addition to that part of the town.

WE HAVE received a copy of the Grafton News, a new aspirant for public favors in Grafton, D. T. It is published by Mr. Frank M. Winship, and is in every respect a creditable sheet. We wish it success.

THE RIDING SHOWS.—The West Riding Agricultural Society's Show will be held in Peterborough on Tuesday and Wednesday next, 11th and 12th instant, and the East Riding Show, at Keene, on Thursday and Friday, 13th and 14th.

DR. G. S. RYERSON, Oculist and Aurist to the Toronto General Hospital, may be consulted at the Huffman House, Peterborough, with regard to all affections of the Eye, Ear and Throat, on Saturday, October 15. 39-td.

A GOOD WEIGHT. Last week Mr. N. McIlmoyle, of Smith, purchased from Mr. M. O'Brien, of Peterborough, for Mr. Fred. Waldron, of Lakefield, a thorough-bred Berkshire boar, which turned the scales at 270 lbs. The pig was six months and three days old.

TO-MORROW EVENING.—Happy Cal Wagner and his troupe of twenty first class artists—one of the most popular travelling minstrel organizations of the day—will exhibit in Bradburn's Hall to-morrow evening. Happy Cal's reputation should draw a well filled house.

SPIRAL TRUSSES.—Those interested should remember that Mr. Chas. Cluthe, of Toronto, visits Peterborough to-day, and may be consulted at the Caisse House. His skill in treating and curing ruptures and hernia is most favorably spoken of by those who have consulted him on former occasions.

THE KENNEDY'S are coming, and will probably visit Peterborough soon. They are composed of Miss Helen Kennedy, soprano; Miss Marjory Kennedy, soprano; Miss Maggie Kennedy, pianoforte; Mr. Robert Kennedy, tenor; and Master John Kennedy, violin.

LETTER BOXES.—His Worship the Mayor, a few days ago received a letter from the Post Office Inspector stating that he would shortly visit Peterborough to arrange for the placing of a number of letter boxes in different sections of the town. It has not yet been decided, so far as we know, where these very necessary conveniencies are to be located.

Y. M. C. A.—The meetings held in the interests of the Y. M. C. A. of this town during the past week by W. P. Crombie, travelling secretary, were very successful, and were well attended. A free reading room is to be established as soon as the funds of the association will permit; and Sunday evening services held after the dismissal of the churches.

CENSURED.—His Honor Judge Armour on delivering his charge to the jury in the case of the Queen vs. Nelson Hamblin censured the authorities of the town for allowing an unlicensed grogery to exist on its principal street, and almost in the centre of the town. He characterized it as the "initial cause of the murder of Larocque and the incarceration of Hamblin in the felon's dock.

TRUE TO HER TRUST.—Too much cannot be said of the ever-faithful wife and mother, constantly watching and caring for her dear ones, never neglecting a single duty in their behalf. When they are assailed by disease, and the system should have thorough cleansing, the stomach and bowels regulated, blood purified, malarial poison exterminated, she must know that Electric Bitters are the only sure remedy. They are the best and purest medicine in the world, and only cost fifty cents. Taylor & Macdonald, Agents.

SCHOOL HOLIDAYS.—The Minister of Education has settled a point of the Ontario law, upon which a variety of opinions existed. The prevailing idea has been that in contracts with teachers six weeks summer holidays could be taken unless a number was distinctly stated. So thought Miss Hastings, teacher in S. S. No. 9, Brooke, says an exchange. The trustees notified her to commence teaching school at the expiration of four weeks, but upon the children arriving in school on the day appointed by the trustees she dismissed them for two weeks longer. The trustees at once determined to make a test affair, if necessary, and sending the agreement to the Minister of Education, asked for his opinion. The reply distinctly states that unless the agreement with teachers contains a special clause naming the number of holidays, the trustees have power to open the school on August 3rd.

ROCK ISLAND BOOTS.—Messrs. R. Stenson & Son have just received several cases of Rock Island Boots, which are marked down to bottom prices. Full stock in all other departments, selling extremely cheap. Call and see for yourself. 36-tf.

Y. M. C. A. ANNUAL CONVENTION.—Cobourg has this year been selected as the place where the Y. M. C. A. of Ontario and Quebec will hold their annual convention, which will commence on Thursday, 15th October, and continue for three days. The programme this year is particularly interesting and embraces a wide sphere.

BEFORE YOU BUY your Fall or Winter Suits, Overcoats, Tweed or Felted Cloth Pants, Rubber Coats or Underclothing, Tweeds, Felted Cloths or Flannels by the yard, call and see the splendid assortment offered at the lowest figures by W. J. Wallace, Lakefield. 39-6 ins.

CHANGE OF NAME.—Messrs. McIntyre and Bond, the new proprietors of the Huffman House have changed its name. Hereafter it will be known as "The Oriental." The proposed improvements and additions to this really first class hotel are being rapidly proceeded with, and when completed must materially add to its present accommodations.

BABY SAVED.—We are so thankful to say that our baby was permanently cured of a dangerous and protracted irregularity of the bowels by the use of Hop Bitters by its mother, which at the same time restored her to perfect health and strength. —The parents, Rochester, N. Y. See another column.—Buffalo Express. 38-2t

We had the pleasure of a call on Friday last from Mr. C. D. Barr of the Lindsay Post, who was in town we believe on legal business, having garnisheed an Emily auctioneer for a printing account long since due, the amount of which we are pleased to know he recovered. The auctioneer had been conducting a mortgage sale in Lindsay for a Peterborough lawyer, and now finds his commission considerably lessened by the enforced payment of his just debt.

HYMENIAL.—Mr. J. W. Leonard, a short time ago engaged in the Midland station offices, Peterborough, but at present General Passenger Agent of the Credit Valley railway, has reached the objective point in the career of all young men with honorable motives and aspirations, and has been wedded to Miss Lillie Maguire, of Franklin, with whose companionship he should be a happy man. May their future be as bright as it is possible to expect.

THE Belleville Ontario says:—"We learn there has been quite an extensive business carried on during the past summer in manufacturing canoes at Peterborough and shipping them to London, England. To-day three of these frail crafts arrived here from the workshop of Mr. William English, over the Grand Junction, and were transhipped on the Grand Trunk to the old country. About eighteen in all have been thus disposed of. This speaks well for the skill and workmanship of the canoe builders of Peterborough.

I. O. O. F.—From the last annual report of the Grand and Corresponding Secretary, it is learned that within 50 years, nearly $83,000,000 have been paid into the treasuries of Subordinate Lodges and Encampments, 946,000 brothers and 127,000 widowed families have been relieved, 91,000 brothers buried, orphans have been clothed and educated, and in the fulfilment of the great command of our law—"Visit the sick, relieve the distressed, bury the dead and educate the orphan"—we record $31,000,000 expended, besides the countless thousands of which no just estimate can be made.

ANCIENT ORDER OF UNITED WORKMEN.—Mr. F. G. Inwood, Deputy Grand Master Workman of Ontario, instituted a lodge of the above order on Friday evening last in the Orange Hall, with the following as officers:

T. J. Gillespie	P.M.W.
Jos. McClelland	M.W.
A. Clegg	Foreman.
John Lee	Overseer.
J. M. Armstrong	Recorder.
J. B. Pentland	Financier.
Dr. Richard King	Receiver.
Barton Karl	Guide.
Wm. Denoon	I.W.
G. A. Mitchell	O.W.

Mutual insurance is the main object of the Society—its members being insured for $2,000 each, and subject to calls of $1.00 on the death of members.

ONTARIO BUSINESS COLLEGE.—We desire to call the attention of the young men to the advertisement of the Ontario Business College, Belleville, which, is one of the most complete and thorough business training schools in the country. One of the greatest aids to persistent and successful effort is to be found in an early business training. No young man should venture with the intricacies of affairs without it. A business education is one of the shortest and surest paths to success. Young men, you will find it a sure help, therefore get it, and having obtained it use it as a stepping stone to honest independance and respectable social standing.

THE CANADA MUTUAL TELEGRAPH COMPANY.—The following appears in the last issue of the Canada Gazette: Notice is given that under "The Canada Joint Stock Companies Act, 1877," letters patent have been issued under the Great Seal of Canada, incorporating David George Hatton, of Peterborough, Ont., solicitor; Robert Archibald Morrow, of the same place; Thomas Thomson Turnbull, of Montreal, merchant; and John Franklin Olmstead, of Washington, for the purpose of establishing, erecting, constructing, maintaining, and working lines of telegraphic communication throughout the Dominion of Canada, either by land or water, with all the usual powers accorded to such companies. The capital stock is $1,000,000, divided into ten thousand shares of $100 each.

ALMOST A SERIOUS FIRE. At noon on Saturday last, fire was discovered in the upper story of Denne and Sperry's flour mill and an alarm was at once given. At first it was feared it would be of a very serious nature, but as it was observed before it had made much headway, the willing hands and efficient work of a bucket brigade inside the building kept it in check and finally quenched it, while the firemen from the outside deluged the roof to keep the fire from breaking through and spreading, as Mr. Denne very wisely (as it afterwards transpired) decided not to allow the branchmen to throw a stream inside owing to the damage which must necessarily follow to the wheat and flour stored in the building. The fire originated in the pulley head of the elevator, the chief point of danger in a flour mill. The loss is covered by insurance and has been fixed by arbitration as follows:—$1,045 on building and machinery and $275 on stock.

DEATHS.

FINLAY.—In Peterborough, on the 1st of October, Joseph Roland Finlay, aged twenty-five years.

HALL.—In Peterborough, on the 4th inst., Adam Hall, Sr., aged 77 years.

SAULTER.—At Peterborough, on Saturday, Oct. 1st, Bertha Jane, infant daughter of Mr. James Saulter, aged two month and fourteen days.

HARVEST FESTIVAL SERVICES.

Many of the clergy wisely consider that the day usually set apart by the Governor-General for an expression of our thanks to Almighty God for the blessings of harvest, comes by far too late in the season. They, therefore, several of them, select an earlier period for the observance of this bounden duty, and take some pains to have their churches fitly decorated for the occasion. This is now the established custom at St. Luke's, Ashburnham. For several days in the beginning of last week willing hands were engaged in beautifying this building with specimens of fruits, flowers and cereals, and thus testifying the belief that God is the Giver of all good. Wreaths made of oats and wheat were employed in festooning windows and doors; the font was tastefully decorated with flowers; the windows with fruits, autumn leaves and berries; a temporary reredos had been erected on the altar, and a very prettily executed motto in variegated leaves surrounded the chancel arch. In addition to these things, vases of flowers and pendants of fruit commingled with tiny sheaves of golden grain here and there lent effect to the whole, and on entering one could hardly fail to be impressed with the good taste, skill and judgment of those to whose oversight the work of decoration had been committed. The services were as follows: Holy Communion at 10 a.m., and evensong and sermon at 8 p.m. The latter was particularly well attended the church being comfortably filled. The incumbent read prayers, and the sermon, which was a masterly and effective discourse, was delivered by the Rev. Dr. Clarke, of Belleville. The following hymns were sung from "Hymns Ancient and Modern":—381, 384, 382, 383 and 379. The special lessons, which were read by Dr. Clarke, were Deut. xvi., to verse 12; and II. Cor., ix. The offertory was for the Mission Fund of the Diocese, and was a fairly liberal one.

A tea meeting had been held previous to the service, in the Town Hall. The ladies of the congregation had very liberally provided refreshments, and a large number sat down to tea. The sum realised exceeded the most sanguine anticipations, and all seemed greatly delighted with the proceedings of the day.

PERSONAL.

Mr. A. A. Adams, of the "Queens," Port Hope, has sold out his interest to Mr. E. H. Dunham, of Lindsay.

Dr. T. M. Millar, lately of Keene, but now of P. E. Island, has been in town during the week, looking as hale and hearty as ever. His many friends in town were both pleased and surprised to see him. He has returned to defend a suit in Chancery, which is down for Friday.

We regret to learn that Mr. John Bailey, the respected Reeve of Emily, is not improving in health. His evidence was necessary in the case of Stephenson v. Emily, and was on Saturday taken by commission. Judge Deane, Mr A. Hudspeth, Q.C., and Mr. H. O'Leary proceeding to his residence for the purpose. It was not used, however, as evidence for the defence was not called.—Post.

Peterborough Markets.

(Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer, and General Grocer, George Street.)

PETERBOROUGH, Oct. 5th, 1881.

The quantity of grain offering shows a decrease. A good deal less barley offering, and a great deal of it of poor quality. The price has declined about 10c., the price now being from 50c. to 55c. Buyers appear very indifferent about buying, Oswego market being extremely dull. Wheat has been coming in freely, and selling freely at a slight decline. Best offer for fall about $1.13, and spring about the same. Nothing doing in peas—none offering. Oats in fair demand at 37 to 38 cents. Rye is higher, selling at 83c. to 90c.; not much offering. On the Market butter sells freely at 22 to 24 cents. Eggs are getting scarcer and bring 15 to 16 cents. Fresh meat rather plentiful—lamb selling at 7 to 9 cents, and mutton at 7 to 8 cents. THE WEST RIDING SHOW.

The annual exhibition of the West Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society was held on Tuesday and Wednesday, 11th and 12th instant, in the Drill Shed and Agricultural Grounds, Peterborough.

INSIDE THE SHED.

The exhibit of grain, roots, etc., while not nearly so numerous as on former years were of excellent quality, the specimens shown being remarkably fine.

In Fruit, apples were the chief attraction, a large quantity of unusually fine specimens being on the table. There were also some fine specimens of pears and grapes shown.

Domestic Manufactures were fully up to the standard of former years, both in representation and quality of goods.

In Dairy Products the number of entries was small for a Riding Show. The articles shown, however, made up in merit for what they lacked in quantity.

In Manufactures, Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger showed a canopy topped phæton, and Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald an open phæton. Both articles were exceedingly creditable to the makers, and were the subject of much favorable comment.

The Ladies Work and Fine Art Departments were the redeeming features of the inside show so far as appearances went, and both were largely represented. In the former were many articles useful as well as ornamental—deftly worked by the fingers of the fair exhibitors, and presenting an appearance decidedly pleasing to the visitors.

The display in Fine Arts was one not usually found at exhibitions of this kind, and the Committee have reason to thank Mr. Sproule and Mr. Esterbrooke for their respective displays in photography, which were large, varied, and tastefully set.

The Sewing Machine Industry was represented by Mr. G. A. Mithell (Wheeler & Wilson) and the Singer Machine agents.

Mr. D. Pentland had four very handsome organs on view.

THE OUTSIDE SHOW.

The success of the outside show was greatly lessened by the very unfavorable weather of Wednesday, and the gate receipts will fall much short of the usual amount. However the display in Horses, Cattle, Sheep, Swine and Poultry was moderately large, and some very fine specimens were shown.

In Agricultural Implements, Messrs. P. Hamilton, J. Whyte & Co and W. Graham were the chief exhibitors.

The Fire Brigade Band was in attendance both Tuesday evening and Wednesday afternoon, and enlivened the proceedings.

DISEASED LUNGS.—From J. A. Abercrombie, of Brantford, Ont. Gentlemen:—It gives me much pleasure to bear witness to a cure affected by Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. My wife having been afflicted for a number of years with deseased lungs I was prompted to try Wistar's Balsam. I did so, and to my utmost satisfaction, for it affected a permanent cure in her for which I heartily recommend it to the public at large as a true and most reliable cure for diseases of the lungs. In conclusion I beg to ask you to accept my thanks, also my hearty wishes for your success with your valuable remedy, believing it to be the only medicine adapted to such cases. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all dealers generally.

PETERBOROUGH, OCT'R 13, 1881.

Editorial Notes.

THE Legislature of New York has followed the example of Ontario, and allows women to vote on school matters.

THE friends of temperance have made an appeal to President Arthur to discountenance the use of liquor on all possible occasions.

FROM the minutes of the Wesleyan Methodist conference we gather that the total number of members of that body in Great Britian is 380,956, with 1,510 ministers.

THE Ontario government announces in another column an auction sale on the sixth of December, of timber berths in the district of Muskoka, covering an area of 1400 square miles.

LA PATRIE says the story of Mr. Joly's retirement from active politics and departure for Europe is an idea concocted in the head of the Tory editor who started it.

THE Toronto Mail denies that the N. P. has increased the cost of living. The News, the evening edition of the Mail, says "the cost of living has increased considerably of late."

THE corporation of London, England, the majority of whom are Conservatives, are about to present to Mr. Gladstone a gold box, which will contain an address asking him to sit for a marble bust to be placed in the Guildhall.

FROM the guarded utterances of Sir Stafford Northcote on the subject of "fair trade" in his speech at Hull, on Monday, it is not easy to discern the exact position which that distinguished Conservative leader means to assume toward the new issue, but he is evidently not as friendly toward it as many of its advocates have been led to believe.

PRESENT indications point toward a large influx of immigrants from Britain to the Canadian North-West next year. British farmers are becoming convinced of the great fertility of our North-West possessions, and this fact coupled with the successive bad harvests and high rents in the old country, is likely to greatly augment our population, and open our vast undeveloped resources.

THE draft of a proposed Land Bill for Scotland proposed by the Scottish Chamber of Agriculture, has been published. It provides for the adjustment of rents by arbitration, the revaluation of farms, for power to the tenant to sell his holding, and makes the strictest provision relative to compensation for improvements. The measure is said to be one of the most far-reaching ever submitted to Parliament.

The Primate of all Ireland and 17 of the 31 Irish prelates have expressed their hearty appreciation of Mr. Gladstone's efforts in having passed the Irish Land Bill. The clergy of Ireland are more likely to have a better understanding of the wants of the country and of the value of the boon conferred upon it by the Liberal Government of Mr. Gladstone than the Parnells and all their noisy following.

THE idea that the coal tax does not come out of the pocket of the man who buys the coal is all moonshine. If it does not come out of his pocket, out of whose pocket does it come? The American producer? It is a great pity that it does not, as it would be a relief to the consumer to get out of paying it. But if the Government really thinks that the coal tax comes out of the pocket of somebody else than the consumer it is a wonder that it does not take the tax of everything else, impose a tax of about five dollars a ton on coal, and make the American producer contribute the revenue required to carry on the affairs of this country.

ON the very fishy case, in which Hon. John O'Connor figured the other day, where he claimed no interest was to be paid on money he borrowed in view of prospective public favors, the Bobcaygeon Independent says—"The whole affair was one which stunk with corruption, and was disgraceful in the extreme to every one concerned. The jury did not agree, and the case remains undecided. But again we say that the Hon. John O'Connor, bad as he is, is no worse than many of his colleagues, and of such is the Cabinet of Canada.

ALD. WILSON, of Winnipeg, told a story to a Globe reporter, who interviewed him in Toronto, which will set some of the Conservative organs squirming. These are the words:

Well, the fact is, the people of Winnipeg are completely scared into playing into the hands of the Syndicate. When they become at all refractory the Syndicate simply requires to threaten the running of its line through another point, and the difficulty is settled. This will explain the recent bonus vote. The huge monopoly which the Syndicate has obtained makes it extremely bold in its demands, and they boast of their power. There can be no doubt that the present Government is willing and bound to support them. Why, Mr. Angus recently openly stated in presence of a Committee of the City Council of Winnipeg that the Government had guaranteed that the Syndicate should have a monopoly of the whole carrying trade, and that they had been assured of the Government's efforts to bring about this effect.

The Princess Louise seems fated to be the subject of conflicting rumors. The latest is from the Conservative Standard, which is now said to be really a Liberal organ, that the Marquis of Lorne will visit England at the close of his tour, and the Princess will return with him in January. One thing is pretty definitely known in Montreal. It is that the "Sardinian," which would arrive in Britain at the beginning of next week, was to turn right round and sail again on Thursday in place of the "Parisian," which was to remain a week longer and then bring out the Princess. However, it is a lady's privilege to change her mind, and the Princess may have changed hers.

THE Belleville Ontario says: Mr. Cox, Managing Director of the Midland and Grand Junction Railways, has expressed a favorable opinion of the island in our harbor as a site for workshops, &c. of the company in this city. We understand it is his intention to send an engineer, in a few days, with instructions to make a careful inspection of the island and its approaches, and report as to its adaptability for the purpose mentioned. The site is admirably adapted for such purposes as Mr. Cox mentions, and every reasonable inducement should be offered to have the arrangements carried out. We want no more dog-in-the-manger policies with regard to this matter. The island should not have been vacated, and would not have been had the Council dealt liberally with Mr. Rathbun. It has been an eye-sore in the harbor quite long enough, and now as an opportunity presents itself for utilizing it again, no impediments should be placed in the way. In the mean-time it would be wise for the City Council to take some action in the matter by making Mr. Cox an offer.

The St. George's Society, of Toronto, on Friday evening last, by a vote of 13 to 15 refused to accept Mr. Goldwin Smith as an honorary member of that Society. Since Mr. Smith has gone to England he has written an article in the Fortnightly Review, wherein he informs the English World that Canada was composed of three or four rough Provinces, lying upon the edge of extreme cold and snow, and serving to keep the north winds from the United States; yet, he says Canada is his home. To support his statements he asserted that Lake Superior could only be navigated for half the year; an assertion which is false. He also said in the same article that the Maritime Provinces naturally belonged to Maine, Ontario to New York State and the North-West to Minnesota—all by gravitation. The following are a few extracts from the article in question. He says:—

"The Dominion is made up of four "separate blocks of territory, lying along "the region of ice and snow, destitute of "any but political unity, and separated "from each other by formidable, if not "insurmountable, barriers of nature.

"The Maritime Provinces are cut off "from Old Canada by the State of Maine "and by the waste through which, hardly "taking up a passenger or a bale of freight, "the Intercolonial Railway runs.

"Old Canada is cut off from the prairie "region of the North-West by the great "inland sea called Lake Superior, the "southern shore of which belongs to the "United States, the northern to winter "and desolation, while navigation is "closed during more than half the year."

When Mr. Goldwin Smith goes behind our backs and seeks to prejudice us in the eyes of those whose good opinion we value, and stabs the Dominion from behind, he takes an unfair advantage of this country, for he knows that out of the thousands who will read his attack, few will have an opportunity of reading the Canadian side of the story. In truth, he has reduced himself to the low level of the typical Englishman, who, after a delightful visit to our shores, returns home evermore to describe Canada as that 'blawsted country.' The Globe is not far astray in its opinion of Mr. Goldwin Smith.

The Dominion Government has issued an order prohibiting farmers residing along the new Welland Canal from using the water for their stock, or for other purposes. In consequence of this arbitrary action the farmers concerned are in high dudgeon, and regard the order as an outrageous usurpation of authority, more especially under the prevailing circumstances. The wells of the surrounding country are now so low as to make water indispensible from the nearest source of supply. This is another exhibition of the original Toryism. If such an edict had emanated from a Reform Government what a howl of indignation would have rent the political air from the Tories, and how pathetically the farmers' case would have been advocated by the party scribes. Sir Chas. Tupper, however, issues his mandate, and all the faithful respond "it is just."

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Toronto Telegram says a choice between Sir John Macdonald on the one hand and Mr. Blake on the other would partake somewhat of the nature of a choice between "the lilies and languor of virtue and the roses and rapture of vice."

The organization of a Secret Service Department is in contemplation by the Government. The fact of the secret officer, who was sent to the Lower Provinces some time ago, discovering so many cases of smuggling, has prompted the Government to entertain the idea.

Mr. Whitcher, Commissioner of Fisheries, has just returned from Manitoba, where he has been making preparations for organizing the fishery service. As yet there is practically no Government superintendance, notwithstanding that the rivers and lakes abound with fish which are being ruthlessly destroyed.

Admirers of the N. P. have a glorious opportunity during the long winter evenings to reflect on the beauties of their favourite panacea. The present exorbitant price of coal is an evil felt by all. Coal rising, the price of clothing higher, books and stationary of every kind gone up with a bound, verily we live in an age of progress and next to Providence the Conservative party are the chief benefactors of mankind, and their style of rendering the winter evenings enjoyable is at least unique.

"My dear Abbott," the Syndicate Solicitor, who was recently re-elected in Argenteuil, must be an oily customer, says the Dundas Banner, and some of his dodges to secure popular favour are unique. In one section of the county, which is principally settled by Catholics, he pitched into the Orange body, and said he left it as soon as he discovered the evil purposes for which it was formed, while in another section where there were lots of Orange voters, a circular was distributed, calling on the "Loyal Orangemen of Argenteuil" to support Mr. Abbott because he had always supported the principles of the order; because in the hands of Mr. Abbott, Sir John A. Macdonald and Mr. Mackenzie Bowell "the glorious banner of Protestantism will be carried to victory;" because it is "only by sending to Parliament such men as Brother Abbott that Romish ascendancy can be overthrown in Lower Canada;" wherefore, all "Loyal Orangemen" were urged to go to the polls and record their votes for "Abbott and Liberty."

Mr. Charlton, M. P., for Norfolk, addressed a very large and respectable audience of the electors of Niagara, on Thursday evening last, on the leading political questions of the day. He contrasted the two syndicates, and the personality of both, and said that better by far as the second or Canadian Syndicate was, even it offered a bad bargain. He alluded to the national debt in round numbers being $157,000,000, and the unscrupulous manner in which it had been increased by the present Government, and also to the addition yet to be made by the unwarrantable and injudicious bargains with the Canadian Pacific Syndicate. He briefly touched upon the economy enforced under Mr. Mackenzie's regime. He next referred to the amendments offered by individual members of the House to the Syndicate bargain. In closing a most brilliant speech, he urged upon the electors that with them rested the power to say whether or not the bargain made by the present Government should be approved in reality.

RAILWAY NOTES.

A new siding is being put down by the Midland Railway to facilitate the handling of cars at the elevator.

Belleville Ontario: The Grand Junction officials are deserving of thanks for keeping their dock clear of cars yesterday afternoon, to allow the people an opportunity of witnessing the regatta.

Belleville Ontario: A row occurred in the Peterborough train Saturday night in one of the cars. During the fracas one of the men was pretty well pounded, and on getting off the train at Hayden's Corners, was left behind, to get to Belleville the best way he could.

A grand official car, which is being built for the Midland Railway at their shops here, is nearly completed. When finished, it will be one of the most handsome carriages ever built in this country. We will give a full description of this magnificent car as soon as it is completed.—Port Hope Guide.

A new bridge over Rawdon Creek, on the Grand Junction, is rapidly approaching completion. It has a single span of 40 feet over the creek, which is confined between abutments 29 by 16 feet, made of cedar logs filled in with stone. The weight of the bridge is borne off these abutments by "huts" of solid pine, capable of resisting an immense weight. 1,300 feet of hauling had to be done here, but the increased straightening of the line made it worth the trouble.

The traffic on the Midland R'y just now is enormous One hundred and sixty-two loaded cars passed the Walton street crossing, Thursday. Orders have been received from Midland for 125 G. T. R. cars, to carry through grain that has arrived at Midland from Chicago, and also 67 Midland Railway cars to carry 33,000 bushels to the elevator here, which will be taken east by Captain Wright's steam barge Van Allen. The local grain trade of the road requires fifty cars a day.—Port Hope News.

Mr. T. N. Wilson's patent car will be taken to Midland this morning. It will be run on the Midland Railway for a couple of weeks, in order to test it thoroughly. If the expectations of the inventor are realized by that time, in regard to its capacity, he will have created a revolution in car building. The car has been examined by Mr. Geo. A. Cox and Mr. Lewis Ross, both of whom are highly pleased with the principle upon which it has been built.—News, Port Hope.

The traffic returns of the above railways for the week ending Sept. 30th, 1881, were as follows:—

MIDLAND RAILWAY.—Passengers and Mails, $3,413.12; Freight, $13,610.62; total, $17,023.74, as compared with $14,955.48 for the corresponding week of 1880, being an increase of $2,068.26; and the aggregate traffic to date is $286,556.83, being an increase of $38,780.00 over 1880.

GRAND JUNCTION RAILWAY.—Passengers and Mails, $838.67; Freight, $3,040.96; total, $3,885.63, as compared with $1,784.58 for the corresponding week of 1880, being an increase of $2,101.05; and the aggregate traffic from 1st June to date is $41,072.56, being an increase of $25,516.19 over 1880.

The ONTARIO is the ONLY purely MUTUAL CO. in the Dominion. It has NO STOCKHOLDERS except its POLICY HOLDERS, who get ALL the PROFITS each year. PREMINUM NOTES; NO ASSESSMENTS; all AFTER-CLAPS are contrary to charter; its RATES are all on CASH basis and self-sustaining. PAYMENTS of Claims in 15 to 30 days. Large CASH PROFITS every year, after the third. Its eleventh year (1880) was over 50 per cent. more successful than any previous year, and the death rate about half the expectation. A Mutual Co. gives the same security to Government as a Stock Co. gives.

THE ONTARIO gives Larger Cash Surrender Values, Larger Loans on Policies, Larger Paid up Policies, than any other Co. doing business in Canada. The Company Contracts its ordinary life policies into LIFE ENDOWMENTS, for the use of assured himself, late in life, than any other Co. doing business in Canada, and PAYS BALANCE to his family in 30 days after proofs, in addition to the Co., and NO CHARGES ANY DISCOUNT on the present cash value of these extended Policies in 1880 but pays 6 days after claim papers were passed. THE LINDSAY CENTRAL.

The Exhibition a Gratifying Success—Splendid Show of Live Stock—Very Large Attendance of Visitors.

The seventh Central Exhibition under the auspices of the Agricultural Societies of the Counties of Peterborough, Victoria, Northumberland and Durham, was held this year at Lindsay, on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of last week, and was in many respects the most successful one yet held. In 1875 the first of these exhibitions was held in Peterborough, and was largely experimental. The success, however, attending it placed the result of similar shows in the other county towns beyond peradventure, and Port Hope, Lindsay and Cobourg each had their "Central." Two years ago (1879) it came to Peterborough's turn for the second time, but owing to circumstances which it is not necessary now to relate, the financial condition of the exchequer was in such a low state that the further continuance of the exhibition was despaired of—in fact it was almost abandoned; but the pluck and enterprise of the first originators of the scheme could not let the Peterborough Central go by default and, benefitting by past experience, they succeeded, assisted by their friends, in carrying it to a more successful issue than its predecessor. At Port Hope last year the exhibition was fully up, if not ahead, of their first one, while the one just closed at Lindsay was, as we have already noticed, far superior to the one held there four years ago. The improvement was especially noticeable in live stock. The entries were greatly in excess of the previous one, while the quality of the animals shown gave positive proof of the rapid strides that have been made in stock-raising during the past four seasons in the County of Victoria. Generally speaking the chief exhibitors at all events the most numerous ones, at the "Centrals" are those resident in the county in which they are held, and the townships immediately adjoining, and this year was no exception. Durham and Victoria appeared to have nearly all the competition to themselves, as very few from either Northumberland or Peterborough entered. From Peterborough, W. B. Kelly, of Bridgenorth took first prize for pair of carriage horses; John A. Galvin, of Selwyn, first for single carriage horse; Jas. Elliott, second for agricultural stallion; J. Campbell, first for year old gelding or filley, first for yearling heifer (grade), and third for aged ewes, also first for white carrots; J. Redmond, first for boar of 1881 (large breed). In garden vegetables, Alex. Watts, of Warsaw, was an extensive exhibitor, and carried off seven prizes—four first and three second. This gentleman also took first prize for specimen of native woods, dressed, varnished and named, and first for Phlox Drumhondi. Miss A. Mills, of Ashburnham, took first prize for twelve pears. In no department was Peterborough represented with so much credit as in farm implements, the exhibit made by Mr. Peter Hamilton being especially worthy of notice. The reputation which this gentleman has acquired for manufacturing agricultural implements is now wide-spread, and the satisfaction which his implements give can be testified to by the many hundreds of farmers in the four counties who are now using them. His is an industry which has been built up on its merits, and has risen from limited dimension until now it takes the first place among the manufactories of this section of Ontario. Conspicuous among the many implements comprising his exhibit were a Midland Harvester, a Tiger Rake, a combined Pea Thrasher and Straw Cutter, a Combined Broadcast Seeder and Drill with a spring box, straw cutter—both hand-power and horse-power, turnip drill, gang ploughs, cultivators, &c. It is needless to say he carried off a large number of prizes. J. Whyte & Co. exhibited one of their patent ploughs, which secured second prize. In Domestic Manufactures A. Sawers took first prize for factory-made fulled cloth, and a second prize for factory-made woollen blankets. In the Ladies' Work Department the Misses Mills, of Ashburnham, carried off no less than eleven prizes, the most of which were first. Miss M. J. Sanderson took first prizes for crewel work, McCramie lace and specimen lace work. In the Fine Arts Peterborough was ably represented by T. Esterbrook who placed on view a very handsome collection of photographs, in all the leading styles, with latest scenic effects. His "Statuettes" were greatly admired. This gentleman took first prize both for collection of photographs and photographic portrait finished in oil.

The total number of entries was in the neighborhood of 4,000, and the gate receipts $2,300. Altogether the Directors and Managing Committee have reason to feel satisfied of the success of the show.

The Post during the days of the exhibition issued a daily edition. Its advertising columns were well patronized by the merchants and business men, and its news columns were teeming with exhibition, local and general news, and well deserved the support it received.

PROTECTING FISH AND GAME.

The following notice has just been issued to the Inspectors from the office of Mr. F. Witcher, Commissioner of Fisheries:—Pickerel, maskinonge and bass cannot be caught from 15th April to 15th May; speckled trout, brook or river trout cannot be caught from 15th September to 1st may; salmon trout, lake trout and whitefish from 1st to 10th November. Net or sein fishing without licenses is prohibited; nets must be raised from Saturday night until Monday morning of each week; nets cannot be set or seins used so as to bar channels or bays; Indians are forbidden to fish illegally the same as white men; each person guilty of violating these regulations is liable to fine and costs, or in default of payment is subject to imprisonment; no person shall, during such prohibited time, fish for, catch, kill, buy, sell or have in possession any of the kinds of fish mentioned above. In reference to game the penalties are unusually severe, and all who are lovers of sport should keep the laws. Partridge should not be killed between the 1st of January and the 1st September. Quail shall not be killed between the 1st of January and the 1st October.

The Southern States are awaking to a realization of the riches which exist in their vast forests. The New Orleans Democrat estimates that Louisiana contains more than 17,000,000 acres of wooded land. The sawmills have made little impression upon this vast supply of timber, which comprises a large variety of valuable woods. Most of it, too, can be easily marketed, thanks to the bayous and water courses with which the State is liberally provided. Since the increasing scarcity of western timber became apparent large purchases of timbered land have been made in Alabama, Tennessee, Georgia and North Carolina. It is to be hoped that this splended possession, the importance of which the South is just beginning to comprehend, will be managed with more care than has been bestowed upon the forests of the North and West. This country must learn the science of forestry sooner or later, and now is a good time to begin.

PUBLIC OPINION.

New York Tribune: It is odd that a English colony should be the last community in the civilized world to refuse decent treatment to the negro race.

Winnipeg Free Press:—There is no ignorance so monumental as that of the Mail. Nothing but its ignorance can equal its lack of knowledge.

The Toronto News thinks that the Hon. John O'Connor has outlived his ministerial usefullness, and hints that he should be appointed to a position in the Civil Service.

The wardens of Holy Trinity, Toronto, have resigned, and it seems they must move twenty miles away or die before their successors can be appointed. At least, that is church law.

Ottawa Free Press:—Canada is gradually but surely progressing towards a point in history where it will be impossible for her to remain a colony any longer. Recent events have made that progress more Rapid.

Toronto News:—We do not wish to intrude, but we would like to whisper to Sir Hector Langevin that this banquet business is getting a little, just a little, monotonous. No man can eat his way into success.

It will be a wonder if Guiteau ever gets through a trial in a court of justice. The chances are that some fanatic, setting out to be a hero, and succeeding in being a fool, will shoot him before the jury can have a chance of returning a verdict.

Richmond Hill Herald:—The Agricultural and arts association draws $10,000 a year from the government. The time was when it did a vast amount of good, but the position is better filled now, and the money might be more usefully expended in various ways than in keeping up an extravagantly managed institution.

Galt Reformer:—We deeply regret to observe a growing disposition toward Sabbath desecration throughout the country. In past days Canada has been conspicuous for the respect shown to the sacred day, which no doubt has conduced to the physical, not less than the spiritual, well-being of the community.

As the grave closes over the remains of James A. Garfield, who lived down the tempest of calumny, let us all go forth determined that we will not be the accusers, but the defenders of our fellowmen; that those who are high in responsibility, high in the esteem of their fellow-citizens, high in the confidence of their political parties, high in the obligation of station and place—that we will be just to them while living so that we can conscientiously eulogize them when dead.—Memphis Appeal.

The Port Hope Guide says:—A step in the right direction was taken at the funeral of Mr. Chisholm's child yesterday. The uniform hat bands and gloves were omitted; crape was worn on the arm, and kid gloves of various shades used by those present. Dr. Harper, recently at Peterborough, stated from the pulpit that many things now in general custom were meaningless, and on that ground he refused to observe them. If some families and ministers would discard these external trappings they would confer a lasting benefit on the community.

A HORRID CASE OF LYNCHING.

North-eastern Wisconsin, the native home of Judge Lynch, has disgraced itself by another extra judicial assassination of peculiar atrocity. Two disreputables named James and Frank Macdonald, brothers, got into a brothel row in Menomonee with two young men named Kittson, who seem to have borne an average village reputation. One or both the Macdonalds stabbed both the Kittsons to death. By some peculiar freak of the authorities they were arrested and lodged in gaol long enough to enable a surviving Kittson brother to organize his friends so as to perform the inevitable ceremony of lynching in a decent and orderly manner. The murder occured last Monday. Tuesday evening Kittson led a mob of 500 half-breeds, Frenchmen and other persons to the gaol, which was promptly stormed, and the prisoners dragged out. Their death was a terrible one. They were dragged through the gaol yard, and apparently beaten and trampled to death. The tragical night was finished by hanging the battered and mutilated dead bodies of the Macdonalds upon a tree before the house of ill-fame where the murder was committed, and setting it on fire to illuminate their immolation. The whole performance was more worthy a tribe of South Sea cannibals than an alleged civilized community. The butchers were so sure of public sympathy and support, however, that they made no effort to disguise themselves, but committed their atrocities with exposed faces in the open night. Of course, the despatches do not contain the smallest hint of any intention to punish the savage gang.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

VENNOR ON DECK.

WHAT IS COMING IN THE LINE OF WEATHER.

Since Vennor's prediction of cold for last week has proved true his credit is up again in the eyes of the credulous. Therefore his predictions for the months to come are of interest. Paste them in the inner recesses of your hat:

A warm wave is likely to occur over a large portion of North America during the month of November, 1881, and again during January and February, 1882.

A frigid wave may be expected towards the close of November and entry of December, 1881.

The winds and storms of March will probably arrive ahead of time, and render the closing days of February exceedingly disagreeable.

The latter part of April and entry of May, 1882, will remind one of winter again, and the spring is likely to be cold and backward generally.

The winter of 1882 is not likely to be characterized by heavy snow falls on this side of the Atlantic.

In Western Canada, and sections south of the lakes, navigation may remain open all the year, or close but for a very brief period.

December, 1881, will be a month of storms in the Lake Region.

The summer of 1882 will be generally unfavorable to agriculture, owing to cold and wet weather.

Western sections will probably suffer more from rains and floods than from thunder storms or cyclones during the summer of 1882.

Volcanic disturbances are likely to be exceedingly active on the American continent, and will probably occur in entirely new sections.

There will be brief periods of severe cold during the winter of 1882, and longer ones of warmth.

Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

IT is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

HORSES, CATTLE, MILCH COWS, SHEEP AND PIGS.

IT is a source of health, because it keeps the organs in a natural healty tone. It acts as a relish, promotes perfect digestion, and purifies the blood, thereby keeping the coat in a free and glossy condition. TRY IT! BUY IT!

READ THESE RECOMMENDATIONS:

Toronto, March 4th, 1881.

We have used the "Manhattan Feed" for six weeks, reducing our oats one-quarter and using no bran. We have ordered more, considering the system of feeding a good one, having saved about $18 per month on the feed of 12 horses, their condition being fully kept up.

MESSRS R. W. SMITH & Co., MONTREAL.

Gentlemen,—We have used the Manhattan Feed this winter with our horses, one of which we have hitherto found it difficult to keep fat;—but since using your feed he has picked up and become remarkably well conditioned, so much so that it has been the remark of the townspeople how well our horses looked. Apart from this, we find that we are not obliged to feed as many oats as before; and have great pleasure in recommending its general use.

Yours etc., GEO. LABATT,
Manager P. B. & M. Co.

Peterboro, Jan. 4th, 1881.

Messrs Taylor & McDonald. Agents,—Dear Sirs:—The Manhattan Feed bought from you has not only done all you professed for it, but much more. Before feeding it to our hens we were only getting on an average two eggs per week from each hen, now we average five to six. The difference it has made in our sheep one would have to see in order to credit. I would advise all interested in getting their cattle in good condition to get a bag. It has more than paid me its cost twice over.

Paying up Arrears.

We desire to acknowledge with thanks the hearty response given by many of our subscribers to the request made last week in reference to the payment of arrears. At the same time we would again remind those who have not called upon us that we expect that they will do so at once in order that we may meet our own engagements promptly. Like all others in business the newspaper man needs money, and we expect and require all those in arrears to pay up promptly. The amounts owing to us individually are small; but collectively, amount to a large sum. If all would pay up promptly it would be of a small matter to them; but it would be a great benefit to us. We hope all interested will respond to this call.

OUR CLUBBING RATES.

WE wish to call the attention of our readers and the public generally, to the following very favorable Club rates which THE EXAMINER is offering for 1882. All subscriptions taken from this time till the end of the year will date from the first of January, giving subscribers the intervening numbers free. Those handing in their names early will receive the best value for their money, as those who subscribe at once will receive, besides the extra low rates, the papers for which they subscribe free for three months:—

HON. Edward Goff Penny, Senator, and chief editor of the Montreal Herald, died on Monday night about eleven o'clock, at his residence in Montreal. The deceased, who was 61 years of age, has been ill for a long time past, but the end came very suddenly, although it was known he could not live for any length of time. Mrs. Penny is herself so seriously ill as to render it necessary to keep the intelligence a secret from her at present. He was called to the Senate on March 13th, 1874, under the Mackenzie Administration, and was a Dominion Commissioner to the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia, from May to November, 1876. He was also a director of the Montreal Telegraph Company. Besides inflicting another loss upon the Liberal party of Quebec, the political effect of his decease will be to further increase the Conservative majority in the Upper Chamber.

THE arrest of Bill Donnelly and Bob Donnelly, along with three other Biddulphers, while trying to set fire to a mill in Lucan, gives one more argument to the counsel for the defence in any future trials of the murderers of the Donnelly family. The crime was a horrible one and somebody ought to have been hanged for it, but it will be hard to find a jury unanimous in favor of hanging the murderers of a family whose surviving members are caught in an attempt at arson.

USE "CASTORINE MACHINE OIL" for all kinds of machinery. It is also excellent for Harness and Leather, making it water and weather proof. For sale by dealers. 1-ly

TOWN COUNCIL.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening last. Present,—His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors Cahill, McNaughton, Paterson, Douglas, Rutherford, Menzies, Richardson, Chamberlain, Yelland and Hartley.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS AND PETITIONS.

From the Treasurer, a statement of receipts and expenditure for the months of July, August and September. Referred to Finance Committee.

From Jas. Gamble, W. Cluxton, John Burnham, R. P. Boucher and D. G. Hatton, as the promoters of the Peterborough Water Company, asking the Council to pass a By-law empowering them to lay pipes for the conveyance of water under the streets, squares and other public places of the Town. Received.

From C. A. Weller, enclosing bill of costs in the case of Town vs. Edwards. Received.

From Antonie Dubois, in reference to keep of Wm. Denning. Referred to Charity Committee.

From J. I. Davidson, secretary of the Peterborough Curling and Skating Rink Company, asking that the appropriation made last year for a sidewalk from Hunter Street to the Rink be expended this season. Referred to Street and Bridge Committee with power to act.

From W. H. Chamberlain, asking for license for three billiard tables for half the sum laid down by the By-law as half the year had expired. Referred to Licensee Committee with power to act.

THE WATERWORKS BY-LAW.

Councillor Rutherford stated that he was happy to state a company had been formed to construct Waterworks for the town, and his wonder was that men were found to put money into a scheme of this kind with the opposition it was receiving. The By-law had been laid before the Council some time ago and was since then held in abeyance to allow the citizens to examine it and criticize it. It had been criticized and some amendments made; one in the matter of pressure especially, which he believed to be a good one. The original By-law called for a pressure of 65 feet at the corner of George and Hunter streets; now it calls for a pressure of 40 feet on top of Smithtown Hill, which would be equal to 130 feet at the intersection of these streets.

The Mayor stated that a number of important amendments had been made. The clause, giving the company the exclusive right to furnish water was struck out. Originally the works might be extended on the petition of half the persons in the locality; now it would be at the sole expense of those petitioning for it, so that except a ratepayer wished to have the water he could not be called upon to pay for it. In the original by-law, the town had the right to purchase the works at the end of ten years, now they had the right as well at the end of every five years after. Now there was required a pressure capable of throwing a stream 40 feet high on Smithtown Hill.

Councillor Chamberlain asked if it was the intention to submit the By-law to the ratepayers.

Councillor McNaughton said, although he had no objection to the Company, he was in favor of submitting the By-law to the people.

The Mayor said that was for the council to say.

On motion the By-law was read a first time, when the council went into committee of the whole on the second reading, Councillor Chamberlain in the chair. The By-law was then read over. The Mayor asked Mr. Hatton, who was present, if the Company had been formed. He also stated he had asked Mr. Dennistoun to be present this evening to watch the passage of the By-law in the interests of the town.

Mr. Hatton said so far as the preliminary steps were concerned the Company was formed.

Councillor Richardson asked how was the council to know that the town would be provided with pure water.

Mr. Hatton said the water would have to undergo an analytical test by a competent chemist.

The By-law was then taken up and the clauses read one by one. Two new clauses were inserted, one relieving the town from liability in case of damage to pipes through grading streets, and another protecting the consumers in case of default of supply. Protracted discussion was carried on over each of the clauses. After considering all the clauses the Committee arose and reported By-law read a second time. On coming up for its third reading, several gentlemen present were asked to give their views.

Mr. Hazlett was first called upon to address the Council. He was not read up on the By-law and had not studied it. He could not be charged now with partizanship as it was not known where the water supply would be had. He thought the By-law was not known among the people, and if it was passed now a large number of the ratepayers would be disappointed as it was generally expected it would be submitted. He thought the scheme would yet be found an expensive one for the town. We should not alone look at the cost—there was another aspect—if we get water for domestic purposes, a great deal of it will be used, and will entail the construction of drains and sewers, and the whole town will be called upon to bear the cost of such drainage. He would favor the laying over of the scheme until the next municipal elections, when the people would have an opportunity of pronouncing upon it. He advised caution on the part of the Council. Although we are now told that only those asking for the water will have to pay, it might not be long until a special act would be obtained empowering the Company to levy a general local tax and compel the others who had not petitioned to pay for it. He was in favor, and a strong advocate, of waterworks for fire purposes and had shewn his sincerity in this through the offer he had heretofore made, but was opposed to such an enormous scheme as this was.

Councillor Richardson thanked Mr. Hazlett for his remarks but thought he was throwing cold water on the scheme by alluding to the drainage matter. He (the speaker) had been told that the centre of the town was well drained. It was well known that the water in the centre of the town was not fit for domestic purposes, and he believed much of the sickness this season was due to bad water. He considered this scheme the best one the ratepayers could look for, and as only those who asked for water would have to pay for it, he thought none could object to it.

Councillor McNaughton was in favor, personally, of waterworks, but thought it was the right of the ratepayers to say whether the By-law should be passed.

Mr. Hatton said as to draining the Council had the power to levy a local rate to compel the minority to bear the cost of construction: but with the water supply they have not, only those asking for it having to pay for it. This By-law provided that main pipes should be laid down from Smith street to Wolfe street, and the town need not take a single hydrant or pay for one except they chose. The submission of the By-law to the people would cause delay, and when the fall rains set in how were the engineers to get to work so that the works could be finished by 1st of October, 1882. We had now such an offer as might never come again, and he was not prepared to say what the result would be if the question was laid over.

Mr. Sawers thought the people should have the right to say whether the works should be constructed.

Mr. Stevenson did not see how any men could build the works for the returns the company would receive. He did not see why the people in the South Ward should say whether those in the 2nd Ward should have the privilege of taxing themselves to have water to protect themselves. The By-law to his mind was very binding, and he was perfectly willing, as the second largest ratepayer in town, to have it passed.

Mr. Cluxton always had the opinion that the town should build the waterworks themselves. This there appeared to be no possibility of. Another proposition was that a company and the town conjointly should build them; this was also opposed. Then came Mr. Gamble's proposition, which was the most favorable one yet submitted, a special act could not be obtained to compel consumers to pay if any portion of the town was opposed to it. When the question at a public meeting a short time ago was put "Shall we have Water Works?" there were only two dissenting voices. Peterborough, which was one of the finest towns in Canada, should have had waterworks long ago. He thought it it was fortunate that this gentleman was coming here, and would advise the town to take half the stock. The drainage objection he did not consider as serious.

Councillor Rutherford moved, seconded by Councillor Menzies,—That the By-law be now read a third time and passed and that the Mayor and Clerk signed the same.

In amendment it was moved by Councillor Cahill, seconded by Councillor Paterson, —That the Mayor be directed to call a public meeting at an early day to further discuss the water works by-law and that dodgers announcing the meeting be sent to all of the ratepayers' houses.

This motion and amendment drew forth another lengthened discussion, when the motion was declared carried on the following division:

YEAS.—Richardson, Hartley, Menzies, Rutherford and Douglas,—5.

NAYS.—Cahill, McNaughton, Paterson and Yelland,—4.

In declaring the motion carried the Mayor said the only part he had taken in this scheme was in watching the interests of the town in the preparation of the By-law which was most stringent.

A STREET CROSSING.

Councillor McNaughton moved for the construction of a street crossing opposite Mrs. Thos. Martin's residence. The matter was referred to the Street and Bridge Committee to report.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Councillor Paterson gave notice of motion, —That the petition of George M. Roger, presented at the last meeting of this Council, be granted, cost not to exceed $30.00.

At fifteen minutes past twelve the Council adjourned for four weeks.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

The sittings of the Chancery Division of this Court were held last Friday and Saturday, before Chancellor Boyd. The following cases were up for hearing and disposed of:—

HALPIN V. HALL, et al.—S. H. Blake, Q.C., and H. H. Smith for plaintiff; R. H. Dennistoun for defendant Hall, and D. W. Dumble for defendant Sullivan. Verdict for plaintiff—costs to be divided.

MILLS V. MILLS.—Dennistoun Bros. & Hall for plaintiff; D. W. Dumble for defendant. Bill dismissed.

TOWNSHIP OF MONAGHAN V. DOBBIN.—This was an action to compel Dobbin to remove a fence which the township claimed infringed on the road twenty-two feet. A large number of witnesses, especially old settlers, were examined. S. H. Blake, Q.C., and Dennistoun Bros. & Hall for plaintiffs; D. W. Dumble for defendant. Verdict for defendant.

BRICK V. HICKEY.—Settled by consent.

A CORRECTION.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—In my last week's communication the sentence "On the 25th he writes his charge against the boy, after having his own tried by the magistrates and twice postponed, and on the 30th May," etc., should read, "On the 25th he writes his charge against the boy, after having his own trial before the magistrates and twice postponed, and on the 3rd of May, etc."

Yours respectfully,
WM. SARGENT.

BURLEIGH AND UNITED TOWNSHIPS FALL SHOW.

The annual fall show of the above ...ociety was held at Apsley, on Wednesday the 5th of October, and was a decided success. The agriculturalists of these Townships have no intention of being thrown in the shade by those of their ambitious rival municipalities throughout the progressive County of Peterborough, and this years show leaves them occupying a prominent position, both in the matter of attendance and in nearly all departments of exhibits. The ladies department made up in quality what it lacked in quantity and many of the pieces of work revealed a remarkable amount of ingenuity and skill in manufacture. The display of cattle was not as large as last year, but what was exhibited was creditable to the stock-raisers of this section. The roots and vegetables were excellent, the other departments were well represented. Altogether our show was a success, and the people of the united townships take a just pride in its continued progress, which is insured by superior management under the direction of the following energetic and obliging

FLOWERS ON A GRAVE.

What sweeter thing to bear through tears, than this,
Of one who dies, that looking on him dead,
All men with tender reverence gazed and said:
"What courtesy and gentleness were his!
Our ruder lives, for years to come, will miss
His sweet serenity which daily shed
A grace we scarcely felt, so deep imbred
Of nature was it! Loyalty which is
As loyal as his loyalty to friends
Is rare: such purity is rarer still."
Yes, there is yet one sweeter thing! It ends
The broken speech with sobs that choke and thrill
All our throats.
"Alas! lost friend, we know not how Thou hadst won us to love thee until now."

Some lives are bright like torches, and their flame
Cast flickering lights around, and changeful hearts;
Some lights blaze like the meteor which darts
Across the sky; and some of lofty aim
Stand out like beacon lights. But never came,
Or can, a light so satisfying sweet,
As steady daylight, unperturbed, complete,
And noiseless.

Human lives we see, the same
As this; their equilibrium so just,
Their movement so serene, so still, small heed
The world pays to their presence till in need
Its sudden finds itself. The darkness near,
The precious life returning dust to dust,
It recollects how noon and life were clear.

How poor is all that fame can be or bring!
Although a generation feed the pyre,
How soon dies out the lifeless, loveless fire!
"The king is dead!" "Hurrah! Long live the king!"
"The poet breathes his last!" "Who next will sing!"
"The great man falls!" "Who comes to mount still higher!"
Oh bitter emptiness of such desire.
Earth holds but one true good, but one true thing,
And this is it—to walk in honest ways
And patient, and with all one's heart belong
In love unto one's own. No death so strong
That life like this he ever conquers, slays;
The centuries do it no hurt, no wrong.
They are eternal resurrection days!

HOW TO PRESERVE FAILING EYE SIGHT.

The Magazine of Pharmacy gives the following rules for the treatment of the eyes for those who find their sight beginning to fail:

"Sit in such a position as will allow the light to fall obliquely over the shoulder upon the page or sewing. Do not use the eyes for such purposes by any artificial light. Avoid the special use of the eyes in the morning before breakfast. Rest them a half a minute while reading or sewing, or looking at small objects, and by looking at things at a distance, or up to the sky; relief is immediately felt by so doing.

"Never pick any collected matter from the eye-lashes or corner of the eyes with the finger-nails; rather moisten it with the saliva and rub it away with the ball of the finger. Frequently pass the ball of the finger over the closed eyelids towards the nose; this carries off any excess of water into the nose itself by means of the little canal which leads into the nostril from each inner corner of the eye.

"Keep the feet always dry and warm, so as to draw any excess of blood from the other end of the body. Use eye glasses at first carried in the vest pocket attached to a guard, for they are instantly adjusted to the eye with very little trouble; whereas, if common spectacles are used, such a process is required to get them ready that to save trouble the eyes are often strained to answer a purpose.

"Wash the eyes abundantly every morning. If cold water is used, let it be flapped against the closed eyes with the fingers, not striking hard against the balls of the eyes. The moment the eyes feel tired, the very moment you are conscious of an effort to read or sew, lay aside the book or needle, and take a walk for an hour, or employ yourself in some active exercise not requiring the close use of the eyes."

BOIL DOUBTFUL MILK.

It is with the following words that Dr. Pichon closes his account of the epizootic of 1879-80:—"Most authors are silent as to the quality of the milk yielded by cattle during the prevalence of epizootics. It is possible that experience has not as yet supplied sufficient ground for its condemnation, and it is true that while a diminution of milk secretion is usually an early symptom in nearly all diseases of the cow, complete suppression of that secretion accompanies any aggravation or prolongation of disease. The source of danger is thus removed by the operation of natural causes, and the discussion is narrowed to the question whether milk secreted at the very ouset may not have acquired hurtful properties. In this state of uncertainty, which has not been cleared up by any authority on hygiene, the precaution of boiling the milk should be adopted. Boiling destroys any infective germs that it may contain.

TALK AT HOME.

Endeavor always to talk your best before your children. They hunger perpetually for new ideas. They will learn with pleasure from the lips of parents what they will deem it a drudgery to study in books; and even if they have the misfortune to be deprived of many educational advantages, they will grow up intelligent if they enjoy in childhood the privilege of listening daily to the conversation of intelligent people. We sometimes see parents, who are the life of every company they enter, dull, silent and uninteresting at home among their children. If they have not mental activity and mental stores sufficient for both, let them first use what they have for their own households. A silent home is a dull place for young people, a place from which they will escape if they can. How much useful information, on the other hand, is often given in pleasant conversation, and what unconscious but mental training in lively social argument. Cultivate to the uttermost the grace of conversation.

THE BREAD TAX.

We find the following in a prominent place in the Government organ:

"Mr. Blake, in his speech at Quebec, 'objected to a tax upon the bread of the workingman,' whereupon the Hamilton Spectator remarks:—'Now, there is no tax on the bread of the workingman,' or of 'any other man.'"

The Hamilton Spectator still holds the jacknife for what we had, very reluctantly, to characterize in a former article as "supreme idiocy." No less than twelve pages of the last trade returns are occupied with tables showing the taxes paid by the people on "breadstuffs, &c." Taking from the list the articles of wheat and wheat flour, corn and corn meal, oatmeal, rye, peas, barley, bread and biscuit, we find that on the imports of these the people paid taxes last year to the amount of upwards of a quarter of a million dollars.

With these figures staring them in the face, journals of the Halifax Herald and Hamilton Spectator class do not hesitate to tell the people that there is no such thing as a tax on bread.—Halifax Chronicle.

OATMEAL FOR MUSCLE.

When distributing lately at Birnam the prizes of the Highland games, Lady John Manners said that she believed the Scottish peasantry owed their great muscular power to oatmeal and milk, and she wished the English peasantry would live on like fare. Lady John has excellent authority for her belief. Twenty years ago a most careful parliamentary report declared that the declention in the physique of the Northumbrians was coeval with their abandonment of oatmeal and milk for wheaten bread and tea.

WOMEN AND MUSIC.

We extract the following from Mr. Crowest's new work, "Phases of musical England":—

"Women are eminently fitted, physically and intellectually, to follow music both as a study and an accomplishment. The emotional element is very strong in woman—stronger, perhaps, than in man, and this force is a desideratum when considered in its relation to music. She is also the personification of all that is artistic, delicate, sensitive, sympathetic, tender, and true—qualities which combine, indeed are essential, to form both the real art and artist. Hence the attitude which women bear to music becomes a subject of some interest, and one which is worthy of every consideration. Possessing the higher qualities in a more marked degree than do men, it seems far more consistent to reason that women, in preference to the stronger sex, should be called upon to transfuse into the art those qualities which form the very essence of all true musical work.

"Physically, there is no great obstacle in the way of her adopting the art generally as a serious study and a profitable work; indeed, she has in this respect also many advantages. Her fine long hand, and pliant limom fingers, her easy and flexible wrist, would prove of inestimable benefit in those branches of the art where brilliant execution is needed: such, for instance, as in pianoforte or violin playing, to acquire which execution, and to keep the same in a state of perfection, demands from males an enormous amount of regular practice."

DOES THE WORLD MISS ANY ONE?

Not long. The best and most useful of us will soon be forgotten. Those who to-day are filling a large place in the world's regard will pass away from the rememberance of man in a few months, or at farthest, a few years after the grave has closed upon the remains. We are shedding tears about a new made grave and wildly crying out in our grief that our loss is irreparable; yet, in a short time the tendrils of love have entwined around other supports and we no longer miss the one who has gone. So passes the world. But there are those to whom a loss is beyond repair. There are men from whose memories no woman's smile can chase recollections of the sweet face that has given up all its beauties at death's icy touch. There are women whose plighted faith extend beyond the grave, and drives as profane those who would entice them from a worship of their buried love. Such loyalty, however, is hidden away from the public gaze. The world sweeps on besides and around them and cares not to look in upon this unobtruding grief. It carves a line and rears a stone over the dead and hastens away to offer homage to the living.

ARTEMUS WARD AND THE DONKEY.

The following, among other anecdotes, is contributed to a Portland (Maine) journal:—Half-a-dozen of Artemus' associates were sitting in his room at the village hotel where he boarded, when an old woman drove up to the store opposite with a pair of donkeys—a Jack and a Jenny—hitched to a little waggon. Jack was the noisiest brute in the country. He had a voice worse than the handle of the town pump on a frosty morning, and was proud of it. In a minute his tail rose to a horizontal position, his nose was thrust forward, his lips parted, and the beast blew his infernal blast. A second and a third time it was repeated. Artemus quietly thought "that thing might be fixed," and disappeared from the room. He went over and appeared to make a careful inspection of the fore wheels of the waggon, the harness, and the hitch-up, and came back saying that the donkey was all right, the brute must have made a mistake about something. Presently there were indications of a movement on Jack's part; the neck was extended, the lips curled, and the tail rose—to the pivotal point and no further. The trumpet didn't sound. Jack thought there was a mistake somewhere—hesitated—reflected and tried again. The front part—some of it—was all right, but the equilibrium could not be reached. After a time another attempt was made and failed. Jack turned his head around to ascertain the cause of failure, but couldn't see any. The fifth vain attempt to bray was followed by a spiteful kick at Jenny, but it didn't cure the matter, so at last he gave it up, and stood at that store door, the most neglected looking, discontented donkey in existence. Meantime, Artemus enjoyed the fun, and discharged a rattling fusillade of pungent humor that kept the party in a roar, and made the whole affair one of the most ludicrous that I ever experienced. Artemus had attached a heavy stone to the donkey's tail, leaving just play enough to the cord to allow the beast to get his tail nearly up to "concert pitch."

MR. CARLYLE AT HIS WIFE'S GRAVE.

The sexton of the old church at Haddington gave a touching account of the last visit of Thomas Carlyle to the grave where his wife is buried. "Mr. Carlyle," said the sexton, "comes here from London now and then to see this grave. He is a gaunt, shaggy, weird kind of an old man, looking very old the last time he was here—eighty-six—and comes here to this grave all the way from London. Mr. Carlyle himself is to be brought to be buried with his wife. He comes here lonesome and alone when he visits his wife's grave. His niece keeps him company to the gate, but he leaves her there and she stays there for him. The last time he was here I got a sight of him, and he was bowed down under his white hairs, and he took his way up by that ruined wall of the old cathedral, and round there, and in here by the gateway, and he tottered up here to this spot. And he stood here a while in the grass, then he bent over, and I saw him kiss the ground. Ay, he kissed it again and again, and he kept kneeling, and it was a long time before he rose and tottered out of the cathedral and wandered through the graveyard to the gate where his niece stood waiting for him."

AN UNFORTUNATE WINKER.

(Detroit Free Press.)

There is an exemplary young man in Detroit who, on account of some facial affliction, can wink with but one eye. Every time he calls for a glass of soda, he is obliged to explain to the clerk that his wink, though honest looking and apparently genuine on the face, is but a hollow delusion and a snare, and that he will take his swallow of fizz without the spiritual consolation which his wink would imply that he desired. He spends about half of his life in dodging irate husbands and brothers, whose wives or sisters he has met on the street and who thought themselves just dreadfully insulted, and the other half bemoaning his cruel fate and cursing the luck. He thinks of getting his winkative eyelashes amputated, or else of wearing a single-barreled goggle.

A SON'S THOUGHTS ON THE LOSS OF HIS FATHER.

In the Recollections of the late Thomas Carlyle there is a touching account of his father, which thus concludes: "I shall now no more behold my dear father with these bodily eyes. With him a whole threescore and ten years of the past has doubly died for me. It is as if a new leaf in the great book of time were turned over. Strange time—endless time; or of which I see neither end nor beginning. All rushes on. Man follows man. His life is as a tale that has been told; yet under time does there not lie eternity? Perhaps my father, all that essentially was my father, is even now near me, with me. Both he and I are with God. Perhaps, if it so please God, we shall in some higher state of being meet one another, recognise one another. As it is written, We shall be for ever with God. The possibility, nay (in some way) the certainty of perennial existence daily grows plainer to me. The essence of whatever was, is, or shall be, even now is. God is great. God is good. His will be done, for it will be right."

WEATHER WISDOM.—When you wish to know what the weather is to be, go out and select the smallest cloud you see. Keep your eye upon it, and if it decreases and disappears it shows a state of the air which is sure to be followed by fine weather; but if it increases in size, take your great coat if you are going from home, for falling weather is not far off. The reason is this: When the air is becoming charged with electricity you will see every cloud attracting all lesser ones towards it, until it gathers into a shower; and, on the contrary, when the fluid is passing off, or diffusing itself, then a large cloud will be seen breaking into pieces and disolving.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere at 25 cents a bottle. 6-1y.

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family, handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle. 6-1y

PEOPLE TORMENTED by the many disagreeable sensations produced by dyspepsia, or are thin, nervous and weak, should use the standard tonic—Northrop & Lyman's Quinine Wine. They will find it agreeable and beneficial. It enriches the blood by aiding digestion and assimilation; soothes and invigorates the nervous system, and imparts a healthful appetite. When used as a remedy for bilious and intermittent fever, it produces the happiest results, if taken between the attacks. Convalescence is hastened, and untimely decay of the physique and constitution is arrested by it. The spirituous constituent, sherry wine, is of the best quality, and the aromatics combined with it renders its flavor additionally pleasant. They who use it gain flesh as well as strength and it exerts a cheering influence upon the mind. It promotes a healthy secretion and flow of bile, sound repose and regularity in the action of the bowels. If judiciously used it may be taken without apprehension of any ill result by persons of the most delicate constitution. A fair trial is all that is needed to prove the genuineness of its claims to public confidence, and to the truth of the general verdict in its behalf. No article of its class commends its self so strongly to nervous invalids who require building up—none is so well adapted to fortify the system against the dangers which threaten the debilitated. It should not be mistaken for a mere stimulant of appetite, which so many so-called tonics simply are. It so regulates the stomach that it is enabled to perform its various functions with regularity and vigor, and its action is not only thorough but prompt. Ask for the "Quinine Wine of Northrop & Nyman." Sold by all druggists

NOT THE SLIGHTEST AFFINITY exists between the numberless cough mixtures with which the market is flooded and that successful preparation—Northrop and Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. It stands alone, distinct, itself, and nothing else. It embodies the best results of pharmaceutical science. It accomplishes positive, decisive results, effectually relieving coughs when the lungs are not tuberculous or hopelessly affected; colds, laryngitis and diseases of a scrofulous origin. While it does not cure Consumption it is the most reliable means of defence against that dreaded scourge. The invigorating properties of the hypophosphites reimburse the system debilitated by the constant tear and wear of a cough, while the paroxysms rapidly diminish in violence, in consequence of the soothing emollient action of the cod liver oil upon the inflamed lung mebrane. The phosphorus, lime and soda, in combination with it are all natural components in the construction of the bodily edifice, which, in a state of decay, lacks a sufficiency of those elements. These the hypophosphites supply, increasing the nutritive properties of the blood, and building up and rehabilitating the tottering human structure with a degree of promptitude as astonishing as it is gratifying to the invalid. A perceptible gain in flesh as well as strength is one of the consequences of using this standard preparation, which both time and experience have demonstrated to be fully worthy of the confidence reposed in it. Prepared by NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto and sold by all druggists.

WAYFARING.

The way is long, O Lord, that leads
Through cooling springs and fragrant meads:
Weary of its weary length;
Grow all heart and hope and strength,
Where I halt my tired feet
And pray for rest as for, dear, sweet.

I thank thee for a baking place
Made glad by thine own smiling face;
I thank thee that the dusty way
My footsteps knoweth day by day;
I thank thee that some path there be
From pain and care to peace and thee.

Though my times are in thy hand;
Clear for light to understand
How thou canst for each pilgrim care,
How thou canst hear each pleading prayer,
How unto thee each soul is known
As if it walked the world alone.

And sometime I may comprehend,
The way is long; but at its end
A clearer vision waits the sight,
In thy dear garden of delight.
Wayfaring dove, let me abide
Where never falls an eventide.

VARIETIES.

About time to gather and press the tinted autumn leaves.

Have the moths been in your ulster during the summer.

Vennor admits that the weather is becoming a conundrum to him. He had better give it up.

Natural Religion—Bishop (reproving delinquent page): "Wretched boy! Who is it that sees all we do, and before whom even I am but a crushed worm?" Page: The missus, my lord."

For Those who Sing out of Tune: 'Twere sing before they die; 'twere no bad thing
Should certain persons die before they sing.
—Coleridge.

A lady writes that no man will stare long at a woman who does not stare back. That sounds very well, but if she does not state back, how is she to know whether the man has stopped staring or not?"

To indite well and to write well are valuable accomplishments, but a good pen is helpful to the one, and indispensable to the other. Those of the Esterbrook make are well known and widely appreciated.

The Marquis de Calino's last: They were talking before him about cremation, and asked his opinion of it. "It is horrible—repulsive!" he exclaimed. "As for myself, I would die before I would be cremated."

Three Things that Cannot be Hidden.—If there are two things not to be hidden—love and a cough—I say there is a third, and that is ignorance, when once a woman is obliged to do something besides wagging her head.—George Eliot.

For Dysentery, diarrhœa, and all summer complaints use the greatest of all cures, simple remedies—Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is pleasant, rapid, reliable and effective. For sale by all dealers. T. Milburn & Co., Proprietors. 41-2t

The Signs of a Little Mind.—Inattention to what you have on hand at the moment, be it what it may, the doing one thing and thinking of another at the same time, are the never-failing signs of a little, frivolous mind.

A Hint for Letter-Writers.—The turn of a sentence has decided the fate of many a friendship. So when one is tempted to write a clever but sharp thing, though it may be difficult to restrain it, it is always better to leave it in the inkstand.

Fancy Drinks.—Burdock Blood Bitters is not a fancy drink, but a pure medicinal tonic, alterative, laxative and nervine, whose effect is to purify, restore and build up the impoverished blood and enfeebled body. Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents. 41-2t

Quite Content.—If thou hast but little, make it not less by murmuring. If thou hast enough, make it not too much by unthankfulness. She that is not thankfully contented with the least favor she hath received hath made herself incapable of the least favor she can receive.—Quarles.

There is a man in California who has a snake in his stomach, and is obliged to drink large quantities of whiskey to keep the reptile stupefied, as it causes him great pain when it is lively. Of course he refuses to have the snake removed, and his envious temperance neighbors are anxious to know how he captured it.

A sure basis of popularity.—Merit, apparent to a "cloud of witnesses," upon which the popularity of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is founded. Throat and lung complaints, pain, soreness, stiffness, swellings, burns and ailments of various kinds, yield to the action of this speedy and safe remedy.

The London Lancet says, speaking of church bells:—"They are an intolerable and most mischief-working nuisance. To the sick their ding-dong and jangle are a serious annoyance, and we do not hesitate to say that in many cases the loss of rest and the general disquietude they produce not only lessen the chance of recovery, but may expedite a fatal issue."

The tailors are drawing the coils tighter and tighter around the limbs of their unhappy customers. That is to say, trouser legs will be more skimp than ever this year. It is a barbarous fashion. Better, far better, the rotund and bourgeois peg-top than the scant measure which betrays our feet in all their hideous enormity, and which contract vulgar bulges at the knees inside of 48 hours.

Never Give up.—If you are suffering with low and depressed spirits, loss of appetite, general debility, disordered blood, weak constitution, headache, or any disease of a billious nature, by all means procure a bottle of Electric Bitters. You will be surprised to see the rapid improvement that will follow; you will be inspired with new life; strength and activity will return; pain and misery will cease, and henceforth you will rejoice in the praise of Electric Bitters. Sold at fifty cents a bottle; Taylor & Macdonald agents.

The Greatest Effect in Music.—Mozart was once asked what, in his opinion, produced the greatest effect in music. "No music," was the laconic reply. He meant the cessation of music. A pause not only acts beneficially; it likewise depicts the greatest excitement, heightens the expectation of the hearer, and is particularly effective in sacred music.

Millions Given Away.—Millions of bottles of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, have been given away as trial bottles of the large size. This enormous outlay would be disastrous to the proprietors, were it not for the rare merits possessed by this wonderful medicine. Call at Taylor and Macdonald's drug store, and get a trial bottle free, and try for yourself. It never fails to cure.

The Art of Shopping.—"What's the price of this article?" inquired a deaf old lady. "Seven shillings," said the draper. "Seventeen shillings!" she exclaimed; "I will give you thirteen." "Seven shillings!" replied the honest tradesman, in a louder tone, "is the price of the article." "Oh! seven shillings," the lady sharply rejoined; "I'll give you five."

What Girls Should Be.—A woman must be a pleasant creature. Be sure that people like the room better with you in it than out of it, and take all pains to get the power of sympathy and the habit of it. Girls should be like daisies: nice and white, with an edge of red if you look close; making the ground bright wherever they are; knowing simply and quickly that they do it, and that it would be very wrong if they didn't do it.—Ruskin.

The Little Things which Form our Lives.—Character is formed by a variety of minute circumstances more or less under the control of the individual. Not a day passes without its discipline, whether for good or for evil. There is no act, however trivial, but has its train of consequences, as there is no hair so small but casts its shadow. It was a wise saying of Mrs. Shimmelpennick's mother, never to give way to what is little; or by that little, however you may despise it, you will be practically governed.—Smiles.

Beauty's Toilet.—
Otto of roses, warranted to retain its fragrance in all climes—Virtue.
Essence of jasmine, apt to evaporate, therefore to be kept close—Friendship.
Essence of violet—Humility.
Beautifying lotions—Tenderness and Constancy.
An excellent bloom to preserve the complexion—Early Rising.
Best lip salve—Smile of Benevolence.
Cold cream—Prudence.
Fine eye-water—Sensibility.
Best rouge—Modesty.
Pomade divine—Contentment.
Drops to remove stains—Honor and Rectitude.
Drops to prevent ennui—Employment.
Sal-volatile—Wit.
Best sticking plaster—Faithfulness.
Best patent pins—Repartee.
A lotion to prevent wrinkles—Cheerfulness.
A mirror—Reflection.

HUMOROUS GLEANINGS.

A new color is called "blue chalk." It will be fashionable in the families of milkmen.

The probabilities are that cold weather is coming. Those infallible weather prophets—wild geese—are flying toward the south.

It is now time for our exchanges to begin remarking that the melancholy days have come, the saddest of the year.

In Chicago the father of the bride kisses the groom and then takes him into partnership.

When a party is in the minority, its most active men are called leaders; when it is in the majority, the same men are called "bosses."

"The fact is," said Smith melodramatically, "my heart goes out to the distressed. I am all heart." "I guess you are," remarked Frogg, more in sorrow than in anger; "I know you are always on the beat."

Professor to child (angry at inattention)—"Another minute, miss, and I shall go and speak to your mamma." Pupil—"Well, take care pa don't catch you at it, he's awful jealous."

"Mr. Smith," said a lady at a fair, "won't you please buy this boquet to present to the lady you love?" "Twouldn't be right," said Smith; "I'm a married man."

A reporter of a California free-fight says—"Colonel Bagges was shot once in the left side, once in the right shoulder, and once in the drinking-saloon adjacent."

Somebody tried to excuse a liar to Dr. Johnson, saying: "You must not believe more than half what he says." "Aye," replied the Doctor, "but which half?"

An old lady, sleeping through divine service in a church in Liverpool, let fall her Bible with clasps to it; and the noise partly awoke her, she exclaimed aloud, "What! you've broken another jug, have you?"

The Boston Investigator's way of saying "He died" is as follows: "He passed the boundary which limits our knowledge of the duration of individual consciousness."

An Ohio girl who loved another fellow married a dying man just to oblige him, and then he was mean enough to disoblige her by getting well. No wonder women occasionally exclaims that no man is to be trusted.

An Austin boy came home from school very much excited and told his father that he believed all human beings were descended from apes, which made the old man so mad that he replied, angerly: "That may be the case with you, but it ain't with me; I can tell you that, now."

An editor received a letter from a subscriber asking him to publish a cure for apple tree worms. He replied that he could not suggest a cure until he knew what ailed the worms.

ARCHBISHOP LYNCH ON ANNEXATION.

When Archbishop Lynch, of Toronto, was returning from his recent trip to Winnipeg, he was interviewed by a Detroit reporter, during which the following conversation occurred:—

"What about annexation?" said the reporter. "Is there much talk in Canada about joining the United States?"

"Not at all," replied his Grace. "The Catholic people in Canada have more church privileges and rights than they would have under your Government, and they do not care to give them up. Under Canadian laws they are not obliged to pay taxes for any scholars except their own. All Catholic taxes go to Catholic schools. There are other reasons why the Catholics oppose annexation."

LOVE MAKING IN CHICAGO.

"I am very rich, my darling," she said softly, punctuating her sentences with soft warm kisses, "Already I have $100,000 worth of four per cents registered in my name, and when the leaves are turning red in the golden October days, and the fields are laughing in the rich abundance of a bountiful harvest, I shall cut off the coupons. And when papa dies he will leave me nearly $200,000 more. Yes, my sweetheart, I am a very happy girl:" and a fair head nestled confidingly on the shoulder of the strong-limbed, hazel-eyed young man to whom this avowal was made. He looked tenderly down at the brown tresses and the invisible net that bound them to the fair forehead. Gently lifting the beautiful face to his, he pressed a passionate kiss on the full, red lips that seemed only made for osculation.

Turning his head away, Herbert Ainsleigh appeared for a moment to be wrapped in thought. Then kissing Miriam with a rich, warm, two-for-a-quarter kiss, he said: "Do you love me, Birdie?"

She gave answer by placing her white arms around his neck, and throwing herself madly on his shirt front.

"Do not hug so hard, darling, an' you love me, or you will raise a carbuncle on the back of my neck," he said in low, mellow tones.

"It is only the deep, passionate longing of my love, Herbert. It recks not of carbuncles. But you are right. Too much pressure on the cervical vertebra will cause an exostosis. My professor of anatomy told me that."

"And we will be married in the fall, my sweet?"

"Yes, Herbert, in the rich, hazy, sensuous days of Indian summer, when the low note of the farmer's boy seeking the lost cow is heard as he sits on the vine-embowered stile and blasphemes until the fire-fly leaves for a cooler spot. You must take all my money, Herbert; it must be yours to do as you will with it; to attain the glorious fame that awaits you; for I know that my love's name will some day be known through the length and breadth of the land. Surely, you have an ambition?"

"I have," said Herbert, kissing her while she caught her breath.

"And you will not let any false pride stand in the way of using my money to attain the height you fain would reach?"

"No, darling, I will not. You say you have $100,000 in four per cents. To-morrow I will act, and in less than a day my name will be as familiar throughout the world as that of England's proud queen."

"Oh, Herbert, what will you do?"

"I shall purchase Maud S."

* * * * * *

Two minutes later a human form fell with a dull thud on the front porch of the haughty pork-packer's residence. It was Herbert Ainsleigh. The old man had fired him out.—Chicago Tribune.

Prepared properly, carbolic acid cannot hurt the most delicate house plants, and it is sure to kill insect life. Pour a quantity of dark crude acid into a quantity of good strong domestic soft soap; stir well together, and allow to stand for a few hours. Then test the compound by mixing a little of it with soft water. If too much acid has been added, oily particles of carbolic acid will be observed floating on the surface. This shows that more acid has been put in than the soap will incorporate or "cut," and more soap should be added to balance the excess of acid. No more definite rule can be given, as so much depends on the strength of the soap. Two or three tablespoonsfuls of the acid to a quart of soap may be first tried. Make as strong with acid as the soap will perfectly cut. A very little practice will enable any one to compound it correctly. The refined acid may be used when the crude is not at hand. When prepared as above make a moderately strong suds, and apply with syringe or sponge. In using on very delicate plants, should any fear be felt for the plants, they can be rinsed off after a few minutes.

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

First:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

Second:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

Third:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes o adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

A Great Cause of Human Misery

Is the Loss of

MANHOOD

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Lines on a Lady's Ulster.

Now let the "Ulster" be the theme,
For o'er the muses fain confess
That men and goddesses may dream
Or write the "Poetry of Dress."

"The apparel oft proclaims the man,"
Thus truly saith the immortal bard;
And who shall say that women may
From fashion's influence be debarr'd.

'Tis true she adds a charm to dress,
And dress too oft her beauty blurs,
But when she's graced with faultless taste
Her garments oft add charms to her.

The dress in which are best allied
The subtlest art and perfect skill,
Adds to the charm 'twas meant to hide,
And makes them more bewitching still.

No careless folds the Ulster shows,
But round the human form divine
The perfect fit will still disclose
The rounding form, the curving line.

The autumn chill, the winter snow,
The heavy dew, the pattering rain,
The frosts that bite, the winds that blow,
Invade the Ulster all in vain.

Thus use and elegance combine—
That shields the form, that charms the eye:
And art is shown in each design
That M. & A. so well supply.

And to crown all, each rare device
In Ulsters, M. & A.'s display
Is sold at such a wond'rous price,
We feel amazed and well we may.

Faultless fit, splendid style, vast variety, good work and a very great saving in price will be found in M. & A.'s Mantles and Ulsters.

Local News Record.

THANKSGIVING DAY.—Thursday next is set aside for Thanksgiving.

VITAL STATISTICS.—The registrations made with the Town Clerk during the month of September were as follows: Births, 17; marriages, 12; deaths, 15.

Boys Tweed Suits are being sold by I. Robinson & Co. for $3 and upwards, and men's good all wool suits for $8.00 and upwards. 10-tf

RIFLE ASSOCIATION MATCHES. The annual matches of the Peterborough Rifle Association will take place on Thursday and Friday, 20th and 21st instant. A liberal prize list is promised.

DAYS OF SPECIAL PRAYER. The 17th and 18th days of October next, has been set apart as days of special prayer for Sunday Schools by the various S. S. Associations and Unions throughout the world.

LACROSSE CLUB SOCIAL. The Lacrosse Club have arranged for the holding of a Social Assembly in Bradburn's Opera House on the evening of Wednesday next, 19th instant. Tickets for sale by Committee.

DR. G. S. RYERSON, Oculist and Aurist to the Toronto General Hospital, may be consulted at the Huffman House, Peterborough, with regard to all affections of the Eye, Ear and Throat, on Saturday, October 15. 39-td.

UNCHANGED.—The announcement made in last week's EXAMINER that the Queen's Hotel, Port Hope, had been purchased by Mr. Dunham was premature. It appears an agreement for the sale of the hotel had been made, but it has since fallen through.

THE COBOURG "WORLD" office has been removed from its former premises to Smith's new buildings—"The Phœnix Block." The World is an able exponent of Liberal views, and is among the most welcome of our exchanges. May it continue to meet with a still greater degree of success in its new quarters.

BEFORE YOU BUY your Fall or Winter Suits, Overcoats, Tweed or Fulled Cloth Pants, Rubber Coats or Underclothing, Tweeds, Fulled Cloths or Flannels by the yard, call and see the splendid assortment offered at the lowest figures by W. J. Wallace, Lakefield. 39-6 ins.

The CANADIAN PRESBYTERIAN for 1882 promises to be as interesting and instructive as ever. The Rev. W. Inglis continues to be Editor-in-chief. An agent is wanted in every congregation, to whom liberal inducements will be offered. We club the EXAMINER and the CANADA PRESBYTERIAN at $2.75, the price of the latter alone is $2.00. Balance of the year FREE.

FOR WINNIPEG.—Mr. John Benson has purchased from Mr. W. J. Devlin, a set of extra fine double harness, which are to be shipped to Winnipeg. It speaks volumes for Peterborough workmen when such judges as Mr. Benson prefer their work to that of the large firms in Toronto and other places. We hope that this is only the commencement of a trade that will rapidly assume large proportions. It

HYMENIAL.—Mr. W. Graham, of Lakefield, was married on Wednesday last to Miss Finlay of that village. A large number of guests assembled at the residence of the brides parents to witness the ceremony, and wish the happy couple an elegant time, a perpetual honeymoon, and blessed hereafter, all of which we echo. They left on the evening train to spend their honeymoon in the East.

BODY FOUND.—The body of the late Patrick Walsh, of Auburn, lost overboard from the Steamer Norseman on her trip across lake Ontario on the evening of the 28th ultimus, was recovered last Wednesday, having been washed ashore near Charlotte. His remains were forwarded to his friends here and interred on Friday last.

It gives us pleasure to notice the marked improvement in the "get up" of Sunday School Papers within recent years. Mr. C. Blackett Robinson, 5 Jordan Street, Toronto, sends us specimens of three very attractive papers issued from his office, which are behind no others coming under our notice. They should prove great favourites in all Canadian Sunday Schools. For FREE specimen copies address the publisher as above.

THE PRINTING ROOM.—Our friend Barr, of the Lindsay Post, determined to keep abreast of the times and meet the requirements of his increasing business, now occupies the ground floor of the building for some time occupied by him. The Post is among the leading weeklies of the Dominion, while the samples of work turned out from its job department would do credit to many a city establishment.

The Signal, published at Pilot Mound, Manitoba, in a recent issue has the following paragraph in reference to two Peterborough boys:

"Messrs. McBain & Shaw, our enterprising merchants, have a change of advt. in this issue. The boys have a large and varied stock on hand, and are bound to do the trade for South-western Manitoba, if good goods and low prices are any inducements to customers."

We hope that in the prarie province our young friends may meet with their highest anticipations.

CURLING.—The Secretary of the Peterborough Curling Club, Mr. A. McNeil, has issued his annual announcement calling the attention of members of the club to the annual meeting to be held at the "Oriental" at eight o'clock, on Friday evening, the 14th October.

ROCK ISLAND BOOTS.—Messrs. R. Stenson & Son have just received several cases of Rock Island Boots, which are marked down to bottom prices. Full stock in all other departments, selling extremely cheap. Call and see for yourself. 36-tf.

No paper ever before started in Canada received as cordial a welcome as the RURAL CANADIAN. The cause of this is not far to seek. It merited all the good words written in its favour, and deserves the hearty support of every farmer in the country. To place the RURAL CANADIAN within the reach of all our readers, we club it with the EXAMINER and offer both for $2.00. If the book, CANADIAN FARMING, is desired, the two papers and book will be furnished for $2.25. Balance of the year FREE.

THE COLD WEATHER is beginning to assert itself. It has shown its nose in the streets a nose so blue and pinched as to give one the shivers. The days of white vests, ice cream, cotton stockings, muslin dresses and straw hats have come to an end. There will be a brief interregnum between fall and winter, called Indian summer, and then come ulsters, muffs, fur caps, seal skin sacques, hot drinks, and other concomitants of ice and snow.

ATTRACTIONS FOR CAREFUL BUYERS. Each reader of the EXAMINER this week will receive from the firm of W. W. Johnston & Co. one of their Autumn Circulars, announcing the completion of their fall stock in the different departments, and enumerating the several lines of goods, in which the firm feels confident they cannot be undersold. House keepers should peruse the circular carefully and when making their fall purchases call and inspect the stock which will be found large and attractive, embracing all the latest novelties, and at prices which must make speedy sales.

REMOVED.—The Collingwood Messenger says: "Mr. J. C. Smith, of the Bank of Toronto, in this town, leaves for the head office, Toronto, on Thursday next. Mr. Smith has made many friends in town during his stay with us by his gentlemanly and courteous conduct, and by his upright discharge of his duties as bank official. While we regret the fact that he has to leave us, we congratulate Mr. Smith on his promotion, and feel assured that he will give a good account of himself in his new position. In common with the rest of our citizens we wish him all success wherever he may be." Mr. Smith's many friends in Peterborough will be pleased to hear of his being promoted to Toronto.

BIBLE SOCIETY. Public meetings in advocacy of the claims of the Bible Society will be held on the evening of the 24th instant, commencing at 7 o'clock, as follows, when addresses will be delivered by the rev. gentlemen and others, whose names are respectively appended:—At Stewart's School House (River Road), Rev. Mr. Torrance and Dr. Fife; Salem, Bible Christian Church, Rev. Mr. Shaw and William Wand; Town Hall, North Monaghan, Rev. Mr. Bell and Jas. Edwards; Robinson's Church, Smith, Rev. Mr. Joliffe and Col. Haultain; Second Line Smith, Rev. Mr. Stobo and J. B. Nicholls; Nassau, Temple Rooms, Rev. Mr. Workman and J. Carnegie; Swan's Corners, Rev. W. Bennett and J. Stratton. Friends of the Bible in those places will favor the objects of the Society by making arrangements for the meetings.

THE BRITISH CANADIAN COLONIZATION COMPANY. Notice of application to the Governor-General in Council for letters patent under the provisions of "The Canada Joint Stock Companies Act, 1877," has been given by Hon. Alexander Mackenzie, James Beaty, Robert Jaffray, and Frederick Charles Denison, of Toronto, and George Albertus Cox of Peterborough. The purposes for which incorporation is sought are the acquiring by purchase, lease, or otherwise of lands, and improving, selling, leasing, or otherwise disposing of the same, assisting emigration from other countries, and settlement upon lands in Canada; with power to assist immigrants and settlers to colonize the lands of the Company by grants of land, advances of money or otherwise, and to take security for such advances and assistance and for the balance of the price of lands sold by the Company by way of mortgage upon the lands so sold, &c.; the capital stock to be $1,000,000 in ten thousand shares of $100 each, and chief place of business Toronto.

A MIRACULOUS ESCAPE. On Tuesday of last week, Mr. James Payton, in the employment of Mr. Henry Owens, drove out to the residence of Mr. Jacob Lowe, of Emily, for the purpose of placing a pump in a well for that gentleman. The well is situated in the wood shed adjoining the house, and is about 30 feet deep; with about 4 feet of water in it. The covering had been taken off and the workmen were preparing to put the pump in when a little six-year-old girl playing in the shed ran straightway into the well, falling to the bottom, feet foremost. Mr. Payton lost no time in lowering a rope and descending, expecting to find the mutilated, if not dead, body of the child at the bottom. When within a short distance of the water he came to where the child was clinging to the stones, attempting to make her way up. He took her under his arm and safely landed with his charge, where her almost distracted parents were anxiously waiting. Strange to say, with the exception of a mere scratch on her head, the child was not in the least injured. How she escaped is really a wonder as there was a part of an old pump log at the bottom of the well.

SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL PAPER. An exchange says: Week after week we come across men who don't take a local paper because it is so small; because they know all the news in town; because they have no time to read it; because they take some city weekly; or for some other equally satisfactory reason. Some of these very men, too, are the ones who ask favors of us the insertion of a marriage notice, or a long obituary, or some other item of interest chiefly to themselves or their own immediate locality! Now why should people support their local papers? Because it is their local paper that writes their local history, that advocates their local interests, that promotes their local industries, that educates the people in the politics of the country. What interest have the city papers in the interior towns that a man should take one of them in preference to his home paper? There are no two ways about it. Every citizen in the country should feel it his duty to support, at least, one of the local papers, and every business man who has a sense of gratitude in his breast will feel that he ought to advertise. While the newspapers are writing up the town and striving to make it a business centre, there are business men who profit by the enterprise of the newspapers and boast that it never costs them a cent: Shame on such men!

THE PEOPLE SAY

That there will be fine weather yet.

That the M. R. R. is booming.

That outside ice on the open rink is almost impossible to get.

That Peterborough Market is the best in Central Ontario.

That Peterborough merchants are doing a large business.

That the rain during the past week will do much good.

That Peterborough should have a Midland Central Exhibition of her own.

That the town is not as noisy as some make it out to be.

That T. Dolan & Co. have two very neat stores.

That St. John's church has "left their measure" for a new organ for the new church.

That the Skating Rink will be largely attended during the winter (weather and ice permitting.)

That the puddle of water on Brock street opposite the Post Office should not be allowed to be a goose pond any longer. That the Street Inspector should attend to it.

That if Brampton can have five miles of waterworks in town, bring the water five miles erect forty Hydrants and construct thirteen valves for $17,000 that Peterboro will yet pay pretty dearly for her system.

That the Ministers of Peterborough should arrange for a joint thanksgiving service in either the Presbyterian or Methodist church. That it would be better than poorly attended services in the several churches.

That the Bobcaygeon Independent is too severe on the Mayor and Town Council of Peterborough. The same unfortunate affair which terminated in the death of Larocque and the committal of Hamblin to the Penitentiary for life might have occurred if we had fifteen police.

PERSONAL.

Mr. James McGhee of Toronto was in town on Monday.

Rev. V. Clementi, B.A., of Peterboro', filled the pulpit of St. Pauls', Lindsay, at morning and evening services on Sunday last.

Dr. E. F. Hatton, late of London, England, and son of D. G. Hatton, Esq., paid a flying visit to Peterboro' last Friday. He sailed again yesterday.

Mr. J. Lumley, representing the Dominion Paper Company, was in town on Tuesday. He represents a good paper and says business is booming.

The Winnipeg Sun says: Mr. G. G. Hilliard, eldest son of Mr. George Hilliard, M. P., for West Peterborough, is in the city on a visit.

Winnipeg Sun:—Dr. Harvey, the veteran physician of Peterborough, Ont., arrived in the city Sunday, and left this morning for the Shell river district to visit his son-in-law, Mr. Merrick.

Mr. Edward Brown, son of Mr. Gordon Brown, of the Globe, has just united himself in the bonds of wedlock with a a daughter of Mrs. Morrison, the actress, whose husband was at the time of his death, editor of the Telegraph.

Mr. I. Harley Brock, formerly of the Ottawa Free Press, and for the past two years connected with the EXAMINER has accepted the position of managing editor of the Winnipeg Daily Sun. Mr. Brock is a journalist of ability, a talented and vigorous writer, and under whose management the Sun is bound to shine in the metropolis of the prarie province.

The Winnipeg Free Press says: "Rev. J. E. Starr concluded a very effective sermon in Grace Church Tabernacle yesterday morning with an eloquent tribute to the memory of the late President Garfield, dwelling especially, in appropriate and forcible language, upon the nobility of his character and the importance of his example as a Christian statesman. The words of the reverend gentleman in this connection met with the fullest sympathy of his congregation, and many admired the ability with which they were spoken.

Parnell Arrested!

The Great Land League Agitator Lodged in Kilmainham Jail.

Ireland Wild with Excitement.

Full Particulars of the Arrest, &c.

On Thursday last the Great Land League Agitator, Charles Stewart Parnell was arrested in Dublin at the instance of Secretary Forster on a charge of "inciting the people to intimidate others from paying just rent, and intimidating others from taking the benefit of the Land Act" The arrest has caused the wildest excitement throughout Ireland, and there is no telling where the upshot of the matter will end. The following summary of telegraphic despatches will be read with interest:—

DUBLIN, Oct. 13.—Mr. Parnell was arrested to-day at Morrison's hotel, where he was stopping previous to starting for the Kildare convention at Naas. Inspector Mallon called at the hotel at nine o'clock this morning, and sent up word to the land league leader, who was still in bed, that he would like to see him. Parnell met him pleasantly, and asked, "Do you intend to arrest me?" "Yes," replied Mallon, handing him the warrant, Parnell then glanced over the warrant, and said, "All right." He put on his hat and walked down stairs with the two policemen. A cab was waiting at the door, and the three men entered at exactly half-past nine. "Kilmainham prison," cried Mallon to the driver, and they drove off. Beside the cab were four other policemen in citizen's clothes in another carriage. On arriving at Kilmainham, Mr. Parnell was at once assigned to a cell. There was no demonstration, and no one knew about the arrest beyond the parties concerned.

The news of Parnell's arrest soon spread like wildfire through the city and country. The telegraph offices were besieged. Many seemed glad and relieved, and others were angry and excited. The authorities are taking every precaution against disturbance. The police and military in all the garrisons are waiting under arms ready for any emergency. No soldiers are allowed on the streets of Dublin.

DUBLIN, Oct. 14 Telegrams are being received from all parts of the south and west, stating that the news that Parnell was arrested created the most profound astonishment and indignation. Hastily summoned meetings of the branch Leagues passed resolutions condemning the "cowardly action of a vile Government and of that base hypocrite Gladstone."

Twenty-five hundred troops all armed are at Naas in case of disturbance. The Kildare Convention yesterday adopted resolutions of sympathy with Parnell.

An order has been received at Limerick to confine the troops to barracks until further orders, as great excitement exists there owing to Parnell's arrest. The guards all over the city were trebled yesterday, and the police patrols doubled. Dragoons rode through the streets in all directions, and detectives narrowly watched the movements of the League.

It is thought that henceforth all public meetings and processions of the Land League will be prohibited. It is stated that the constabulary hereafter will be supplied with ball cartridge instead of buckshot.

At the meeting of the Land League Executive yesterday, Sexton the Secretary read a telegram from the League in America urging the League to redouble its exertions.

Joseph P. Quinn, Secretary of the Land League, was arrested to-day and lodged in Kilmainham Gaol. The pretext of his arrest is that Quinn reiterated the statement of Parnell against paying rent.

The arrest of Parnell has been followed by the imprisonment of Dillon, Sexton, O'Kelly, and lesser lights of the Land League, and even these are thought to be only a beginning of the Government's crusade against the League. In many places, Dublin and Limerick especially the fury of the mob is only restrained by the overwhelming strength of the troops and police, and despite this serious rioting has occurred, accompanied by bloodshed. Most moderate men of all parties agree that the Government is pursuing the best policy under the circumstances.

LONDON, Oct. 15th.—This morning a further warrant was served on Parnell, charging him with being treasonably suspected of having since September 30th been guilty of treasonable practices as a principal.

O'Brien was arrested while walking along Sackville street. He was formerly a well-known correspondent of the Freeman's Journal. Dillon was arrested at his residence and accompanied to jail by a mounted escort. The whole affair was managed so quietly and promptly that the public were not aware of the arrests until the issuance of special editions of the evening papers announcing it.

Instructions have been telegraphed to every military station in Ireland enjoining vigilance, and flying columns are held in readiness for immediate movements. The number of troops now in Dublin is 5,000. Every sentry is provided with twenty rounds of balls.

There is a tradition in Ireland that great national calamities are usually ushered in by "shipwrecking storms and direful thunders;" and so it is that the hurricane which yesterday swept the "Island of Saints" made many pale and tremble, as they heard in the voice of the storm the warning of the dread things to come.

NEW YORK, Oct, 16.—The Herald's Dublin special says the free use of British bayonets for three days past has temporarily scattered and demoralized the land league. The chiefs of the league are all in gaol or their arrest is momentarily expected. It is an important phase of the arrests that all of the later ones were made on warrants charging treason. Parnell himself was served with a warrant for treason. It is believed a certain member of the League now in Kilmainham divulged all the working of the organization. It is on this information that treasonable practices are charged. The informer is a person previously suspected of peculating League funds. Parnell was investigating the matter when arrested. Dillon stated on Friday that if the League was broken up and their cause a failure he would go to the United States and try to unite all the national Irish societies under the banner of physical force.

The World's London cable says Biggar will probably take Dillon's place, but he will not be allowed at large long. It is stated that over 50 warrants have been issued for leading Leaguers, and the drag net will be cast in Cork, Limerick, Castlebar, Wexford, Waterford, Nenagh, Clonmel, Sligo, Galway and elsewhere on Monday.

DUBLIN Oct, 17.—Some seven or eight arrests, serious riots in Dublin, Limerick, and smaller towns, and the free use of weapons by the police and military go to make up the history of another day in Ireland. The Land League headquarters have been removed to Liverpool, but it is thought that if intimidation or treasonable practices proceed even from them the Government will be able to reach the officers. Biggar has thought it well to transport himself to England, and will serve the League at Liverpool. The Dublin corporation met with Mr. Forster, and urged restraint upon the police, but Mr. Forster said rioting must be put down, and decent people must keep away from the mob, which is taken as an evidence that the Government are very much in earnest.

Oct, 19.—Less violence is reported in Irish despatches this morning, and the efforts of the League and its friends are being concentrated in the direction of "passive resistance," the policy recommended by the Executive. The roughs of Dublin commited further havoc last night, but they are apparently actuated by a spirit of mere wantonness. The Government are redoubling their precautions against the chance of a rising, the 52nd Regiment having been sent over without the encumbrance of the women and non-effective soldiers. The Land League has issued a manifesto advising that no rent be paid until the leaders are released from gaol. The feeling toward Mr. Gladstone is illustrated by the appellation "William Judas," used by Mr O'Donnell, M, P., at Liverpool.

CANADIAN NEWS.

It is proposed to make Stratford a city.

The Midland Elevator, at Port Hope is doing a rushing business these days, and employs a number of extra hands.

Mr. Chas. Smith, near Enniskillen, had 1,000 bushels of barley from 21 acres. This is a magnificent yield.

MONEY STOLEN.—On Sunday last Mr. Littlejohn, living on the 1st con. of Darlington, was relieved of the sum of $272 or thereabouts.

Mr. Goldwin Smith is taking part in the discussion of the Social Science Congress now being held in Dublin.

Application has been made to the Government for an increase of salaries of the keepers and guards of Kingston Penitentiary.

The first engine for the Credit Valley railway has been completed at the Kingston Locomotive Works. The works now employ 275 men.

Mr. Thos. McCready, a wealthy boot and shoe manufacturer of Montreal, accidentally fell out of a fourth story window in his residence and was killed.

The Embro Courier says: "East Missouri boasts of a boy five years old, who weighs 100 lbs.; wears a No. 8 boot, and already has quite a respectable whisker."

It is reported that an effort is being made at Ottawa to organize a company with a large capital to secure the Canadian Illustrated News and conduct it on a larger and better scale.

Wheat at Emerson has reached 93 cents per bushel, thus giving the farmer a direct return of about $35 per acre, and this in a country that has only to be tickled with the plough to laugh into the harvest.

The Bishop of Ontario is in Switzerland on a preaching tour in behalf of the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel. He is expected to return to Canada about November 1st.

The 10th of November is appointed polling-day under the Canada Temperance Act in the county of Welland. Parliament is further prorogued till the 17th of November.

Anent the burning question of Sir John Macdonald's birthplace the Telegram suggests that the only explanation of the case is that he is triplets and is not sure as to which of them he is.

Typhoid fever is very prevalent in Toronto, and there have been many deaths. Of thirteen last week, three were from houses where well water was used, and ten from houses using city water.

Hayvern, the Montreal murderer, sentenced to death on Friday last, remarked to Guard Coyle after hearing his doom, "That is my last trial." Since 1872 he has stood before the bar of justice twenty-five times.

Thomas Guerin, C. E., who has been investigating the causes of the overflow of Lake Manitoba, has discovered that the outlet is too small for the flow of water during the rainy season. He reports that he has found an easy and inexpensive means of remedying.

Rev. Mr. Bray, who has been lecturing in England on Canada, says there will be a large emigration to the Dominion from England next season. He found many persons anxious to purchase improved farms in Ontario and the Eastern Townships.

At the assizes at Kingston an aged ex-Methodist minister was tried on a charge of poisoning cattle and sentenced to fifteen days' imprisonment, it having been shown that he had not himself placed the poison where they could get at it, but that he was cognizant of its being so placed.

Last Friday Mr. Duncan McIntyre signed the contract awarding the construction of the Sault Ste. Marie branch of Canada Pacific railway to the firm of Sullivan, Marpole & Co., Barrie, Ont. The road will be commenced at once, and the company expect to have much of it completed by next July.

The St. Stephen Courier, speaking of the crowd in that town on the day Cole's circus showed there, says:—"With the Scott Act in force, more drunken men were to be seen on our streets on Saturday than for a long time before. With policemen on the alert all through the day, street brawls were common occurrences, while the language used in some cases was most offensive."

Mr. D. Urquhart, of Prince Albert, has invented a contrivance to prevent a horse getting his tail over the lines when driving.

Fire was placed in the furnace of the Napanee Glass Works on Wednesday last. It is expected that glass-making will be commenced in a couple of weeks.

Mr. Alvin Jackson, of Enterprise, sowed a half bushel of white Russian wheat, from which he reaped twenty-two bushels. This is a very large yield. He will sow more of this variety.

The Methodist congregation of Campbellford have recently purchased a new bell for their church from a firm in Troy, at a cost of $175. It weighs 507 pounds and is toned E. flat.

Messrs. Burley, of Clarke, with their steam threshing machine, threshed in a day and three-quarters, 1,400 bushels of barley for Mr. Henry Sculthorp, and only used three-quarters of a cord of wood and three tanks of water.

As Mr. John McMullen, of Asphodel, was going home after disposing of a load of grain at Hastings, on last Friday evening, some disarrangement took place with his whiffletrees, which caused his horses to run away. Beyond breaking the pole of the waggon no further damage was done.

Mr. W. Herrington, the young man who was so painfully injured at the great fire in Cobourg a few weeks ago, still lies in a critical condition, and his recovery is considered doubtful. He is kept almost constantly under the influence of chloroform, his sufferings, while he is conscious, being so intense as to be almost unbearable. Even if he does rally, it is considered certain that he will not recover the use of his right arm.

Charles Clute and Alfred Reynolds, two young men of Seymour, were summoned before Justice LeVesconte, on Saturday last, for the robbery of about $25. They were in company with Mr. John McKelvie, at Gibson's hotel, during Friday evening, and when Mr. McKelvie went to get his horses from the hotel stables, one of them seized his arms from behind, and the other rifled his pockets. Bail was accepted for the two robbers, and soon afterwards they made their escape.

The Independent says:—"There was a geological peculiarity revealed in the excavation of the cellar for Mr. Goulais new hotel. The surface is composed of a stratum of vegetable mould about four inches deep; beneath that is a stratum of gravel about a foot deep; then comes another stratum of vegetable mould four inches deep, and then a deposit of gravel of considerable and unascertained depth. From this it would appear that at some former period the island was under water; was then raised above the water and for a long time sustained a heavy growth of plant life; then was again submerged and a foot of gravel deposited on the vegetation; and finally was again raised above the surface.

BRITISH AND AMERICAN.

The practice of cremation is gaining popular and official support in Hungary.

Judging from the tone of the Times and the Standard on Thursday morning, renewed hostilities with the Boers seem probable.

It is said that the Princess of Wales has condemned the hoop skirts, which are being revived under the name of crinolettes, and says they are odiods. Good.

Queen Victoria will not leave Balmoral till the last week in November, when she will return to Windsor Castle for about three weeks before going to Osborne for Christmas.

Guiteau now states that when he killed Garfield he was only acting under Divine inspiration; and that the deed was done to avert war and misery. By-and-bye, he says, when the people recover their heads they will recognize this fact.

The ex-Empress Eugenie is said to have never recovered from the loss of her son. She lives quietly and almost alone, taking no interest in external events or persons. She passes most of her time in a darkened room, and of French politics she never speaks. Her income is $250,000 a year.

A woman in Chicago has two divorce suits on hand. She sets forth that she took a man's word for it that her first husband was dead, and married the informant. She afterward learned that her first husband had not died, but had married another woman. She now seeks a divorce from him on the ground of violation of the marriage contract, and from her second husband on the plea that her marriage with him was illegal.

Fear concerning personal safety is becoming as common among monarchs in the Old World as hay-fever is among clergymen in the New. The Sultan of Turkey is reported as growing morbid in his fear that something will explode and carry him off. The Spanish ambassador had to wait forty days for an interview with his suspicious Highness, and General Wallace was kept waiting over a month.

An amusing incident occurred to a traveller on the Toronto branch of the G. W. R. the other evening. He was making all possible speed to reach the station by means of an omnibus plying between Burlington proper and the G. W. station. Suddenly and unexpectedly the stopper flew from a jar of yeast in the lap of Mrs. Cutler, occupying the opposite seat, and the unfortunate gentleman was enveloped from tip to toe in effervescing barm. The position was as embarrassing as it was ridiculous. Conductor Sevier had been signalled to wait the train for the accommodation of the would be passenger, whose luggage had gone ahead. Everybody lent a hand to rub him down, but, on obtaining a looking glass and taking a squint at his features and clothes, the traveller declared that the train could proceed—"he'd be ——— if he'd get upon any respectable railway looking like an yeast cake!"

PETERBOROUGH, OCT'R 20, 1881.

Editorial Notes.

BREAD is now 16 cents a loaf in Hamilton.

THE name of the Hon. Wm. McDougall is coupled with the Lieutenant-Governorship of Manitoba.

Sir Patrick McDougall is to be sworn in as administrator of the government of Canada while the Marquis of Lorne goes home to England.

IT is rumored in political circles that Mr. James Beatty, jr., will probably be called to the Cabinet, and Sir John is expected in Toronto shortly to find out whether it is safe to open West Toronto for a contest.

The Waterloo Chronicle goes into the question of the payment of county officials by fees and by salaries. It declares for the abolition of all payment by fees, and in favor of fixed salaries. This is the common view of the people at large.

Sir Langevin was presented with a bouquet at Whitby by a young lady, whom he repaid with a kiss. The young lady stood it like a man, showing more consideration than the St. Thomas girl who ran down a hotel corridor rather than be kissed by a Cabinet Minister.

The specifications of coal to be delivered at Rideau Hall and the Departmental buildings at Ottawa expressly stipulated that the coal shall be of United States production. This, you will observe, is a way we have of fostering the struggling coal mines of the Lower Provinces.

The election of Senator Bayard, of Delaware, to the Presidency of the Senate is another victory for the Democratic party. Bayard is an able man, and was prominently mentioned as the Democratic candidate for the Presidency last fall. In the event of Arthur's death he would act as President.

IN the Toronto Police Court the other day two men, named Mowatt and Gowans, threatened Mr. Kerrinahan, a News reporter. The Magistrate promptly fined Gowans $11 and costs, and bound Mowatt over to keep the peace in $200, in two sureties. The Magistrate said he would have no reporter intimidated in the discharge of his duties.

AN exchange says:—"Mr. Bunster, M.P., the Parliamentary dead-beat, whose skill in eloping from boarding-houses without paying his little bills, is a source of wrathful awe to Ottawa housekeepers, is meeting with his just reward. Nemesis is after him. The Victoria Board of Trade refused him a ticket to a dinner at which Sir Charles Tupper was entertained.

THERE was a lively time at a recent meeting of the Whitby Council, when a bill was presented for $163 for entertaining Sir Hector on the occasion of his visit. $80 of the amount was for eatables, and $83 for champagne and sherry. The $80 part of the bill was ordered to be paid out of the town treasury, but the amount for champagne, &c., was a "stickler." The questions now are: "Who drank it?" and "Who are to pay for it?"

Indisposition to hamper the party leaders is assumed by some to be the reason why Hon. Alex. McKenzie refused to accept the trusteeship of the Pacific railway bonds, but it is more probable that he was indisposed to hamper himself. A member of parliament holding a public office worth $2000 a year is not likely to be as independent as one who sits there with his hands untied.

At the annual meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway shareholders, the President, Sir Henry Tyler, explained that "the expenses of the road had been greatly increased within the last year in consequence of the altered fiscal policy of the Dominion Government," and he also referred to the fact that "materials of all kinds were also dearer than they had been before, and in particular the cost of coal was increased to the extent of the very high duty imposed." The stockholders of course suffer for this, while the workmen of the road find that the increase of working expenses operates as a bar to higher wages, and farmers find that the price of taking wheat to the seaboard is increased.

LORD LORNE has returned from his trip to the North-West. At Winnipeg the Manitoba Club feasted him, and His Excellency made a long speech, in which he eulogised the country in glowing language. If we can take everything he says as gospel, we shall have to believe that there never was such a place before and probably never will be again. Lord Lorne's speech will do good, provided copies of it are circulated in the Old Country.

ONE of the gentry who pose just now as a "friend of the Irish people" is reported to have referred to the Right Hon. John Bright in a late speech as follows: "If his heart was cremated and made into dust, I would not honor it by spitting into it." Yet people are expected to sympathise with a cause whose leading advocates are every day guilty of uttering such atrocious expressions toward the best and most eminent men in the land!

PROF. DAWSON, of the Dominion Geological Survey, reports that the forests of British Columbia are of vast importance. Many first-class mills have been established, and the total annual product is about 200,000,000 feet. Dawson estimates that timber covers 110,000,000 acres, or two-thirds of the whole Province. The Douglas fir or Oregon pine is the most valuable commercial tree. It frequently exceeds eight feet in diameter, and rises to a height of from 200 to 300 feet, forming great and dark forests.

THE Welland Tribune says that the reason why the letting of the contracts for the construction of the Welland Canal has been postponed for so long a period can be traced to "the desire on the part "of the Government to have it in pro- "gress at the time of the next election, "in order to secure the influence of the "contractor with his large number of "employees, which in this evenly- "balanced county it is calculated will go "far toward making the election sure. "Such trifling with the vital interests of "the country is criminal, and the Gov- "ernment organs, notably the St. Cathar- "ines Journal, fearing the effect of the disclosure, are endeavoring to shield the "the Government by blaming Engineer "Page." For the same reason Sir Charles Tupper, the Minister of Railways and Canals, is keeping the Trent Valley Canal before the people along the route. But it is too thin!

PUBLIC OPINION.

The opinion is yearly growing stronger that the Dominion Parliament should meet in January.

Port Hope Guide: Why should the Governor-General be allowed to import everything he consumes free of duty, whilst the poor man is compelled to pay dearly for the necessaries of life?

Hamilton Times: The selection of the Duke of Connaught as Lord Lorne's successor is an improbability. The sending of royalty to Canada has not proven a success, and we do not think it will be repeated. It will be just as well for the Dominion if it is not.

The Globe makes a good point in its comments upon Sir Henry Tyler's complaint that the Canadian coal duty increases the expenses of the Grand Trunk railway. The whole burden of that duty falls upon the Canadian producer, whose goods are carried to the seaboard. Not a penny of it can be collected by the railway company on through freight from the United States, for the reason that through freight rates must be fixed to suit the competition of United States railways The tax is paid upon the coal used for carrying all the freight moved by the company, but the Canadian portion of the freight pays the whole of it. Yet some people say the coal duty is not one that affects the farmer.

Manitoulin Expositor:—The Dominion Government has been deluging this part of the country with pamphlets and circulars setting forth the advantages offered settlers in the great North-West. Would it be too much to ask our member for the Commons to put a stop to this sort of thing? Would it further be too much to ask this great unspeakable to induce the Government to do the same thing for Algoma they are doing for the North-West? We have a stretch of country of almost unlimited extent and either as a mining or agricultural country at least the equal of the much-vaunted North-West, and if the advantages offered settlers in this district were only fully placed before intending emigrants we would soon have our present population trebled. When people in Ontario (and ordinarily intelligent people at that) do not know whether this district is in Manitoba or British Columbia, it is surely time for the Government to let it be known that between the mouth of French River and the head of Lake Superior we have stretches of country which only needs the aid of industrious settlers to turn it into smiling fields.

A writer in the North-America Review has the following remarks on the more influence of the school:—"To one who is familiar with the methods of schools it is not surprising to find that the schools has a favourable effect on the morals of the pupil. In the well-disciplined school the pupil is first taught to be regular and punctual; to be cleanly in person; polite to his fellows; obedient to his teachers; he is taught to be silent and industrious, attentive and critical in his mental habits. To sum up all these in one word, he is taught to subordinate his capricious will and inclinations to the reasonable condition underwhich he may combine with his fellow-men, and share in their labours and in the fruits of their labours. The great advantage of school instruction in morality lies in the fact that the pupil is made to do and practise these fundamental moral acts of self-control, and is not merely made to hear lectures on the subject, and exhortations without accompanying discipline in moral habits. In the school moral habits must be practised, or the instruction cannot go on. What wonder then, that those who have attended school even for the short period required to learn to read and write, are found to be seven times less likely to reach the gaol or prison than those who are entirely illiterate. But it is not the education of the school alone, nor of the church, nor of the family alone, that can produce the happy results required. Each has its special province—all are necessary to the result.

THE FUTURE OF SELKIRK

Selkirk bids fair to become an important shipping point, in the course of the next few years. The H. B. Company's in the construction of warehouse and dock facilities is preparing for a large trade. Winnipeg bids fair to assume a secondary position in reference to the Lake Winnipeg and the Saskatchewan trade, unless something be done shortly to improve the navigation of the Red River at the St. Andrews' Rapids. It is affirmed that a lock and a dam at these rapids would render the river navigable for the largest vessels that will sail in the lake; hence the difficulties in the way of making Winnipeg the head of navigation are not insurmountable. The saving in the expense of fuel and lumber would, in the course of a few years, go a long way towards counterbalancing the expense of constructing the works referred to, as it would greatly diminish the cost of these articles to bring them all the way through to Winnipeg without trans-shipment. Then again, a great part of the merchandise for the Saskatchewan country will pass Winnipeg and be sent on by rail for trans-shipment at Selkirk, if the people of Winnipeg should manifest a spirit of indifference to the navigation interests. The construction of two steamers here and one at Selkirk, and the commencement of the fourth during the present season, the removal of the city of Winnipeg to the Saskatchewan, etc., signific antly indicate that it is time to do something.—Manitoba Free Press.

A SURPRISED PHYSICIAN.

A DYING PATIENT RECOVERS THROUGH THE INTERPOSITION OF A HUMBLE GERMAN.

Some weeks ago Dr. G——, a very reputable and widely-known physician, living on C—— street, was called to attend a very complicated case of rheumatism. Upon arriving at the house he found a man about forty years of age, lying in a prostated and serious condition, with his whole frame dangerously affected with the painful disease. He prescribed for the patient, but the man continued to grow worse, and on Sunday evening he was found to be in a very alarming condition. The knees and elbows and larger joints were greatly inflamed and could not be moved. It was only with extreme difficulty that the patient could be turned in bed, with the aid of three or four persons. The weight of the clothing was so oppressive that means had to be adopted to keep it from the patient's body. The doctor saw that his assistance would be of no avail, and left the house, the members of the family following him to the door, weeping. At this critical hour, a neighbor, poor and humble German shoemaker, appeared to the grief-smitten ones as a saving angel. He had heard of the dispair of the family, and now asked them to try his remedy and accordingly brought forth a bottle of St. Jacob's Oil. As a drowning man will catch at straws, so the poor wife applied this remedy; she had no hope, but would try anything as a matter of duty. The first application eased the patient very much; after a few hours they used it again, and, wonder of wonders, the pain vanished entirely! Every subsequent application improved the sufferer and in two days he was well and out. When the doctor called a few days after, he was indeed surprised; for, instead of a corpse, he found a new-made man.—Exchange.

The East Durham Exhibition was held the 13th and 14th inst., and both in extent and character of the exhibits year has been far in advance of any vious year. The show of stock was d, that of horses and sheep being par- larly fine. The poultry presented a ed appearance, and was first-class. the interior department, the exhibit of dn deserves special mention in point of lity and quantity, while the fruit and getables did no discredit to this section the country. The ladies' work was in h profusion, and the fine arts were well tained. The pencil drawings by Mr. Hunter worthily elicited special atten- n. The weather both days was all t could be expected, consequently the endance was enormous; in fact, the hibition financially and otherwise was n more than a decided success.

WARSAW.

The season of Harvest Homes' or Church tivals was opened here very auspicious- last Wednesday evening by our Metho- t Church friends. Tea was prepared the ladies in the Village Hall and out five o'clock a grand charge was made the villagers and surrounding farmers on the tables. Complete and effectual eparations had been made to resist the ack of the hungury visitors. Succes- e files of volunteers, each armed with enty-five cents, assailed the breast- rks of cake and fruit. The battle was wn, both sides retiring from the con- , equally satisfied and pleased with ir mutual success. Later in the even- , the Methodist Church was packed h a large number of young ladies, tlemen and their more mature elders. e Rev. Mr. Fox, pastor of the church, ned the proceedings. The choir which large and well practised favored the dience with several selections. The v. Mr. Buchannan delivered a short and t address which was afterwards follow- by a larger and happy effort of the v. Mr. Shaw of Peterboro'. The ob- t of the festival was to wipe out a debt 70. The proceeds of the tea amount- to $37, a handsome sum when the size the village is taken into consideration. the suggestion of Mr. Shaw a collec- n was taken up and $15 realised to- her with $36 promised. We are open congratulations.—Com.

Mr. J. H. McFaul, Head Master of the Model School, purposes opening a night school this season. Three evenings of each week, for seven weeks, will be devoted to the study of (commercial) arithmetic, penmanship, and book-keeping by single and double entry.

Mr. J. E. Belcher, architect, of Peterborough, was in town last week examining the High School building with the view of seeing whether it could be enlarged to afford the increased accommodation required for a collegiate institute, or whether it would be better to put up a new building. An informal meeting of the board was held but no conclusion was arrived at.

At the annual meeting of the Curling Club held last week the following officers were elected for the season of 1881-2: Patron, Hon. S. C. Wood; president, Wm. Needler; vice-president, J. D. Flavelle; representative members, Geo. H. Bertram of Toronto and Jno. Cameron; secretary, J. Cameron; committee of management, J. D. Flavelle, James Keith and Wm. McBurney; committee on medal matches, J. D. Flavelle, J. Cameron and Fred. C. Taylor; skips, J. D. Flavelle, S. A. McMurtry, Wm. McBurney, Wm. Needler, T. E. Bradburn, James Keith, J. B. Smith and John McLennan.

A gathering of the Bee-keepers of the district was held here last week which proved both interesting and profitable to those attending. The following were elected officers for the coming year: S. Cornell of Lindsay, president; W. G. Russell of Millbrook, 1st vice-president; Mr. Hineman of Grafton, 2nd vice-president; C. Neads of Lindsay, secretary-treasurer; A. E. Calvert of Reaboro, Thos. Hickson of Reaboro, and Arthur Russell of Millbrook, executive committee.

RIFLE MATCH. The fourteenth Annual Match of the Cobourg Rifle Association was held on Thursday last at the Range. The results were most satisfactory, showing that the Volunteers are paying due attention to the careful training of the officers, who are sparing no effort by time and means to bring them to perfection.

TEACHERS ASSOCIATION.—At the semi-annual meeting of the Northumberland Teachers' Association, held in Cobourg on the 6th and 7th instant, the following officers were elected for the current year: President.—Mr. G. Dowler. Vice-President.—J. E. Flewelling, Colborne. Sec-Treasurer.—D. E. Stephenson, Cobourg. Management Committee.—Messrs. Scarlet, I. P. S., Hayward, and Ellis, B. A., B. Sc.

ACCIDENT AT HARWOOD. About two weeks ago a young man named Cochrane, while engaged moving lumber on a hand-car from McDougall & Ludgate's saw mill, Harwood, his foot caught in a frog of the railway, and the car striking it, injured it very badly. The wound was dressed, and it was at first thought that amputation would be unnecessary, but as the injury grew worse it was resolved to have it amputated, which was done on Thursday last by Drs. Clarke, Craig and Day, and the patient is now progressing more favorably.

WAVERLY CURLING CLUB.—The annual meeting of the Waverly Curling Club was held in the office of the County Treasurer, on Tuesday evening last, when the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Patron—Col. Chamblis. President—Mr. E. A. MacNachtan. Vice-President—Mr. W. H. Eyre. Chaplain—Rev. Dr. Nelles. Sec-Treas—Mr. Joseph Henderson. Commitee of Management—Messrs. P. McCallum, jr., W. Hargraft, and Wm. Salisbury, with the officers of the club. The new skating and curling rink is being rapidly pushed forward to completion. It is 199 feet long, and 82 feet wide. The centre will be for skaters alone. This rink is 160 x 47 feet. At each side of this is a curling rink 160 x 15 feet. Over each of the curling rinks there is a long gallery, from which spectators can look down upon the curlers and skaters both. At the north end there is also a gallery, and another, a wide one, at the south end. There will also be dressing rooms for the skaters, and a club room above.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Doney week presented with a valuable picture and an address by the me the Bible Christian Church in re of their services to the choir.

The Township of Hope has had tion in the disappearance of Henry Byam, a farmer. It is said to have been a pre-concerted dodge with him as he had been running extensive store bills lately with the promise of paying up when his grain was sold. As soon, however, as this was done he decamped, taking with him a team of horses and about $600 in cash.

The Port Hope Guide says: Our readers will perhaps remember that our young friend and farmer, Asa Choate, a few weeks ago, imported a couple of Poland-China pigs from the United States, and our government officials surreptitiously ordered them back to Uncle Sam's dominions, to the disgust of our enterprising importer. Asa says that he has learned what those cabalistic N. P. letters mean that are constantly to be seen in the Tory papers. He says that it cost him over twenty dollars to learn that they meant "No Pigs."

A little boy, son of Mr. R. D. Deering, met with a very serious accident on Saturday last, while playing on the street, being kicked on the skull by a horse against which he ran while crossing to the sidewalk. An examination of the wound showed it to be of a very serious nature, the cut being about two inches in length and an inch in depth. In order to raise the skull, which had been completely caved in, it was found necessary to saw a small portion of the bone off, the child having first been placed under the influence of chloroform. After the skull had been raised to its proper place, a silver plate was placed over the wound and the necessary bandages and appliances arranged. It is a marvel that the child was not instantly killed, but the physicians have now every hope of saving the little fellow's life.

GOLDEN WORDS FROM THE LIPS AND PEN OF GARFIELD.

After the battle of arms comes the battle of history.

For the noblest man that lives there still remains a conflict.

I would rather be beaten in right than succeed in wrong.

Present evils always seem greater than those that never come.

Growth is better than persistanence, and permanent growth is better than all.

Statesmanship consists rather in removing the causes than in punishing or avading results.

Ideas are the great warriors of the world, and a war that has no ideas behind it is simply brutality.

Eternity alone will reveal to the human race its debt of gratitude to the peer less and immortal name of Washington.

I doubt if any man equalled Samuel Adams in forwarding and uttering the fierce, clear and inexorable logic of the revolution.

Throughout the whole web of national existence we trace the golden thread of human progress toward the higher and better estate.

Occasion may be the bugle call that summons an army to battle, but the blast of a bugle can never make soldiers or win victories.

It is as much the duty of all good men to protect and defend the reputation of worthy public servants as to detect public rascals.

An act of bad faith on the part of a state or municipal corporation, like poison in the blood, will transmit its curse to succeeding generation.

Bad faith on the part of an individual, a city, or even a state, is a small evil in comparison with the calamities which follow bad faith on the part of a sovereign government.

If there be one thing upon this earth that mankind love and admire better than another it is a brave man; it is a man who dares to look the devil in the face and tell him he is a devil.

We should do nothing inocesistent with the spirit and genius of our institutions. We should do nothing for revenge, but everything for security; nothing for the past, everything for the present and future.

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

PREPARED BY DR. J. C. AYER & CO., Practical and Analytical Chemists, Lowell, Mass.

Manhattan Feed!

—FOR—

HORSES, CATTLE, MILCH COWS, SHEEP AND PIGS.

IT is a source of health, because it keeps the organs in a natural healty tone. It acts as a relish, promotes perfect digestion, and purifies the blood, thereby keeping the coat in a free and glossy condition. TRY IT! BUY IT!

READ THESE RECOMMENDATIONS:

Toronto, March 4th, 1881.

We have used the "Manhattan Feed" for six weeks, reducing our oats one-quarter and using no bran. We have ordered more, considering the system of feeding a good one, having saved about $16 per month on the feed of 12 horses, their condicion being fully kept up

COSGROVE & SONS, Maltsters and Brewers.

Office of Prescott Brewing and Malting Co. Prescott, Ont., May 3rd, 1881.

MESSRS R. W. SMITH & Co., MONTREAL:

Gentlemen,—We have used the Manhattan Feed this winter with our horses, one of which we have hitherto found it difficult to keep fat;—but since using your feed he has picked up and become remarkably well conditioned, so much so that it has been the remark of the townspeople how well our horses looked. Apart from this, we find that we are not obliged to feed as many oats as before; and have great pleasure in recommending its general use.

Yours etc., GEO. LABATT, Manager P. B. & M. Co.

Peterboro, Jan. 6th, 1881.

Messrs Taylor & McDonald, Agents,—Dear Sirs:—The Manhattan Feed bought from you has not only done all you professed for it, but much more. Before feeding it to our hens we were only getting on an average two eggs per week from each hen, now we average from six. The difference it has made in our sheep one would have to see in order to credit. I would advise all interested in getting their cattle in good condition to get a bag. It has more than paid me its cost twice over.

Peterborough Examiner

PETEBBOROUGH, OCT. 20th, 1881.

Paying up Arrears.

We desire to acknowledge with thanks the hearty response given by many of our subscribers to the request made last week in reference to the payment of arrears. At the same time we would again remind those who have not called upon us that we expect that they will do so at once in order that we may meet our own engagements promptly. Like all others in business the newspaper man needs money, and we expect and require all those in arrears to pay up promptly. The amounts owing to us individually are small; but collectively, amount to a large sum. If all would pay up promptly it would be of a small matter to them; but it would be a great benefit to us. We hope all interested will respond to this call.

Our Clubbing Rates.

We wish to call the attention of our readers and the public generally, to the following very favorable Club rates which THE EXAMINER is offering for 1882. All subscriptions taken from this time till the end of the year will date from the first of January, giving subscribers the intervening numbers free:

The Ontario Bank.

Financial circles generally and Ontario Bank Stockholders particularly have during the last few days been considerably excited over the report, of the new Manager Mr. Holland, which shows that the Bank has lost nearly a million and a half of dollars, or 50 % of its capital through bad debts. To provide for $1,400,000 of bad and doubtful debts, Mr. Holland recommends that the capital account of the Bank be reduced by $1,500,000, or 50 %, and that the December dividend be passed. This will give a reserve fund of $100,000, and it will be practicable to set aside a further sum of $92,952 to provide for contingencies. The Globe in alluding to the matter says:

"There is no use in shrinking from the admission that the loss of one-half of the bank's capital is a very serious affair. But the loss having been incurred, the best thing is to meet it manfully, as Mr. Holland proposes to do. There is this to be said:—Mr. Holland having now to enter upon the management of the bank, with his business reputation at stake, could have no object in putting a better face on affairs than circumstances warrant. His statement can confidently be taken as representing the actual condition of the bank. The institution is well established and very popular in many wealthy sections of the Dominion. A million and a half of capital has been found more profitable to shareholders in proportion than a larger amount, and we hope to see the Ontario as prosperous as of old."

A Good Opportunity.

We have arranged with the publishers in such a way as enables us to offer the Weekly Star, of Montreal, and THE EXAMINER, for the small sum of $2.25. The Weekly Star, of Montreal, is almost too well known to need any notice at our hands. It has reached the enormous circulation of 60,000 a week, and is recognised as a great paper. Those who have not seen it will find sample copies at this office, and those who want to avail themselves of this opportunity to get the two papers at a low figure should send us $2.25 at once.

Notes and Comments.

THE arrangements for a telephone service between Toronto and Hamilton are now completed and the line is in working order between these two cities.

MR. JAMES BEATTY, of the defunct Leader, being recently interviewed by a World reporter anent the Senatorial appointment, said:—"Four years ago they "offered me a seat in the Upper House, "but I refused. They would like to get "me in now—they want my brains. But "what would a young man like me do "among those old fogies?"

INSPIRED by the action of the wholesale and manufacturing stationers of Toronto, in erecting a writing paper mill, a movement has begun among the newspaper proprietors of that city to erect a paper mill suitable for the manufacture of newspaper. One publisher promises to take $10,000 stock, and his paper bill amounts to $25,000 per annum.

MR. GLADSTONE'S speeches at Leeds are attracting a good deal of attention. In them he has shown all his old eloquence and vigor as a popular orator. He is, perhaps, the greatest intellectual product of the present century; both in his aims and methods he towers above all preceding British statesmen. It is but natural that one who has not shrunk from grappling with questions which involve the stability of British institutions should raise a host of enemies on all sides; but the occasion has yet to rise that will find him unprepared or incapable of meeting them, although he is weighted with years that usually come to men in the repose that precedes dissolution. He is now a target for the wrath of Irish agitators yet no man ever attempted or did so much for Ireland.

A Credit to Peterborough.

A Walk Through T. Dolan & Co.'s New Establishment.

Throughout the province Peterborough has the reputation of being one of the liveliest and most citified towns in the Dominion, and this, we may say, is in no small measure due to the enterprise and business push and ability displayed by her merchants. Among the most enterprising of her business men may be classed the firm of T. Dolan & Co., and in their new premises, No. 1 and No. 2 Cluxton's new block, they have had ample opportunity of demonstrating their enterprise, taste and business capabilities. No. 1, or the corner store, is devoted exclusively to tailoring and gents' furnishings, and is specially adapted for this trade. A glance at the shelves show that D. & Co. have prepared for an extensive season's trade, and judging from their success since opening they have not wrongly estimated. There are some 100 pieces of Scotch Tweed shown—direct importations, as well as a large quantity of Mahoney's celebrated Irish Tweeds. In Canadian and other goods the stock is as extensive as it is varied, while the gents' furnishings embrace from the lowest priced articles to the finest and most expensive goods. At the rear end of this store is cutting room number one, at which, during the time of our visit, that well-known knight of the shears, Mr. P. Simon, was officiating. The shops are fitted up in the most modern and artistic style, being finished in black and gold, with walnut-faced drawers, and birch-top counters. The fixtures for lighting and dressing the windows are of brass and are now being placed in position, and are undoubtedly the handsomest yet brought into Peterborough. No. One shop is connected with No. Two by means of an archway, through which we pass into the last-named shop—the dry goods and house furnishings department of the establishment, and which is kept in departments, embracing dress goods, fancy goods, staples, house furnishings, and a reserved stock. Here we find the shelves, counters, and in fact every available space full of all the latest styles of goods in design, texture and quality. The firm have somewhat remodelled their former system of business and now keep cashier and cash boys, and customers, for every purchase over twenty-five cents, receive a statement of account. These statements are all chequed and filed away, so that it is impossible to have mistakes occur. The whole establishment has a metropolitan air about it, but as space will not further permit us to enter into a more detailed description we can only ask our readers to call and make a visit for themselves, when we feel sure the obliging proprietor will be most happy to show them through one of the most complete dry goods, tailoring and gents' furnishings stores outside of the cities.

PRIZE PHOTOGRAPHS.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

DEAR SIR,—There seems to be a misunderstanding among a few persons regarding the prizes awarded to photographers at the Peterborough Exhibition, caused no doubt by the removal or hiding of the second prize ticket, and the display instead of two red tickets (first prize). The judges awarded the first prize to me and second to Mr Esterbrook. The first prize tickets exhibited by Mr. Esterbrook were not gained at Peterborough, but were won by him in competition with the Lindsay photographers. I would take no notice of this if the second prize ticket had not been removed, so as to convey a false impression to the public. Will you state who won the first prize?

Yours respectfully,
G. B. SPROULE.

[The first prize was awarded Mr. Sproule and the second to Mr. Esterbrook, and was so published in the prize list in the last number of the EXAMINER. —ED.]

TIME PROVES ALL THINGS.—A good reputation, to be permanent, must be established upon a solid foundation. The articles of real merit rises to the uppermost level of success, not by being puffed into ephemeral notoriety, but by gradually winning its way to public confidence. Evidences of its worth become irresistible, until it finally attains a time-honored reputation which none will deny. Such is the case with Brown's Bronchial Troches, which have for thirty years been recommended by physicians, and are now used so generally, that they have become a pocket, office and household necessity with thousands who are troubled with Asthma, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Consumptive Diseases, and the various Throat troubles to which Singers and Public Speakers are subject. They will clear and strengthen the voice marvellously.

RAILWAY NOTES.

The traffic returns of the Midland and Grand Junction railways for the week ending Oct. 7th, were as follows:—

MIDLAND.—Passengers and Mails, $8,377.23; freight, $11,654.63; total, $15,031.86; as compared with $11,141.85 for the corresponding week of 1880, being an increase of $3,890.01; and the aggregate traffic to date is $301,568.60, being an increase of $42,670.01 over 1880.

GRAND JUNCTION.—Passengers and Mails, $1,023.69; freight, $1,919.19; total, $2,942.88, as compared with $1,227.10 for the corresponding week of 1880, being an increase of $1,715.78; and the aggregate traffic from 1st June to date is $44,015.44, being an increase of $27,231.97 ove 1880.

Workmen are busy putting in the frogs, wing rails, &c., at the western end of the through siding at Hastings, which, when completed, will make this station the most convenient on the line.

NEW BRIDGE.—Says the Campbellford Herald:—"The old pile bridge on the Grand Junction railway, in the neighborhood of Stirling, is to be a support for the rails no longer. Seeing the insolidity of such a structure for railway purposes, the managers have concluded to remove the rails and place them upon a new and solid bridge to span part of the deep gap at this point of the road. This is now in course of erection, and will be completed soon. All along the line improvements in the form of new culverts, new rails, new ties, increased ballast, repairs to the burned fences, prove that the road is under thorough management. Better and safer improvements, in fact, could not be expected upon any road during the short period the present managers have had control."

TORONTO AND OTTAWA RAILWAY.—Work on the division between Perth and Sharbott Lake is still progressing and other contracts have been let. Mr. Charles has taken the precaution to place his men at all points where it is necessary to divert creeks or water courses, as owing to the unusually dry season work can now be done for a minimum cost. As soon as chopping and clearing is more advanced, grading gangs and rock workers will be put on. A large gang of men are now at work on the shore of McGowan's Lake. Mr. Campbell, the right-of-way agent for the Toronto & Ottawa, was in town last week, and deposited money with the company's solicitor to pay for the land purchased in this vicinity.—Perth Expositor.

The Grand Junction telegraph wires have been placed in the head office of the Great North-Western Company, and connection is now made with Belleville, and all the stations along the line.

So great has become the grain traffic on the Midland, that the management has found it necessary to telegraph shippers in Chicago to withhold for a time further shipments of grain, as the road could not provide sufficient rolling stock to carry it at present. The shipping trade from Chicago has been more than realized this season. Already some eight or nine vessels having discharged their cargoes at the Midland elevator.

A public meeting was held in the town hall, Perth, on Tuesday of last week to consider a proposition made by Duncan McIntyre and Hon. Peter Mitchell, of the Ontario and Quebec Railway Company, to build the workshops on condition that the town give in return the right of way through the town and to the Kingston & Pembroke Railway and 20 acres of land in the town as a site for the workshops. A resolution was passed accepting the offer and the Council was asked to submit a by-law to the ratepayers for approval, embodying the proposition and its contra equivalent. The offer is a positive one, and, it is expected work both on the road and on the workshops will go on at once. The meeting was largely attended. The mayor presided.

AN OUTSIDERS VIEW OF WATER-WORKS.

The Lindsay Post in referring to the water-works agitation says:—The gentleman who are urging forward the proposed water-works in Peterborough are doing a thing for which that town will thank them in years to come. If the cases of malarial fever and such sickness as we see referred to are as numerous as represented then the water supply of that locality, derived at present from wells and cisterns, is indeed bad. While the need for water for fire purposes is pressing, the public health demands it as being placed within the reach of all for domestic use. * * * It Peterborough does not wake up to some sharp sanitary work, what with these evils and the presence of the decaying mass of sawdust lying in the river there will be a boom in the direction of doctor's services and undertaker's requisites that will carry sorrow into many a family. The heat of another summer like that just passed through will put this miasmatic fever-breeding refuse into activity. Peterborough does not appreciate the advantages it has in the matter of practically pure water. That taken from the river at the point proposed to be reached by the main is as clean and sweet as possible to procure. Certainly there can be no question as to its being immeasurably more healthful than that now being used from the drainage wells of the most populous parts of the town.

CIRCULAR!

While it is pleasing to the Business Man to know that his efforts to satisfy the public are being appreciated, it can be no less satisfactory to the citizens of any locality to know that among their merchants are those whose goods have not only a local fame but are sought for by those in other parts. The advantage of this is two-fold. Not only does it direct trade from a distance and build up the reputation of the place, but it has the advantage of assisting the artizan and workman in thus bringing both labor and money among them which otherwise would be spent elsewhere.

Peterborough, we are proud to say, has many such business men in her midst, some of them old established houses and others of comparatively younger years. In the latter may be classed Mr. Johnston Carey, a gentleman who but a little over seven months ago cast his fortune among the residents of Peterborough, succeeding Mr. W. J. Larmour in the manufacture of Boots and Shoes. That he is establishing a reputation for satisfactory fulfilment of orders may be judged from the following letter, one among the many which he is constantly receiving. It speaks for itself and needs no explanation:—

LINDSAY, Oct. 13, 1881.

MR. J. CAREY, Peterboro'.

DEAR SIR,—I send you a pair of shoes for repairs. Will you kindly re-sole and heel them with the best of material? Sew the half-soles. I am very much pleased with the lace boots and feel like ordering another pair like them, but I can hardly afford it. Please put these boots in hand at once, as I may call for them to-morrow evening, make a good job of them for sure and leave bill ready. What was cost of lace boots?

South Monaghan Agricultural Society's Show.

The eighteenth annual exhibition of the South Monaghan Agricultural Society was held at Centreville on Tuesday. Owing to the unfavorable state of the roads and weather the attendance was not so large as the management would have wished for. The various classes were pretty fully represented. Messrs. Rutherford and Anderson exhibited some excellent Durhams; Messrs. Lightfoot and Crossly had also on exhibition some good Ayrshires. The show of grade cattle was good, Messrs. J. and D. Wood being the principal exhibitors. Some of the classes of horses that were called out were not as keenly contested as they should have been. The show of grain was rather ahead of previous years, and the root section some good exhibits were made. The building devoted to Ladies' Work was well-arranged, and the quality of the exhibits was satisfactory. The display of fruit was confined to apples and pears. The show of Diary products, and especially the butter, was creditable to housewives. Without making further comments we refer those who are interested to the SELWYN.

From our own Correspondent.

THE NEW METHODIST CHURCH—a handsome and commodious white brick structure was dedicated on Sunday, Oct. 9th, on which day most appropriate addresses were delivered at 10 a.m., 2.30 p.m. and 7 p.m. by Rev. Messrs Shaw of Peterboro', Weldon of Cannington and Sanderson of Norwood respectively. At each service the church was much crowded but in the evening the number was so great that sitting room was not to be found. The collection taken up in aid of the building fund amounted to over $35.00 which in this district is considered extraordinary The tea-meeting, as previously advertised, took place on Monday afternoon. The proceedings being opened at 2 p.m. in the church by speeches from Rev. gentlemen which continued till 4 p.m., when the welcome order was given to repair to the Temperance Hall, where the ladies had prepared the good things for our reception. Good indeed we found them to be and everything from the small tea biscuit to the enormous four story pound-cake well calculated to tempt the most fastidious appetite. Indeed so excellent were the dainties that it is currently reported that some person or persons (who probably could not resist the temptation of so much sweetness) came afternight, broke open the Hall and carried off all the eatables which were not used at the tea—which thanks to the liberality of those who took part in providing for our wants, was no inconsiderable amount. Proceeds from the tea amounted to over $80.00. About 6 p. m. speaking was again commenced in the church when a financial statement was read showing that there yet remained on the church some $300.00 of unsubscribed debt which the audience were solicited to wipe out, and thanks to their generosity not only was all church debt cleared off in a very short time, but also a considerable amount subscribed towards buying an organ. The meeting broke up about 9 p.m. amid general rejoicing. Mr. Washington and church trustees are to be congratulated on the successful issue of the work in which they took so active a part and judiciously superintended.

Fall wheat hindered so long by adverse circumstances has made good progress since the rain and is now looking pretty good.

ASPHODEL, BELMONT AND DUMMER FALL SHOW.

The Fall Show of the Asphodel, Belmont and Dummer Agricultural Society was held in Norwood, on Tuesday, the 11th instant. The weather being propitious, a vast number of people availed themselves of the opportunity to view and criticise the various industrial exhibits of the grouped townships named. The inside exhibit reflected the highest credit upon the exhibitors. Roots and vegetables were in great abundance, of huge dimensions and fine appearance, and clearly testified that due care had been bestowed upon their culture. The ladies' department this year was well sustained, and a great number of articles, both useful and ornamental, were entered for competition. The dairy department was an interesting one, and was well supplied with fine samples of cheese, butter, &c. The entries in the other sections were numerous, and of superior quality.

The show of horses, cattle, sheep, &c., was inferior to former exhibitions, there being, apparently, a lack of interest in this important part of the Society's show. The number of entries were few, the animals on view, however, being of a good class and in excellent condition.

On the whole, however, the show was a success, and a credit to all concerned. The number of entries was between 400 and 500. The receipts of admission amounted to $83.00. We will give the prize list in our next issue.

A Cough, Cold or Sore Throat should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an INCURABLE LUNG DISEASE OR CONSUMPTION. Brown's Bronchial Troches do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but ACT DIRECTLY ON THE INFLAMED PARTS, allaying irritation, give relief in ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, CATARRH, and the THROAT TROUBLES which SINGERS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Bronchial Troches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. CHURCH OPENING AT SPRINGVILLE.

On Sabbath, the 23rd January last, the congregation of Springville lost their church, by fire. On Sabbath, the 2nd October, a new and much more beautiful edifice was consecrated to God's service. The day was most propitious. There were three diets of worship in the church in connection with the opening services. Mr. Blain, of Tara, preached in the morning; Mr. Walter M. Roger, in the afternoon; and Mr. T. Manning, of Fraserville, in the evening. In the morning Mr. Roger preached in the Village Hall to those who could not find entrance into the church, and Mr. Blain, in similar circumstances in the afternoon, so that altogether there were five services in the village on the Sabbath referred to. On the Monday evening following there was a most successful tea meeting in the Drill Shed. After tea the friends adjourned to the church, where they were addressed by the Rev. Messrs. Blain, Roger, Manning and Torrance, the chair being occupied by the Rev. Mr. Bennett, the pastor of the congregation. A very efficient choir, led by Mr. Galletly, of Peterborough, discoursed sweet music to the great delight of the meeting. The collections on the Sabbath amounted to $111, and the proceeds of the tea meeting on Monday evening, together with the social on Tuesday evening, to about $130.

The new church has been opened under the most auspicious circumstances. Shortly after the burning of the old one, which took place on the morning of the Communion Sabbath, a religious awakening was experienced in the congregation and neighborhood. Meetings were held in the hall in the village night after night for three weeks. Many declared themselves on the side of Christ, and thirty-five—a gain of fifty per cent.—united with the church at the Communion in May last. Old members have been greatly revived. Some who formerly lived in the neglect of ordinances are now regular in their attendance on Sabbath services, so that not only the membership but the number of worshippers have greatly increased. May the text of the morning on the opening day be abundantly realized—"The glory of the latter house shall be greater than the glory of the former."

The new church is a beautiful structure of red brick, with tower and steeple, and with sitting accommodation for about 300 worshippers. The finished timbers of the arched ceiling are exposed to view. The pews are of the modern iron-end, drawseat style, finished in oil, and varnished. Matting and carpets have been laid; a bell has been placed in the tower, and most excellent arrangements have been made for lighting and heating the church. The edifice throughout reflects great credit on those connected with it. Only a small debt now remains, for the removal of which steps are at once to be taken. The architect and builder are respectively J. E. Belcher and J. Robson, of Peterborough.

EAST RIDING FALL SHOW.

The Thirteenth Annual Fall Show of the East Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society was held in the village of Keene, on Thursday and Friday last, the 13th and 14th instants. The first day was occupied in receiving and arranging the inside exhibit, which was held—the Ladies' Work and Fruit Departments in the Town Hall, and the Agricultural Products in the Drill Shed. Everything seemed to run smoothly, the arrangements made by the Directors of the Society being in every way satisfactory, and the indefatigable Secretary, W. E. Roxburgh, Esq., had them carried out to the letter. Looking forward to the possibilities of the future, as the people of every enterprising Society should do, an additional acre of ground has been procured adjoining on the north of the present spacious grounds, which was, and will in future be used for the show of cattle. The same pleasant weather which this Society has been favored with for past years prevailed on the above days, at Keene, and no doubt to it is due some of the credit for the large attendance at the show. The second day was as pleasant as could be desired—indeed a special arrangement with the clerk of the weather would have produced no better results. The grain shown, particularly the white wheat and barley, was splendid. The samples of spring wheat and oats were also good. The fruit display was meagre, apples forming the principal exhibits. The vegetables also were superior. The butter and cheese exhibited were of the very best quality, as was also the bread. The display of ladies' work presented no startling novelties, but was very large and certainly creditable. In this class fulled cloth, flannel, blankets, mitts, coverlets, quilts, crochet work, fancy knitting, fancy needlework, worsted work, etc., all bore testimony to the handiwork of the ladies of East Peterborough. The exhibits outside were, on the whole, very successful. The live stock department, in every class, was good. Taking sheep first, all the animals were above the average in point of merit. The show of cattle was large, including some splendid animals. Of all the departments none were better represented than the horses, and none had the attention of spectators to such an extent. It is seldom that such a fine class of general purpose horses as were shown can be seen at a show. In poultry there were shown some good fowl, comprising some first-class ducks, geese and chickens. Most of the birds were in good feather. Mr. G. A. Mitchell had on view a "Wheeler & Wilson" sewing machine and an Orguinette. The Orguinette enlivened the hall occasionally during the day. The Wheeler and Wilson was much admired, and has a great many advantages which are apparently being noted by the public, if one is to judge by its great success. The "Singer" was also ably represented. It seems to be an excellent machine. Mr. W. T. Mather had on exhibition four buggies—two top and two open—finely finished; the side-bar is a handsome buggy. He had also two farm waggons. Mr. Mather's work is all good and well-finished. In respect to attendance the show was as successful as any yet held under the auspices of the Society. Although the exhibition was a great success, and the Directors are to be congratulated upon so satisfactory a result of their good management. That our eastern friends are no laggards in the race of progress their shows demonstrate most clearly in each succeeding year. The Norwood Band played some excellent music during the day. One very pleasant feature was that there were no drunks to be seen, and the police had nothing to do. Our special thanks are due to the genial Member of the Local House, Mr. Thos. Blezard, for the apples that took first prize, to Miss Mills for the pears, and to Mr. Hanlon for the grapes. The following were the prize winners:

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the exoruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere at 25 cents a bottle. 6-1y.

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family, handy for use when wanted, "as it really is the the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle. 6-1y

NO RISK.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL! WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD. DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING OF IT? IF NOT IT IS TIME YOU DID.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common Sore Throat. One bottle has cured Bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old Standing Cough. One or two bottles cures bad cases of Piles or Kidney Troubles. Six to eight applications cure any case of Excoriated Nipples or Inflamed Breast. One bottle has cured Lame Back of eight years' standing. Daniel Plank, of Brookfield, Tioga Co., Pa., says: "I went thirty miles for a bottle of our Oil, which affected a wonderful cure of a Crooked Limb, by six applications."—Another who had had Asthma for years, says:—"I have half a bottle left, and $100 would not buy it if I could not get no more."—Rufus Robinson, of Nunda, N. Y., writes: "One small bottle of your Eclectric Oil restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper for five years."—Rev. J Mallory, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes: "Your Eclectric Oil cured me of Bronchitis in one week."

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. It is as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be immeasureably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense.

Beware of Imitations.—Ask for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. THOMAS is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cents. NOTE—Eclectric—Selected and Electrised

THE ALEMBIC OF THE BODY.—The stomach is the alembic of the human system. In it those wondrous chemical changes take place which result in the transmutation of food into blood. When it is vigorous the necessary processes of digestion and assimilation go on naturally and perfectly, and the system is suitably nourished. When it is feeble or disordered, they are obstructed, and being in consequence ill supplied with blood of a vitalizing quality, the physical organism becomes weak and feeble, the nerves suffer, the liver and bowels are semi-paralyzed, and appetite and sleep fail. These disastrous consequences may, however, be prevented, or remedied with the supreme alterative and aperient, NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, a medicine of rare purity and efficacy, which reforms a disordered and repairs a weakened state of the digestive organs, overcomes biliousness, relieves the bowels when obstructed without straining or weakening them, and promotes the exit from the system of impurities which infect the blood, which cause certain organic maladies. No objectionable mineral contaminates it, and its value is not marred by a subsequent re-action prejudical to the general health. For perfumable is it to the ordinary nauseous drugs used to produce a similar effect, but which are frequently ineffective as well as unpleasant; nor is it's cheap and valueless medicine, puffed into existence. It is used for dyspepsia, biliousness, affections of the blood, kidney complaints, female weaknesses, lumbago, &c., and in all forms wherein it is unequalled. Price, $1.00. Sample Bottle 10 cents. Ask for NORTHROP & LYMAN'S Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

ANDERSON.

MAN'S MORTALITY.

The following poem is justly considered a literal gem of the highest order. The original was found in an Irish MS. in Trinity College, Dublin. There is reason to think that this poem was written by one of those native Christian bards in the reign of Dermid, about the year 554, and was sung or chanted at the last grand assembly of the chieftains and bards, held in the Hall of Tara. The translation is by Mr. Curran. A manuscript copy of the poem was sent by Prof. Stewart, of Trinity College, by the person who furnished it for publication in the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.]

Like a damask rose you see,
Or like a blossom on a tree,
Or like the dainty flower in May,
Or like the morning to the day,
Or like the sun, or like the shade,
Or like the gourd which Jonah made:
Even such is man, whose thread is spun,
Drawn out and cut, and so is done.
The rose withers, the blossom blasteth,
The flower fades, the morning hasteth,
The sun sets, the shadow flies,
The gourd consumes, the man—he dies.

Like the grass that's newly sprung,
Or like the tale that's new begun,
Or like the bird that's here to-day,
Or like the pearled dew in May,
Or like an hour, or like a span,
Or like the singing of the swan;
Even such is man, who lives by breath,
Is here, now there, in life and death.
The grass withers, the tale is ended,
The bird is flown, the dew's ascended,
The hour is short, the span not long,
The swan's near death, man's life is done

Like to the bubble in the brook,
Or in a glass much like a look,
Or like the shuttle in the weaver's hand,
Or like the writing on the sand,
Or like a thought, or like a dream,
Or like the gliding of the stream;
Even such is man, who lives by breath,
Is here, now there, in life and death.
The bubble's out, the look forget,
The shuttle flung, the writing's blot,
The thought is past, the dream is gone,
The water's glide, man's life is done.

Like an arrow from a bow,
Or like a swift course of water flow,
Or like the time 'twixt flood and ebb,
Or like the spider's tender web,
Or like a race, or like a goal,
Or like the dealing of a dole;
Even such is man, whose brittle state
Is always subject unto fate.
The arrow shot, the flood soon spent,
The time no time, the web soon rent,
The race soon run, the goal soon won,
The dole soon dealt, man's life soon done

Like to the lightning from the sky,
Or like a post that quick doth hie,
Or like a quaver in a song,
Or like a journey three days long,
Or like snow when summer's come,
Or like a pear, or like a plum;
Even such is man, who heaps up sorrow
Lives but this day, and dies to-morrow.
The lightning's past, the post must go,
The song is short, the journey so,
The pear doth rot, the plum doth fall,
The snow dissolves, and so must all.

SLIPPING INTO THE 'NOOSE" HASTILY.

An amusing trial before our magistrates a few weeks ago, was the means of bringing a young couple into the relationship of man and wife inside of fifteen hours; the meeting of two hearts yielding to the strains of spontaneous love, brought out a wedding last week, within as many minutes. An old man of Rawdon who has seen the waving corn and hoary locks of nearly seventy years, and who had lately entombed the second partner of his sorrows and joys, concluded to enter the wedded state once more, and hasten such an event, he offered sums of $15 and $20 to any person who would find the desired treasure. A waggish individual of Seymour was the winner of the prize, and when he conveyed the tidings of his success, the old man's joy seemed to bring back again all the vigor of youth to the tottering frame. The two started together for Seymour west, where the lady resided, on Wednesday last, and reached her home in the evening. The messenger for the couple entered the house and acquainted the youthful damsel of the mission, the amative old patriarch remained outside. In a minute or two she appeared at the door, an introduction was given, the old man asked her to marry him and she accepted the offer without any farther ceremony. On the following day, a minister was consulted and the two were made happy. Both parties whose names we withhold, are known to many persons in this locality.—Campbellford Herald.

PACKING BUTTER.

In the first place I am careful not to pack any but sweet, firm butter; no soft, waxy, frothy stuff, such as one sometimes gets when the mercury ranges up to 90 or 95° in the shade, that will not keep, and a few pounds will soon spoil a really fine butter that may be put with it. When it is taken from the churn, it is thoroughly rinsed in pure, cold water direct from the well, then salted, and slightly worked. It then stands an hour or two, in a cool place for the salt to dissolve, when it receives its final working, or pressing, to extract the last drop of butter-milk. Still I do not work my butter until it is perfectly dry as that is upon the grain. I like to have it just when the brine will stand out over it in tiny drops as clear as crystal. A sprinkling of nice, fine salt, such as I use in salting the butter, strewn over the bottom of the jar, and the butter packed as solid as possible. A cloth wet in cold water, is spread over the butter, and a layer of salt on the wet cloth. When the jar is filled rounding the full, I take a fresh cloth, wet as before, and fit it nicely over the top of the butter and cover it with salt. Over this I turn a plate and press it down close, so it will be as nearly air-tight as possible; now a dry cloth and paper are tied over all to keep out dust, and it is put into the cool dark cellar and kept till the winter or spring packing, when it is readily sold at remunerative prices to those who are willing to pay the highest market price for it. This has been our way for years.—Farmer.

Sly as a shadow: "So she refused you, did she?" asked Pingry; "why didn't you press her, my boy?" "Press her!" exclaimed Brown; "she wouldn't give me time enough for that."

VARIETIES.

England has 650,000 more women than she has men.

ASK YOUR DEALER for "Castorine Machine Oil," and see that the barrel is branded "Castorine," as none other is genuine. 1-1y

An inch of rain weighs over 100 tons per acre of surface.

TORONTO OIL COMPANY are sole manufacturers of Castorine Machine Oil. Infringements will be prosecuted. 1-1y.

Eight thousand miles of telegraph wire in Germany are under ground.

USE "CASTORINE MACHINE OIL" for all kinds of machinery. It is also excellent for Harness and Leather, making it water and weather proof. For sale by dealers. 1-1y

There are 1,500 square miles of ice in the Alps from 20 to 600 feet thick.

MANUFACTURERS of Reapers, Mowers and Threshing Machines prefer "Castorine Machine Oil" to any other. It will outwear Lard, Seal or Elephant, and is guaranteed not to gum. 1-1y

A description of Eve's toilet would be a leaf from history.

TOP OFF WITH A BIT OF PIE.—What a peculiar American custom, and one which, together with hot cakes and excess of butter, lays the foundation for first-class cases of dyspepsia. Better use Burdock Blood Bitters. Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents. 41-2t

Next to a clear conscience for solid comfort comes an old shoe.

For Dysentery, diarrhœa, and all summer complaints use the greatest of all pure, simple remedies—Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It is pleasant, rapid, reliable and effective. For sale by all dealers. T. MILBURN & Co., Proprietors. 41-2t

The cup that cheers but does not inebriate—the buttercup.

Robert Lubbuck, Cedar Rapids, writes: "I have used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil both for myself and family for Diphtheria with the very best results. I regard it as the best remedy for this disease, and would use no other."

A little nut brown maide: A peanut in a roaster.

FANCY DRINKS.—Burdock Blood Bitters is not a fancy drink, but a pure medicinal tonic, alterative, laxative and nervine, whose effect is to purify, restore and build up the impoverished blood and enfeebled body. Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents. 41-2t

To err in modes of prayer may be reprehensible, but not to pray is madness.

HONESTY.—It is commonly said that you cannot make an honest man believe that white is black and vice versa, but those who have grey hair, by using the "CINGALESE HAIR RENEWER," will find that this apparent difficulty is easily overcome. 50 cents per bottle. 40-4t

Look at the bright side. Keep the sunshine of a living faith in the heart.

"Arkansaw or Arkansas." It is immaterial which pronunciation is adopted in this case, but quite material that the citizens of Arkansas or Arkansaw with the United States and the Dominion should be supplied with good pens. Esterbrook's are popular, reliable and standard.

The world is a comedy to those who think, a tragedy to those who feel.

NO WONDER.—Many a man's love has been turned into loathing on account of unsightly eruptions on the face, and the offensive breath of his fiancee. This trouble could have been avoided if she only had sense enough to use Burdock Blood Bitters. Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents. 41-2t

Flattery is like false money; it impoverishes those who receive it.

USE THE celebrated "Lardine Oil" on your machinery. Best and cheapest oil in the market. Does not clog or gum. Has good heavy body and will not thin in summer. Sold in Peterborough by Messrs. McKee & Davidson; and in Lakefield by W. H. Casement. Try it and you will use no other. 25-52t

Christianity is the good man's text; his life the illustration.

A GENERAL ALARM is needed when the frame is consumed with fever as with a slow fire, brought on by sluggishness of the kidneys, or torpidity of the liver; Burdock Blood Bitters will act on the system like a chemical engine, and remove all fever and restore to normal state of health. Price $1.00, trial size 10 cents. 41-2t.

The heart is the only thing that is better by being broken.

The most conclusive testimony, repeatedly laid before the public in the columns of the daily press, proves that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—an absolutely pure combination of six of the finest remedial oils in existance—remedies rheumatic pain, eradicates affections of the throat and lungs, and cures piles, wounds, sores, lameness, burns, and injuries of horses and cattle.

We take our colors, chameleon-like, from each other.

DEBILITY AND NERVOUS HEADACHE.—Chronic, sick or nervous headache is generally dependent on, or accompanied by, impaired digestion, by which the circulation and nutrition of the brain are deranged, and the nervous centres vitiated. The Peruvian Syrup, by re-invigorating the digestive powers, lays the axe at the root of the tree; the brain is duly nourished, the nervous symptoms cease, and the headache disappears. Sold by all druggists.

GIVEN AWAY.—We can not help noticing the liberal offer made to all invalids and sufferers by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. You are requested to call at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store and get a trial bottle free of cost, if you are suffering with Consumption, Severe Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Loss of Voice, Hoarseness, or any affection of the Throat or Lungs, it will positively cure you.

WORTHY OF PRAISE.—As a rule we do not recommend Patent Medicines, but when we know of one that really is a public benefactor, and does positively cure, then we consider it our duty to impart that information to all. Electric Bitters are truly a most valuable medicine, and will surely cure Biliousness, Fever and Ague, Stomach, Liver and Kidney complaints, even when all other remedies fail. We know whereof we speak, and can freely recommend them to all.—Sold at fifty cents a bottle: Taylor and Macdonald, agents.

A PUBLIC MEETING should be called of the citizens of every city, town and village in the Dominion, to consider what should be done to prevent the hair from turning Grey—and falling out. If this important question received their earnest consideration they would unanimously decide that science had at last discovered something that would answer the purpose—and furthermore would recommend Cingalese Hair Renewer as being the something for restoring the hair to its natural color, and prevent its falling out. 50 cents per bottle. 40-4t

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes of adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 60c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

MANHOOD

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife: pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Lines on a Lady's Ulster.

Now let the "Ulster" be the theme,
For o'er the muses fain confess
That men and goddesses may dream
Or write the "Poetry of Dress."

"The apparel oft proclaims the man,"
Thus truly saith the immortal bard;
And who shall say that women may
From fashion's influence be debarr'd.

'Tis true she adds a charm to dress,
And dress too oft her beauty blurs,
But when she's graced with faultless taste
Her garments oft add charms to her.

The dress in which are best allied
The subtest art and perfect skill,
Adds to the charm 'twas meant to hide,
And makes them more bewitching still.

No careless folds the Ulster shows,
But round the human form divine
The perfect fit will still disclose
The rounding form, the curving line.

The autumn chill, the winter snow,
The heavy dew, the pattering rain,
The frosts that bite, the winds that blow,
Invade the Ulster all in vain.

Thus use and elegance combine—
That shields the form, that charms the eye;
And art is shown in each design
That M. & A. so well supply.

And to crown all, each rare device
In Ulsters, M. & A.'s display
Is sold at such a wond'rous price,
We feel amazed—and well we may.

Faultless fit, splendid style, vast variety, good work and a very great saving in price will be found in M. & A.'s Mantles and Ulsters.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER

Local News Record.

Boys Tweed Suits are being sold by I. Robinson & Co. for $3 and upwards, and men's good all wool suits for $8.00 and upwards. 10-tf

Equine.—Mr. Ted. Cavanagh shipped to Michigan last week a couple of carloads of horses, which are wanted for the shanties there. This district is pretty well drained of its surplus stock, and a good animal brings a handsome price—about double what it formerly cost.

A Poor Investment.—The wool dealers who purchased wool in large quantities have what they term "white elephants" on their hands. The wool purchased during the past two seasons, with but one exception, remains unsold, with poor prospects of realising on it in the near future.

Before You Buy your Fall or Winter Suits, Overcoats, Tweed or Fulled Cloth Pants, Rubber Coats or Underclothing, Tweeds, Fulled Cloths or Flannels by the yard, call and see the splendid assortment offered at the lowest figures by W. J. Wallace, Lakefield. 39-6 ins.

Football.—Interest in this game has again sprung up. Owing to uncontrollable circumstances the match with Trinity College School has fallen through. A challenge was received Friday last from the Toronto Club to play at Port Hope and it is probable our boys will meet the occasion. It is to be hoped that they will retire from the contest crowned with the victorious laurel.

Interesting.—The following are the comparative heights of different points in and around Peterborough, above the crossing of George and Hunter streets:

Hill at R. C. Church	26.84 ft.
Court House Hill	63.76 "
Smithtown Hill	90.99 "
Hilliard's Hill	102.76 "
Armour's Hill	168.31 "

Indigent.—Lindsay has commenced the winter practice of shipping its indigent poor to Peterborough. Monday a young girl applied for relief to one of our town officials, and said she had been sent here by some of the ladies of Lindsay. Our town may be healthy and wealthy, but that is no reason why it should become the hibernating quarters of the dead-beats from neighboring places.

Woman's Devotion.—A fine illustration of woman's devotion was witnessed in a neighboring town recently, and is thus described by one of the local papers: "A certain resident become so helplessly drunk that he lay down in the ditch at the roadside, being powerless to proceed any further. His wife found him, and procuring a wheel-barrow from one of the hotels, placed him on it, and then wheeled him home."

Novel Mail Matter.—The Norwood Register tells the following:—A telegraph operator in a post office not one hundred miles from here, has been in the habit of monopolizing a spare mailbag to convey his underware from his boarding house to his room in the said office. Judge his surprise when the other night he received from Peterborough the aforesaid mail-bag containing his "dry goods" with the words "returned for better address." He had sent the wrong one.

The following notice appears in the Bobcaygeon Independent, and might with profit be adopted by all newspapers. Besides replenishing the journalistic exchequer it would save the feelings of the readers generally from such agonizing pentameters:—Original verses for the dead are often sent us for publication. Our charges for publishing such verses is the same as for advertisements, namely ten cents per line. If the verses have to be polished and put in shape, we charge extra for such work.

A Suggestion. The Belleville Intelligencer says:—"It has been suggested that the city council should hold its session on Friday afternoon instead of on Tuesday evenings. The municipal councils of a number of cities and towns in the Province have adopted this plan, and have found it worked admirably. It effects a great saving in gas—of course we mean the gas which is furnished by the Gas Company." The suggestion is worthy of consideration by the representatives of the people at the Civic Board of this town, and if adopted would do away with many foolishly protracted sessions which oftentimes are held under the present system.

Silver Cords. Yesterday, Mr. Alfred L. Davis and Miss Emma Cox were happily united by the silver cords of clever Cupid. The ceremony was performed at the "Willows," the residence of Geo. A. Cox, Esq., President of the Midland Railway, and father of the bride, by the Rev. Mr. Davis, father of the groom, assisted by the Rev. John Shaw. Miss Clara Elsworth and Miss Maggie Flavelle assisted the bride, while Mr. J. Flavelle and Mr. Ed. Cox performed similar duties to the bridegroom. The costumes were elegant and pretty. They took the 6.40 train for the west, where they will make a short visit and return to their home in Peterborough, where Mr. Davis is a well-known and popular business man. The presents were numerous and elegant, and the young couple start in their new life followed by the best wishes of their many friends. May love's young dream, &c.

The Kennedys.—We are informed that the date of the Kennedy Family visit to Peterborough has been fixed for the 12th of November.

Open Air Rehearsal.—The Band will give an open air rehearsal this afternoon at two o'clock, on the Post Office corner, when a choice programme of new music, principally, will be rendered.

Y. M. C. A.—The annual convention of the Y. M. C. A. for Ontario, was held last week in Cobourg, Peterborough was represented by the Rev. Mr. Workman and Mr. H. Grundy.

The Pulpits.—The Rev. I. B. Howard supplied Mr. Workman's pulpit in the Methodist church, both morning and evening last Sunday, and the Rev. Mr. King, of Toronto, officiated in St. Pauls Presbyterian.

Deer Hunting.—A party consisting of Messrs. H. C. Winch, Jas. English, R. A. Morrow and A. Sawers left on Monday morning for the back lakes for a two week's deer hunt. As they are veteran sportsmen, we have no doubt but they will give a good account of themselves.

The Marquis of Lorne's Medal.—Mr. Dixon, Principal of our Collegiate Institute, has received the Marquis of Lorne's Medal given to this institution. Mr. Alfred Orr is the fortunate competitor, having secured it on the result of the Intermediate Examinations.

Rock Island Boots.—Messrs. R. Stenson & Son have just received several cases of Rock Island Boots, which are marked down to bottom prices. Full stock in all other departments, selling extremely cheap. Call and see for yourself. 36-tf.

In Harness Again.—Mr. Riley, the popular and obliging conductor on the Midland, has after a holiday term spent in Uncle Sam's domains, returned to his duties. The Midland can boast of the most obliging and courteous staff off officials and employees of any railway in the country.

Rifle Matches.—The annual matches of the County of Peterborough Rifle Association will be held to-day and to-morrow at the butts. The "Maiden" match will commence at 9 o'clock, to-day, the "Volunteer" at 10 and the "Association" at 1 o'clock. The prize list is a very attractive one and will draw forth a lively competition.

Letter Boxes.—Post Office Inspector Griffin was in town last week and decided on locating four letter boxes in the town—one at the lower end of George-street; one near Auburn; one at the vicinity of the South Ward School, and one near the West Ward School. These four, with the one already in Ashburnham, will give the citizens postal accomodations of which they are in much need.

"The 3rd Provincial Regiment of Cavalry and Prince of Wales Canadian Dragoons," is now the designation of the corps heretofore known as "The 3rd Provincial Regiment of Cavalry." The lengthy titles which are being given to the Regular Regiments, and which are being so severely commented upon by the commanding officers generally, appear also to be finding their way among the volunteer corps.

Summer Resort.—A joint stock company is being formed in Peterborough to build a Summer Hotel on the pic-nic grounds, Mud Lake. The buildings will not be on an extensive scale at first, but will be constructed so as to admit of an easy enlargement. Surveys and roads are at present being made and immediate arrangements will be made to erect the Hotel. Should the affairs of the company be judiciously managed, a more pleasant and healthful summer quarters could not be found.

Hymeneal.—A quiet wedding was celebrated on Tuesday afternoon at the residence of John Gamble, Esq., the contracting parties being Miss Clara H. Gamble and Mr. Geo. Dunsford. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John Shaw, in the presence of the most intimate friends of the interested parties. The happy couple left by the 6.40 train for the Western States, where they purpose remaining about three weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Dunsford enter their new life with the warmest congratulations of a host of well-wishers.

Honors.—In the Matriculation Examination at Queen's University, Kingston, we find that Mr. J. J. Wright won the Leitch Memorial Scholarship No. 1, $57, in Mathematics; Mr. J. J. Douglas the Rankine Scholarship, $55, in English; and Mr. R. M. Denniston $25, in Mathematics. In addition, winners of scholarships are relieved of fees amounting to $24. All the scholarships were carried off this year by students from Peterboro' and Kingston. We congratulate our young collegians on the honour they cast both on themselves and the masters of our Institute.

Ploughing Match.—The date of the County Ploughing Match has been fixed for Wednesday next 26th, the committee having secured a field from John Tully Esq, on the boundary line between Monaghan and Smith. Prizes of $30, $20, $15, $10 and $5, in articles and money will be offered for competition, in three classes, divided as follows, viz:—No. 1, open to all comers; No. 2, open only to those who have not won a prize in any ploughing match since the 1st January, 1874; and No. 3, open only to boys under 18 years of age. Competitors in all the classes, will, of course, be limited to residents within the limits of, or bona fide occupants, or sons of bona fide occupants of farms within either of the electoral districts of the east or west ridings of the county of Peterborough.

A Very Affecting Good-Bye.—The Brighton Ensign of last week says:—"On Monday evening of this week the largest crowd ever assembled at our railway station gathered to say farewell to some eleven persons who were starting for the far west. Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah B. Thayer, Mrs. S. Vantassel and child, Mr. R. P. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Fulford, Mr. J. E. Hadden, Mr. Walter and Miss Minnie Thayer, all took passage for Butte City, Montana. Mrs. S. E. Marsh started for St. Louis to visit her parents. Not less than three hundred people were upon the platform. As the train approached an impromptu choir struck up "In the Sweet Bye-and-Bye," and as the cars slowly glided away with its Brighton contingent of passengers, "Take the name of Jesus with you" was rendered with pleasing effect." Mr. J. A. Richardson, of Millbrook, Travelling Agent of the Union Pacific Railway, had the party in charge. Under this gentleman's guidance and care they would be certain of comfort, care and attention.

"Go West, Young Man."—The advice of Horace Greely which has now almost become proverbial, was acted upon last week by a number of former residents of Peterborough and vicinity. On Wednesday evening W. J. Larmour and family, D. Jameson, R. J. Menzies and two young farmers from the country—Messrs. Ball and Brown—took their departure for the goal of so many fortune seekers at present—the promising prairie province. The two latter intend taking up farms while the others will pursue their respective callings in Winnipeg. Mr. Larmour, who, for the past few years was well known as one of the leading boot and shoe merchants of this town, will, we understand, carry on this business in his new place of residence, devoting himself to fine custom work in which line he has few equals. His patrons can rely always upon securing an A 1 article, both in fit, material and finish. Mr. Jameson, formerly of the Review Office and Secretary of the Grand Lodge of Orange Young Britons, now (The Young Men's Protestant Benevolent Association) was entertained by the members of the order on Tuesday evening at a supper and social assembly, where a very pleasant time was spent.

A Want Supplied.—The question is frequently asked, why cannot first-class Pianofortes be manufactured in Canada? It may be answered that this is an industrial art, requiring not only capital, but a class of skilled workmen not readily secured in any new country. The success of our neighbors, however, in bringing the Pianoforte to a higher degree of perfection than it had attained in the old world seems to have created a spirit of emulation on this side of the line, and suggested the idea of transplanting some of these mechanical exports on our own soil. Messrs. Octavius Newcombe & Co., of Toronto, have shown commendable enterprise in this direction and in a few years have secured the acknowledgement from the most competent musical authorities, of having reached the front rank among the Pianoforte manufacturers of this continent. The firm of which Mr. O Newcombe was then a partner, commenced the manufacture of Upright Pianos about five years ago. In 1878 Mr. Newcombe became head of the firm of Octavius Newcombe & Co., and soon afterwards built the present, handsome Factory on 107 and 109 Church and 66 Richmond Streets, Toronto. This firm has followed out the principles of construction adopted by the best makers and until recently, given exclusive atention to Upright Pianos, now the most popular instruments in America as in Europe. Their Uprights are of various sizes and designs, the leading styles being The Boudoir, The Salon and Cabinet Grand Pianos. Although these Pianos are more costly than other Canadian Pianos, they can be sold much below imported instruments of equal excellence, and are remarkable for their strength and consequent durability. Parties requiring superior instruments should address this firm and will be fully satisfied, quality considered, in regard to prices and terms.

PERSONAL.

Mr. T. C. L. Armstrong, B. A., L. L. B., formerly Classical Master at our Collegiate Institute has started a law office in Toronto.

Mr. John Shaw has resigned his position as Head Master of the Omemee High School, which he has filled for nearly twenty years. His health is not good.

The old and feeble widow of the martyred Lincoln is going to pass the winter at St. Catharines, for the good of her health. This step is caused by the fact that her health has shown no signs of material improvement since her return from France.

Another newspaper man has found himself able to enter the list of benedicts. Mr. John R. Orr, publisher of the North Hastings Review, has been married to Miss Sarah Dale, daughter of Mr. John Dale, one of the most prominent men in Madoc.

Mr. John A. Carswell has disposed of the Colborne Express to Mr. George Keyes, the former proprietor, who will conduct it in the future. Mr. Carswell removes to Oshawa, to edit the Vindicator, of which he has become proprietor.

THE PEOPLE SAY

That the police dockets are getting smaller.

That winter is not far off; and

That we shall soon have some of "the beautiful" snow.

That everybody likes to have a good-sized wood-pile for this weather.

That this is good shooting weather.

That the Fall Fairs are over.

That housekeepers are begining to find out that under the N. P. only ninety potatoes go to the hundred.

INCENDIARISM.

TWO FIRES IN LESS THAN THREE HOURS.

On Sunday morning last Peterborough was treated to the rather strange occurrence of two fires during the same night. About fifteen minutes past two the "Old Pump Factory" on George Street, near the Methodist Church, was discovered to be on fire, and owing to the inflammable nature of the structure, in a very short time was reduced to ashes. By the time the brigade got to work, their attention was given to saving the adjoining buildings, which were at times in imminent danger. In fact, the residence of Mr. C. Cameron would in all probability have shared a similar fate to the factory had it not been for the efficient services of citizens and firemen. The flames made rapid progress, and in a short time the old landmark had vanished. Mr. Cameron estimates his loss at about $900 on building and engine. There was no insurance.

Scarcely had the firemen their apparatus in the engine house when a second alarm was sounded—and one that was of a more serious nature than the first. It was discovered that the bark shed in connection with W. Paterson & Son's tannery was on fire, and by the time the firemen got to the scene, the whole pile of some 300 cords, was enveloped in flames. The yard where the bark was piled was also used as a piling ground for wood, of which a large quantity was in store. To this the flames soon spread, and although willing hands saved a good deal of it, yet a large portion was destroyed. The firemen worked hard and fought the flames stubbornly, throwing three streams upon them, but it was impossible to save the bark. To prevent danger to the adjoining buildings, they continued pouring three streams until about one o'clock, and again in the evening they worked from about four till seven. Messrs. W. Paterson & Son's loss will be about $2000 directly, on which, unfortunately there is no insurance; indirectly the loss will also be severe, as it will be almost impossible to replace the bark, seasoned and fit for grinding.

Both fires were undoubtedly the work of incendiaries.

CURLING CLUB.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Curling Club was held in the parlour of the "Oriental" Hotel, on Friday evening last. There was a good attendance present; the President, Mr. W. G Ferguson, in the chair.

After reading the minutes of last meeting, the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Andrew McNeil, presented his report, showing the Club to be in a prosperous condition, with a respectable balance in the Treasurer's hands.

After the adoption of the report the election of officers for the ensuing year was taken up, with the following result: Patron, His Honor, Judge Dennistoun; Patroness, Mrs. Dennistoun; President, A. H. Macdougall; Vice-President, A. McNeil; Secretary-Treasurer, W. H. Budden; Chaplain, Rev. V. Clementi; Representative Members, Alex. Bertram, Toronto, and Jas. F. Dennistoun; Managing Committee,—A. Hall, W. G. Ferguson and Dr. Boucher; Skips,—George Brown, Jas. F. Dennistoun, A. H. Macdougall, W. G. Ferguson, T. P. Attrill, Geo. Dunsford, Adam Hall, A. McNeil. Honorary Members—Dr. Kincaid, M.P. P., D. G. Hatton, P.M., Geo. A. Cox, A. White, R. A. Morrow, J. R. Stratton, John Ludgate and Robert Hall.

Votes of thanks were tendered the retiring officers for the interest taken in the affairs of the Club during the past year, which were suitably acknowledged by the ex-President and ex-Secretary.

In order to stimulate a greater interest in the game among the younger members it was decided to offer for competition a cup and medal, for the "point" and "13 point" game respectively, and a liberal subscription to aid in the purchase of these trophies was taken up among those present, which, if followed up by other members will enable the Committee to procure articles well worth competing for.

The American papers take the proper view of the punishment to be meted out to Guiteau. He should be dealt with as an ordinary criminal. He is too abject a cur to be deemed worthy of vengence, and the death of a hundred such could make no compensation for the loss of the great and good man whose death he caused.

The country bids fair to find that it is to be treated to an Arthur administration. Garfield, it is now seen, had not time to develop a line of policy upon which his successor could build a permanent structure. Mr. Arthur, has, therefore, nothing to do but to do as he would have done if he had been chosen to the presidency by calling his friends about him and doing the best he can. This he will do at the very earliest day consistent with the decencies of mourning and the exigencies of political life.

Secretary Brown has been engaged compiling the accounts that were incurred during the sickness and funeral of the late president. The sickness will have cost $100,000, of which sum Dr. Bliss wants $25,000, Drs. Agnew and Hamilton, $12,000 each, Dr. Reyburn $3,000 and Mrs. Dr. Edson $1,000. The State of Ohio will pay all the expenses in connection with the transportation of the body, escort, etc. So far accounts have been rendered to the State for $247,640, making a grand total of expenses of $347,640.

The question is asked by some of the newspaper correspondents, what was done by congress for Mrs. Lincoln after the death of her husband? Congress gave her the President's salary for a year (then $25,000), less the salary for one month and a half, and afterward passed a law granting her a pension of $3000 a year. Doubtless the same precedent will be followed in the case of Mrs. Garfield. Congress will give her the year's salary (now $50,000), less the amount paid, and allow her $3000 a year. This, with the income of the Garfield fund and the interest on the amount she will receive for life-insurance, will give her about $15,000 or $16,000 a year for life, the principal to go to her children.

Some estimate of the boom in real estate in Winnepeg may be found from the following:—A Mr. Freeman lately of Orillia, writing from Winnipeg to a friend says that a lot of land on Main street for which he was offered in April last $18,000 is now worth $45,000 and that he can dispose of it at that figure at any time. Another lot valued at $1,500 last year will to-day command $15,000.

A painful accident occurred in Campbellford, on Thursday morning last, to a son of Mr. William Dunk, of that village. The young man, who was about 16 years old, had been employed in the new factory, and was on a scaffold removing a plank, when, by some means or other, he fell back off the platform to the lower floor, dislocating his neck. Of course, death was almost instantaneous. This is the second youth who has died by similar accident at this factory.

A very interesting consignment of fresh fruit, tomatoes, cantaloups, and other kinds of melons have just been landed from the Allan Royal Mail Steamer Parisian, consigned to Messrs. Woodall & Co., fruit merchants, North John street, Liverpool. These were shipped under a process newly patented by Mr. G. A. Cochrane, of Montreal. The results are stated by the trade to be in every way satisfactory and shipments of peaches and other perishable fruits are to follow. Mr. Cochrane's patent can be applied to a number of other commodities, and it is believed to be possible that the trade carried on in preserved and canned fruits may be completely revolutioned.—Liverpool Journal of Commerce.

A curious experiment is being tried in several corps of the Russian army. This consists in the introduction of dogs instead of men as sentries. For this duty the wolf dog of the Ural Mountains is found most suitable, as the animal will growl at the presence of an intruder instead of barking outright, and thus inciting all the dogs in camp to do likewise.

The Irish events of the past week are important ones, and mark another era in the history of the struggle. The Government has taken the extreme steps of proclaiming the Land League illegal, and warning all who have anything to do with it to separate themselves from it. The proclamation distinctly states that the law will be rigidly enforced, and that no resistance to its process will be tolerated. The Land League received an even severer blow than this from an unexpected quarter. Archbishop Croke, whose sympathies with the previously expressed objects of the League were so warm as to incur the displeasure of the head of the Church, has condemned in unequivocal terms the advice of the League against the payment of rent. Added to these are the organization of the Land Court, to which many appications have been made.

CHURCH REOPENING.—St. George's church after having been repaired and altered was re-opened for divine service on Wednesday, September 28th. Those who remember this church in its very unchurchly aspect—outwardly imposing in shabbiness, and within worse, with its unpainted woodwork and utter negation of everything ecclesiastical; its walls and ceiling hung with thick brown paper, kept in place, where kept in place at all, by strips of calico and pieces of wood—all this owing to the very poor circumstances of the congregation—will hardly recognise the old church in the renovated one. The old uncouth structure called a tower, is surmounted by a lofty spire having four neat minarets at the base and four small louvres, and for a terminal the symbol of the faith, the banner of the Captain of our salvation—a foliated cross gilt. What was a doorless, unfinished, wooden porch, is now a neat chancel oriented, with a triple window suggested by the ruins of Rivaulx Abbey, having a ribbon of coloured glass round each compartment, the panes ruby and blue alternately, the arches wine colour, all filled in with figured glass. A handsome circular window above the chancel window the gift of the builder, Mr. Joseph B. Hawley has eight lights of blue and ruby forming a double-rounded Maltese Cross. All the stained glass is the gift of Mr. George Stethem of Peterborough.—Dominion Churchman.

HARVEY.

The Harvey Council met at the Clerk's office on call of the Reeve, on the 15th Oct., 1881. Members all present; minutes read and confirmed. A petition from the ratepayers was received and adopted, requesting the Council to make application to the Ontario Legislature at the next session to pass a bill to establish and confirm the bearings on the Harvey map. The Reeve was instructed to employ a surveyor to get the true bearings of the nineteenth concession. The Council accepted the names of G. H. Howson and Wm. McCamus, Esqs., as sureties for Wm. Ventress, collector of rates for 1881. The Clerk was instructed to notify the County Treasurer to remove certain taxes charged on his books against the east half of lot twenty-one, concession fourteen, Harvey. Mr. Robert Telford was appointed road commissioner on the south side of Pigeon Lake, in Harvey. The Reeve was instructed to draw orders on the Treasurer to pay for contracts completed on roads as follows:

James Pettifer	$15 30
John Newton	15 66
Seth Ward, sr	2 00
John McGuire	2 00
Quinton Moore	3 00
John Tate	17 07
Ab. J. Ward	6 15
Richard Gerrard	2 00

On motion passed the Council adjourned to meet at the town hall on the 19th December next.

OMEMEE.

FOR THE SHANTIES.—On Saturday last a gang of eighty Frenchmen, under the command of Mr. M. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, passed through here on the Midland Railway. They were all dressed alike, in grey fulled cloth, and looked like an army of Zulus as they marched four deep up Kent-street, Lindsay, for the Victoria railroad station.

ACCIDENT.—We are sorry to have to chronicle a severe accident which happened to Rev. E. Barrass, M. A., of this village. He was about to enter the gate at his residence when he accidently slipped and fell to the ground, his back coming in contact with the edge of a plank rendered him very lame. We are glad to hear that he is rapidly recovering.

THE HIGH SCHOOL.—On Monday evening last Mr. Jas. Lumsden, Head Master for the Omemee High School, arrived and entered upon his duties on Tuesday morning. The school has a very fair attendance. The retiring master, Mr. John Shaw, M.A., has occupied the position for upwards of nineteen years, and has turned out many excellent scholars during this long engagement. We doubt if there are any more than two or three High teachers in the Province who have enjoyed the confidence of the public for so long a period.—Herald.

The Register says that the ticket receipts of the East Riding Agricultural Society show at Keene amounted to $189; and that the ticket receipts of the show held in Norwood last year amounted to $235. Now, Otonabee done very well and the Register need not be poking fun at them. The society is in good financial standing, and it is not money that the management are after. Norwood is a nice little village and we will let them have the show again, and hope that they will do even better than previously; at least it will not be a fault of the management, and especially the secretary, if they do not.

LINDSAY.

Peterboro' papers note handsome wedding cakes as been shown in the local confectioner's windows. The issue seems to lie between a bachelor editor and a popular stationer as to who will "take the cake."

A sudden death occurred at the Dominion hotel, on Monday night. Mr. William McCarty, watch-maker, had been drinking rather heavily for some time, and on the evening in question, while under the influence of liquor, walked into the above hotel, and without saying a word to any body went upstairs, took off his coat, hat and boots and lay down on a bed and died. Deceased came to this town from Barrie about a year ago, and started in business as a watchmaker.—Warder.

In the removal of articles at the Central exhibition at Lindsay, a pair of stockings shown by Mrs. Preston, Ballyduff, were taken away by some one, it is thought unintentionally. As the last work done by Mrs. Preston's daughter, who died some time ago, that lady is naturally very anxious to recover them, and the party who took them will confer a great favor by either returning them by mail direct to her or to the secretary, Col. Deacon of Lindsay. The stockings are of little value to any one else, and we hope Mrs. Preston will be successful in recovering them.

Peterborough Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, OCT'R 27, 1881.

Mr. Blake's Speeches.

The leader of the Opposition has been spending a week amongst his own constituents in West Durham, and it is interesting to compare his utterances in a representative Ontario constituency with his recent utterances in the Maritime provinces. Mr. Blake is accused of being sectional in his manner of appealing to the people, and we are free to confess that to be sectional would be a bad fault in a political leader. No true patriot or broad-minded statesman can say to the people in one locality what he would not venture to say to the people in every other locality. But just here lies the difference between Mr. Blake and his opponents. The spot he chose for his most pointed attack on the coal duty was New Glasgow, in the very neighborhood of the Pictou coal mines, and in the very presence of their managers and workmen. The strongest protest he has yet uttered against the cotton duties was in St. Stephen, where a new factory—the finest in the Dominion, is actually in process of erection. His most direct challenge of the sugar duties was uttered in Halifax, which boasts of not only the best refinery in Canada but also something like a monopoly of the West Indian sugar trade. Having acted in this way throughout his Maritime Provinces trip it would be absurd for him to decline the discussion of these same questions in Ontario, or even to shrink from opposing the specific duties on woollens and breadstuffs.

It is said that Mr. Blake did not dare to discuss the Senate question in the Maritime Provinces, as he did in West Durham, or to lay down reform of the Senate as a plank in his platform. This is quite untrue. In several of his speeches in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick he took precisely the same ground with respect to the Senate as he took at Orono. He pointed out that constituted as the Senate at present is, it cannot be regarded as a popular legislative chamber, and is therefore unsuited to a country with a popular form of government. He dwelt upon the necessity of having a Legislature which, whether of one chamber or two, will give effect to the will of the people and not be in a position to permanently thwart it as the present Senate is. He suggested the abolition of that House altogether as an alternative to changing its constitution, and while, neither in the Maritime Provinces nor in West Durham, did he openly avow his preference for a single chamber, his whole argument went to show that our system of government would be at once cheaper and more efficient without a second one. Of course he could not be expected to go further just now, seeing that the existence of the Senate is due to a compromise, and to propose to abolish it without the consent of all parties would be to break faith with the Maritime Provinces. But should a majority of the people of those Provinces avow their preference for a single chamber there can be no question that the movement to abolish the Senate would be highly popular in Ontario.

It has been alleged that Mr. Blake has no definite policy on the tariff question. It is impossible to read or hear his speeches without feeling how utterly untruthful the allegation is. He recognizes the fact that no statesman can ignore the present arrangement, whatever it may be, when he proposes to make fiscal or any other changes. He frankly says that every interest bound up with the present tariff must be respected, as indeed it must be whether he says so or not. But having said so much, he lays down with great clearness his attitude towards the Tilley tariff. He objects to it (1) because as an instrument of taxation it takes far too much from the people; (2) because it does not distribute the burden of taxation equitably; (3) because it taxes raw materials; and (4) because it taxes the necessaries of life. He finds fault with it on other grounds, but these are his principle objections. In language as plain and forcible as a man could use he pledges himself to do his best to diminish the people's burdens, to arrange the duties so that each shall pay his fair share, and to make the necessaries of life and the raw materials of manufactures free as the water we drink or the air we breathe, in so far as allowing them to go untaxed is concerned.

And what he says in one locality about the tariff he says in all. He uses the same or similar illustrations everywhere he goes. He does not keep one set to quote in New Brunswick and another set to quote to the people of Ontario. He would not, like Sir Charles Tupper, tell the people of Pictou that Ontario was paying the coal tax for their special benefit, and then tell the people of San Francisco that he hoped the day would soon come when there would be reciprocity in coal between the United States and Canada. Mr. Blake, by his courteous treatment of opponents, who often little deserve any courtesy at his hands, and by the sound, moral and political tone of his speeches, has added a new interest to Parliament-out-of-session addresses. One able man can work a revolution in style at times, and it seems to be within his power to work one now. It is satisfactory to see that he seems to feel his responsibility in the matter, and that there is good hope of getting, by his aid, out of the muddy waters of political discussion of the old-fashioned kind.

Thanksgiving.

Thursday last was a day of general thanksgiving for the abundant harvest and many mercies vouchsafed by a most beneficent Providence during the year now drawing to a close. Services were held in most of our churches, and the day was made a general holiday. As a people Canadians have great reason to offer thanks to Almighty God for the blessing of peace—peace with the world and with one another. The earth has brought forth a rich reward for the toils of the husbandman, so rich that Canada has not been so generously favored for many years. There has been no disturbing question of any moment to trouble the people, enjoying a noble freedom from apprehension of any kind, a fertile soil, liberal institutions, self-government, and freedom from the grievances of older countries, and enjoying a term of unusual prosperity it was meet that a day should be set apart for returning thanks to the Great Giver of such abundant favors to creatures undeserving, and very often forgetful of the Giver. It is true that every day should be a thanksgiving day, yet we favor a special day, as a day of national recognition of that Being who gives freely or can withhold at pleasure. It is also a day for acknowledging that we receive our daily supplies from God—not from or dependent on the will of a political party who may chance from time to time to gain the public ear. Let us remember that it is the Lord that crowneth the year with plenty.

Editorial Notes.

It has been decided that the Ontario Government has no power to pass laws imposing labor as a penalty.

Mr. T. P. O'Connor, M.P. for Galway, the delegate of the Irish Land League, who is now in the United States, will visit Canada about the end of November.

It is now said that Mr. Girouard, M. P., has accepted the vacant Montreal judgeship, leaving his constituency, Jacques Cartier, without a representative.

The gambling in wheat in Chicago has caused such a derangement in trade and heavy losses, that Judge Jamieson, in charging a grand jury last week, said special legislation must be had to stop the practice.

The free-thinkers of Toronto are keeping up the excitement about the seizure of Paine and Voltaire's works by the Custom House. According to the World, as much as $1,000 has been subscribed by them to aid in the publication in Canada of the two prohibited works.

The farmers of Sophiasburgh, Ontario, are turning their attention to the growth of amber cane. Two hundred tons have been grown this season, and the syrup sells for 75c. a gallon, yielding a large profit. The seed makes excellent feed for stock.

The prospectus of the Canadian North-west Land Company has been issued in London. It has a capital of $1,000,000, and has secured 2,000,000 acres of land from the Syndicate. The company has taken offices in Lombard-st., and intends to enter the colonization field with vigor.

The London Advertiser regrets that a great deal of the progress of Manitoba is at the expense of Ontario. "Our tax-"paying and wealth-producing popula-"tion is diminished, while our burdens "remain the same, and these have to be "borne by those who stick to the pro-"vince."

The extent of Canada's territory, the variability of her temperature, and the enviable position of Ontario, can be judged from the fact that, while we are having charming Indian summer, there have been heavy falls of snow in Winnipeg, Man., Quebec City, and in New Brunswick.

An event of some note in the social history of Canada is the admission this year of no less than eight young ladies to the study of medicine at Queen's College, Kingston. We do not think the relative fitness of men and women for the profession of medicine needs to be a preliminary note to the question whether they shall be admitted to the study. If they get a fair trial that question will settle itself.

The Ottawa Free Press fittingly rebukes those of its contemporaries which have been attributing the continued absence of the Princess Louise from Canada to every cause but the true one, namely, the delicate state of her health, caused by the effects of the runaway accident at Ottawa. It says the physicians advised against the voyage under present circumstances, and that it was necessary for the Queen to intervene to prevent the Princess from acting against their advice.

The remarks made by Professor Wilson in reference to the subject of higher education for women have been well received by the public. Professor Wilson suggests that a college should be erected for ladies, so that they would not be handicapped as they are now. He does not approve of co-education. The Minister of Education might very profitably give some attention to the subject of higher education for the young ladies of the Province. At no time has public opinion been stronger than it is now in favour of the gentler sex being given fair play in the matter of higher education.

The war between Vanderbilt and the Grand Trunk railway has become fiercer than ever, and a policy of absolute non-intercourse has been inaugurated. No tickets are issued by the Vanderbilt lines to Grand Trunk points and vice versa, and the through Pullman car from Chicago to Montreal has been taken off the Michigan Central, and now runs by way of the C. & G. T. It is understood the Grand Trunk intends making additional reductions to all points on the rival lines, and is improving its connections with the Erie at Buffao, so as to perfect its through route to New York. A uniform rate of $5 from Chicago to all eastern points will probably be made. The fight promises to be long and bitter, and the public will enjoy the benefits in cheaper travelling than they ever had before.

Bradstreet supplies an estimate of the Canadian wheat crop for 1881. The returns embrace 80 % of the wheat growing counties in Ontario. Quebec and Manitoba. The surpluses of Canadian wheat for this year and the three years preceding are approximated as follows:

CANADIAN WHEAT IN EXCESS OF HOME CONSUMPTION.

	No. of bush.
1878	3,587,000
1879	3,998,000
1880	6,586,000
1881	7,000,000

The returns from Manitoba point to a wheat acreage there of 100,000 acres, yielding, in round numbers, 3,000,000 bushels of wheat. This amount, added to the yield of Quebec and Ontario, gives 28,000,000 bushels as the wheat crop for the Canadian Dominion for 1881. The report comes to these conclusions:

It also appears that spring wheat has not been extensively sown this year, and that fall wheat was very generally substituted for it. Generalizing, nearly one half of the reports place winter wheat above the average crop, while only 8 per cent. of the returns make it under the average. Regarding spring wheat, the small amount sown shows a yield averaging high, and a harvest gathered under favorable conditions. Altogether, the present wheat crop of Canada has never been surpassed in quality or quantity. The good harvest is apparently not due to extended planting, as the acreage in the two sections have not been materially increased.

CURE FOR A KICKING COW.

Take a piece of wire long enough to pass around the lower jaw, and fasten it together at the ends, so that it can be easily slipped on and off the jaw. To prevent her throwing it out, pass a strap with a buckle through the wire and over the neck and buckle it. Tie into the wire a rope long enough to reach back to the milker's knees, and when the cow gives signs of an intention to kick, give the rope a sudden jerk, which will at once turn her attention from her udder to her jaw, and she will actually forget to kick. This works like a charm, when all appliances in rear of the cow fail.

WHITEWASH THE STABLES.

A healthful mode of cleaning the stables and sheds is to give them a coating of limewash applied hot. A quantity of the wash may be made by slacking a bushel of lime in a tight pork barrel. Only enough hot water should be used to make a thick paste. After the lime is slaked fill the barrel with water, and after standing for a few hours apply the contents to the stables. A small force pump can be used to advantage for this work, but if not at hand a whitewash brush must be freely employed. There is no danger of using too much, and no great care to keep the wash from the floor need be exercised. Dash it on, especially in the corners.

HOW THE APOSTLES DIED.

Simon was crucified.

John died a natural death.

Matthew was killed by a halbert.

Thaddeus was cruelly put to death.

Paul was beheaded by order of Ninon.

Judas Iscariot fell and his bowels gushed out.

Philip was bound and hanged against a pillar.

James the Great was beheaded by order of Herod of Jerusalem.

Barth olmew was flayed to death by command of a barbarous king.

Peter was crucified at Rome and at his own request with his head downward.

James the less was thrown from a high pinnacle, then stoned, and finally killed with a fuller's club.

Thomas, while at prayer, was shot with a shower of lances, and afterward run through the body with a lance.

The manner of Matthias death is uncertain. One says he was stoned, then beheaded; another says he was crucified.

Andrew was crucified by being bound to a cross with cords, on which he hung two days, exhorting the people until he expired.

"You are new one," said the minister to a happy pair he had just tied together with a knot they could never undo. "Which one?" asked the bride. "You will have to settle that yourselves," said the clergyman.

FATTENING TURKEYS ON TIME.

One who has had considerable experience with poultry writes:—

We never had any luck trying to fatten turkeys until this season. We used to give them all the corn they would eat, putting it out on the ground in a pile where they could help themselves. The trouble was they wouldn't eat, but would go around day after day, picking frost-bitten grass, and walk around the heaps of corn without touching it, as though they had a suspicion that Thanksgiving was coming. We thought we would try if possible to get the last lot of turkeys fat, and so we inquired off everybody, and at last found a farmer who fattened about one hundred annually. His practice was to shut them up about two weeks before he wanted to market them, and to feed them cornmeal mixed with water. We confined ours in a box stall, and gave them a fresh supply of corn meal daily, with clean water for drink. At the end of two weeks they were plump and fat, but not being ready to dispose of them they were kept a week longer, when one of them was found dead. We were satisfied that there was no disease among them, and that this one had died from excessive fatness, or paralysis which had been caused by its plethoric condition. We had the turkeys immediately killed, and found that they were, if anything too fat. Hereafter we expect to fit our turkeys for killing without failure, but we are satisfied that they should not be confined longer than two weeks. Turkeys will not bare confinement for any length of time, as it is their nature to roam around and take a great deal of exercise, and when deprived of it they will not do well. I recollect, when a boy, shutting up a large gobbler in a hogshead into which a little light came at the bottom. Through this opening corn and water were given. This turkey became very fat. Some people fatten them by the cramming process, that is, by opening their beaks and forcing pellets of cornmeal down the throat several times a day until they are gorged. In this way they can be fatted in a few days. Of course this system is impracticable for a large number, and is an unnatural way to put them in good condition.

HOW IT PAYS TO TAKE A NEWSPAPER.—Some one who has had experience gives his ideas of the advantages to be derived from taking a paper in the following enthusiastic strain:—Some papers are not of much account as to appearance, but I never took one that did not pay me, in some way, more than I paid for it. One time an old friend started a little paper in Brant County and sent it to me, and I subscribed just to encourage him, and after a while it published a notice that an administrator had an order to sell several lots at public outcry, and one of the lots was in my county. So I enquired about the lot, and wrote to my friend to attend the sale and run it up to fifty dollars. He did so, and bid me off the lot for thirty dollars; and I sold it in a month, to a man it joined for a hundred, and so I made sixty-eight dollars clear by taking that paper. My father told me that when he was a young man he saw a notice in a paper that a school teacher was wanted away off in a distant county, and he went there and got the situation, and a little girl was sent to him, and after a while she grew up mighty sweet and pretty, and he fell in love with her and married her—now, if he hadn't taken that paper, what do you reckon would have become of me? Wouldn't I have been some other fellow, or may be not at all.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER

Has been in constant use by the public for over twenty years, and is the best preparation ever invented for RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS YOUTHFUL COLOR AND LIFE.

It supplies the natural food and color to the hair glands without staining the skin. It will increase and thicken the growth of the hair, prevent its blanching and falling off, and thus AVERT BALDNESS.

It cures Itching, Eruptions and Dandruff. As a HAIR DRESSING it is very desirable, giving the hair a silken softness which all admire. It keeps the head clean, sweet and healthy.

The State Assayer and Chemist of Mass. and leading Physicians endorse and recommend it as a great triumph in medicine.

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE FOR THE WHISKERS

will change the beard to a BROWN or BLACK at discretion. Being in one preparation it is easily applied, and produces a permanent color that will not wash off.

Manhattan Feed!

—FOR—

HORSES, CATTLE, MILCH COWS, SHEEP AND PIGS.

IT is a source of health, because it keeps the organs in a natural healty tone. It acts as a relish, promotes perfect digestion, and purifies the blood, thereby keeping the coat in a free and glossy condition. TRY IT! BUY IT!

READ THESE RECOMMENDATIONS:

Toronto, March 4th, 1881.

We have used the "Manhattan Feed" for six weeks, reducing our oats one-quarter and using no bran. We have ordered more, considering the system of feeding a good one, having saved about $16 per month on the feed of 12 horses, their condition being fully kept up.

MESSRS R. W. SMITH & Co., MONTREAL:

Gentlemen,—We have used the Manhattan Feed this winter with our horses, one of which we have hitherto found it difficult to keep fat;—but since using your feed he has picked up and become remarkably well conditioned, so much so that it has been the remark of the townspeople how well our horses looked. Apart from this, we find that we are not obliged to feed as many oats as before; and have great pleasure in recommending its general use.

Yours etc., GEO. LABATT,
Manager P. B. & M. Co.

Peterboro, Jan. 4th, 1881.

Messrs Taylor & McDonald, Agents.—Dear Sirs:—The Manhattan Feed bought from you has not only done all you guaranteed for it, but much more. Before feeding it to our hens we were only getting on an average two eggs per week from each hen, now we average five to six. The difference it has made in our sheep one would have to see in order to credit. I would advise all interested in getting their cattle in good condition to get a bag. It has more than paid me its cost twice over.

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, OCT. 27th, 1881.

The Midland Railway and the Grain Trade.

When the extension of the Midland Railway was first spoken of many persons shook their heads and prophesied heavy loss to the Company, as the expenses of construction and loss in running would be a dead weight on the earnings of the southern portion of the road. At present, however, all fears may be dashed to the wind. The traffic on the road, under the management of Mr. Cox, is becoming something enormous. All the rolling stock of the Company is taxed to its utmost to move the common trade of the road. Already the new elevator at Midland is about full, and ten vessels laden with wheat from Chicago are on their way thither, and it is said that Mr. Cox has had to advise that no more grain be brought there until what is stored can be removed. In the elevator 250,000 bushels of wheat can be stored—over double what the Collingwood elevator will contain, which is 105,000 bushels. The increasing lumber and grain trade will lead to a great increase in the rolling stock and other accommodations necessary, and to ensure this we understand that Mr. Cox is arranging to have a large addition made to the rolling stock this winter, to be ready for next summer. The experience of this fall's trade necessaitates increasing facilities to get to the front, and we learn that the Company intends making the connection at once between Peterborough and Omemee, thus giving a direct line from the Georgian Bay to Belleville, and providing two outlets for the western trade to reach the great lakes and Montreal. We have reason to believe that the contract to build the Omemee connection will be let in a few weeks and work commenced either this fall or early in the spring. This will also afford a direct line from Peterborough westward, and enable the manufacturers of Peterborough to avail themselves of the trade westward with less cost than they have been able to do hitherto. It will also afford a direct or almost direct outlet to Toronto, and we hope, be so arranged that the expense from here to Port Hope will be saved to Peterborough merchants, at least during the winter season, when the navigation is not available.

With increased rolling stock, the connection with Omemee constructed, increased siding accommodation at Peterborough, and new elevators at Peterborough and Belleville, which, it is the intention of the Company to construct at once, the capabilities of the road will be very great; but, all know that there will be an increasing demand for these, as this is the shortest route to Montreal and the east from the great west and north-west, which are merely in their infancy—and the present trade a mere bagatelle to what it will be in a few years more.

Already Peterborough is under obligations to the present chief manager for the advantages now enjoyed, and we feel assured that unless the people of Peterborough stand in their own light, they will encourage and support him in his efforts to benefit the merchants of this town, while seeking to benefit the Company which he represents. When the line to Omemee is opened, Peterborough will be the proper place for the workshops of the Company. To have these brought here would be a work entailing considerable outlay and loss, a loss which the town of Peterborough should be prepared to divide with the Company—and although this matter was sometime since considered and held to be hopeless unless our people showed more liberality, yet we should not fold our hands in indifference, imagining that these things will come anyway. Those who help themselves are most prosperous, and to do this most effectually and economically, we should be ready to use the most favorable opportunities to that end. It is possible to be penny-wise and pound-foolish, and in withholding to impoverish ourselves. We would like to know what our merchants are doing to secure an increase of population, which means an increased trade and increased prosperity, and there can be no surer way than by offering inducements to concentrate all the workshops of the Midland and Grand Junction railways here. Peterborough should be the centre of an extensive manufacturing trade, in wood and flour, as well as woollens and iron. Mr. P. Hamilton has demonstrated what can be done in the agricultural implement business. Mr. Wm. Hamilton carries on a large business in building machinery. The Auburn Woollen Company is doing a prosperous business in their lines, and their is nothing to prevent the most extensive flour mills from being erected here except the difficulty of storing grain for the summer business, or of getting it by the cheapest route from the west. We have several large establishments already—capable of manufacturing several thousands barrels weekly—but we have room and water for ten times their number, as our water power is unrivalled in the Dominion. But why should we not have extensive manufactories of wooden-ware of all kinds? We are in the centre of timber supplies, and only require enterprise to make our town a great manufacturing centre. As soon as the Omemee connection is completed every accommodation for handling grain, lumber, agricultural implements and machinery will be available; we will have direct communication eastward, westward and northward, and a railway manager ready to give every possible accommodation to those requiring it. But what may we expect if we will put forth no effort to help ourselves? We may just as well return to the old-fashioned lumber waggons and ox carts, unless we are determined to use the opportunities now soon available. Let some of our croaking citizens visit the Otonabee Mills, and see what enterprise and will can do. Mr. G. C. Rogers has made improvements that enable him to handle all kinds of grain with the greatest ease. Mr. Cox has placed sidings right up to the Mills, so that loading or unloading a car of grain only occupies some twenty minutes. By the mere turning of a crank any kind of grain can be received or delivered and stored or shipped at will, thus reducing expenses to a minimum, and enabling the merchant to reap the utmost profit that can be realized, instead of paying it away for labor, at the same time he is able to employ more labor in an ever increasing business. Mr. Cox has also put sidings into the lumber yards of the Dickson Estate and of J. Z. Rogers lessening their expenses in shipping their lumber, and what he is doing for those referred to he will be but too glad to do for other gentlemen of enterprise, as this is a certain way to draw business to his own roads. What is now wanted is well-directed enterprise, as just now capital is available on very easy terms—at least enough to assist any industry that has a live manager at its head.

The State of Ireland.

Readers of Irish History are not apt to grow very much alarmed over the present condition of matters in the "Green old Isle." The British Government, whose hands are absolutely free from complications in any part of the world, are perfectly able to repress any uprising, however extensive, and, therefore, nothing worse than agrarian murders are likely to be attempted. To shoot at men from behind a hedge is a singular method of carrying on war against a powerful Government, but it is hardly likely to be very effective in securing Irish Independence. That the landlord system has inflicted great wrongs on the peasantry in the past is beyond all doubt. The population was dense, and the system of tenure was not calculated to encourage improvements in methods of agriculture or the reclamation of waste land. In too many cases the tenant was so hopelessly behind in his rent that no matter what his surplus might be in any one year he could not get out of the landlord's clutches, and was liable to be evicted at any time. This was a condition of affairs calling for a remedy and a remedy has been provided by the Imperial Parliament in the Gladstone Land Bill. That bill not only secure the tenant in his holding so long as he pays his rent, but secures him in absolute possession of the value of whatever permanent improvements he makes on his farm. It also provides a new court for the settlement of "fair rent," in cases which are appealed to it, and the cost of appealing has been put down to the smallest possible figure.

One would think that if the discontent in Ireland were purely agrarian it would soon disappear under the wise operation of such a law, and we are glad to note signs of such an outcome. The leading members of the Land League have been imprisoned under the Coercion Act, and the League itself has been suppressed The justification for these proceedings lies in the fact that the League was engaged in the work of intimidating tenants who intended to appeal to the Land Court for a reduction of rent. The fear of the agitators apparently was that if they got it the Act would become popular and their occupation would be gone. Or, perhaps the ultimate object of some of them was not the improvement of the tenants position, but the political independence of Ireland which they hoped to gain by means of the land question. On either view the Gladstone Government is to be congratulated on the present favourable outlook, and so are the tenants who are beginning to flock to the new court for relief.

Our Clubbing Rates.

We wish to call the attention of our readers and the public generally, to the following very favorable Club rates which The Examiner is offering for 1882. For full Club rates see small bills.

A Good Opportunity.

We have arranged with the publishers in such a way as enables us to offer the Weekly Star, of Montreal, and The Examiner, for the small sum of $2.25. The Weekly Star, of Montreal, is almost too well known to need any notice at our hands. It has reached the enormous circulation of 60,000 a week, and is recognised as a great paper. Those who have not seen it will find sample copies at this office, and those who want to avail themselves of this opportunity to get the two papers at a low figure should send us $2.25 at once.

As will be seen by a notice in another column, arrangements are being made for the consolidation of the Midland Railway of Canada, the Toronto & Ottawa R. R., the Toronto & Nipissing R. R., the Grand Junction and the Whitby, Port Perry & Lindsay Railways into one company under the name of the Midland Railway of Canada. Want of space prevents us from referring more fully to the scheme.

The Baptists of the Province have reason to be proud of the fine new College opened under their auspices in Toronto on Wednesday last. It promises to be a great benefit to the denomination, and a power for good in the land. Hon. Wm. McMaster donated the building and site, and the adherents of the body provided the endowment.

The Midland Railway contemplate the ilding of a tramway from Coldwater to illsdale.

The Great Western Railway Company's lf-yearly report announces receipts to e amount of £470,000, and a surplus of 5,000. The half-yearly dividend is 5 r cent. on preference, and 1½ per cent. ordinary stock.

The Boboaygeon Independent says:—At e conclusion of the business at a recent sion of the Council of that village, ose present at the invitation of the eve, had an informal discussion on ilway matters. The Reeve explained at in the course of a recent conversation th Mr. Davis, that gentleman had ntioned that Mr. Cox, President of the idland Railway, had casually told him at if the people would vote the same unsee they had voted before, he could ild the line. Acting on this know-dge, Mr. Howson had written Mr. Cox, o in reply proposed that if the muni-palities would buy the right of way, and de the track, he would complete and the line. Mr. Howson, said he had, far, acted on his own responsibility, t he wished now to be advised by some the citizens. The idea was favourably tertained, and the Reeve asked to con-ue the correspondence, and report on rther developments.

SPRINGVILLE

From our own Correspondent.

CHURCH MATTERS.—After public worship on Thanksgiving day, at Springville, a congregational meeting was held in the new church. Reports were received from the Building Committee and from the Committee entrusted with the management of the general affairs of the congregation. Parties were appointed to audit the accounts, and instructed to report at an adjourned congregational meeting to be held on the 22nd November, at 2 o'clock, in the afternoon. A subscription list was opened, to remove the debt on the church. The contributions ranged from $20 down to $2. Sufficient was not only subscribed, but actually paid, on the spot, to wipe out the entire indebtedness. It was evident from the way in which the bills accumulated on the table that the congregation had come to the meeting prepared to do business. The collection at the conclusion of the thanksgiving service amounted to $18.60. This contribution has been appropriated to the Home Mission Scheme of the church. Liberty was given, with only one dissenting voice, to use the organ, in the conducting of the service of praise in the congregation. Many said on leaving the church, "We never had such a nice congregational meeting." The meeting was presided over by the pastor, Mr. Bennett—Mr. Hugh Waddell, acting as Secretary. The allocation of the pews in the new church is a matter still in the future.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.—In this changeable climate of ours, every one should remember that Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry has proven itself to be a positive cure for consumption, asthma, bronchitis, and all lung diseases. It has saved the lives of many even after all hope had fled. Many of our most intelligent families would as soon be without woollen clothing in winter, as to not have Wistar's Balsam always on hand, for it never fails to immediately relieve all soreness of throat and lungs. A single dose taken at bed time will greatly warm the blood, cause refreshing slumber, and by morning an ordinary cough or cold will be gone. Ask your druggist and your friends concerning the merit of Wistar's Balsam, and be wise. 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by dealers generally.

Peterborough Markets.

PETERBOROUGH, Oct. 25th, 1881.

Receipts of grain during the past ten days has been light, owing to bad roads and wet weather, farmers being also busy ploughing. Wheat dropped for a day or so to $1.25 and $1.26, but has again recovered, selling at $1.28 to $1.30 for spring, and about $1.28 to $1.29 for fall. Barley receipts have again increased, the price continuing firm and steady. Dark barley brings 60c. to 75c., and bright 80c. to 85c.; for grade as high as 90c is being paid. Rye is a little lower, bringing 85c. to 90c. Peas sell at 70c.—few offering, but in demand. Oats are scarce and would bring 35c. to 40c. On the Market keg butter is rather flat, the top price being 20c. for firm, and other grades selling down to 15c. A good deal of the butter is poor. Fresh butter sells from 21c. to 24c., but is rather slow. Eggs are scarce—selling from 17c. to 18c. Poultry is plentiful and slow in sale. Geese sell from 40c. to 50c.; Turkeys, 60c. to 80c.; Chickens from 30c. to 40c. Apples are in good demand and firm. Poor qualities 30c. to 40c. per bag; choice 75c. to $1.00. Lamb is plentiful, bringing 7 to 8 cents. Pork by the quarter, 6 to 10 cents; in the hog, about $3.00.

CIRCULAR!

While it is pleasing to the Business Man to know that his efforts to satisfy the public are being appreciated, it can be no less satisfactory to the citizens of any locality to know that among their merchants are those whose goods have not only a local fame but are sought for by those in other parts. The advantage of this is two-fold. Not only does it direct trade from a distance and build up the reputation of the place, but it has the advantage of assisting the artizan and workman in thus bringing both labor and money among them which otherwise would be spent elsewhere.

Peterborough, we are proud to say, has many such business men in her midst, some of them old established houses and others of comparatively younger years. In the latter may be classed Mr. Johnston Carey, a gentleman who but a little over seven months ago cast his fortune among the residents of Peterborough, succeeding Mr. W. J. Larmour in the manufacture of Boots and Shoes. That he is establishing a reputation for satisfactory fulfilment of orders may be judged from the following letter, one among the many which he is constantly receiving. It speaks for itself and needs no explanation:—

LINDSAY, Oct. 13, 1881.

MR. J. CAREY, Peterboro'.

DEAR SIR.—I send you a pair of shoes for repairs. Will you kindly re-sole and heel them with the best of material? Sew the half-soles. I am very much pleased with the lace boots and feel like ordering another pair like them, but I can hardly afford it. Please put these boots in hand at once, as I may call for them to-morrow evening. Make a good job of them for sure and leave bill ready. What was cost of lace boots?

THE GIRL FROM BORDEAUX.

There was a young girl from Bordeaux,
With corns on her little pink toeux,
They gave her such pain
The tears ran like rain
Down the bridge of her delicate noeux.

Her lover,—a youth from Cologne—
Tried writing and let her alogne,
When he found that her feet
With corns were replete
With never a word he had togne.

They sent for a doctor from Lynn,
As shining and neat as a pynn,
He looked at her toeux,
The scores of her woeux,
And indulged in a gratified tynn.

He prescribed for this maid from Bordeaux,
And cured all her little pink toeux;
And now it is said
They two will be wed
And from sorrow and grief find repeaux.

The sweet-scented youth from Cologne,
Who left her severely alogne,
When he first heard the news
His mind he did lown,
And fleed from life with a grogne.

Norwood School Troubles.

SARGENT vs. NORWOOD SCHOOL BOARD.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—I perceive that Mr. Wm. Sargent—who made such strenuous efforts to attain to the proud distinction of "Bully" Sargent, "takin' patthern afther," and "gradmatin'" in the steps of his "dralint gossoon"; the man who fondly, by his own expose in your issues of 15th and 22nd Sept., would have ridden rough-shod over the heads of the Teacher, the Board, the Inspector, the Minister of Education, and every one else, but who was so deservedly and completely checkmated in all his fancy moves—has had another relapse of his over-worked brain, and is again belaboring us with his pitiful story of wrongs. This man's case has been an eminently bad one all through, and it is with a feeling of sadness and regret we are forced to the conclusion that some of the marks on his lad's back were made by Wm. Sargent, the father himself, or by some else with his approval, for the ulterior object of making out if possible a case against the master.

The teacher swears most positively and emphatically—"The marks sworn to by Wm. Sargent, James Radden and Dr. Massie could not have been made by me. I never struck the boy on the right shoulder at all." And again, "The blows given by me were not severe." The saddest feature in this business is, that here is a man by his own shewing, who is prepared to go any length to gratify his malice. The whole business on the part of Wm. Sargent and his amiable son—Billingsate again—has been a wretched affair, and it has well served to bring them out, and display them to the public in a blaze of unenviable glory. But if the ineffable brilliancy and supernal radiance which emblazons the Sargents serves as a beacon to warn and restrain any who might be inclined in "our Canada" to beat against the same rock, and if possible to do some roughriding over every one, for the encouragement and gratification of an unruly and insubordinate son, then this farce of the Sargents will not have been enacted in vain. Your subscribers are doubtless now contemplating the untold agonies I am undergoing for "descending" in such an "ungentlemanly" manner to the vile Billingsgate of "promising shoot," "old 'un," "young 'un," and "dishing some more savory meat," and I would venture to hope they will all heartily pity the wretch who is now suffering "the retributive justice of a discerning public, which in the long run metes out to a man or writer his just deserts."

Now, speaking of "long runs," Mr. Sargent, yours ranks among one of the very longest on record, and it, even now, would take one of the prophets to predict with any sort of certainty at all, when the "run" you are on is likely to terminate. But some of your "just deserts" are things of the past, you had them long since. You know you said something in your pitiful tale about "muzzling"; but, my dear boy, try to take it gently. You had to be "muzzled." The thing was imperative. Could you have had your own lovely way you would have annihilated us all. And then—oh! then you would have played such pranks as "would make e'en the angels weep."

Again you say, "One thing I am sure of, and that is he is a very young man, or, if old in years, a very young and inexperienced writer." Now, people oftimes say there is only one thing we can at all make sure of, and that is death; but apparently with you many things can be made a dead certainty. Some people think I am an old and experienced writer, but that is all a matter of taste. Evidently you don't think so. But I would feel very bad indeed, were you to alter your mind and "censure" me, so I trust being such a mighty man you will be also merciful. There is one thing, however, I can give you reliable information on, viz.:—In years I am not too young nor yet too old, but just about the age to a nicety to know where the shoe pinches in your case.

You can scarcely imagine how refreshing it is for people to think that you "cannot believe that any of our teachers would be guilty of violating their good taste," or saying a solitary word against such a model man as you are. Oh! dear, no; the teachers are all in love with you, considering "the injustice that was quietly going to be inflicted on you and your family."

You are an excellent builder, but it is a great pity the whole of your foundation should consist of sand. You know what happens to a house built on a sand foundation.

See how graciously you appeal to Mr. Editor,—"Now do you not think, Mr. Editor, that a just and impartial teacher would have called up both boys." No, no, Mr. Sargent! nothing of the kind. "I think so!" No doubt you do, but you are William Sargent, remember.

The quick judgment of the master discerns the head and fount of the trouble, young Sargent "pinching Hetherington." Now, "pinching" provokes retaliation, so the teacher with excellent judgment adopts the just and proper method of punishing the originator of the trouble, well-knowing that Hetherington will not require to do the "kicking" when deprived of the luxury of the "pinching."

"At the time of this fracas my son was sixteen years of age"—Poor dear, so young and yet so good. "A lamb at home, a lion in the school"—"and the simple fact that he alone"—who was the primary cause and originator of all the trouble—"should be called up and"—only think of it!—"questioned and scolded by the teacher," while Hetherington, who endeavored to defend himself from the "pinching," "went scot free." "Twas too much," and was it not "sufficient to rouse rebellious feelings in the heart of any one."

And now comes the great secret, as told by Wm. Sargent, himself. "There lies the kernel of the whole matter." Happy conclusion! If William Sargent could only manage to drop the blinding veil from his enshrouded eyes, he would see, with clearness unmistakable, that "the kernel of the whole matter" lay in the "pinching of Hetherington."

And now, on account of the foregoing "partiality and injustice of the teacher," in having the audacity to "call up" and "question" the originator and sole cause of the trouble, this innocent—"smarting under the injustice of the teacher," (save the mark,) "and feeling the undeservedness of his position," (good angels shield us)—prefers disobedience to his master, and the shewing of a bad example to the school, in addition to the "pinching of Hetherington." He was quickly graduating, we see, and becoming a promising candidate for W. H. Howland's school.

But we find further, he was ordered to "stand on the floor," which order "he obeyed." Astonishing! He knew well he had to go if he didn't; and here we have a sample of his 'cuteness. "Hetherington got no such order." It was quiet unnecessary, and well the master knew it.

This innocent lad, although he had received so much punishment for his beautiful example and disobedience, had further received an order to remain after school. Cruel injustice! "He obeyed that order." What a shining star of meekness and beauty. "Hetherington was not kept in." Decidedly not, if he was it would have proved the incapacity of this teacher, who has shewn himself to be possessed of an excellent judgment in going straight to the cause and originator of the trouble. "He obeyed the order and told all." Wonderful! What was that "all"? That he caused the whole of the disturbance.

But it was after "considerable coaxing" this lad could be led to acknowledge the truth, and to admit "he had been striking Wm. Hetherington." We now see this innocent got from "pinching" to "striking."

The master now "proposed the punishment." Oh, no! Weldon, the lamb, did not want any of that. He wanted the "pinching," "striking," and disobedience to his teacher, but none of that. "I put them in my pockets." "I kept buttoning it up as fast as I could."

"But from the School Board to the Inspector, from the Inspector to the Judge, investigation has been muzzled." What a sad contemplation! While we are somewhat sorry that every one, by Sargent's doleful tale, was against him, we hope, now that he has got such a well-merited reception everywhere, he will endeavor to look at things occasionally through other people's glasses, if he can conveniently borrow them.

"Were you to visit from the Teacher to the Judge, they would all answer, 'These hands are clean!'"

Alas! 'twas vain, he could not gain—
From Teacher to the Judge
A mother's soul his hands to stain
With his malicious grudge.
But all, with one accord, cried out,
"Oh, you're a spiteful elf!
Get up and git,' and see about
This dirty work yourself."

When the vocabulary is again referred to, I shudder to think how this letter will abound in "Billingsate," and how I will again be left to "the retributive justice of a discerning public."

And now, I hope you will pardon me, Mr. Editor, for the unusual length of this letter. The only excuse I can at all plead, is the good example of William Sargent in the ordinary length of his periodical literary productions.

READER.

Norwood, Oct. 12th, 1881.

To The Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—In your issue of 15th of Sept., I noticed a verbose and lengthy account of what has been called the "Norwood School Trouble." My astonishment could not have been exceeded, on discovering that the writer of this article was the veritable Mr. Sargent—himself. Nothing could possibly have better shown up the utter weakness of his case, than his own simple statement of it; nor could the true character of his son have been presented in a clearer light, than it was by his own evidence. No one would listen favorably to Mr. Sargent's subsequent appeal; for such a tale as he would unfold, judging from his exposition to the public, of fancied or purposely misnamed wrongs, without a single redeeming trait, would be sure to excite feelings diametrically opposed to those of sympathy. I much admire the generous conduct of the teacher, in so far, that, notwithstanding the incitement and opportunity forced upon him by trying circumstances, he nobly scorned to deprive this youthful but warlike sergeant (Sargent) of his stripes: which he could easily have done, by dismissing him from school then and there, and at once applying for his suspension, instead of displaying the forbearance he did, in giving this ungenerous youth an undeserved opportunity of redeeming his position.

I noticed a letter by "Reader," in your issue of 22nd Sept., in which a wholesome and scathing rebuke is administered to the principal actors in this drama, who have been laid so temptingly open to castigation, in every emanation issuing from the prolific if not gifted pen of Mr. Sargent.

How very flattering are his ideas about the morals of teachers. On the one hand he does not think that "any of our teachers would be guilty of such a violation of good taste" as to write what he pleases to designate the "Billingsgate" of "Reader's" letter; and, on the other hand, he has the effrontery to assume that "some of them do feel better, because injustice cannot quietly be inflicted on him and his family." He thinks some teachers would scruple to lay bare and point out emphatically, the transparently rotten condition of the pillars which support his tottering fabrics of imaginary wrongs, for fear of being exposed to the accusation of "violating good taste;" and yet, would unblushingly violate morality by rejoicing at the quiet infliction of injustice. How very complimenting! Undoubtedly Mr. Sargent, in his estimate of teachers, must be shewing us a side of his own character.

"Oh wid some power the giftie gie us,
To see ourselves as ithers see us!"

I should be quite shocked to learn from Mr. S., that his extremely sensitive proboscis had scented out anything savoring of "Billingsgate" in my communication. But I would beg to remind him that the deeds often savor of "Billingsgate;" and that words are not of so much account in point of morality and real gentlemanly qualities, as actual conduct. Now the conduct of Mr. S., all through his notorious business, diffuses an odor of the rankest and most disagreeable nature,—such as cannot have failed to have grievously offended the olfactory nerves of those whose noses were unfortunately brought into too close a proximity with this cess-pool.

A man of the disposition of Mr. S., is the bane of teachers and school-boards, and the enemy of education; and it is very gratifying to know, that school matters are so excellently managed in the Province of Ontario, that a person of so irrepressible and persistent a nature, has met with such strict justice, and impartial treatment, wherever he has appealed.

I am, Sir,
Your obedient Servant,
AMICUS JUSTICIAE.

Lakefield, Oct. 10th, 1881.

THE PIEMAN OF WORMWOOD.

Sing a song of cruel wrong.
Fur jurdice lend that crime—
Four-and-twenty and complaints
Baked into pies.

When the pies were opened
The wrongs began to smell;
Oh, wasn't this unsavory meat
The public paunch to swell!

The son was in the school-house
"A-buttoning up his coat;"
The master hanging on the harns,
Of this unruly goat.

Oh! sing a song of cruel wrong.
And sweetly tune your pipes—
To see a sergeant grumble 'cause
His son had caused his stripes.

The pieman, in his counting-house,
Was counting up his grudge—
Oh, didn't it seem so clear a case
To set before a judge!

The pieman went upon the road,
A-hawking of his pie;
Taupins, Inspector, Minister,
All smelt, but none would buy.

The Judge was in the Court House,
Non-suiting. What a blow!
The lawyers, in their offices,
All crying out, "No go!"

The pieman in his bake-house
Was mixing more pie-crust;
By came a son of "Billingsate"
And made him lick the dust.

The pie-dish flew in splinters,
And, oh! 'tis sad to tell:
The pie was spoiled, his clothes were soiled,
And fearful was the smell!

He squashed the pie-meat basket
Full with his wooden pate.
The wicked cats, that ate the rats,
Escaped their pie-ous fate.

The sergeant now should take advice,
And quickly grounds his arms;
Attend his oats and pigs and goats,
And cease from war's alarms.

SIMPLE SIMON.

Otonabee, Oct. 8th, 1881.

THE PRESERVATION OF GREEN FODDER.

Having a large amount of refuse cabbage leaves, turnip-tops, etc., when we harvested these crops last fall, we tried the experiment of manufacturing some "ensilage," adopting the process used in the manufacture of "sour hay." It consisted simply of closely packing this succulent refuse matter into a pit dug into the ground, and covering it with a layer of earth about two feet in thickness. This pit was opened last April, and the produce was found to be in excellent condition, and was readily, even greedily, eat en by cattle. It had not moulded in the least, but was changed into a dark-brown produce with a strong, sour odor. We were gratified by the success of the experiment, for it showed that by this simple process we could save and turn to good account what would otherwise have been loss.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it; there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, and give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, and pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere at 25 cents a bottle. 6-1y.

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family, handy for use when wanted. "as it really is the the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle. 6-1y

PEOPLE TORMENTED by the many disagreeable sensations produced by dyspepsia, or are thin, nervous and weak, should use the standard tonic—Northrop & Lyman's Quinine Wine. They will find it agreeable and beneficial. It enriches the blood by aiding digestion and assimilation; soothes and invigorates the nervous system, and imparts a healthful appetite. When used as a remedy for bilious and intermittent fever, it produces the happiest results, if taken between the attacks. Convalescence is hastened, and untimely decay of the physique and constitution is arrested by it. The spirituous constituent, sherry wine, is of the best quality, and the aromatics combined with it renders its flavor additionally pleasant. They who use it gain flesh as well as strength and it exerts a cheering influence upon the mind. It promotes a healthy secretion and flow of bile, sound repose and regularity in the action of the bowels. If judiciously used it may be taken without apprehension of any ill result by persons of the most delicate constitution. A fair trial is all that is needed to prove the genuineness of its claims to public confidence, and to the truth of the general verdict in its behalf. No article of its class commends its self so strongly to nervous invalids who require building up—none is so well adapted to fortify the system against the dangers which threaten the debilitated. It should not be mistaken for a mere stimulant of appetite, which so many so-called tonics simply are. It so regulates the stomach that it is enabled to perform its various functions with regularity and vigor, and its action is not only thorough but prompt. Ask for the "Quinine Wine of Northrop & Nyman." Sold by all druggists

NOT THE SLIGHTEST AFFINITY exists between the numberless cough mixtures with which the market is flooded and that successful preparation—Northrop and Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. It stands alone, distinct, itself, and nothing else. It combines the best results of pharmaceutical science. It accomplishes positive, decisive results. effectually relieving coughs when the lungs are not tuberculous or hopelessly affected) colds, laryngitis and diseases of a scrofulous origin. While it does not cure Consumption it is the most reliable means of defence against that dreaded scourge. The invigorating properties of the hypophosphites reimburse the system debilitated by the constant tear and wear of a cough, while the paroxysms rapidly diminish in violence, in consequence of the soothing emollient action of the cod liver oil upon the inflamed lung membrane. The phosphorous, lime and soda, in combination with it are all natural components in the construction of the bodily edifice, which, in a state of decay, lacks a sufficiency of those elements. These the hypophosphites supply, increasing the nutritive properties of the blood, and building up and rehabilitating the tottering human structure with a degree of promptitude as astonishing as it is gratifying to the invalid. A perceptible gain in flesh as well as strength is one of the consequences of using this standard preparation, which both time and experience have demonstrated to be fully worthy of the confidence reposed in it. Prepared by NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto and sold by all druggists.

Petitions to Parliament should be written in a bold, round, open hand, for which purpose Esterbrook's blunt and broad pointed pens are the best. Address the Esterbrook Steel Pen Co., 26 John St., New York, for samples.

We have a good deal more kindness than is ever spoken.

Jacob Lockman, Buffalo, N.Y., says he has been using Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for rheumatism; he had such a lame back he could not do anything, but one bottle has, to use his own expression, "cured him up." He thinks it the best thing in the market.

Better be a nettle in the side of your friend than his echo.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam; a few doses relieves the most distressing cough, and a twenty-five cent bottle has cured many a sufferer from Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup, Influenza, Hoarseness and Soreness of the Chest. It is the grand specific for all throat and lung complaints leading to consumption. 43-2t.

No man is more miserable than he that hath no adversity.

HONESTY.—It is commonly said that you cannot make an honest man believe that white is black and vice versa, but those who have grey hair, by using the "CINGALESE HAIR RENEWER," will find that this apparent difficulty is easily overcome. 50 cents per bottle. 40-4t

An effort made for the happiness of others lifts us above ourselves.

USE THE celebrated "Lardine Oil" on your machinery. Best and cheapest oil in the market. Does not clog or gum. Has good heavy body and will not thin in summer. Sold in Peterborough by Messrs. McKee & Davidson; and in Lakefield by W. H. Casement. Try it and you will use no other. 25-52t

Half the ills we hoard in our hearts are ills because we hoard them.

In cases of Chronic disease which doctors have failed to cure, Burdock Blood Bitters has achieved its greatest triumph. All diseases of the Blood, Liver and Kidneys, Scrofula, Dyspepsia, Nervous Debility, Rheumatism, Piles, Female Complaints and all forms of lost Vitality are promptly cured by this great renovating Tonic. Trial Bottles only cost 10 cents. 43-2ins.

All up hill work when we would do; all downward work when we suffer.

Ample warning is given us by our lungs when they are in danger. If foolhardy enough to neglect the warning signal, we incur imminent peril. Check a cough at the outset with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—which is a sovereign pulmonic—besides being a remedy for soreness, lameness, abrasions of the skin, tumors, piles, rheumatism, etc.

Sow good services; sweet remembrances will grow from them.

FREE OF COST. All persons wishing to test the merits of the great remedy—one that will positively cure Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, or any affection of the Throat and Lungs—are requested to call at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store and get a Trial Bottle of Dr. King's New discovery for Consumption, free of cost, which will show you what a regular dollar-size bottle will do.

Good horses are like good apple-trees—they propagate after their kind.

That marvelous purifier, Burdock Blood Bitters, will speedily change the sallow face to one of freshness, health and beauty. It regulates the Bowels, acts promptly on the Liver and Kidneys and strengthens the system when broken down by Nervous or General Debility. Ask your Druggist for a Trial Bottle, the cost is only 10 cents. Large Bottles $1. 43-2t.

One-half of the world must sweat and groan that the other half may dream.

"Hail beauteous, bounteous, gladsome Spring"—this was Mark Twain's prize poem—but the dire diseases incident to Spring, spoil the romance. Burdock Blood Bitters is the prize remedy, the remedy prized by all who have tried it as the best Blood Purifying Tonic and System Regulator in the market. It cures all Blood Humors from the worst Scrofula to a common Pimple. Sample Bottle 10 cents, for sale by all dealers in medicine. 43-2t.

Labor is the divine law of our exirtence; repose is desertion and suicide.

HEADACHE.—Why become a suffering martyr to Headache, when Burdock Blood Bitters will surely cure the cause of all varieties of either Sick or Nervous Headache, cleanse the System, regulate the Secretions, relieve Constipation of the Bowels, purify the Blood, renovate the Liver and tone up the Nervous System, and distressing headache will be unknown? Sample Bottles 10 cents, Large Bottles $1.00. 43-2t.

Slumber not in the tents of your fathers. The world is moving. Advance with it.

Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is composed of the most healing balsams and gums. The Balsams, which enter into its composition, were used by the natives when America was first discovered, and are combined with other vegetable tonics, so blended together, that it is a specific for all affections of throat and lungs. Thousands of bottles are used annually, and it is considered one of the standard preparations of the day. 43-2ins.

FARMERS AND MECHANICS, if you wish to avoid great danger and trouble, besides a no small bill of expense, at this season of the year, you should take prompt steps to keep disease from your household. Thes system should be cleansed, blood purified, stomach and bowels regulated, and prevent and cure diseases arising from Spring malaria. We know of nothing that will so perfectly and surely do this as Electric Ritters, and at the trifling cost of fifty cents a bottle.—Ecch.—Agents—Taylor & Macdonald.

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes of adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

MANHOOD

How Lost! How Restored!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

MUNRO & ALEXANDER

Local News Record.

RECOVERING.—The many friends of the Rev. Mr. Workman will be pleased to learn that he is recovering from a serious illness.

CHANCERY SALE.—At the Chancery sale of the Leahy farms, on Saturday last, the entire property consisting of 220 acres was disposed of to Mr. A. P. Poussette for $6,150.

Boys Tweed Suits are being sold by I. Robinson & Co. for $3 and upwards, and men's good all wool suits for $8.00 and upwards. 10-tf

SUPPER TO EMPLOYEES.—Mr. H. W. Watson, on Wednesday evening last, gave his employees a complimentary oyster supper at A. P. Morgan's Hotel. The spread was in "Powies" best style, and a very pleasant evening was spent.

HYMENEAL.—Mr. H. S. Macdonald, of the firm of Taylor & Macdonald, was married in Montreal on Monday, 17th instant, to Miss Annie, second daughter of W. D. McLaren, Esq., of that city. Mr. and Mrs. Macdonald arrived home on Monday. We extend congratulations.

STREET CROSSING.—There are several crossings in the western and less central part of the town, which have gradually wasted away into invisible nothingness. The Street Inspector should attend to this matter. The expense of renewing is small and in this muddy weather the convenience is great.

ROCK ISLAND BOOTS.—Messrs. R. Stenson & Son have just received several cases of Rock Island Boots, which are marked down to bottom prices. Full stock in all other departments, selling extremely cheap. Call and see for yourself. 36-tf.

LETTER BOXES.—The recommendation of the Post Office Inspector to have four letter boxes placed in the town has been accepted by the Department, and the boxes are now shipped for this place. The Inspector will be here in a few days to see to their placing.

BEFORE YOU BUY your Fall or Winter Suits, Overcoats, Tweed or Fulled Cloth Pants, Rubber Coats or Underclothing, Tweeds, Fulled Cloths or Flannels by the yard, call and see the splendid assortment offered at the lowest figures by W. J. Wallace, Lakefield. 39-6 ins.

LITERARY AND DEBATING SOCIETY.—The Annual Meeting of this Society will be held to-morrow evening (7.30), in the Law Library, Mechanics Institute. Members will please attend without further notice. Those desiring to join the Society can leave their names with members of the Association for proposal.

TO STAMMERERS.—The stammerer's friend will be in Peterborough the coming week, where he will remain for a few days to treat those who may be troubled with any defects in speech. All are invited to call and consult him. Consultation free. Rich and poor welcomed. No cure no pay. 43-

TU QUOQUE.—Yesterday Mr. Harry Rush, of the firm of Rush & Elliott, of this town, was married to Miss Mary Boskell, of Port Hope. A large circle of their more intimate friends witnessed the ceremony. The newly wedded couple enter into married life under the most auspicious circumstances, and with the well wishes and congratulations of all.

The Toronto Evening Telegram of Monday, chronicling the missionary services in the Methodist churches of that city on Sunday last, says: "Rev. John Shaw, of Peterboro', ex-President of the Conference, preached in the morning at the Sherbourne street Methodist church from II Cor. IV., 7. He discussed the Gospel as a treasure, its place of deposit and the reason for such. A large congregation listened in rapt attention to a most able discourse.

CURLING.—The Intelligencer says that the Belleville Curling Club have taken the necessary steps to secure incorporation and propose to purchase a lot and proceed at once with the erection of a suitable building. Whether to erect a building large enough to accommodate both skaters and curlers has not yet been determined, and will not be until it has been ascertained how much stock would be subscribed.

THE AUTUMN LEAVES have this year been a failure. Although the colors in the leaves are evidently procured by the direct rays of the sun, there is a prevalent idea that frost plays some part in clothing the trees with their ruddy autumn glory. This year's experience seems to favor this view, a long period of warm, often sunny, but somewhat moist weather having apparently ripened the leaves and exhausted their chlorofyl before any serious vicissitudes of temperature occurred.

RESIGNATION.—The many parents concerned, and the members of the School Board learned with regret of the resignation of Miss Maggie Flavelle, who has been teacher in one of the Divisions of our Public School during several years. During the whole period of her engagement, she has been very successful—giving the greatest satisfaction to the Board, to the Inspector and to all the parents whose children were under her management. Her retirement leaves a vacancy regretted by all who knew her amiable disposition and qualifications. Our best wishes accompany her in her retirement.

THE GAME OF DRAUGHTS between R. McLaurin, of Peterborough, and George Fletcher, of the Toronto Draught Club for $40 a side and the Championship of Ontario, came off in Toronto on Thursday last and resulted in the defeat of the Peterborough man—the home man taking the first, second, third, fifth, sixth and seventh—the fourth being a draw. The play lasted five hours.

A MEAN ACT.—On Tuesday evening last some miscreant laid a rail across the road near Bethel Methodist church, as persons were assembling for service. An accident might easily have occurred, as the Rev. E. Barrass' horse and that of Mr. Switzer took fright and leaped off the road. If the mischievous youths are ever caught in the performance of such a mean act again, they will be heard of in another place.

MISSION WORK.—We are informed that Mr. Armstrong, of Nova Scotia, the returned Missionary from India, will speak in the Baptist Church here on Friday, November the 4th, at three o'clock in the afternoon. It is intended that as large a number as possible of those who are directly interested and engaged in Mission Work, should have an opportunity to meet with Mr. Armstrong. Notices have been sent to mission circles at a distance and provision will be made for those desiring to remain at Peterboro all night.

BIBLE CHRISTIAN MISSIONS.—Sermons on behalf of the Bible Christian Missionary Society will be preached in the B. C. Church, Peterborough, on Sunday next at 10.30 a.m., by Rev. E. F. Torrance, and at 6.30 p.m., by Rev. W. Jolliffe. Services will also be held in the B. C. Church, Ashburnham on the same date at the usual hours of service. The annual Missionary meeting will be held in Ashburnham, on the Monday evening following, and in Peterborough on Thursday evening, Nov. 3rd. 43-1t.

HYMENEAL.—Yesterday Mr. E. J. Toker, of the Firm of Toker & Co'y, and one of the proprietors of the Review led to the matrimonial altar Mrs. Georgenia Matthias of this Town, eldest daughter of Mr. W. Kelsey. The ceremony took place in St. Luke's Church and was performed by the Incumbent, Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, assisted by the Rev. V. Clementi. After the magic knot was tied the happy couple drove to Port Hope and took the train for New York. Our warmest congratulations accompany them, hoping that their whole life may be a honey moon, free from care, blessed abundantly, and a happy one.

FLATTERING.—On the occasion of her wedding, Miss Emma Cox was the recipient of many valuable and beautiful gifts. Amongst other presents, the employees of the Midland Railway sent a really elegant solid silver tea service, richly and chastely engraved; the officers of the Company, a handsome silver tea service, and the employees of the insurance and telegraph departments of Mr. Cox's office, a beautiful solid ice pitcher and goblet. Each present was accompanied by a short, though flattering, address, expressive of the esteem in which the recipient was held, and wishing for herself and her husband a bright and happy life.

ANOTHER OLD LANDMARK GONE.—Mr. Robert Darling, of Smith, lately of this town, died on Monday, after a lingering illness, at the age of 83 years. Mr. Darling was a native of Berwickshire, Scotland; came to Canada in 1831, and settled in the Township of Smith. True to the characteristics of Scotchmen he was industrious and economical, and in consequence was able to lay by more than enough for his own support. He did not get married until advanced in years; and consequently leaves no children. Two of his brothers, John and William also settled in Smith. John died some years ago leaving several sons and daughters, who are all in comfortable circumstances. William survives both his brothers. Although the deceased could not have hoped to remain here many years more, having arrived at the age of more than four score, from his habits of life and constitution he might have survived to ninety or one hundred, but that some years ago he received a bruise on the cheek from the springing back of a stick while chopping, which eventually turned to a cancer, from which for about a year he suffered intensely, and to which at last he succumbed. His funeral will take place to-day from his residence, Downey street, north of Wm. Hamilton's foundry.

RAISED TENDERLY.—The editor of the Hastings Star is either very young at the business or has received more attention from public officials generally than any of his brethren of the quill that we know of. In his last issue he says:—

"The Secretary of the East Riding of Peterborough Agricultural Society is not as thoughtful as the gentleman who holds a similar position in East Northumberland. The latter gentleman furnished each of the local papers with a copy of his prize list, while the fact that the prize list of the latter has not appeared in any of the town or local papers is presumptive evidence that this important part of the Secretary's duty in this particular instance has been neglected."

While it is very comfortable for newspaper men to have gentlemen as thoughtful of their interests as the Secretary of the East Northumberland Society appears to be, it is simply ridiculous to charge an official with neglect of duty in not doing what every editor and reporter is supposed to do, and should do, himself. The Keene show was held on Thursday and Friday, and the prize list appeared in both the EXAMINER and Review in their following issues. Certainly the list was not copied for them by the Secretary, but his books were placed at their disposal. The Secretary of East Peterborough, in fact the Secretaries of all the Agricultural Societies in the County, are of the most courteous and obliging disposition, and willing at all times to give any information in their power, but to ask them to do the work for five or six newspapers for the munificent salaries attached to the offices is really nonsense.

FORESTERS.—At the regular meeting of Court Peterboro' No. 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, held on Friday evening last, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term:

Bro. Jas. Byrne	Chief Ranger
" F. J. Jameson	Vice Chief Ranger
" R. W. Wright	Rec. Secretary
" Wm. Strain	Financial Sec'y
" Geo. Kingdon	Treasurer
" F. E. Perry	S. Woodward
" Robt. McWhinnie	J. Woodward
" Jas. Fuller	S. Beadle
" Jas. Duncan	J. Beadle
" Robt. Robertson	Chaplain

The other officers of the Court are:

Bro. H. Nesbitt	D.D.:H.C.R.
" R. King, M.D.	Court Physician
" H. W. Watson	J.P.C.R.

The installation will take place at the next meeting (on the 1st Friday of the month). Since the institution of Forestry in this town Court Peterborough has made gratifying progress, and the more its benevolent objects are know, the greater interest is being taken in it. At the last meeting eleven candidates were proposed, three balloted for and four initiated. Besides being a benevolent society it takes the place of a life assurance association. Members during sickness receive a sick benefit of three dollars per week and medical attendance free. At the death of a member his heirs receive $1,000, and a further sum of thirty dollars as a funeral benefit. In case of the death of a member's wife he is entitled to the sum of $15. Since the organization of Canadian Forestry in November, 1879, every death call (of which there have been but eight,) has been promptly paid, while the Grand Treasurer's report shows a surplus in hand of nearly $6,000 on the 1st October.

PERSONAL.

Mr. William Wood, late of Harvey, but now of British Columbia, is at present on a visit to this section.

Mr. Thos. Donnelly of Belleville, has been visiting friends in town during the past few days.

We had the pleasure of a call yesterday from Mr. T. B. Tate, Manager of the Victoria Railway. He reports business good on his line, and matters booming generally in Lindsay.

The Toronto World of Saturday says: "Hon. Mr. Wood and Hon. Mr. Pardee and Inspector Langmuir are away visiting prisons, asylums and reformatories in New York state. They are not expected back for ten days or a fortnight."

Mr. W. G. Thompson, for many years well known in connection with the dry goods and millinery trade of Peterboro', has we are pleased to observe, taken a position with Messrs. Fairweather & Co. His many friends will be pleased to see him once more in their midst.

Mr. M. Geddes, formerly in charge of the Grand Junction Station here, has been appointed Station Agent at Orillia. During his stay here Mr. Geddes won hosts of friends through his courtesy and obliging disposition, and the patrons of the Midland at Orillia are fortunate in having such an attentive and efficient official to deal with.

A private letter from Rome informs the Whitby Gazette that Rev. Father Stafford had an audience of His Holiness the Pope on 29th September. (Feast of St. Michael). Next day Father Stafford was to leave for Naples, then back to Rome, and thence to Pisa, Genoa, Nice, Marseilles, Paris, London, Liverpool, Ireland, and thence, by way of New York, home.

Bluff old John Fowler, the well-known railway builder and promoter and bonus advocate, is now living on the banks of the Assiniboine in Manitoba. He has a fine farm and is bringing it into an excellent state of cultivation. He is residing with a married daughter and is in very comfortable circumstances, as happy and hearty as ever. The public generally will be pleased to learn these particulars about the old gentleman. Mr. Fowler's railway plans and ideas are now being carried out, and though some people thought he was visionary, he may yet see another line from Goderich to Montreal—two lines in fact part of the way.—Post.

LACROSSE.

SOCIAL HOP.

A social hop, under the auspices of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, took place in Bradburn's Hall on Wednesday evening of last week. Between seventy and eighty couples were present, and a pleasant and enjoyable time was spent. We are pleased to know it was a financial success as well. The officers of the Club and the Committee have reason to congratulate themselves on the success attending their first effort in this line.

GYMNASIUM AND CLUB ROOMS.

A meeting of the members of the Club was held on Monday evening in the "Oriental" House, at which a goodly number were present,—the President, Mr. H. LeBrun, in the chair. After reading minutes of former meeting, the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. R. H. Fortye, presented a report from the "hop" Committee, showing a handsome balance in favor of the funds of the Club; also a report of the past season's transactions, which was very satisfactory. The institution of club-rooms and gymnasium was discussed, and a Committee appointed to make the necessary enquiries and to report to an adjourned meeting to be called by the President. The Club's record during the past season has been an extremely favorable one, and it is to be hoped that next year they will be able to show an equally clean sheet.

A GOOD THING FROM THESTATES.

[Montreal (Canada) Post.]

In this age of quackery, it is consoling to discover that there is something solid in existence, and that, though there are vendors who lie most cheerfully about their wares, there are others who tell the truth and allow time to test the merits of what they offer for sale. As year after year rolls over, the frauds and the shams sink away out of sight in the pools and morasses of obscurity, while what is really good and true stands boldly forth all the grander for its age and solidity. Thus while within the present decade thousands of patent medicines, puffed at one time to inflation, have shrunk before the test of analysis, St. Jacob's Oil has bravely borne the strain, and is to-day renowned all over the world for its famous curative powers. It is truly one of the phenomena of the age we live in. The sale of this article is incredible. It is to be found all over the civilized world and in a good many places which are not civilized—for, unfortunately, the bones of sorrowing man are racked and ache with pain no matter what region he inhabits—and we believe it is yet destined to be found in every house, and to supersede the many nostrums which still remain abroad to rob and defraud humanity of its money and its health. The firm of A. Vogeler & Co., Baltimore, spend half a million dollars yearly in advertising St. Jacob's Oil, and hence we may guess at the full extent of their enormous business. It is truly marvelous, or would be, did we not know the circulation of this inestimable blessing.

MERE MENTION.

—P. C. McGhee is acting as License Inspector, and in this as in his other public capacities makes a good official.

Mr. "Smiff," of the Independent, has a feeling of absolute security in the Ontario Bank under its present management, and to prove his earnestness is prepared to accept any amount not exceeding $1,876,427 in payment of subscriptions.

—Several special constables were placed on duty last Saturday night. The gentry who appear to have a special mission of yelling and hooting on the streets in the "wee sma' hours" were closely watched, and the Daily Evening item man's slumber was undisturbed.

News from Country Places.

MILLBROOK.

FIRE IN CAVAN.—Last week, Portens' barn, a mile west of Millbrook, was totally destroyed. Supposed to be incendiary.

Mr. T. L. Wilson's new combination box car has been chartered by Mr. Howden to go to Chicago with 1,000 bushels of barley.

Last week Mr. George Forster, who has been absent in the Souris District (Nor-West Territory) since April, arrived home, and like all others, brings home fabulous reports of the productiveness of the soil, and healthiness of the country.

GOT DUCKED.—Sunday evening after church, a young lady, Miss Caisse, from Lindsay, while on her way from the Methodist Church to her stopping place, near the station, fell into the creek, at W. G. Russell's, by stepping off the sidewalk. Some young men who were passing immediately after helped her out and hunted up her hat and parasol.

CALVES WORRIED.—About two weeks ago Mr. G. W. Berry, who lives on lot No. 21, 3rd con., Cavan, had a fine thoroughbred calf about six month old killed in the field. The animal had no scar on it except on the side of the neck, where it appeared as if the blood had been sucked from. A few days ago another one of about the same age was found in the same position, dead. It is supposed they were both killed by a wild cat.

OBITUARY.—The death is announced of Mr. Geo. Winslow, an old resident of Cavan. The deceased was a native of the county of Fermanagh, Ireland, and emigrated from that place to Canada in the year 1832, first settling in Hope, then for a short time in the township of Clarke, and thirty years ago he came to Cavan, where he ever since resided. He was much and deservedly respected, and was a firm adherent to and constant member of the Episcopal Church. The funeral was very largely attended.

LINDSAY.

Two of Lindsay's grain buyers fought at the market square on Friday. The affair was just serious enough to make it interesting. Their differences were adjusted by the Police Magistrate.

Within the past two weeks Mr. Samuel Walker, of this town, has paid out about $1,800 for horses for Mr. M. Boyd.

A GOOD ANIMAL.—Mr. Wm. Stewart, of Valentia, passed through here on Thursday last with a fine Durham bull calf, which he had selected from the herd of Mr. John Isaac, of Baltimore.

PREMISES DESTROYED.—A fire broke out in the house occupied by Mr. J. B. Woolhouse, on Kent street, about 10 o'clock, Sunday morning. With a large nozzle attached a powerful stream was thrown which quenched the blaze in about ten minutes, but not until the structure had been gutted.

ANCIENT ORDER UNITED WORKMEN.—A lodge in connection with the above order was instituted in town on Monday evening last by Mr. Long, who has been working it up during the past few weeks. The following are the officers for the current term:—Past Master, Dr. Herriman; Master, J. D. Graham; Foreman, J. H. Sootheran; Overseer, J. E. Thornbury; Recorder, T. S. Williams; Financier, Robert Hamilton; Receiver, Jesse Parkin; Guide, Adam Wilson; Watchman, D. Smart; Outside Watchman, Robert Reynolds; Trustees, J. H. Sootheran, J. D. Graham and T. S. Williams.

COBOURG.

Messrs. A. Hewson & Son have just started a knitting factory, which gives employment to some twenty-five persons. The principal lines made are ladies fine hose and mittens, and the firm are unable to supply the demand.

A FIRE.—On Friday morning last a fire occurred in the building near the lake shore, formerly used as a foundry by Mr. Yerrington, and at the time of the fire belonged to Judge Clarke. The fire brigade were on hand, but as the building was a considerable distance from any available water, and entirely of wood, it was consumed.

SKELETON FOUND.—One day last week, while a son of Mr. Alexander Russell, near the Court House, was ploughing a field, the blade of the implement turned up what appeared to be a human bone. The young man scraped away the earth over the spot, and about a foot or so below the surface, came upon the remains of a human skeleton. The skull was lying face downwards, and the bones quite close to it, as if the body had been forced into a small hole, hastily dug. Nearly all the bones are in a state of preservation, but very aged in appearance, and very few, if any, are missing. They would indicate a strong and powerfully built man. The skull is very large. There was no remains of clothing or wood found with the skeleton, and it had evidently lain where it was discovered for many, many years. Near the temple, and on the forehead of the skull, are three discolorations, giving the appearance as if the man had been struck three heavy blows upon the head. The skull is not indented, but the bone under these marks is much more decayed than the other portions of the skull, which would tend to confirm the suspicion that these marks were left by a heavy blow from some blunt instrument or club, and that the remains are those of one who had been foully murdered, and the body hastily crowded into a small hole in the earth, by the perpetrators of the crime. Of course this can be only surmise, but appearances tend much to establish its truthfulness. If, however, a dark deed was done, and these the remains of the unfortunate one, it must have been committed half a century ago, and the perpetrators and their victim have long since met in the great beyond.—Sentinel-Star.

PORT HOPE.

The rate for the present year in Port Hope has been struck at 1¾ cents on the dollar, a reduction of a quarter of a cent on last year.

THE WATER-WORKS.—The work of extending the water-works is being rapidly pushed forward. The committee has secured all the laboring help obtainable, and the workmen are now busy engaged in excavating.

SUMMER HOTEL.—A company is being formed here to erect a summer hotel at Midland City; Messrs. Kennedy and McVittie, of Barrie, are submitting calculations and getting up plans with that end in view.

THE ERIE QUEEN SUNK.—The schooner Erie Queen, Capt. Joseph Brannd, of this town, we regret to learn was sunk at Oswego yesterday. She had on board 15,000 bushels of barley, from Newcastle. In attempting to enter the harbor she struck the pier. Partially insured.

SAD ACCIDENT. Mr. Albert Tremouth, who lives on lot No. 4, 6th con., Hope, while returning from Port Hope last Wednesday evening, was thrown from his waggon near his own farm and his scull fractured. He now lies in a very precarious state. Two doctors are in attendance on him. The accident may prove fatal.

The alarm of fire which startled our citizens between one and two o'clock on Friday morning last was occasioned by the total destruction of the residence near the Grand Trunk station belonging to Mr. Jas. Robinson. As the house had been empty for some time, the fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary. The property was partially insured.

Port Hope takes the lead in the shipment of barley of all the principal Canadian ports on Lake Ontario, including Toronto, Whitby, Oshawa, Cobourg, Kingston, Belleville and some twenty other ports. Port Hope has shipped thus far 315,652 bushels, being over 100,000 bushels more than has been shipped from Toronto, and nearly 150,000 bushels more than from Cobourg, and more than Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Napanee and Picton combined.

Mr. Wilson's new combination box car has now been completed and placed in perfect running order, which is designed for the carrying of grain in bulk, lumber, flour and general merchandise. On the 8th of this month, the car was despatched to Midland and took on a load of 800 bushels of wheat weighing 48,000 lbs.; this cargo was safely landed at Port Hope although the car was run the entire 120 miles on express time. After undergoing a few slight alterations which had suggested themselves to Mr. Wilson, in order to facilitate the unloading of the car, it was forwarded to Lindsay and there again loaded with eight hundred bushels of wheat; this cargo was also safely deposited in the elevator here, the unloading being accomplished in the remarkably quick time of one minute. Although these cargoes were double the quantity of that carried by ordinary cars now in use, and sufficient to fully test the strength capacity of the car, yet a more severe test, and one which astonished the inventor himself, took place on the 21st; the car was sent to Waubaushene and there took on 15,080 feet of green lumber a weight not much short of 70,000 lbs., which was safely delivered in Port Hope for Mr. Jas. Leverich.

NORWOOD.

Mr. F. Birdsall, of Asphodel, had thirty sheep worried by dogs a few nights since.

Sixteen car loads of grain were shipped from Hastings last week.

John Burnham, M.P., H. T. Strickland and C. Weller passed through here last week for Round Lake, where they purpose spending a couple of weeks deer-hunting.

A meeting for the re-organization of the Young People's Association was held in the lecture room of the Methodist Church, Thursday last. The minister in charge being an ex-officio President, the following officers were elected by ballot: Vice-Presidents, Messrs. P. W. Stephenson and B. Scott; Secretary, Miss Waters; Treasurer, Miss Scott; Librarian, Miss Starr; Editor, Miss Sanderson. The meeting then adjourned for two weeks when eight members of committee will be elected. The association is open to all on payment of ten cents, which secures admission to all the meetings, use of library, &c.

Midland District Notes.

Clipped, Compiled and Condensed from County and other Convenient Contemporaries.

Shipments of grain from stations along the line of the Grand Junction are quite lively.

The erection of a combined skating rink, curling rink, bowling green and opera house in Belleville at a cost of $20,000, is in contemplation.

A pike four feet long was recently caught in the bay at Whitby by Mr. Joseph Taylor while trolling. It had to be shot through the head before it could be got into the boat.

The new Roman Catholic Church at Madoc was dedicated last week by His Lordship Bishop Cleary, assisted by several prominent clergymen of the Diocese. The ceremony was an interesting and imposing one.

Capt. Dougherty, of Colborne, whose sudden disappearance from his vessel at Chicago, some weeks ago, was attributed to foul play up to Saturday last, when his wife received a letter from him, dated at San Francisco.

Mr. S. D. Robinson, of Hope, was stepping over the tumbling rod of a threshing machine a few days ago when the end of his trousers was caught, and in the twinkling of an eye he was stripped of those garments. But for the material being of a very poor quality he would undoubtedly have been killed.

Mr. Alex. Southwark, of Cardiff, while exploring through the woods the other day came unexpectedly on a very large bear which rose up close to him in the thick underbrush. He was so close upon the brute that he had to stand back to fire at it. The ball penetrated the bear's heart, causing him to fall back quite dead.

Mr. James Holden, managing director of the Whitby, Port Perry and Lindsay Railway, died at Dominion City, Manitoba, on the 24th. He had gone to that place on business about three weeks ago. Much sympathy is expressed with the bereaved family.

Mr. Perry, of Sharbot Lake, says that on Sunday week H. H. Parkhurst, a shanty man, in passing through the woods was attacked and severely bitten by a posse of squirrels. He fought them as he would a swarm of bees, but their activity prevented his striking many of them. His face and hands were considerably injured.

Mr. J. K. Fuller, of Colborne, is one of the lucky men interested in a patent cattle car which affords every facility for the safety and care generally of cattle for an almost indefinite time. It was built in Cobourg, and can ship a full load in about fifteen minutes—a wonderful improvement on the usual cumbrous method. The invention is patented in Canada, the United States and England, and promises a fortune to its owners.

CANADIAN NEWS.

The Dundas market fees sold for $301 for five months from the 1st of November.

Messrs. Rathburn & Son have sent twenty-five men to Black Creek to rebuild dams burned last summer.

Moses Oates says that the winter will be one of the most open for a score of years.

It appears to be generally conceded that the apple crop in Prince Edward County is nearly if not quite up to last year, while the prices are about double.

Messrs. W. A. & R. J. Anderson, of Amelianburgh, have threshed during the season over 50,000 bushels of grain by steam.

Mr. Marshall Westcott, who lives about a mile from Stirling on the Campbellford Road, says there are large quantities of bog iron in that section.

The addition which is being made to the Stormont Factory will be ready for operation in the month of February. About 400 extra employees will be required.

The Post Office Department has decided in future to place lock boxes and drawers in all the post offices in Canada at the disposal of public hers of newspapers and periodicals free of charge.

Some young men, of Orillia, stuck a piece of paper on a gate, and amused themselves firing at this target with a revolver. A workman walking some distance off stopped one of the balls with his leg. He narrowly escaped a fractured limb.

Mr. G. W. Perley, of Ottawa, is the possessor of a $700 span of black carriage horses. They were brought from Bowmanville by Mr. Jas. Cowan, and were purchased from Mr. McHenry. They are of Clarion Chief stock and are particularly fine animals.

Mr. David Rea, of Kramosa, the other day sold to the Model Farm two yearling steers weighing 1,100 and 1,070 lbs. respectively; also one yearling steer weighing 1,150 lbs. to Mr. John S. Armstrong.

J. Elliott & Sons, Kingston, shipped the past season 7,000 cattle and 5,000 sheep. The average price paid for the cattle was $80; they sold in England for £20 to £25, leaving a bare margin for expenses. This year's business, they say, has been unprofitable, owing to high freight and glutting of the English market with Australian mutton and Yankee dead meat.

Frank Linton, of Duffin's Creek, bought a fish, a few days ago, from a fisherman at Frenchman's Bay. On opening the fish, he discovered a triangular file, such as are used by carpenters. The file is now at Cuthbert's Hotel, to attest the truth of this strange story, and can be seen there by the curious. How the fish got outside of that file is what the folks are enquiring.

It is said that the Grand Trunk express train which passes through Port Hope on Sunday morning, instead of stopping at Toronto, as at present, will run on through to Chicago. It seems this step has been thought necessary on account of the action of the Credit Valley and Canada Southern roads putting on a Sunday train from Toronto. We understand that a Sunday evening train from Toronto to Montreal will also be placed on at once.

A committee of the St. Thomas City Council has reported in favor of the frontage plan for the construction of local improvements. By this means the committee expect to be able to dispense with the ward grabbing system, and permit owners of property willing to spend their money to improve the locality in which they live to get the full benefit of the expenditure. The frontage system has its objections, but it appears to be growing in favor.

Some time ago a race was to have been run on the Kirkwood Road, in the County of Leeds, for $25 a side. The horse started, and in the first heat the owner of one horse claimed a foul. The umpire decided against him, when he withdrew and demanded his stake, which, being refused, he notified the stakeholder not to pay over. At the last Division Court he recovered his stake with costs, on the ground that all horse races for a less sum than $200 are by a statute of George the Third declared illegal.

Mr. Thos. Head, of Duffin's Creek, must be a cheerful sort of soul. He makes the following announcement in the Oshawa Reformer: Mr. Thos. Head, miller, formerly of Oshawa, now residing at Duffin's Creek, who has been suffering for the past four years with chest disease, has been given up by Dr. Wright, of Toronto, who visited him on Tuesday and informed him that he cannot live but a few months. Mr. Head requests us to state that he will be pleased to see any of his numerous friends in Oshawa who can make it convenient to pay him a visit before the sands of life are run.

On the night of the 8th inst., the pasture field of Mr. George Gibson, lot No. 10, 4th con., Pickering, was entered and paris green mixed with salt scattered over it. The result was the poisoning of a number of his fine herd. Three were found dead on Wednesday morning; two more have since died, and two others are reported as being past recovery. The Pickering Council offer a reward of $200 for the discovery of the perpetrator or perpetrators of this most atrocious case of cattle poisoning.

John R. Hood, of Guelph, owns a bear. He had it chained in the yard near the house. It broke the chain and entered the house. The bear walked into the pantry emptied two sugar bowls, sampled the catsup and pickles, took the cheese-box down from the shelf and regaled himself with the contents, took the chimneys off the lamps, placed them in a row, and knocked them down like ten-pins. Bruin then had a pic-nic off the pies and cakes in the cupboard, showing great partiality to sweet things. He emptied the salt in the corner of the room, and then amused himself by pitching the china and delf through the window, and ended his hour and a half sport by emptying a pail of water on the floor and taking a bath. He remained in the room till the boys returned from work. Considerable fun occurred before he was captured, one of the boys getting hit in the eye with an egg thrown by his bearship.

PETERBOROUGH, NOV'R 3, 1881.

Railway Amalgamation.

The consolidation of railways in a district is not always a thing to be desired in the public interest. Very often advantage is taken of the absorption of a rival to raise the rates for traffic, and the people, whose money helped to build the competing line, are left without any remedy. Many instances of this kind might be cited from the railway history of Canada, but even if the number were still greater it would not follow that amalgamation is always and necessarily bad. Each case of railway consolidation must be judged on its merits, and when the proposed amalgamation of the Midland with the Toronto and Nipissing and Toronto and Ottawa lines is treated in this way there will be found in it very little to object to.

Evil results were freely predicted when the Midland entered into a running arrangement with the Whitby, Port Perry and Lindsay Railway. It was thought that when the competition between these two lines was stopped monopoly rates would be charged for both passengers and freight. So far from this being the case, however, the amalgamation has had the effect of making the railway service more efficient without adding perceptibly to its cost. This result has been due very largely to the enlightened and liberal way in which the Midland has been managed, and as that road will be the keystone of the new consolidation it is only reasonable to expect a repetition of the sam experience. The same may also be said with reference to the management of the Grand Junction Railway. Mr. Cox, who has been so successful in working up the Midland, is, it is said, to be at the head of the combination, really as well as nominally, and this fact is a sufficient guarantee that the public have nothing to fear from its formation.

One result of the amalgamation of the Toronto and Nipissing and Toronto and Ottawa roads with the Midland and Grand Junction, must inevitably be to give increased importance to Peterborough as a railway centre. Within a few months the Ontario Sault line will be opened from Gravenhurst to the Sault Ste. Marie, at which latter point it will connect with the easterly extension of the Northern Pacific. The Grand Trunk, which has now an extension to Chicago, must find some way of reaching the Sault also, and the only possible way is over the lines of the newly consolidated system. At Belleville, at Port Hope, at Whitby, and at Toronto that system will connect with the Grand Trunk, while for some distance beyond Beaverton the Midland affords the only westerly connection. The distance from Toronto to Gravenhurst will be less by either the Toronto and Nipissing or the Whitby, Port Perry and Lindsay than it is by the Northern, and Hamilton will have a new competing route with the Northern and Northwestern provided the Great Western maintains its independence.

A glance at the map of Ontario will suffice to convince any one that Peterborough must profit more largely by the new arrangement than any other place, if our citizens only become fully awake to the possibilities of the situation. When the cut-off to Omemee is built, Peterborough will be on the direct line between Belleville and Ottawa on the east and Midland and Sault Ste. Marie on the north-west, while the Toronto and Ottawa will furnish us with direct communication with the capital of the Province on one side and the capital of the Dominion on the other, and all of this without imparing our present means of communication by way of Port Hope. On the other hand, whatever chance of danger there might have been in the future from less liberal management, will be obviated by the construction of the Ontario and Quebec line, which the Canada Pacific Syndicate are promoting as a link in their through line by way of Chicago. The route of the Ontario and Quebec has not been defined; but it will not pass so far from us that we will not get the benefit of competition whenever any disposition is shown to charge monopoly rates for traffic.

Last week we pointed out how the people of Peterborough might take time by the forelock and prepare to benefit by the coming expansion of trade. This week we can only enforce our previous remarks, and insist still more strongly on the expediency of taking action in consequence of this new movement. It is quite possible for us to throw away some part of the natural advantages we possess from our situation, and past experience shows that we have sharp rivals in the field who are not likely to let grass grow under their feet.

Editorial Notes.

It is generally understood says the Mail that the Dominion parliament will meet either on the 7th or 10th of January.

The Hamilton Times announces that Mr. Donald McInnis has been tendered and will accept one of the vacant senatorships.

The Toronto Evening News says the Mackenzie Government deserves credit for having appointed two journalists to the Upper Chamber, and insists that Sir John should appoint some journalist to the vacancy created by the death of Senator Penny.

The latest Canadian industry is the manufacture of sauerkraut in Toronto. Ten men are employed, and the factory, which has only been in operation a week, cuts up about 10,000 heads of cabbage, and turns out 58 barrels of the edible per day.

The Globe is sending a commissioner to Ireland to report on the progress of events there. Mr. Philip Thompson, otherwise "Jimuel Briggs," has been deputed for the task, but it is not stated whether he takes his "buckboard" with him or not.

This is the way the N. P. works for the farmer;—"Mr. R. Purdy, customs broker of Belleville, sent forward on Friday for the Campbellford woolen mills a special train consisting of thirteen cars of Cape wool, value $41,311.70." Our tory contemporaries are respectfully requested to add this item to their hum notes.

Scoville, Guitteau's counsel, has received a large number of letters from persons who profess to have heard the latter lecture and preach, and who express their belief in his insanity. These letters are in response to the card published by Scoville some time ago. The defence will rest solely on the insanity plea.

Recent rains have not improved the wells much. The cisterns have been filled, it is true, but the thirsty ground drank up all the water that fell and cried for more. There is a great scarcity of water throughout the country, and reports from New York State represent the same defect. The Mayor of New York City has asked the people to economise in the use of water, as the suply will last only a short time unless copious rains fall, and the city would be at the peril of fire and thirst.

In Ireland there are now stationed six regiments of cavalry, twenty-five battalions of infantry, three batteries of Royal Horse artillery, eight batteries of field and garrison artillery and three companies of Royal engineers, or about 30,000 men. Last month there were stationed in England and the Channel Islands eleven regiments of cavalry, forty-one battalions of infantry, eleven batteries of Royal Horse artillery, sixty-eight batteries of field and garrison artillery and twenty-one companies of Royal Engineers. In Scotland the total establishment is represented by only one regiment of cavalry, two battallions of infantry, as many batteries of artillery and a company of Royal Engineers.

At a late meeting of the Midland Railway Board the request made by the Port Hope Harbor Board that the railway should carry free the timber required for the Government extension of the piers, was refused, but in lieu, the Board unanimously agreed to contribute towards the extension of the water-works to the Harbor the amount which will be received from the Government for carrying the timber in question. It is expected the sum will reach four or five hundred dollars. The News says:—"Such a hand-"some contribution from the Midland "railway, direct to the town, ought to "convince the croakers that Mr. Cox does "not entertain that unfriendliness to Port "Hope which some of them would fain "believe."

The troubles in Zululand are not all ended. It will be remembered that John Dunn, a renegade European, was Cetewayo's counsellor and right-hand man before the recent war. He deserted his master and played into the hands of the British commanders. As the price of his treachery he was, at the close of the war, made ruler of a part of his former master's kingdom. Among the first acts of his rule were the exclusion of Christian missionaries from his territories and the arming of his subjects. These acts were direct violations of the terms upon which he received his authority. Dunn is now involved in difficulty with some of the native chiefs, and Sir Evelyn Wood has been appointed by the home authorities to go out and conduct an investigation.

Those who have criticised Major-General Luard for his out-spoken plainness of speech at volunteer inspections will perhaps be surprised to learn that he has an exampler at the very top of the service. We read in Truth that H. R. H. the Duke of Cambridge made his annual inspection at Roborough Downs, Devonport, a short time ago. After the manœuvres, the Duke, instead of dispensing some vague compliments, called the commanding officers around him, and proceeded to give them such a rowing, couched in plain, old-fashioned Saxon, as would have delighted the heart of "King Arthur." H. R. H. expressed his unqualified disgust at the imbecility by which their tactics has been characterized and pointed out, among other glaring blunders, that in actual warfare almost every man must have been shot.

POLITICAL NOTES.

The Tories of Quebec have done their best to prejudice the Holy See against the Liberal party by denouncing them as revolutionists and hostile to religion. Cardinal Simeoni has recently sent Archbishop Taschereau, of Quebec, a papal decree in which it is explained that in condemning that species of continental Liberalism which is synonymous with rebellion and irreligion, there was no intention to condemn "one of the political parties in Canada called the Reform Party—the party heretofore warmly supported by some of the Bishops.

Rufus Stephenson received from the Government of the Dominion the printing of the evidence of the Railway Commission It was naturally supposed that the work was being done in Chatham, where the Stephenson printing office is. It turns out differently. The work is being done by Messrs. Maclean, Roger & Co., of Ottawa, the contractors for the public printing. They are doing it, not on public account but on account of the Stephensons. The Stevensons are simply farming out the job, and pocketing the difference between the confidential rates which they receive, and the fair value of the work which presumably, is given to those who do it, and the people of the Dominion are footing this very pretty piece of business. It is rumored that a syndicate, with Mr. Rufus Stephenson, M.P., at the head of it, is about to purchase the Ottawa Citizen. It is also stated, in this connection, that Mr. C. H. Mackintosh, the manager, will retire and be appointed Deputy Postmaster-General.

In replying to a vote of thanks at Orono, Mr. Blake intimated that almost every waking hour of his life would be devoted to the work of advancing the interests of the Liberal party, until the next general election. We take this to be a modest confirmation of the statement which has been made unofficially that Hon. Edward Blake has given up the practice of the law, in order that his time and talents may be devoted exclusively to the leadership of the Opposition. The sacrifice is a great one, and it could not have been resolved upon except under a strong sense of the duty which he owed to his country. In the practice of his profession, which was an occupation congenial to his tastes, Mr. Blake is known to have earned an income of not less than $30,000 a year, and there are few Canadians in the prime of life who would voluntarily renounce so much personal gain to rescue the country from the evils of mismanagement. Around such a man, the best elements of our country can rally. He has shown his readiness to bear his share of the burdens; every speech he makes demonstrates his desire to purify Canadian politics by leading the popular mind away from and above the personalities and recriminations which have been indulged in by too many of the politicians of the old school. On the great questions of the day Mr. Blake is well informed, clear in his statements, earnest in manner, and thoroughly honest in his intentions.

TEAS! TEAS!
CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

First:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

Second:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

Third:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes o adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

THE CONSOLIDATED MIDLAND RAILWAY.

WHAT SOME OF OUR CONTEMPORARIES THINK OF IT.

Belleville Intelligencer:—It is also said that the whole of the railways in the Province between Toronto and Kingston are to be placed under one management, and that at the head of the division will be Mr. Cox. This is only report, but there is probably a foundation of truth in the rumour. We may be permitted to express the hope that the portion regarding Mr. Cox becoming the manager of the railways of the district may prove correct. Mr. Cox's railway management has been most advantageous to both shareholders and the public, and just as he has studied the interests of the public so the public are willing to support him and show him their confidence. Mr. Cox has not only brought sound judgement to bear on business, but he has surrounded himself with officers of the highest capability and success has naturally resulted. Should all the railways between Toronto and Kingston be placed under one management, and the supreme power be confided to Mr. Cox, it would be a great public advantage. Competition in railways is a delusion, and its advantages, if any, are only temporary; what is wanted is general co-operation, economy in working, and a just consideration for the public. As soon as the dividends paid to shareholders rise above eight or ten per cent, the public will have just cause to raise a howl, but that date is a long way off in Canada.

Port Hope News:—The changes proposed are most important, and augur a future of increased prosperity for the road. The uniting of these lines, under one management, means greater financial strength to the whole. This will be particularly so in the case of the part now known as the Midland Railway. It is proposed that the new Board will consist of twelve Directors, under the presidency and managing directorship of Mr. Geo. Cox. Port Hope will be presented on the Board, it is supposed, by Mr. Lewis Ross. Mr. Ross' career has amply proved his determination to look sharply after the interests of this section. He has never failed therein, and that is a sufficient guarantee for the future. His sterling honesty and unflinching integrity can always be depended on. Mr. Cox is to be congratulated on his elevation to the managership of such an extensive annalgamation. He has won his railway spurs, and proved his abilities to be of the highest order. It is intended, by the company to establish a first-class line of new steamers between Midland City, Chicago, and Duluth, thus opening up a most enabling favorable prospects for the growth of the town that is situated at the northern terminus of these united lines. The line of steamers referred to will secure the passage of a large share of the eastern freight over the main line of the Midland, via Port Hope Harbor to New York, and consequently increased Harbor dues. In the distribution of advantages from the increased business, Port Hope is bound to receive no small share. The Midland Railway will become one of the principal links in the great through line of communication with the West and North-West.

TRUE TO HER TRUST.—Too much cannot be said to the ever-faithful wife and mother, constantly watching and caring for her dear ones, never neglecting a single duty in their behalf. When they are assailed by disease, and the system should have a thorough cleansing, the blood and bowels regulated, blood purified, malarial poison exterminated, she must know that Electric Bitters are the only sure remedy. They are the best and greatest medicine in the world, and only cost fifty cents.—Taylor & Macdonald. 50 cents.

THE NIPISSING DISTRICT.

The Pembina Falls Gazette in noting the return of Mr. Dickson, P. L. S., from his survey in the Township of Hunter in the Nipissing District says:—"We have had a brief talk with Mr. Dickson, and have obtained a few facts relative to the section of country which he has been laying out into farms, and which in a few years will probably be occupied by an industrious and thriving population. Hunter is situated east of the township of McCraney and north of Peck, and is on the watershed between the Muskoka and Petawawa rivers, the south being drained by the Muskoka and the north by the Petawawa. The west half of Hunter is mostly good farming land, covered with hardwood, much of which is very superior black birch and maple, while the timber on the east half is chiefly pine. The first settlers will have rare sport among the denizens of the woods and waters, for in Hunter and its vicinity there are numerous lakes abounding in the finest speckled and salmon trout, and there is an abundance of furred and feathered game. Moose, in particular, are very plentiful, and so are common red deer, and mink and other small animals valuable for their skins are very numerous. There are not many beavers, except in the lakes, nearly all of them having probably been killed off by the trappers, who have made a perfect network of portages in the vicinity of the various streams. Of course there are bears, and one of them stole about 300 pounds of pork from the store camp, which left the party rather short of meat for the last few days of their sojourn in the wilderness.

A WAIFS GOOD FORTUNE.

A week or ten days ago a simple looking youth applied for employment at Messrs. Burrow, Stewart & Milne's large manufactory, Hamilton. He was asked what he could do and replied that he was under the weather and was willing to turn his hand to anything that would net him a livelihood. The firm had a full complement of hands, and the young man did not look as if he could be entrusted with more particular work than the blacklleading of stoves. So he started upon the job, was reticent about his antecedents, and until yesterday he was scarcely known or taken notice of by his shopmates. The English mail of the day previous brought him a letter with the Dublin postmark, and its contents intimated that he had fallen heir to £10,000 sterling in hard cash, besides three or four splendid warehouses in Sackville street, Dublin, and several valuable buildings in London, Eng., as well as a country estate. The young man (whose name is Scranston) was congratulated by the time-keeper, Mr. Young, on his good luck, and didn't seem to understand the meaning of the congratulations. It is hoped that he will in time improve his mind to such an extent as to appreciate his position and fit him to perform the duties in life which will be demanded of a man of means. The letter contained $125 to pay his passage across the Atlantic. He left for New York at once, and will be a passenger by the Cunard line steamers.—Hamilton Times.

THE DREAM OF AN ERIE BRAKEMAN.

"During the heavy rush of freight on the Erie Railway last summer," said a brakeman, "I had been on duty three days and nights, and was completely jaded out. Between Deposit and Hancock our train broke in two, and running together again caused a wreck. I was sent back to flag the first approaching train. After going what I considered a proper distance, I sat down on the outside of the rail to wait. I was soon asleep, with my head leaning upon my hand and my face turned up the track. I dreamt that I was lying on the track and that the Atlantic express ran me down, cutting off both my arms and mangling me so terribly that I could not possibly survive. I awoke with a start, and there within forty feet of me was the headlight of a locomotive bearing down upon me at the rate of forty miles an hour. I grabbed my red lantern and sprang from the track, and as I did so the engineer saw me, there was a whistle down brakes, and the train was saved. It was the Atlantic express that I saw in my dream."—New York Sun.

SELLING GOODS TO A WIFE.

At the last sitting of the Division Court at Milton there were several cases tried, the decisions in which might interest the public, as there seems to be a misunderstanding of the law by most merchants. In the case of Kelly vs Zimmerman, the plaintiff, a milliner, sded the defendant for goods supplied to his wife. The defence was that the defendant had never run any account at Miss Kelly's, and that he supplied his wife with ready money to pay for necessaries and had forbidden her to pledge his credit. The plaintiff knew nothing of this, but supplied the goods in good faith, though this was the first time the defendant's wife had purchased any goods on credit. His Honor decided that the defendant was not liable.

FAST TRAVELLING

A steam velocipede, the invention of a young man named Albert Near, formerly employed on the Delaware and Hudson River roads, is the latest novelty. The dimensions of the steam velocipede are as follows: The boiler will carry 300 pounds of steam and the cylinder is four inches in diameter with a six inch stroke. The drivers will be six feet in diameter and when running at full speed will make 550 revolutions a minute. There is accommodation for eight passengers, exclusive of the engineer, and the weight of the machine, including as much coal as can be carried, is 1300 pounds. It can be run at the rate of 8800 feet, or more than a mile and a half a minute, and is kept on the rail by a revolving roller attached to a lever controlled by the engineer.

WORSE THAN SMALL-POX.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 7.—Reports from Parkville and Waldron, in Platte County, this State, give most horrifying details of a terrible disease that has been raging in that section for the past twelve days, and which is said to have been imported by a tramp laborer from this city, who on arriving there about two weeks ago was taken sick and died near Parkhill. All who attended the funeral of the first patient who died were stricken. The bodies of those attacked are covered with the most horrible sores, and fairly rot and fester before death, when it is next to impossible to coffin them, as the flesh falls from the bones, and the latter crumble and break when handled.

The Winnipeg Times says: The wages of bricklayers have, it is reported, advanced to $7.50 and those of laborers to $3 and $3.50 per day, so urgent is the demand to finish up building operations for the year.

CHARCOAL AS A FERTILIZER.

Pulverized charcoal is a valuable addition to the soil. Apart from the potash and other mineral salts it contains, it is of little or no advantage to land. It is of great benefit to it however in other ways. Its dark color increases the temperature of the soil with which it is incorporated. It takes up moisture at times when the earth is saturated with it and retains it till the plants have occasion to require it. It also acts as a filter towards the water that passes over or through it, and retains in its envelop all the valuable mineral and vegetable substances it contained. It is, beside an absorbent of ammonia and other gases, essential to the growth of plants. As charcoal is essentially indestructible its presence in the soil is of more than ordinary benefit. It stimulates the growth not of a single crop but of many crops. It absorbs fertilizing substance from water and air at times when plants do not grow and holds till they are in a condition to appropriate them. The roots of trees, vines and bushes penetrate lumps of charcoal and draw from them the fertilizing material they take up from time to time. Buried deep in the soil, charcoal is of great value to bushes, vines and plants like tomatoes if liquid manure is used in connection with it.

FOR DYSPEPSIA, WEAKNESS AND DEBILITY.—From George S. Bixby, of Epsom, N, H. "Having received great benefit from the use of Peruvian Syrup, I am willing to add my testimony to the thousands of others constantly sounding its praise. During the war I was in the army, and had the misfortune to be taken prisoner, and be confined in Salisbury and other Southern prisons several months. I became so much reduced in health and strength as to be a mere skeleton of my former self. On being released, I was a fit subject for a Northern hospital where I remained some two months and then came home. My physician recommended and procured for me several bottles of Peruvian Syrup, which I continued to use for several weeks, and found my health restored and my weight increased from ninety pounds to one hundred and fifty, my usual weight and I have been in my usual good health ever since. I can cheerfully recommend it in all cases of weakness and debility of the system, whether arising from an impare state of the blood, dyspepsia, or almost any other cause, believing it will in most cases give entire satisfaction." Sold by all druggists.

A GENERAL STAMPEDE.—Never was such a rush made for a Drug Store as is now at Taylor & Macdonalds' for a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. All persons afflicted with Asthma, Bronchitis Hoarseness, Severe Coughs, or any affection of the Throat and Lungs, can get a trial bottle of the great remedy free, by calling at above Drug Store.

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potash and iron, all powerful blood-making, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alterative available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced a remedy so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-grubs, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuralgia, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility.

By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates the vital functions, restores and preserves health, and infuses new life and vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial.

It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, NOV. 3rd, 1881.

The Duty of the Moment.

Present opportunities and a desire to see our town reap advantages now attainable, but which may easily elude us, induces us to urge strongly on our citizens to take immediate action to endeavor to secure the location of the workshops of the Midland Railway. As consolidated, such a road must necessarily require large supplies of material that this neighbourhood could readily supply. The number of hands required would spend their money here—in food, supplies, clothing and other outlays. They would assist to some extent in building up our town, and in paying our taxes. Belleville, Toronto, and Lindsay are competitors for the shops, and are ready to act liberally towards bearing expenses of removal. The connection with Omemee is sure to be built immediately. When built it will be of little moment to the Company where the workshops are located, and no doubt the place offering most liberal terms will secure them. Just now the Company is favorable to Peterborough, and a little effort now might secure for us what, under changed circumstances, we might not be able to get for any sum we could offer. The Omemee connection is to be made without asking aid from us, but we must not be so foolish as to suppose that we will get the shops here while other towns are ready to make liberal offers to obtain them.

It is assuredly our duty to make some movement at once in this matter. We can make easy terms with the Company—that is, easy terms compared with the advantages that must accrue to Peterborough if it should be made the centre of this great railway scheme. If, in a few years, any change of management should take place, we might find other interests stronger than ours, and then find ourselves unable to get, at any cost, what might be obtained to-day for a comparatively small sum. We have no great faith in hoarding up for future generations what can be wisely invested to the advantage of both present and future. Already we have the means of offering a bonus without increasing our taxes one cent, and we want to see immediate steps taken to secure this important advantage before some other place steps in and robs us of it. The Town Council should not delay to bring this matter again before our citizens, and let a Committee be appointed to see what can be done in the matter.

ALEX. ROBERTSON, Esq., M. P. P., the other day called on Sir Charles Tupper, Minister of Railways and Canals, for the purpose of urging the immediate commencement of the Murray Canal. He was informed by Sir Charles that he could assure his constituents that the Government intended to commence the construction of the canal as early as possible, and that the work, being commenced, it would be pushed through with vigor until the canal is completed.

Editorial Notes.

SOME of the Conservative journals in the Maritime Provinces are getting tired of puffing up the North-West, and are now advising the people to stay where they are—down by the sea—instead of migrating. The Moncton Times can stand a good deal in the way of partisan work; but even its stomach has been turned by the flattery which the Tory press is expected to pour out on the Syndicate. We agree with the Times in advising those who have any show for a good living where they are, to stay where they are.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR nominated Mr. Folger as Secretary of the Treasury, James as Postmaster-General, and Hatton as First Assistant Postmaster-General. The Senate subsequently confirmed the appointments. Universal satisfaction will ensue at the retention of James. He has made an excellent Postmaster-General, his experience as Postmaster of New York standing him in good stead. The President has shown his good sense in retaining him. So far as they have gone, the new nominations are of aged men. Garfield, as far as he could, gathered around him young men.

THE Halifax Chronicle, in referring to Mr. Blake's remarks on the Senate in his Orono speech, admits that it is not prepared to see the upper chamber abolished; but expresses a strong desire for its reconstruction. Everything goes to show that this is a matter which cannot be much longer delayed. As at present constituted, the Senate is, at best, a wretched imitation of the House of Lords; serving no good purpose, liable at any time to defy the will of the people, and adding largely to the cost of governing the country. As the Chronicle remarks, however, Liberals may differ amongst each other as to the details of a scheme of reform, they are unanimous in their desire and purpose to effect a change. The more vacancies the present Government have an opportunity of filling, the more easy will it be to effect a change in the constitution; for the more easy it will be to induce the Imperial Government to amend the British North American Act.

THE state of Ireland is rapidly undergoing imprisonment. There was strong reason to believe all along that the Land League was guilty of tyranny in intimidating those who wished to pay their rent and those who wanted to take advantage of the Land Act. The rapidity with which rents are now being paid and applications are being made to the Land Court, is the best possible proof that a large proportion of the Irish peasantry have been living for some time past in a state of terror. The day will yet come when the great service rendered by Mr. Gladstone to the tenants will be fully recognized, and when "Buckshot" Forster will stand higher in the estimation of the people than Parnell. Mr. Forster is the reverse of bloodthirsty in his disposition, being noted for his sympathy with all that makes for peace all over the world. But, having accepted the Irish portifolio and being, from his position, better acquainted than any other man with the real state of the country, he was morally as well as politically bound to let every man have freedom to do as he wished. There is no power compelling man to seek a reduction of his rent, but if he wants to get a reduction no Land League or other organization should be allowed to "boycott" him for asking it. Had Parnell accepted the Land Act after trying to make it as perfect as possible, and had he endeavoured to get as much good for the tenants as possible out of it he would have ranked high as a sensible and practical Irish patriot. As matters are turning out he will cut but a sorry figure in history.

Our Clubbing Rates.

WE wish to call the attention of our readers and the public generally, to the following very favorable Club rates which THE EXAMINER is offering for 1882. All subscriptions taken from this time till the end of the year will date from the first of January, giving subscribers the intervening numbers free:

"	" Tribune	2 75
"	" Montreal W'ly Witness	2 10
"	" Star & Family Herald	2 25

For full Club rates see small bills.

A Good Opportunity.

We have arranged with the publishers in such a way as enables us to offer the Weekly Star, of Montreal, and THE EXAMINER, for the small sum of $2.25. The Weekly Star, of Montreal, is almost too well known to need any notice at our hands. It has reached the enormous circulation of 60,000 a week, and is recognized as a great paper. Those who have not seen it will find sample copies at this office, and those who want to avail themselves of this opportunity to get the two papers at a low figure should send us $2.25 at once.

A Cough, Cold or Sore Throat should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an INCURABLE LUNG DISEASE OR CONSUMPTION. Brown's Bronchial Troches do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but ACT DIRECTLY ON THE INFLAMED PARTS, allaying irritation, give relief in ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, CATARRH, and the THROAT TROUBLES which SINGERS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Bronchial Troches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cents a box everywhere. 42-26ins.

TORONTO CORRESPONDENCE.

TORONTO, Oct. 31.

PARLIAMENTARY SESSIONS.

It is currently reported that the Dominion Parliament will be called together for the despatch of business about the end of the first week in January. If this turns out to be true the Ontario Legislature will probably not assemble till some time in February, in order that the two sessions may overlap as little as possible. As the financial year of this Province corresponds with the calender year it has for years past been deemed expedient to call the Legislature together after New Year, in order to have the Public Accounts and other Departmental reports brought down to the latest date before submitting them to the Assembly. On the other hand, in order to avoid overlapping the Dominion session the time for the Ontario House to meet has always been fixed as early in January as the municipal elections would allow. It was impossible to avoid all inconvenience from this source, and on account of meeting so early in the year it was impossible to have the Public Accounts ready very early in the session. The arrangement proposed this year would be an admirable one if the Dominion Government only carry it out, and it has this additional recommendation: that as the financial year of the Dominion ends with June the Public Accounts would be brought down sooner after the close of the financial year than they generally are.

NEW PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS.

There is again some talk of going on with the proposed new Government buildings in the Queen's Park. The architects are at work remodelling their plans, and the result of their labours will no doubt be laid before the Assembly when it meets, together with an estimate of the cost of the edifice on the plan recommended. Meanwhile the usual annual repairs and whitewashing are on foot in and about the old structure, which grows more dingy, unsafe, and unwholesome each succeeding year.

CONFLICTING JURISDICTION.

The coming session of the Ontario Legislature bids fair to be the most stirring we have had for many years. There is sure to be trouble over the Streams Bill, which the Dominion Government disallowed in the most uncalled for manner, though it was a measure the Provincial Legislature had an undeniable right to pass. At the time it was enacted the judgment of Vice-Chancellor Proudfoot left the owner of logs to be floated, completely at the mercy of the owner of river improvements through which they had to pass. At present the decision of the Court of Appeal leaves the owner of the improvements as completely at the mercy of the man who has logs to drive down the stream. Mr. Pardee's Bill was resisted by Mr. McLaren because it compelled him to let others use his improvements, while it secured him compensation; now that he is left, by decision of the Court of Appeal, without the power of collecting dues from the timber floated through his improvements, he will perhaps feel disposed to ask for the re-enactment of a Bill which would effectually protect him in his equitable rights. Since last session has assumed a new and more exciting phase. Late in its own session the Dominion Parliament passed a Bill, handing over its share in the dispute to Manitoba, and recently it was announced that Mr. Justice Miller, of that Province, had gone to Rat Portage to administer justice. Should any of his decisions affect matters east of the Winnipeg River they must of necessity be taken notice of by the Ontario Government, and in this way the boundary dispute may come before the Courts. It is said that the Dominion Government are granting, or about to grant, licenses to cut timber in the disputed district, and if this is true the question will in this way be forced on the Ontario Government. And finally the Pacific Railway Syndicate are asking the Dominion Government for permission to cut timber for ties along the line of the railway as far west as Thunder Bay. This would bring them far into Ontario according to the boundary award, and though the contract gives them the right to cut timber along the line, it confers this right only where the Dominion Government has jurisdiction over the land. Ultimately, owing to the action of the Dominion Government in the premises, the matter will no doubt come before the Privy Council, and the sooner the better.

THE BOUNDARY QUESTION

THE BOOK SEIZURE

continues to be the great topic of talk here. The general opinion is that the Government have got themselves into an uncomfortable fix through the officiousness of the Collector, and there is little doubt that Sir John Macdonald now wishes himself well out of it. The voting force of those who call themselves "free-thinkers" is very heavy all over the country and they are very likely to make the seizure a political question. That they will do so in Toronto is certain, as they had Sir John Macdonald's pledge before the last election that he would not obstruct the importation of such works as those Mr. Patton has seized. The truth of the matter is that the real reason for the seizure was the infidel character of the books and not the alleged indecency or immorality, and that is the real reason why the Ministerial and Clerical Associations endorse the act. In the most respectable bookstores in this city can be found works infinitely more immoral and indecent, which have all passed under the Collector's nose, and which the clergy see every day on the book-shelves. No objection has ever yet been made to them, and if they are all to be interdicted hereafter our poor busybody of a Collector will have a time of it sampling the indecencies and immoralities. Fancy him poring over Rebelais or Boccaccio, or over Ouido's filthy novels.

ALNWICK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. John Frost, of Roseneath, had one of his legs badly smashed by falling from a threshing machine. He was driving on the road when the horses started to run away, and in an attempt to jump he received the injuries.

A few cases of typhoid fever have been satisfactorily attended. The disease is a mild form; but produces a lingering, unpleasant illness.

The root crops are nearly all taken up and have proved to be the lightest grown for a number of years past.

The new W. M. Church, of Roseneath, is now in course of construction. It is expected to be a fine building, and is to be completed in November.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 2nd, 1881.

The improvement in the weather has caused the receipt of grain to increase. Wheat has declined, and looks weak at the decline. Fall wheat sells at $1.20 to $1.23; spring wheat, $1.20 to $1.28. Barley has declined heavily, bright bringing 75c. to 80c.; dark and stained, 60c. to 70c. Outside markets weak. Peas sell from 70c. to 72c.; few offering. Rye has declined to 85c. Oats scarce and in demand at about 40c. Hay $9.00 to $10.00. On the Market fresh butter is more plentiful and cheaper, selling from 20c. to 23c. Keg butter is very poor, selling at 15c. to 20c., the bulk of it going at 17c. to 18c. Eggs are still coming in and bringing good prices—18 to 19 cents. Chickens selling from 30c. to 40c.—plentiful. Geese are very plentiful—worth from 35c. to 50c. Lamb still worth 7c. to 8c. Mutton about the same. Pork in the quarter 8c. to 10c. Dressed hogs are beginning to come out; selling from 7½ to 8c. Potatoes continue firm; worth 80c. to 90c. a bag.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The Board of School Trustees met in ...thly session on Tuesday evening last. ...resent,—Jas. Stevenson, Esq., chair... and Messrs. Poussette, Rutherford, ...le, Sawers, Denne, McClelland, Best, ...mble, Wrighton, Stratton, Burnham. The minutes of last meeting were read confirmed.

ENQUIRIES.

Mr. Denne said as he was not present ...he last meeting, he wished to ask if the ...le of the High School Inspectors' Re... had been read. There was a portion ...t, he understood, which had not, and which he thought should be made ...blic. That was as to the standing of ... rooms taught by the several teachers. Mr. Rutherford wished to draw the at...tion of the Board to a very great evil ...ich at present was being practised in ... school; he alluded to "cramming" ... pupils. He instanced the lengthy ...ons required of the younger pupils, ... severely criticised the teacher who ... responsible for it.

Mr. Dumble thought the remarks of ... Rutherford well made. It was a ...dship to require little children to ...rn the lengthy lessons which were re...ired of them.

Mr. Toole thought the position of a ...cher a very difficult one. Some would ...found who said there was not sufficient ...gress made. Unless the "cramming" ...ocess was resorted to to an injurious ...gree, the matter should be left in the ...nds of the Inspector and teachers.

Mr. Braden said he was the teacher ...ainst whom the charge was made, and ...the course which he had pursued in as...ning lessons called for his dismissal, ... Board could dismiss him at once. ...ere were some eight grades going over ... same work, each one taking up differ...t parts, so that in fact the long lessons ...re merely reviews of work previously ...ne over.

Mr. McClelland thought Mr. Braden ...ould not take this matter to himself, as ...was not intended for him. He had in...nded to have brought this matter up ...mself, as from personal experience with ...s own children, some of the lessons as...gned were altogether too much to re...ire of children.

Mr. Dumble did not know who the ...cher was. He knew that these exces...ve lessons were productive of no good, ... they discouraged the pupils and were ...jurious to their health.

The Inspector said there was a great ...difficulty in assigning lessons. While ...veral pages were assigned it was not in...nded that they should commit them all ... memory. This discussion he thought ...ould do more harm than good. Let the ...atter be brought judiciously before the ...achers. It was not expected to com...it all the lessons to memory, but only ... read them over and commit the princi...al points. What one omitted another ...ould remember, and the benefits of class ...ition would be brought forward.

Mr. Dumble thought it was perfectly ...ight that the Board should discuss this ...atter.

Mr. Rutherford, not only as a parent, ...t as a representative of the people, felt ... his duty to have the matter come before ...he notice of the Board.

Mr. Braden said the lessons given were ...ut a review, as the same matter ...ad been gone over five or six times be...ore. He only asked for the most impor...ant questions, and did not expect the ...hole lesson to be committed to memory.

Mr. McClelland wished to know what ...ad transpired relative to the religious ...nstruction in the rooms of the Public School. He understood the Bible lessons ...ad not been furnished the teachers.

Mr. Dumble said through an oversight ...they had been omitted for a month, but ...they were now furnished.

Mr. Poussette asked if anything had ...been done as to providing a waiting-room ...for the boys, as spoken of at last meeting.

Mr. Wrighton said the Principal of the Institute by a re-arrangement of the rooms and changing a class would be able to move Miss Graham's class, leaving the room at present occupied by her to be used as a waiting room. This would save the expense of fitting up one for the purpose.

ATTENDANCE AT SCHOOL.

A report from the Principal as to attendance at the different schools during the month of October was read as follows:

	On Roll.	Average.
Central School	592	424
South Ward School	211	179
West Ward School	178	148
	982	751

ACCOUNTS.

An account from W. Aldridge, for repairs to the South Ward School, amounting to $55, was ordered to be paid if found correct.

READJUSTMENT OF SALARIES.

Mr. Dumble, as Chairman of the Committee on Aepointments, reported as follows:—

The Committee on Appointments having considered the matters to them referred beg to report as follows:

1.—That Miss Dowling be appointed to the room now taught by Miss Flavelle, at a salary of $300 a year.

2.—That Miss Matthews be appointed to Miss Dowling's room, at a salary of $250 a year.

3.—That Miss Johnston be appointed to Miss Matthews' room, at a salary of $225 a year.

4.—That in making the above appointments the services of one teacher in the West Ward School are dispensed with. The scholars of the room left vacant are by readjustment appointed to the other rooms without impairing the efficiency of the work done, but as more work will be imposed on the teachers your Committee recommend that Miss Hall's salary be increased by $25, making it $250.

The Committee also recommend that Mr. Braden be authorized to select an assistant to take his work when it is necessary for him to be absent in the inspection of the other rooms of the Common Schools.

Your Committee have considered the question of the salaries of the Common School teachers, and recommend that a slight increase be made in them, and that salaries be as follows, taking effect, except as above-mentioned, after the first of January, 1882:—

Mr. John Braden	$750 00
Mr. Smith	500 00
Mr. Kidd	500 00
Mr. Thos. Braden	500 00
Miss Preston	400 00
Miss Nicholls	325 00
Miss Dowling	300 00
Miss Jenkins	325 00
Miss Perry	280 00
Miss Fair	280 00
Miss Beckett	280 00
Miss Irwin	250 00
Miss Hall	250 00
Miss Johnston	225 00
Miss Matthews	250 00
Miss Graham	210 00
Miss Ross	210 00

Your Committee, in view of the probability of a re-arrangement of the High School teachers, deem it inexpedient to consider at this time the salaries of the High School teachers, and ask leave to consider and report on the High School salaries at another time. Your Committee are of opinion that it may be possible to make a slight increase in these salaries without adding anything to the expense of the schools, if changes which may be effected can be accomplished.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

D. W. DUMBLE.

Nov. 1st, 1881.

Mr. Toole was desirous of seeing Mr. McKee's salary raised $100. He was an efficient teacher and had done substantial work. As other teachers who had not asked for a raise in salary were raised, he thought it strange that this one should be passed. He would support the report if this addition were added to it, and would move in amendment, seconded by Mr. Stratton, that the report be amended by increasing Mr. McKee's salary $100.

Mr. Dumble said that matter would be taken up again as some changes were contemplated in the High School, and thought it but right that the report should be adopted as presented. The salaries had been fixed according to the grades taught, and not on account of the individual qualifications of the teachers. Those doing the same work were to receive the same salaries.

Mr. Sawers would support the report if Miss Perry, Miss Fair, Miss Beckett, Miss Preston and other teachers received an increase.

Mr. Rutherford thought the report an equitable one and should commend itself to the Board.

Mr. Poussette said that at the Committee meeting there were good reasons for not bringing up the salaries of the High School teachers. The salaries of the other teachers had been based on the grades taught and not as to the particular qualities of the teachers. He thought the Board would be stultifying itself by not accepting the report.

Mr. Stratton withdrew his name as seconder of Mr. Toole's amendment, and Mr. Denne's was substituted therefor.

In amendment to the amendment, Mr. Sawers moved, seconded by Dr. Burnham, —That the report be amended by increasing the salaries of Miss Fair, Miss Perry and Miss Beckett to $300, Mr. Earl's to $850, and Mr. McKee $100 more than his present salary.

After some further discussion of the matter both amendments were put and declared lost. The original motion was then put and declared carried, the Chairman voting twice—first as a member of the Board, and secondly as Chairman, in giving the casting vote.

Mr. Sawers called for the yeas and nays, which were as follows:

YEAS—Dumble, McClelland, Rutherford, Poussette, Stratton and Stevenson.

NAYS—Denne, Best, Burnham, Sawers, Wrighton and Toole.

The Board then adjourned.

NORWOOD.

(From our own Correspondent)

The lambs and innocents of our village performed on Hallowe'en, and taking advantage of the usual license allowed on that festival, committed not a few nonsensical acts which their eye certainly should make them feel utterly ashamed of. The removal of gates, obstructing sidewalks and highways, and robbing hen roosts, besides other very reprehensible doings, may seem highly amusing to the performing juveniles, but it undoubtedly is not to their victims, who are put to considerable annoyance and trouble by such conduct; and done too by boys who are remarked for their well put on meekness and modesty. Mr. Reeve Pearce did duty as watchman for the night, and prevented several gangs of juvenile marauders from seriously committing themselves.

The weather here is delightful, and rather the reverse of what Vennor promised us.

A young man who has been attending the Norwood High School for a couple of years, and who is preparing himself for the higher walks of life, disposed of an organ he had been using to two different parties in the village, and delivered it over to the person with whom he last closed a bargain, and then made off with the proceeds of both sales, but the other party got word of his escapade and at once put the constable on his track, who succeeded in securing him before he had cleared our borders. I withhold names until the case becomes developed by the usual course of law.

Mr. John Stavely, who received a severe paralytic stroke about a fortnight since, died on Thursday evening last. From the outset of the case Dr. Massie, who diligently attended him, held out no hopes of his restoration to health. He was highly respected in this community, the funeral being attended by a very large number of our villagers.

The continuation of the Sargent—School Board controversy is not looked upon with much favour here. The courts have decided in favor of both litigants, and therefore they should be satisfied—at any rate all parties here seem satisfied with the result of the case so far, and are anxious to hear no more of a matter which, in the first place, was hardly worthy of notice.

Miss Minnie Pearce and her mother, of Peterborough, have been guests of our Reeve, Mr. J. B. Pearce, for some time back.

A Winnipeg despatch states that the syndicate are rushing the construction of the Canada Pacific railway. During the month of September they graded an average of over three miles per day, or an aggregate of 93 miles. From October 19th to October 25th, five days, nine miles of track were laid, or an average of nearly two miles per day. The Pacific railway is now graded to Gopher Creek, fifty miles west of Brandon. The air line to Portage La Prairie will shortly be completed and open for traffic. Grading on the southern and western branches is being pushed ahead rapidly and will be ready for the first one hundred miles for ties and track laying early in spring. The harvest of Southern Manitoba will be removed next year by rail.

NORWOOD SCHOOL TROUBLE.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

MR. EDITOR,—I think you will agree with me in saying that this Norwood-Sargent-Dutton school-whipping affair should come to an end. Should you so decide all must say that you have given both sides space enough to air their views on the question at issue. A great deal of irrelevant matter has been incorporated with the original trouble, while the whole could have been summed up in a nut-shell. The beginning and end of the matter is: The boy Sargent was guilty of some irregularity, the teacher Dutton whipped him unduly for it, and in consequence was fined by a bench of three magistrates. This should have ended the matter, but at this epoch in the history of this whipping, the Board come to the teacher's relief and expelled the boy. This was foolish and unjust, as the first punishment was too severe or the magistrates would not have fined the teacher for its infliction. Both Board and teacher should have waited for another opportunity, which would have soon offered itself if the boy is so bad as to cause his expulsion from the school. But should the Board justify punishment inflicted with the handle of the "taws," the strap being rolled round the teacher's hand? All will say they should not. Mr. Sargent was foolish for following the affair beyond the Magistrate's Court—he had then the best of it. His future course invited coalition, and he should know that all coalitions are partizan and evil. But now the matter should drop. The Board should rescind its motion expelling the boy. They can do so without compromise. The teacher should ask that it be rescinded for the boy's sake. The boy should return to school, determined to be a better boy, and to profit by this little episode in his history. All should make concession in the interest of and for the future well-being of the boy. The law of kindness should govern the teacher in all his dealings with his pupils. All are placed under his care, and may receive good or evil at his hand. He must regret the shape the affair has taken. Let him learn a lesson from it, and become a wiser teacher, a kinder tutor, and show an example for boys to copy after.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your forbearance,

I am yours,
NORWOOD.

"KENNEDY AT THE CAPE."—This is the title of an interesting little book of over 150 pages which has been placed on our table. It is written by David Kennedy, junior, one of the members of the Kennedy Family who are to give entertainments in the Opera House on the 11th and 14th instant. It is a description of a professional tour through Cape Colony, the Orange Free State, the Diamond Fields, and Natal, and is a continuation of the story of "Singing Round the World."

"A NICHT WI' BURNS."—Our readers generally, and especially those of them who are lovers of Scottish song, will be pleased to learn that an opportunity to hear the great Scottish vocalists—the Kennedy family—will be afforded them shortly, as these world-renowned songsters are announced for two entertainments in Peterborough. They will appear on Friday and Monday, 11th and 14th inst. Give them bumper houses.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.—The numbers of The Living Age for October 15, and October 22, contain "Four Centuries of English letters," by Sir Henry Taylor, Nineteenth Century; The future of Islam, Fortnightly; The Essayists, and Old English Clans, Cornhill; Mary Schonewald, a Study in Prophecy, Fraser; Hints for an Autumnal Ramble, The late John Hill Burton, and besieged in the Transvaal, Blackwood; Reminiscences of George Borrow and W. S. EXCUSING THEMSELVES.

(For the EXAMINER.)

"To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak." "Be not drunken with wine, wherein is riot," &c.—APOSTLE PAUL.

MAN.

"Intemp'rance is a great evil; but still,
So long as 'tis made people drink it will;
And men will dispose of it. So I may Gain by the transaction as well as they.
We do not ask them to drink; ah, no!
They have their judgment and they ought to know
What is best for themselves. And so we think
'Tis their business, not ours, how much they drink."

CONSCIENCE.

"Read in Exodus, chapter twenty-one—
There every one was for injuries done
Held accountable, and if death thereby
Ensued, then he for the wrong had to die.
Though this law was given long time ago,
Its principle is unchanging; and do
If through your selfishness souls are lost,
Then think, will your profits cover the cost."

MAN.

"Intemp'rance is a great evil, 'tis true.
And heinous crimes from it accrue;
But the Temperance Cause has a failure been,
And we've always reckoned it something mean.
So few of the great or rich have e'er
Espoused its interest, we could not bear
To be ridiculed because that we Belonged to a cause of such low degree."

CONSCIENCE.

"Ah, &c. not the day of small things despise—
What now looks contemptible in your eyes
May grow and spread like the mustard tree,
For 'tis born of the truth, then let it be.
Listed by Jesus God's Word doth shed,
For by, 'Thus saith the Lord you should be led';
And whether the learned or rich belong
Is not your standard of right or wrong."

MAN.

"But we fail to see where the Temp'rance cause
Receives its sanction from Scripture laws.
Did not our Saviour, when here below,
Wine for the guests at the marriage bestow.
'Twas often used by those bearing His name—
Why is it sinful if we do the same.

CONSCIENCE.

"Hear the woes pronounced by the voice Divine
On even the use of unfermented wine:
'Woe to a member, and it will bring
Puffy fleshy swell as the serpent's sting.'
And hear this injunction, 'Do not take Wine that thou mayest a difference make
'Tween holy and unholy things.' And Paul
Says it is good to abstain from all:
Yea, from everything that would cause to Said:
Those for whose Christ died, whose souls to win
Is the Christian's duty, and great will be Thy sin if souls are offended in thee."

MAN.

"Intemp'rance is a dread evil, and great
Must be the dire issues that those await
Who make it or sell it; but as for me,
Of all such grave charges I'm glad I'm free.
Only once in a while, with some dear friends,
Do I indulge, and my prayers ascend
For the poor inebriate every day,
That he may be turned from his evil way."

CONSCIENCE.

"You neither may make it or sell it. Oh, man!
Canst say at my bar you've done what you can?
As the Sacred Word says all things should be done
To the Glory of God. And where is the one
Who drinks with his friends at the bar or at home,
And doing so prays, 'Let thy Kingdom, Lord, come'?
You're a lover of souls, and say you pray
For their salvation? while they day by day,
To all appearance, are growing worse;
More to sin inur'd, while the dreadful curse
O'er their heads impend, and you see them led,
By the wine cup's besotments round them spread,
Downward, still downward, and never as much
With one of your fingers offer to touch,
In the way of removal, those things which debar
Their acceptance of Christ. How fruitless then are
Your prayers for him, while still you neglect
Your part in the work. Yea, if you expect
The promis'd fulfilment you must appear
In the presence of God, with garments clean,
Then faith by thy work shall verified be,
And the blessing surely be given thee."

MAN.

"Intemp'rance is a great evil, 'tis true,
But still we think that the abstainer's view
Is rather extreme, and though some abuse
Wine as a beverage—must we not use
It moderately—is that the reason why
Its harmless indulgence we must deny
Ourselves and our friends? No, no, we are free;
But in all things shall we temperate be."

CONSCIENCE.

"You're a moderate drinker; but, ah! beware
Of boasting, lest strong drink's alluring snare
Claim you its victim. For have thousands not Unwarily in its meshes caught.
Consider the Prophet Daniel, who
To the laws of his fathers proved so true.
He the royal dainties refused—and do
You call that bigotry, or his views
As a little extreme: or, did he make
Too much of little for his conscience sake?
If he who was greatly beloved touch'd not
That which with defilement and sin was fraught—
Is not the poisonous stuff now sold
With pollution imbued a thousand fold?
And yet you dare tamper with it, and me
Endeavor to silence, and boast you are free
To do as you please, and will not abstain
For the good of others whom, thou dost maintain,

FATTENING CHICKENS FOR MARKET.

Large numbers of chickens are reared and sold in all town and city markets throughout the country, but it is surprising to see how many are very inferior in quality and size. It is the exception, not the rule, to be able to buy a large, tender, well-fattened chicken. Yet there is an ever increasing demand for such. Chickens always sell well, and an improvement in quality would greatly improve the demand. Fowls, like everything else, will not pay unless care is exercised in their management; but if well attended they are very profitable. A good breed should be secured. Mr. Wright, in his excellent work on the subject, says at the age of four months chickens—if of a large breed—should be grown enough for the table, and if they have been well fed and come of good stock, they will be. To prepare for market the birds should be penned up for a fortnight or three weeks, which ought to add at least two pounds to their weight. For a limited number of chickens it will be sufficient to provide a number of simply constructed pens, each of which should measure 9 x 18 inches, by 18 inches in height. The bottom should be made of narrow slats placed about two inches apart; these slats should have rounded tops. The partitions, both end and back must be of boards and should be so made that the birds cannot see each other. These pens ought to be placed about two inches from the ground, in a partially darkened place, free from draught. Fresh, dry earth should be placed each day beneath the coops to catch the droppings, which should be cleaned out daily. Cleanliness must be the rule, or the best results will not be had. As soon as an occupant of a pen is removed for market, its pen should be whitewashed all over the inside and allowed to get quite dry before another is introduced. This will prevent trouble from insect vermin; but should trouble be experienced from them, a little powdered sulphur rubbed well into the roots of the feathers will give immediate relief. In front of each apartment should be a ledge three inches wide, on which to place the food and water tins. The latter must be replenished once and the former three times each day. Care should be taken to keep both clean and sweet. After each meal the pens must be darkened for half the time until the next by hanging a cloth over the front. This cloth is best tacked along the top, when it can be conveniently hung over or folded back as required. Two hours of darkness ensures quite a thorough digestion, but it is not desirable, as most do, to keep the birds thus the whole time till the next meal. The chickens will have a better appetite by the plan we recommend.

The best food for fattening is buckwheat meal, when it can be obtained. This is the use of this grain the French owe in a great measure their splendid fowls they market. If it cannot be procured, the best substitute is an equal mixture of barley and corn meal. Each bird should have as much as it will eat at a time, but no food left to become sour. A little barley may, however, be scattered along the ledge. The meal may be mixed with skim milk if convenient. A little chopped green food should be fed daily to keep their bowels in proper order. In three weeks the process should be completed. Fat only is added by penning a chicken; the lean flesh must be made before, and unless it has attained the proper standard in this respect, it is useless to attempt to fatten it, hence the importance of high feeding from the time of hatching. The secret of rearing chickens profitably is to get them ready for the table at the earliest possible period, and not to let them live a single day after. Every such day is a loss, as they cannot be kept fat. Once up to the mark, if not killed, they get feverish and begin to waste away. If extra weight and fat are wanted, the birds may be crammed during the last ten days of the fattening period, but not before. The meal is to be rolled up the thickness of a finger, then cut into pieces an inch and a half long; each piece must be dipped in water before it is put in the bird's throat, when there will be no difficulty in swallowing. For home use nothing is equal to those never fattened at all. If well fed there will be plenty of good meat. In any case let the chickens be fasted twelve hours before it is killed.

HOW TO REMOVE SPOTS.

If ink has been spilled over rosewood or mahogany furniture, half a teaspoonful of oil of vitriol in a tablespoonful of water, applied with a feather, will quickly remove it.

When velvet has been wet and becomes spotted, hold the wrong side over steam, and while damp draw the wrong side quickly over a warm iron. It takes two to do this—one to hold the bottom of the iron upward, and the second to draw the velvet across.

Ivory that has been spotted, or has grown yellow, can be made as clear and fresh as new by rubbing them with sand paper, and then polishing with finely powdered pumice stone.

Marble can be nicely cleaned in the following manner: Pulverise a little blue-stone, and mix with four ounces of whiting; add to these four ounces of soft soap and one ounce of soda dissolved in a very little water. Boil this preparation over a slow fire fifteen minutes, stirring all the time. Lay it on the marble while hot, with a clean brush. Let it remain half an hour; then wash off in clean suds, wipe dry, and polish by quick rubbing. If marble is smoked or soiled, either by bituminous coal or too free use of kindling wood, Spanish whiting, with a piece of washing soda, rubbed together, and wet with only enough water to moisten and make it into a paste, will remove the grease and smoke. Dip a piece of flannel in this preparation, and rub the spots while the paste is quite moist. Leave the paste on for hours, and, if need be, remove it and renew with fresh paste. When the spots disappear wash the place with clean, hot soap-suds, wipe dry and polish with chamois skin.

Oil marks on wall paper, or the marks where inconsiderate people rest their heads, are a sore grief to good housekeepers, but they can be removed without much trouble. Take pipe-clay or fuller's earth, and make into a paste, about as thick as rich cream, with cold water; lay it on the stain gently, without rubbing it in; leave it on all night. It will be dry by morning, when it can be brushed off, and unless an old stain, the grease spot will have disappeared. If old, renew the application.

Grease on a Carpet, if not of long standing, can be readily disposed of by washing the spot with hot soap-suds and borax—half an ounce of borax to a gallon of water. Use a clean cloth to wash it with, rinse in warm water, and wipe dry.

If spermaceti is dropped on any garment or furniture, first carefully scrape off all that can be removed without injury to the material; then lay brown paper over the spot, or a piece of blotting paper, and put a warm iron on the paper until the oil shows through. Continue to renew the paper and supply the warm iron until the paper shows no more oil.

If ink is spilled on a carpet or woollen article it should be attended to at once while still wet, if possible, and then is very easily removed. Take clean blotting paper or cotton batting and gently sop up all the ink that has not soaked in. Then pour a little sweet milk on the spot and soak it up from the carpet with fresh cotton batting. It will need to be renewed two or three times, fresh milk and cotton being used each time, and the spot will disappear. Then wash the spot with clean soap-suds, and rub dry with a cloth. If the ink has been allowed to dry in, the milk must remain longer and be repeated many times.

WASHING FLANNELS.

A lady correspondent says:—"I will give a little of my experience in washing flannels. I was taught to wash flannels in hot water, but it is a great mistake. In Italy my flannels were a wonder to me, they always came home from the wash so soft and white. I learned that the Italian women washed them in cold water. Many a time I have watched them kneeling on a box, which had one end taken out, to keep them out of the mud, by the bank of a stream, washing in the running water and drying on the bank or gravel, without boiling; and I never had washing done better, and flannels never half so well. I have tried it since, and find the secret of nice soft flannels to be the washing of them in cold or lukewarm water, and plenty of stretching before hanging out. Many recipes say don't rub soap on flannels; but you can rub soap on to the advantage of flannels, if you will rinse it out afterward and use no hot water about them, not forgetting to stretch the threads in both directions before drying. Flannels so cared for will never become stiff, shrunken or yellow."

HOW TO MAKE MONEY.

Most people are aware of the famous advice given by the thrifty Laird of Dumbiedykes on his deathbed to his son and heir: "Plant trees, Jock—they'll grow when ye're sleepin'!"

The saying may be modernized into: "Insert advertisements, ye men of business—they will work while you are sleeping."

They will act in a thousand ways—they will go where you can't go—they will say a word for you in places you least suspect.

What phosphates are to soil, advertisements are to business.

Rural notification, while indispensable in some cases, is a relic of ancient days when the bill-sticker and bell-man reigned supreme, and is at best but rough-and-ready compared to the neat "ad" catching the public eye along with the pungent "leaper" or the latest local news.

In short, the business man who doesn't advertise is like a fellow winking behind green spectacles—he may know what he is doing, but nobody else.

PILING WOOD.

Many people who handle wood do not know that if they wish the bark to come off they should pile it bark down; if they wish to retain the bark the opposite should be done. A correspondent writes to the Detroit Post-Tribune, giving his experience as follows:—"I have sold wood for over forty years in Michigan, and I find that when split wood is corded up the bark remains on until I sell and measure up the wood, and all that is piled bark down the bark falls off and measures nothing; besides, there is more heat in the bark than in the sap of the log. The most and best ashes are also from the bark. I have on my place now some maple wood that was chopped nine years ago and corded bark up, and the bark would hold on if I would draw the wood to Saginaw (18 miles) and cord up and measure; besides the bark is lighter to draw. When the bark is piled down the water runs in around the wood and makes it dozy, wet and heavy. Tell your neighbors to try it. Railroad companies will save thousands of dollars by piling their wood bark up.

Mr. Fairbairn's cheese factory, at Bobcaygeon, is doing a capital business and is proving very profitable. He has now thirty cows in milk, but will increase the number to fifty in the spring.

NO RISK.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL! WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD. DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING OF IT? IF NOT IT IS TIME YOU DID.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common Sore Throat. One bottle has cured Bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old Standing Cough. One or two bottles cures bad cases of Piles or Kidney Troubles. Six to eight applications cure any case of Excoriated Nipples or Inflamed Breast. One bottle has cured Lame Back of eight years' standing. Daniel Plank, of Brookfield, Tioga Co., Pa., says: "I went thirty miles for a bottle of our Oil, which affected a wonderful cure of a Crooked Limb, by six applications."—Another who had had Asthma for years, says:—"I have half a bottle left, and $100 would not buy it if I could not get no more."—Rufus Robinson, of Nunda, N. Y., writes: "One small bottle of your Eclectric Oil restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper for five years."—Rev. J. Mallory, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes: "Your Eclectric Oil cured me of Bronchitis in one week."

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. It is as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be immeasurably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense.

Beware of Imitations.—Ask for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. THOMAS is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cents. NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, Ont., Proprietors for the Dominion.

NOTE—Eclectric—Selected and Electrized

THE ALEMBIC OF THE BODY.—The stomach is the alembic of the human system. In it those wondrous chemical changes take place which result in the transmutation of food into blood. When it is vigorous the necessary processes of digestion and assimilation go on uninterrupted, and the system is suitably nourished. When it is feeble or disordered, they are obstructed, and being in consequence ill supplied with blood of a vitalising quality, the physical organism becomes weak and feeble, the nerves suffer, the liver and bowels are semi-paralyzed, and appetite and sleep fail. These disastrous consequences may, however, be prevented, or remedied with the supreme stomachic and aperient, NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, a medicine of rare purity and efficacy, which reforms a disordered and repairs a weakened state of the digestive organs, overcomes biliousness, relieves the bowels when obstructed without straining or weakening them, and promotes the exit from the system of impurities which infect the blood, which cause serious organic maladies. No objectionable mineral contaminates it, and its value is not marred by a subsequent re-action prejudical to the general health. Far perferable is it to the ordinary nauseous drugs used to produce a similar effect, but which are frequently ineffective as well as unpleasant; nor is it a cheap and valueless medicine, puffed into existence. It is used for dyspepsia, biliousness, affections of the blood, kidney complaints, famale weakness, lumbago, &c., and in all blood diseases it is unequalled. Price, $1.00. Sample Bottle 10 cents. Ask for NORTHROP & LYMAN'S Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." "Brown's Household Panacea," being acknowledged as the great Pain Reliever, and of double the strength of any other Elixir or Liniment in the world, should be in every family, handy for use when wanted. "as it really is the the best remedy in the world for Cramps in the stomach, and Pains and Aches of all kinds," and is for sale by all Druggists at 25 cents a bottle. 6-1y

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

Just then the bell rang, and Bridget returned to announce Mr. Henry, and Cicely told Bridget she would take another lemon next day, and then she went up-stairs in her chintz apron and mobcap, with a little daub of flour on her tip-lifted nose, and told Henry she was learning to cook, and he told her she must not get overheated or worried out, for he didn't care whether she could cook or not; he should never want to eat when he could talk to her, and it was only nerdid souls that cared for cooking.

And meanwhile poor Bridget was just slamming things in the kitchen, and talking to herself, in her own sweet idiom, about "idgits turning things upside down for her inconvanencing."—Detroit Free Press.

KEEP THE FEET DRY.—This is the season of sloppy weather so productive of colds, and lung troubles; neglected cold or damp feet is a great source of these difficulties. Cure your cough with Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. Pleasant to take and always reliable. 44-2t

We carry all our neighbors' crimes in sight and throw all our own over our shoulder.

USE THE celebrated "Lardine Oil" on your machinery. Best and cheapest oil in the market. Does not clog or gum. Has good heavy body and will not thin in summer. Sold in Peterborough by Messrs. McKee & Davidson; and in Lakefield by W. H. Casement. Try it and you will use no other. 25-52t

Happiness is always the inaccessible castle which sinks to ruin when we set foot on it.

DESERVING PRAISE.—Too much cannot be expressed in favor of that unsurpassed remedy for coughs, colds, asthma, croup, sore throat and all lung complaints. If you suffer from neglected colds, try Hagyard's Pectorial Balsam. The cost is trifling, only 25 cents. 44-2t

No life can be utterly miserable that is heightened by the laughter and love of one little child.

No article ever attained such unbounded popularity in so short a time as Burdock Blood Bitters, and that too during the existence of countless numbers of widely advertised bitters and blood purifiers. It is evident that this medicine begins its work at once, and leaves no desirable effect unattained. 44-2t

Cheerfulness is an excellent wearing quality. It has been called the bright weather of the heart.

THE CAUSES OF COLDS are getting overheated in hot rooms or crowded assemblies, sitting in a draught, or cooling too rapidly after exercise, muffling up warm and changing to lighter wrappings, cold and damp feet. No matter what is the cause Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is the cure for all throat and lung diseases that induce consumption. 44-2t

"Guilty or not guilty?" asked a justice of a prisoner. "Not guilty." "Den what do you want here? Go about your pisness."

HAGYARD'S YELLOW OIL will be found invaluable for all purposes of a family liniment. Immediate relief will follow its use in all cases of pain in the stomach, bowls or side; rheumatism, colic, colds, sprains and bruises. For internal and external use. It has no equal in the world for what it is recommended. For sale by all dealers at 25c. per bottle. 44-2t

When will people learn to mind their own business? Not in this world—some other world.

Mrs. E. H. Perkins, Creek Centre, Warren Co., N. Y., writes:—"She has been troubled with Asthma for four years, had to sit up night after night with it. She has taken two bottles of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil and is perfectly cured. She strongly recommends it, and wishes to act as agent among her neighbors."

"I occasionally drop into poetry," as the man said when he fell into the editorial waste basket.

It would be a gross injustice to confound that standard healing agent—Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—with the ordinary unguents, lotions and salves. They are often times inflammatory and astringent. This Oil is, on the contrary, eminently cooling and soothing when applied externally to relieve pain, and powerfully remedial when swallowed.

The two powers which constitute a wise man are those of bearing and forbearing.

IF YOU DON'T BELIEVE IT, ASK ANY GERMAN, and he will convince you that St. Jacob's Oil is the most wonderful remedy that has ever been brought before the public. Rheumatism of many years standing has yielded immediately to its almost magical influence. As many have expressed it, its action is electrical, seeming to drive the pain before it until all discomfort leaves the body and the warm glow of health and comfort remains. It is a certain cure for neuralgia, giving immediate relief upon the first application, and curing, in a short time, the most inveterate cases.

MALTOPEPSYN.

"The Maltopepsyn was given in a marked and distressing case of Indigestion with the most rapid, pleasing and beneficial results." Z. W. KEMPTON, M. D.

ATHLONE, ONT., Jan. 20, 1880.

"The Maltopepsyn I obtained from you has far more than answered my anticipations. Having tried it in two old and very obstinate cases of indigestion, I found it to act like a charm." C. McKENNA, M. D.

CAMARAY, ONT., Jan., 1881.

"I have used your Maltopepsyn in severe cases of Indigestion and Malnutrition in adults, and Diarrhœa of children, and am so well pleased with the results that I have instructed my druggist to keep a supply on hand." T. W. READE, M. D.

ATHLONE, ONT., Dec. 30, 1880.

"After giving your Maltopepsyn a trial in some of my worst cases, for which it was recommended, I am well pleased with the way in which it acts. Continue to make a good article like that now in use, and it will be a universal favorite." R. HAMILTON, M. D.

MANHOOD

How Lost! How Restored!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Manhattan Feed!

—FOR—

HORSES, CATTLE, MILCH COWS, SHEEP AND PIGS.

IT is a source of health, because it keeps the organs in a natural healty tone. It acts as a relish, promotes perfect digestion, and purifies the blood, thereby keeping the coat in a free and glossy condition. TRY IT! BUY IT!

READ THESE RECOMMENDATIONS:

Toronto, March 4th, 1881.

We have used the "Manhattan Feed" for six weeks, reducing our oats one-quarter and using no bran. We have ordered more considering the system of feeding a good one, having saved about $15 per month on the feed of 12 horses, their condition being fully kept up.

Prescott, Ont., May 3rd, 1881.

MESSRS R. W. SMITH & CO., MONTREAL:
Gentlemen,—We have used the Manhattan Feed this winter with our horses, one of which we have hitherto found it difficult to keep fat;—but since using your feed he has picked up and become remarkably well conditioned, so much so that it has been the remark of the townspeople how well our horses looked. Apart from this, we find that we are not obliged to feed as many oats as before; and have great pleasure in recommending its general use.

Yours etc., GEO. LABATT,
Manager P. B. & M. Co.

Peterboro, Jan. 4th, 1881.

Messrs Taylor & McDonald, Agents,—Dear Sirs:—The Manhattan Feed bought from you has not only done all you professed for it, but much more. Before feeding it to our hens we were only getting on an average two eggs per week from each hen, now we average five to six. The difference it has made in our sheep one would have to see in order to credit. I would advise all interested in getting their cattle in good condition to get a bag. It has more than paid me its cost twice over.

BANK CHANGES.—Mr. J. P. Ashworth, of the Bank of Montreal, has been promoted to Bank of Montreal, Brantford. Mr. R McLeod, of St. Mary's, succeeds Mr. Ashworth here.

MARKET.—Saturday was rough and rainy and this prevented the market from being fully attended. A considerable number braved the elements and sold their wares at a slight increase.

MISSIONARY MEETING.—The annuaul missionary meeting in connection with St. John's Church will be held on Monday evening next, 7th instant at 7.30 o'clock.

THE MIDLAND GRAIN TRADE.—On Monday last the schooners Fellow-Craft, Lady Dufferin, Lady Macdonald, Midland Rover, Erin and Consort arrived at Midland from Chicago with 150,000 bushels of wheat for transhipment by the Midland Railway.

INTERESTING TO THE LADIES.—Our lady readers will find it advantageous to call and inspect Mrs. McEachern's new fall stock, which is very attractive in every line. Special bargains are now being offered in real black silk Maltese lace and kid gloves.

ROCK ISLAND BOOTS.—Messrs. R. Stenson & Son have just received several cases of Rock Island Boots, which are marked down to bottom prices. Full stock in all other departments, selling extremely cheap. Call and see for yourself. 36-tf.

The Midland Lake & River Co. (in which Robert Jaffray, Wm. Gooderham, Geo. A. Cox, H. H. Cook and H. P. Dwight are interested) have given notice of application for letters patent. Capital stock $200,000; headquarters at Toronto; object lake and river navigation.

UNCLE TOM'S CABIN.—Anthony & Ellis' famous ideal Uncle Tom's Cabin Company performed in Bradburn's Hall, on Monday evening, to a crowded house. The characters throughout were well taken, especially Topsy, Uncle Tom and little Eva. The singing of the Negro quartette drew forth encore upon encore.

TO STAMMERERS.—The stammerer's friend will be in Peterborough the coming week, where he will remain for a few days to treat those who may be troubled with any defects in speech. All are invited to call and consult him. Consultation free. Rich and poor welcomed. No cure no pay. 43-

PETERBOROUGH AT THE COBOURG FAIR.—We learn from the World that at the Northumberland County Fair recently held in Cobourg, Mr. Peter Hamilton carried off prizes for Wooden Plough, Iron Beam Plough, Gang Plough, Green Crop Cultivator, Sulky Horse Rake, Reaping Machine, and Straw Cutter. Messrs. J. Whyte & Co. also carried off a prize for a plough.

FURS.—By importing the raw material and manufacturing his goods on his own premises, Mr. Lech is always able to give the public a line of bona fide choice furs at prices even less than the same goods can be purchased for in the large cities. Read his announcement in another column.

BAPTIST CHURCH.—Mrs. Armstrong, a returned missionary from India, will deliver an address to the ladies in the Baptist Church, Aylmer street, to-morrow (Friday) afternoon, at three o'clock. All ladies interested in mission work are invited to be present. A collection will be taken up at the door, to assist in defraying expenses.

THE HORSE TRADE.—It is astonishing at what a rate cattle and horses are being exported out of the country lately. The farmers will be under the necessity of going into the breeding more extensively, or else they will be obliged to reverse the order of things and begin to import. From all parts of the country, our exchanges are chronicling weekly the shipment of both horses and cattle.

"A Curious Experience" and "The Blunders of a Bashful Man," are the titles of two small volumes sent us by the Toronto News Company, the former by Mark Twain, and the latter by the author of "A Bad Boy's Diary." Both are amusing and interesting and should find a ready sale.

A NEW SWINDLE.—Two sharpers work this swindle. One buys a horse and makes a sale at a very low price to some farmer, telling some plausible story to account for his willingness to take half what the animal is worth. In the course of four or five days along comes the second man, who claims to run a livery stable, and he identifies the horse as the one stolen from him. He talks big, blusters around, and either scares the farmer into giving up the horse or "settling the case" by paying a good round sum.

TWO STATUTES for the protection of shade trees were passed by the last New York State Legislature. They provide punishment for any mutilation or wilful injury to trees along roads and sidewalks. Even hitching horses to these trees, or leaving horses standing near enough to the trees to do them injury is forbidden, under a fine not exceeding ten dollars. We need the enforcement of such a law in this Province. Not a few have been discouraged in their attempts to cultivate shade trees, owing to the depredations of man and beast.

CRICKETING.—The following paragraph from the American Cricketer will be read with interest by the friends of cricketing in this section:—"Mr. Charles J. Logan, of the Port Hope Cricket Club, has played this year in twenty-one matches; his record is as follows:—3,325 balls; 665 overs; 925 runs; 178 wickets; average, 5 2-10 runs per wicket. This is a tip-top bowling performance, and, no doubt, the best that has been done in America during the present season. It places Mr. Logan first on the list of medium pace bowlers on this side of the Atlantic, and he is to be congratulated on his well-deserved success."

MOSES OATES, who flatters himself with the belief that he is a better weather profit than Vennor, because his predictions were more generally realized this year, says the first half of November will be exceptionally fine, clear, warm weather, as beautiful as Spring, the regular Indian Summer. The weather will then turn cold and by the beginning of December the weather will have every appearance of winter. The cold snap, will however, only last a few days at a time, and the Winter will be the most open that has been experienced in scores of years. Navigation will scarcely close, and the Winter, such as it is, will be extremely short.

FANCY GOODS BY AUCTION.—By reference to our advertising columns, as well as posters and hand bills, it will be seen that Mr. J. F. Austin has determined to clear off the whole of his large stock of fancy goods, plated ware, jewellery, albums, work boxes, picture frames, &c., &c., and to effect a speedy clearance will dispose of the same by auction, commencing to-morrow evening, and continuing each evening and Wednesday and Saturday afternoons till the whole is disposed of. The stock is very attractive, well assorted, and is sure to meet with ready sale. Private sales at auction prices during daytime. 44-1t

IN BELLEVILLE Mr. Craige, inspector under the cow by-law, has impounded one hundred and eighty-six cows, one horse, and fifty-one geese since August 6th. There is much need of such an official in Peterborough. The cow by-law, in this town, like many others, is permitted to remain a dead-letter. Not to speak of the destruction continually being done to shade trees, etc., it is simply disgraceful that some of our best streets, and almost in the centre of the town, should be rendered nearly impassable by the accumulation of filth and dirt, caused by the herds of cattle allowed to frequent them both day and night. It is to be hoped this matter will be attended to at once by the proper authorities.

COMING! COMING!—Messrs. G. E. Plumber & Co., who, it will be remembered, carried on such an extensive and satisfactory sale last spring, in jewellery and fancy goods, are again to visit Peterborough and will in a few days open up in Menzies' old stand, next to Taylor and Macdonald's, with a stock much larger and far superior in every way to that previously offered by them; some 65 cases of goods have already arrived. The general satisfaction which their former sale here has given will, we feel assured, draw large crowds to secure the bargains offered. Mr. Stapleton will conduct the sales, due notice of which will be given. As the holiday season is fast approaching, our citizens will have a rare opportunity of securing suitable articles at much below retail prices. Look for their opening. It

WATER-WORKS. Mr. Gamble, accompanied by a Mr. Ferris, a hydraulic engineer from New York, have been in town during the past week taking levels and otherwise preparing for the early commencement of the construction of the water-works. As yet nothing definite has been settled upon, but both gentlemen are well satisfied with the prospects of eligible sites for pumping house, etc. On Tuesday evening a meeting of the Provisional Directors of the Water-works Company was held to complete arrangements for the formation of the Company. Mr. W. Cluxton was elected President, and stock book opened. We are informed that quite an amount of stock was subscribed. At a subsequent meeting, held yesterday afternoon, Mr. George Hatton was elected Secretary.

AUCTION SALES.—Perhaps there never was a better time for auction sales than the present. Live stock of all kinds is now sought after and bring good prices; farming is more profitable than it has been, is being rapidly extended, and both stock and implements are more anxiously sought after. Those contemplating having sales should consult Mr. Charles Stapleton, Peterborough, who will be only too happy to give them all information. As to sale bills, the EXAMINER Office has the best and largest assortment of cuts, types, borders and papers of any office in this district, and can therefore fill all orders promptly, satisfactorily, expeditiously, and at very low prices. Call before ordering elsewhere, see specimens and judge for yourselves.

FORTUNATE ESCAPE.—The Globe of Friday says:—It is asserted that William Brown, of Peterborough, one of the passengers by a late excursion train to Manitoba, fell from the car as they stood on the bridge over the Mississippi at La Crosse. It seems that the train stopped on the bridge at night time and divided. Mr. Brown, in attempting to step from one car to another, which was at the time several hundred yards distant, found himself in space tumbling over and over like a circus performer, on his way to the water forty feet below. He struck the river in good shape, and being a first-rate swimmer, quickly made his way to the pier where he found a safe landing, and was shortly afterwards drawn up to the bridge by some of the workmen. He was damp but none the worse otherwise.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Thursday forenoon last Malcolm Maitland, engineer at Baptie's planing mill, met with an accident of such a serious nature that little hopes are entertained of his recovery. While passing close to the large driving wheel his clothes caught in the belting and he was instantly thrown forward and drawn into the pit below the wheel, being alone in the room his cries attracted the attention of some boys in the yard, who gave the alarm to the men employed in the mill, who, on taking in the situation, instantly closed down the machinery and drew the apparently lifeless body from the pit. Medical aid was at once summoned and the unfortunate man removed to his home, where he lies in a very precarious state. One of his legs and several of his ribs are broken, his head badly crushed and his spine injured. The internal injuries it is feared are of a fatal nature.

HUNTING. Last week a Rochester hunting party returned from a two weeks hunt in the neighborhood of Burleigh Falls, where they thoroughly enjoyed themselves, being fortunate enough to get nine deer, eight of which they took home with them. They were greatly pleased with their trip, and speak highly of Mr. John Holmes, of the Burleigh Hotel. The Port Hope Times says:—"Their camp was one day visited by a stalwart Indian Chief, got up in the most gorgeous array, and armed to the teeth with revolvers of unique, antiquated patterns, and knives of unusual dimensions, while his belt was full of scalps freshly taken. This rather startling son of the forest, after having the war-paint washed off him, turned out to be mine host of the Queen's Hotel, Millbrook, who created quite a sensation by his sudden appearance in the quiet camp of the unsophisticated denizens of the "flower city," who are not in the habit of seeing the dusky red man in all his gorgeous magnificence very often."

DISGRACEFUL. Some of our back streets and even the more central streets of Peterborough are an Elysium for pigs and cows. On Monday there were seven cows at one time on the road in front of the Old Kirk Church, and in the southern part of the town pigs may be seen wallowing in the mud, grunting with satisfaction and passing unanimous resolutions of confidence in our Town Council. As long as such animals are allowed to roam unhindered, people will not beautify the streets by planting shade trees, &c. In American towns and villages a fence is almost a curiosity. Here big unsightly fences everywhere meet the eye. There is no great incentive to highly beautify grounds so surrounded, and instead of residences with elegant and artistic lawns and grounds, in the majority of cases the direct opposite is the case. Perhaps the owners of those animals imagine that the presence of their stock adds a highly desirable rural charm and simplicity to the town. We want this matter remedied.

PERSONAL.

Rev. Mr. Hanson, pastor of the M. E. Church, Cobourg, who left for England some time ago, is expected back in about two weeks.

Rev. Father Stafford is expected home in a few days. We hope his extended visit to Ireland has benefitted his health.

We are pleased to see the Rev. Mr. Workman has so far recovered from his recent illness as to be able to be out again.

Mr. W. J. Devlin has bought out the harness and saddlery business carried on by D. C. Hopkins, and in future will carry on business in both stands.

We regret to learn that the Hon. C. F. Fraser has been compelled to visit New York to consult eminent authority regarding the condition of his health, which has not been good for some time past.

Mr. F. B. Polson, the popular captain of the Steamer Fairy, has been appointed Master Mechanic of the Victoria Railway, and has taken up his residence in Lindsay. We congratulate Mr. Poulson on his appointment. Mr. Edington will carry on business with the Fairy this fall and next season.

The paragraph in the daily papers stating that Marvin Knowlton, had been remanded to jail at the request of his relations, is denied by the Hamilton Times, which says that Knowlton "walked into the Times office sober, well dressed and smiling, looking like anything but a man who had been on the spree. Knowlton is a smart man when he takes care of himself, and he appears to be doing that now.

—"The Weekly Royal" is another aspirant for amateur journalistic fame. It is published by C. H. Lee, a former proprietor of The Star.

—On Saturday last, at the Chancery sale, McKee v. Morrow, the property on Dickson-street was purchased by Mr. C. W. Sawers for $500.

—The disorderly conduct at entertainments in the Opera House is increasing rather than abating. It is about time Mr. Bradburn took steps to have the nuisance stopped.

—In another column Mr. Lewis Davis, of Smith, announces an auction sale of well-bred stock, on Thursday, 17th of November. Those requiring good stock should make an effort to be present.

RAILWAY NOTES

It is reported that the Dominion Government intend refusing, in the interest of the Pacific syndicate, a charter to the proposed Manitoba and Southeastern railway, which was intended to connect the lines centreing in Winnipeg with the American line terminating at Duluth, and would thus afford a competing outlet for the produce of the northwest with the syndicate's line.

The traffic returns of the Midland and Grand Junction railways for the week ending Oct. 21, 1881, were as follows:—

MIDLAND RAILWAY.—Passengers and mails, $3,252.91; freight, $10,998.07; total, $14,250.98, as compared with $10,470.99 for the corresponding week of 1880, being an increase of $3,779.99; and the aggregate traffic to date is $330,230.76, being an increase of $50,386.75 over 1880.

GRAND JUNCTION RAILWAY.—Passengers and mails, $887.73; freight, $1,978.52; total, $2,666.25, as compared with $1,499.72 for the corresponding week of 1880, being an increase of $1,166.53; and the aggregate traffic from 1st June to date is $49,439.84, being an increase of $29,486.18 over 1880.

The result was as follows:—Of 1,000 girls 51 married at the age of 19, 66 at 21, 80 at 22, 90 at 23, 99 at 25, 103 at 26, 103 at 27, 102 at 28, 96 at 29, 82 at 30, 68 at 31, 61 at 32, 58 at 33, 57 at 34, 53 at 35, 50 at 36, 49 at 37, 48 at 38, 46 at 39, 46 at 40 years of age during the past twelvemonths.

The convicts in the Ohio penitentiary are a credit to the state. It is reported that they have, by denying themselves tobacco and other luxuries, together with the sale of trinkets, made in hours of leisure raised the sum of $100, which has been devoted to the Michigan sufferers.

A fund of $5,000 has been contributed by brewers, according to the Chicago Inter-Ocean, for the dissemination of "information tending to popularize lager beer as a harmless beverage." The idea is to circulate, by pamphlets and otherwise, praise of beer and attacks on other spirituous drinks.

After the performance at the circus at Carteraville, Ga., a difficulty occured between the circus men, the deputy marshal, and others. A negro was shot and killed, others on both sides were badly beaten and bruised, and two circus men were shot. Whiskey was the cause of the trouble. A lion and a bear escaped from their cages during the melee. The bear was killed, but the lion is still at large. Considerable excitement prevails.

It will be recollected that during the Presidential canvass the dead walls of cities in the United States were covered with the figures "329," an allusion to the amount of money Garfield was said to have received from Oakes Ames in connection with the Credit Mobilier. Now a cyphering genius has discovered that from the date of Garfield's election, November 2nd, to the date of his burial, September 26th, both inclusive, was just 329 days. Here is food for the lovers of omens.

Getting married in New York that is, getting married in anything like style costs money. A writer who has given the matter considerable study announces that in the city named a wedding of 1,000 guests, with ushers and bridesmaids, exclusive of bridal dress and trousseau, ranges, anywhere between $1,800 and $3,500. A thoughtful father is said to have recently put his intended son-in-law up to elope with, his daughter on the express ground of economy.

CANADIAN NEWS.

The Portage Review says that an Indian "scooped in" 1500 white fish in one day on the Little Saskatchewan River recently. This is pretty good.

The Joseph Hall Manufacturing Company received a letter the other day from a mill owner in Adelaide, Cape of Good Hope, inquiring for water wheels.

The Methodist clergymen of Montreal and other places, condemned Rev. Dr. Burns, of Hamilton, for the views contained in his letter to Rev. Dr. Thomas. They repudiate with a good deal of vehemence the imputation that these views are held generally by the ablest of the Methodist divines in Canada.

Manitoba newspapers have started a movement to secure the surrender of the crown lands within the province to the local government. Since the extension of her boundaries Manitoba has become one of the largest provinces in the Dominion, and the wealth represented by her lands is incalculable.

Rev. Mr. Rainford, of Toronto, has set a most worthy example. He has declined to avail himself of the tax exemption law, and will pay his taxes the same as if he was not a minister of the gospel. There are several other gentlemen belonging to the sacred calling in Canada who have done the same, and it is said that many ministers in Toronto and elsewhere will follow their example.

In Canada just now we have a fiscal system designed to tempt men from the farm to the factory. That is a mistake. The temptation should be all the other way—from the factory to the farm—for that is the only process which can give the factory relief in time of trouble. The factory has got a notion that it has a right to be subsidized at the expence of the farm. The farm asks only to be let alone, in order that its advantages may demonstrate their existence. Clearly any fiscal system which interferes with the production of food not only harms Canada but detracts from the wealth of the whole world. The tariff which limits the farmer to buy where he can buy the cheapest diminishes his and the world's wealth. Let the farmer have his natural profits on the cultivation of Canada's fertile soil, and the factories can take care of themselves. His ability to buy is the measure of demand for their products.

OUR TORONTO LETTER.

The Sault Ste. Marie Railway—The Judicature Act—The New Parliament Buildings—Ontario and Quebec Railway, &c., &c.

TORONTO, Nov. 8., 1881.

THE SAULT LINE.

On Wednesday last the first annual meeting of the Ontario Sault Ste Marie Railway Company was held in this city, the principal shareholders being present. The proceedings were most harmonious and the utmost determination was manifested to push on the work of construction as rapidly as possible. The report of the directors, which was unanimously adopted, shows that the line has been located for the greater part of the distance between the Sault and French River, and by the time of this writing I have no doubt that the work of locating will be almost completed between Spanish River and the Sault. For a part of this latter distance—namely from Algoma Mills to Spanish River the Syndicate have let a contract for construction and over this portion of the line there will be two railways running side by side. For this state of affairs the settlers in that region will have reason to be grateful, for between the railway competition and the rivalry of both lines with the local steamers in summer time they will get the best possible terms for freights both inward and outward. The financial prospects of the Ontario Sault Company are said to be excellent. They expect to receive, as a matter of course, the Ontario Gov't. bonus of $800,000, which is equivalent to nearly $2800 a mile for the entire distance from Gravenhurst to the Sault. This is a good start and the backing of the Grand Trunk, Midland, Whitby and Lindsay, and Toronto and Nipissing lines counts for a great deal. All these roads are dependent on the Ontario Sault line for access to the North-west and co-operation will no doubt be facilitated by the proposed amalgamation of the Midland with some of the roads mentioned. What is of at least equal importance is the fact that the Northern Pacific is as much dependent on the Ontario Sault line for an outlet to the seaboard as the Grand Trunk and the Midland combination are for an inlet into the North-west. This renders it certain that the Northern Pacific will give the project moral, and perhaps also material support. It was reported recently that the St. Paul and Manitoba Railway Company—which is virtually one with the Canada Pacific Syndicate—were trying to purchase the Marquette and Machinaw Railway, which is a necessary link in the proposed extension of the Northern Pacific from Duluth to the Sault. Whatever truth there may have been in the report it is now believed here that the control of the line mentioned has passed into the hands of the Northern Pacific, and it is reported that the latter corporation will unite with members of the Ontario Sault Company in their application for a charter from the Dominion Parliament and the Michigan Legislature to build an international railway bridge over the Sault Ste Marie. That such a charter will be granted next session at Ottawa there is no reason to doubt, for permission was granted last session to parties connected with the Syndicate to build one at the same place. The plan of keeping the bridge distinct from any particular line of railway is a good one, and as there is likely to be an immense traffic at that point hereafter, the bridge company ought to provide room for several tracks.

THE JUDICATURE ACT.

The friction connected with the initial operation of the Judicature Act has been very much smoothed away. It was of course impossible for any Attorney General to foresee and provide for every possible contingency by the formation of rules in connection with the Act itself. Mr. Mowat took the utmost precaution and invited and received suggestions from many different quarters. The Act was introduced and partially discussed in the session of 1880, and was then reintroduced in a very much improved form, fully discussed and passed in 1881. During the progress through the Assembly it was closely watched by able lawyers on both sides and many minor amendments were made in the text. Notwithstanding all this, however, much was left to the discretion of the Judges and had they seen fit to make trouble they could easily have done so. They have, as was expected, chosen to take the very opposite course, however, and have shown a conscientious and earnest desire to make the working of the new system as smooth, as equitable, and as economical as possible. The man on whom, more than any one else, the early and complete success of the system depends is Mr. Dalton, who was formerly Clerk of the Court of Queen's Bench, and is now the Referee for the High Court of Justice. Most of the disputable points in the new practice come before him, and though all of his decisions are liable to be carried on appeal to the Judges, they are, almost invariably accepted by the members of the bar. The result is that harmony and uniformity are already practically established and the new practice, thanks to Mr. Dalton's aptitude for his work and the common sense of the lawyers, will soon be as familiar and determinate as the old ones I mean Common Law and Equity were. Some of the credit for this state of affairs is no doubt due to the members of the Bar who have prepared manuals on the working of the Judicature Act, and to Messrs. Meek, Hodgins and others who have delivered some lectures on the subject. If any amendments are needed to the Act itself they can easily be made from time to time by the Legislature, but for all practical purposes our judicature is now consolidated and the completion of the work will be a matter of only a very short time.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The death of Mr. S. J. Watson, librarian of the Legislature here, removes one of the best known journalists and litterateurs of Canada. Mr. Watson was a poet of no mean order, and whatever defects may be noticed in his works are probably in large measures due to the state of his health during the past few years. He was a genial and witty Irishman; his successor, the Rev. Wm. Inglis, is an equally genial and witty Scotsman. In some respects Mr. Inglis—also a veteran journalist—is well qualified for his new post, and no doubt he will acquire special aptitude by experience.

It is now more than doubtful whether the contract for the new parliament buildings will be let as soon as was once expected. The appropriation was half a million dollars, and this was based on an estimate made at a time when wages and prices were low. When the architects' plans first came in they were found to be too elaborate and costly to come within the appropriation. It is likely that the remodelled plans will be found now to be open to the same objection when the experiment is made of calling for tenders for the contract of putting up the buildings. Whether the Legislature will be asked, in the event of the appropriation proving too small, to receive it, or the matter be allowed to stand in abeyance until a more favourable time remains to be seen.

The strong feeling against increasing the Sunday railway traffic, coupled with the doubt as to whether it could be made to pay, has induced the Credit Valley Company to cancel their proposed Sunday train.

The project of connecting Toronto with Montreal direct by means of the Ontario and Quebec railway has developed into a much larger scheme. Messrs. E. B. Osler and Hector Cameron have gone home to England on a mission connected with the above railway, but it is said that their instructions cover much more extensive ground. There are rumours of an attempt to amalgamate all the lines in Ontario not connected with the Grand Trunk, into one consolidation which would then embrace the Northern, Great Western, Hamilton and North Western, Ontario and Quebec, and Toronto, Grey and Bruce, if it can be kept out of the hands of the Grand Trunk. This scheme is of course in the interest of the Syndicate, and when backed by the influence of that corporation it may succeed. I suppose the Canada Southern may be excluded as it is now under the control of Vanderbilt. In the event of the amalgamation taking place it will probably be necessary for the Midland to extend to Gravenhurst, or,—which amounts to the same thing—for the Ontario Sault line to be extended southward from Gravenhurst to some point on the Midland.

Midland District Notes.

Clipped, Compiled and Condensed from County and other Convenient Contemporaries.

Rev. B. Lane, of Belleville, has gone to New York. There he gets $3,500 a year as assistant to Rev. Dr. Newman.

The principal belts of Burrell's axe factory, Belleville, were cut on Monday night, with the effect of stopping the mills all day Tuesday.

An autopsy on the body of George Vail, of Whitby, who died at Rochester, where he had gone for treatment at the air cure, revealed the peculiar fact that his heart was situated on the right side, instead of the left.

An old and inoffensive man, living just in rear of Albert College, Belleville, had his house broken into the other night, and partly demolished by two notoriously bad characters who live in the neighborhood.

The number of ratepayers in Belleville is 2,280, and the resident acreage is 1,445. According to the assessors, the proportion which the exempted property of the city bears to the taxable property is about 10¾ per cent.

Four hundred cars of stone and bricks have been shipped from Belleville to Campbellford for use in the new woollen mill in that village. About thirty more cars of brick will have to be shipped.

A large owl, which measured 5 feet 2 inches from tip to tip of the wings, and in regard to weight would put to shame any goose exhibition at the market, was captured at the barn of Mr. Joseph Rosevear, near Precious' Corners.

A writ of Mandamus was served by Mr. Ketchum during the past few weeks on every member of the Colborne School Board, commanding that body to forthwith levy on and collect from the school section the sum of $881.82, to satisfy the Reeve's claim.

Butter is selling in Campbellford at 25 cents a pound, and, the Herald says, some of it is so bad that the persons who make it ought to be sent to prison for trying to poison those who try to get near it. Some of the stuff put upon the market, bearing the name of butter, would frighten a Hottentot.

Mr. John Wade, Township of Hamilton, sold this fall about 150 barrels of winter apples. He sold previously some fifty barrels of summer and early fall apples. He has besides about thirty barrels that he has kept for winter use. Mr. Wade has good crops of apples every year. The reason is he manures his orchard and takes proper care of his trees. Do likewise.

"Marquis of Lorne," the valuable stallion belonging to Mr. J. T. Skinner, Manilla, died on Tuesday week. The horse had a large wart on his hind leg, and to remove it by a surgical operation he was thrown down and given chloroform. He died a short time afterwards, and on examination it was found that in throwing him several of his ribs had been broken and had pierced his lungs. As the horse was an excellent stock-getter Mr. Skinner's loss is heavy.

QUICK LOADING.—The scooner David Dows was loaded with 90,000 bushels of corn at one of the steam elevators in Chicago on Saturday last in one hour and a half. This is getting the thing down pretty fine.

Miles and miles of land in Missouri and Illinois are deluged by the great rise of the waters in the rivers. Millions of feet of lumber and logs, and small boats, empty barges, and almost everything movable, have been carried away. Scores of farmers and property owners are heavy losers by the unexpected event, and many are utterly ruined.

A Cough, Cold or Sore Throat should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an INCURABLE LUNG DISEASE OR CONSUMPTION. Brown's Bronchial Troches do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but ACT DIRECTLY ON THE INFLAMED PARTS, allaying irritation, give relief in ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, CATARRH, and the THROAT TROUBLES which SINGERS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Bronchial Troches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cents a box everywhere. 42-26ins.

THE Mennonites, of Manitoba, are an anti-treating community.

REV. E. P. HAMMOND, the revivalist, will commence a campaign in Hamilton on Sunday, 20th inst.

PRESIDENT ARTHUR has contributed $33,000 to the Garfield fund, eight months of his salary as President. It is a splendid donation.

THE EXODUS. The latest emigration returns from the United States show that during the last three months over 8,000 Canadians have entered the domains of Uncle Sam.

THE Government has, it is understood, decided to remove the seat of government of the North-West territory from Battleford to some point on the line of the Canada Pacific Railway.

IT is semi-officially announced that the Dominion Government will pay the expenses of defending the appeal to the Imperial Privy Council with regard to the constitutionality of the Scott Act.

BY a careful estimate it has been found that 1,800 square miles were burned over in Michigan, causing a loss of $2,346,000. Hundreds of homes were desolated and the labour of years swept away.

STRANGE things happen these times. Genuine Irish potatoes are selling on the New York market. Last year Americans were sending grain to Ireland to save the people of that country from starvation.

THE Prince of Wales has secured a place in history by designing a new plaid in green, red and white, and his wife and daughters, proud of the achievement, wear suits made of the plaid.

THE profits on the leading London dailies are estimated as follows: Times, £1,036,000; Daily Telegraph, £120,000; Standard, £65,000; Daily News, £30,000; Morning Post, £10,000.

MR. GLADSTONE'S recent illness was caused by his devotion to rural pursuits. While at Hawarden he went out into the woods to fell timber, though the weather was stormy. The result was a cold of a very severe sort.

THE Ottawa Free Press is given to understand that the Hon. Mr. Macpherson will at no distant date succeed Sir John Macdonald as Minister of the Interior. The Premier, it is said, will become President of the Council.

SIR John Macdonald has called a convention of the Conservative party in Toronto, on Tuesday, 22nd November. Each constituency is to send four to six delegates, and a grand rally of the faithful is expected. The whole affair is to wind up with a grand bun-feed in honor of the Premier.

THE Pennsylvanian Presbyterian, who danced a quadrille and showed no contrition for the act, having been expelled from the congregation, appealed to the Presbytery which has sustained the expulsion. This seems to establish the rule that no Presbyterian can dance and remain a church member.

A Brooklyn justice has refused the testimony of professional spies in cases of breach of the liquor law. As the Eagle says: "Nothing can be more revolting "to the healthy mind than the principle "which actuates the liquor spy. For the "sake of earning his fee he deliberately "tempts the liquor dealer to violate the "law and then informs upon him."

AN exchange says: It is a refreshing sign of the growing liberality of the times when we read that in the town of Woodstock, a meeting to tender a farewell to Rev. Dr. McKay, Presbyterian Missionary to Formosa, was held in the Methodist Church, and was presided over by an Episcopal minister. And in Toronto, Sunday week, in St. James' Cathedral (Episcopalian) prayers were offered for the recovery of Rev. Dr. Ryerson, the well-known Methodist divine.

THE precarious tenure of mining towns in the west is exemplified in the history of Hamilton, Nevada. During the White Pine excitement in 1868 it had a population of thousands, two large daily newspapers, and all appearance of substantial prosperity. To-day it barely counts a population of sixty. The same may yet be the fate of Leadville, Col., which in the space of a year grew from nothing to a fine city of 30,000 inhabitants. As the city depends entirely on its mineral wealth, the failure of the mines would mean the colapse of the place.

THE speech which Mr. Gladstone delivered at Leeds—one of his most remarkable efforts—gave the reporters and the telegraphers plenty to do. The Leeds staff of the telegraph office are receiving high honors for having transmitted to the London papers on the night of the ovation over half a million of words. One London paper took a special train, with a parlor car for its staff, to London the instant the banquet was over. The entire report was finished on the arrival of the train in London, and a mounted messenger flew with it to the compositors.

DR. TALMAGE attributes the neglect of some people to attend church to the style of the preachers. He says in a recent sermon:—"If a boy is expected to be smart, he is invariable made a merchant or lawyer." But he adds: Aleck is not very well. He has never had very good digestion. Since that last malarial attack his spleen is enlarged. He has a morbid way of looking at things. He will sit for hours looking at one figure in the carpet. His manners are so mild, so soft, so gentle, so affectionate, so heavenly, and he cries so easily. Make him a minister! (Laughter.) Now, my friends, that is a great mistake. If you want to consecrate one of your sons to the Gospel ministry, take the one widest awake, the brawniest, the most brilliant, the most irresistible, the most potent. I think that ministerial laziness often clears the churches of auditors.

BLAKE ON THE FUTURE OF CANADA.

At Bowmanville Mr. Blake made a magnificent speech. The concluding words have a ring about them that will find an echo in every loyal Canadian heart:—

"We have a future. This Canada of ours has a future if only her affairs be managed with wisdom, prudence, and economy. To that great future I, as you know, speaking for myself, believe another element is as yet lacking, which must in some form be supplied. I believe we shall one day undertake our full share of national responsibilities; that we shall one day assume our full share of national rights; and that we shall, then for the first time breathe long and deep the full breath of national life. In all things which shall be deemed exclusively for ourselves. In those things in which we continue to have a common interest and concern with the rest of the Empire, we should have our full share of power and responsibility. Some who put aside this question seem to me to prefer drifting to sailing; and not even to perceive the set of the current on which they drift. It is plain to be seen that the class of subjects to be dealt with exclusively by us—the extent of our home rule—grows, and will grow wider year by year. Naturally, if we do not share the control, we assume it for ourselves. And, as I said a while ago at Montreal, it may be that in the end the common ground shall be a league of the union for mutual defence. But that we Canadians shall be equal to the occasion I fully believe; and for my own part, I look and long for the day when in the widest sense of the word we shall be a people truly free. Meantime, to gather together and develop our strength and unity, to forward our moral and material interests, to secure all advantages fairly within our reach, to enable us to claim a place among the foremost in those true elements of greatness, dependent rather on character than on numbers, dependent on the real employment of civil and religious liberty; on a true equality, not merely before the law, but also in all things else save in so far as character, talent, industry, learning, and virtue shall constitute a genuine and useful aristocracy, from the people, by the people, and of the people still; dependent on the possession of a widespread culture, on the happiness of the masses and their power to improve their condition; on the attainment of a high sense of honor, truth, and justice; these are objects worthy of the most strenuous efforts of any man or any party. You and I are united in the effort to advance them. And, by God's blessing, before the day of parting comes, we shall, united in such a cause, attain a great and glorious victory. (Loud and prolonged applause.)"

POLITICAL NOTES

It is understood that Mr. Lazier will be appointed Senior Judge of the County of Hastings and that Mr. Fraleak will be appointed to succeed Mr. Lazier as Junior Judge.

It is believed in well-informed quarters that Dr. Grant is promised an appointment to the Senate if Mr. Skead takes the North-West Governorship; also that Mr. John Riordon will be made a Senator.

A Winnipeg judge has been sent to establish courts in that part of Ontario which Sir John Macdonald is endeavoring to steal and present to Manitoba. This step will probably bring on a conflict of authority, which will lead to the frustration of Sir John's intended peculation.

The Ottawa Free Press says there is a row in the camp at Toronto. Sir John Macdonald is to be banqueted at the U. E. Club next month, but the Platts have been omitted from the list of those invited to take part in the show. This is accounted for by the fact that Mr. Platt, M. P., offered to bet $1,000 to $500 that the Conservatives would be beaten in Ontario next election. The banquet is gotten up as a way of giving Mr. Bolthee a send off for East Toronto, as East York has grown weary of his distinguished attention.

THE ORIGIN OF MAN.

BRUDDER JOHNSON DECLINES TO INDORSE DARWIN.

Rev. Plato Johnson sometimes refers to scientific subjects in his discourses. Last Sunday morning, in a sermon on the origin of man, he said:—"Bruddern de trubble wid some folks is dat dere brains is too large. I don't 'tend to be pussonal an' has no reference whatever to any man in dis 'sembly; but dere is people in dis worl' who has a 'pression dat dey ought-er have created de Lord, an' dat it was a act of condescenshun on dere parts dat dey 'lowed de Lord to create dem at all, an' dey's ben sorry ebber sense dat dey didn' assert dere rights on de fust day an' hab a han' in makin' tings. Now, dere's Mr. Darwin, a man who has been makin' a big fuss 'bout de way de Lord put tings togedder, an' beleebs de whole ob creation is wrong jist cos he wasn't 'sulted. I wish de Lord would gib sech men as him 'bout a couple ob acres ob de 'riginal chaos, an' see wat kind ob a fist dey would make ob it. I guess dat arter a while dey would all move off dere own plantation an' try to rent a house on de land whar de Lord was runnin' de machine. Dis Darwin says dat a man is de gran'son ob a monkey, an' dat de Bible ain't got de truff ob de matter at all. You'se all the chillen ob babboons, my belubbed. Wat you tink ob dat? How you like your ancestors? In de beginnin' ebery one ob you had a long tail—dat was long 'fore you wore trousers—an' some ob you got your tails twisted off, an' some ob you was 'shamed ob 'em, an' rubbed' em off against de trees, an' at las de tails got so disgusted dat dey refused to grow. Dat's wot you are an' dat's whar you cum from. Now, den, my idea is dat ebbery man oughter speak for himself on dis subjec'. Ef Mr. Darwin was born up a tree while his mudder was stealing cocoanuts it don't follow that my mudder was up anoder tree doin' de same ting. Darwin is dead shore dat his ancestors was apes, an' he oughter know. I ain't goin' to contradict it. Ebbery man must look after his own family. As for me, I'se a Bible Christian, an' made out ob de dust, and don't take no stock in de monkeys. I can look any one ob 'em in de face widout a blush for my family, an' say, 'Go long 'bout your business, you ole eater ob peanuts, you ain't no fust cousin ob mine. I can stan' in front ob a whole cage ob dese funny little fellers an' don't feel no family sympathy stirrin' in my heart. De fust chapter of Genesis is good 'nuff fur me, belubbed. Pass the box."

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes o adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

ENNISMORE.

We are again in a bad plight with a considerable portion of our roads, the continued wet weather making them very muddy and disagreable for travel.

Respecting our root crop, now finished in removing, Mangolds and Carrots will be about 90 per cent. of an average crop; Turnips about 75; but that has again diminished by about 10 per cent., with a small, light slate colored louse which has destroyed a large number of them and causing them to rot.

WEATHER NOTES.—October has again come and gone with the usual warning of snow which fell on the forenoon of the 9th. The highest temperature reached during the month was on the evening of the 26th, standing at 80° at sundown; and the lowest on the morning of the 27th, which gave 18°; the aggregate for the month at sunrise and sunset being 45° 36'. There was frost on 9 days, and rain fell on 15, giving a depth of 10½ inches, appearing, apparently determined to make up for the summer deficiency.

LINDSAY.

Mr. A. S. Trude, a leading barrister of Chicago, son of Mr. Trude, lumber merchant, formerly of Lindsay, has agreed to act as counsel for Guitteau.

FOR MANITOBA.—Mr. D. H. Cooper, of the firm of Smith & Cooper, barristers, &c., intends leaving for Winnipeg shortly, where he will enter upon the practice of his profession.

The Rev. Mr. Hastie, of St. Andrew's Church, Lindsay, has adopted the plan of giving a five minute sermon to children before the regular sermon. The idea is a good one.

Mr. Wm. Flavelle, of the firm of Dundas & Flavelle Bros., while in Winnipeg last summer, invested a little of his spare cash in real estate. He had the property only a few weeks in his possession when he realized by its sale a profit of over $1,200.

The eighth half-yearly convention of the East Victoria teachers' association was held in Lindsay last week. Among those taking part in the programme we find the names of W. J. Hallett, of Ashburnham Public School, and J. C. Brown, P. S. I., of Peterborough.

PORT HOPE.

The schooner Ariel, Capt. Philp, made the run from Charlotte to Port Hope in six hours on Sunday last.

The office of the Port Hope Times will shortly be removed to the large store in Smith's Block, near the Walton street bridge.

Thos. Wilcock, gun and locksmith, had one of his hands severely injured by the discharge of a pistol which he had been repairing.

At the recent entertainment given by amateurs of Port Pope the rowdy element predominated to such a degree that warrants are to be issued for the arrest of the howlers.

Owners of cattle are convinced that the authorities are determined to enforce the law, and have taken the hint to keep their cows shut up, or provide them with proper pasturage.

On Saturday evening of last week a man named Deyell jumped from the train after it had left the summit and had one of his legs broken in two places, several of his ribs fractured, and his collar bone seriously injured.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Samuel Caldwell's son Willie—lot 11, 7th concession of Hope—on Saturday last had his leg broken. While driving a yoke of oxen attached to a stone-boat the team ran away, throwing the young man off and breaking the large bone of his thigh.

Albert Trenouth, a well to do farmer of Hope, met with a fatal accident while on his way home from the Port Hope grain market on Wednesday of last week, driving a spirited span of young colts. The colts ran away when at his own gate: the end of the seat broke off, and he was thrown out and struck a post and his skull broken. He lived till Friday morning when death put an end to his sufferings.

The other night as the Midland express going north was crossing John street, an old man named Daniel Curran, who was under the influence of liquor, was discovered by fireman Cochrane standing on the middle of the track. "Down brakes" was whistled, still the man did not move. Cochrane ran along to the front of the engine just as the cow-catcher struck Curran, who was doubled up and thrown on the catcher. Cochrane took in the situation, and caught the man by the head and sat on him until the train was brought to a stand. Curran is none the worse of the adventure.

INQUEST.—An inquest was called last (Monday) evening by Coroner Maxwell, on the body of a man named Thomas Dolley, an old crippled vagrant, who may have been noticed carrying two canes, and soliciting alms about town, and who died on Sunday evening at his wife's residence on Protestant Hill, under such circumstances as were thought advisable to hold an inquest. A jury was summoned who viewed the body, and on returning, witnesses were examined, but nothing was learned that could cause any suspicion other than the deceased came to his death through natural causes. The inquest was finally adjourned to meet again next evening when after sitting until one o'clock and examining a number of witnesses the jury brought in a verdict to the effect that the deceased had come to his death from exposure and not having sufficient nourishment or proper care, and strongly censured his wife and daughter for their treatment towards him.

OMEMEE.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Wm. Elliot, who left here some two years ago for Denver, Colorado, returned on Monday last. He reports times first class, all the shops are running full time.

NARROW ESCAPE.—As Mr. A. E. Byers was in the act of getting into a buggy one day last week the horse made a sudden start throwing him down between the wheels, spraining his left wrist and bruising his left leg.

A.O.U.W.—Mr. Wm. Long, organizing officer of this order, was in Omemee on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week for the purpose of organizing a lodge for this village, but was not able to obtain a sufficient number of members.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—Mr. Wm. Curry met with a painful accident on Monday night. He had gone out after dark to get a pail of water and while in the act of pumping, the bolt which holds the handle of the pump in position came out causing it to fly up and strike him on the cheek bone just under the left eye, inflicting a severe wound.

HEAVY SHIPMENT.—On Thursday last Mr. Jack, of Lindsay, shipped from the Omemee station about 1,600 geese, turkeys, ducks and chickens, bought from farmers in this vicinity. One would have thought, on looking at the large number of waggons around the station, that he was in the neighborhood of one of our city markets. The quack of the ducks, the crow of the chickens and the gobble, gobble, gobble of the turkeys, was enough to almost deafen one.

EMILY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS.—The council of Emily met at Omemee on Oct. 24th, 1881, pursuant to notice. Present the reeve and dep-reeve and Couns. Lowes, Mitchell and Scully. The minutes of last meeting read and adopted. Moved by Mr. Scully, seconded by Mr. Mitchell, that the Clerk notify Mr. Peter Martha that $7 have been paid into the division court office, Omemee, for him for work performed on the road between lots 13 and 14 in the 13th con. of Emily. Carried. Moved by Mr. Lowes, seconded by Mr. Scully, that the following accounts be paid:—Thos. Perdue, work on road, $15; Robert Boat, building culvert, $4; Richard Callaghan, building bridge, $10; Dr. Norris, attending Mary Ann Lattimer, $8; A. Lang, for gravel, $2.50; John A. Calder, printing, $20.50; Robert Grandy, municipal manual, &c., $11; Gustavus Wood, attending Cowan's bridge for 1881, $12. A petition was presented from A. Burnett and nine others having sustained loss by the late fires, asking for an abatement of part of their taxes. Moved by Mr. Millar, seconded by Mr. Scully, that the Clerk notify William Brown and A. H. McElwain to remove their fences off the road allowance, on the west quarter line.—Carried. The council adjourned till the 24th of November.

CAMPBELLFORD.

Dr. O'Gorman formerly of Hastings has taken up his residence here.

Last Thursday week George Pappa dug 64 bushels of potatoes for Mr. Jas. Convey, of Percy.

The Rev. Michael J. O'Farrel was consecrated on Wednesday as the first Bishop of Trenton. There was a large congregation. Archbishop Lynch, of Toronto, was present.

Castleton and its neighborhood is determined upon keeping fresh its justly earned evil noteriety. Another affair which might have brought sorrow to a household, was fortunately, nipped in the bud, a short time ago. The affair was published as having occurred in Brighton, but the Ensign clears the community of that village of the scandal laid down against them with the following brief particulars of the case:—"A school teacher—a married man—living in Castleton, was endeavouring to abduct a sixteen year-old daughter of a respectable citizen of that village, and some days ago, the girl surreptitiously secured her clothing and went to the station with the intention of taking the cars for the west, to be joined at Colborne by her would-be abductor, who had previously sent her $16 to pay her fare. For once the late arrival of the train was a fortunate occurrence, as the girl's mother went and interceded with her and induced her to return home."

DORCAYGEON

BUILDING—The building of Goulais' new hotel is progressing. It is expected to be roofed in by the end of this month.

CLEARED—Since the Dominion Government represented by Mr. Belcher, cleared out the channel of the Sowog river below Lindsay, the navigation has been greatly improved.

All the steamboats are now very busy, and are hauling scows and rafts of forest produce. It is wonderful what a lot of poles, and ties, and posts, and logs, and timber generally passes through this village.

FALL WHEAT. The recent genial weather has had a most beneficial effect on the fall wheat, which now looks strong and healthy. The snow keeps away, and fall plowing is being pushed forward vigorously.

—Mr. Monsom Boyd, Big Island stock farm, Bobcaygeon, Ont., and Mr. John Adams of Port Perry, together visited the farm of the Hon. J. H. Pope, minister of agriculture for Canada, on the 14th, and bought out his entire herd of Aberdeen or Polled Angus cattle, with the exception of one cow and a bull. These cattle were imported by Mr. Pope in the fall of 1880 and spring of 1881. He has a third importation of 13 head now on the water.

RAILWAY—Mr. Howson, the reeve of Bobcaygeon, has been to Peterborough, and had an interview with Mr. Cox. The latter gentleman repeated by word of mouth what he had already said in his letter. The Midland Railway company will provide the iron rails and lay them down, and work the line, provided those interested will buy the land and right of way, and grade the road ready for rail-laying. This seems to be a fair and reasonable proposition, so that the people of Verulam, Harvey, and Bobcaygeon now know with certainty what they have to do to obtain railway connection. If Peterborough would help, the project might become practicable.

KEENE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Considerable grain is being delivered here for shipment to other parts.

We believe that Cupid will shoot one of his darts this week. He has been busy occasionally.

The bridge over the Indian River in this place is nearly completed. Teams are crossing over each day with grain for the market.

Keene was the recipient of a novel sensation in the shape of a bear hunt, a few days ago. Bruin swam the river and passed through the marsh, but managed to escape without any serious injury, although hotly and closely pursued.

While Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, sen., were driving to Peterborough on Saturday last they met with a serious accident. It seems that while passing a vehicle, in the shape of a tinker's waggon, a little child was crying within, and it seems to have raised its hands and moved the blankets, at which the horse shied and overturned the buggy, and threw Mrs. and Mr. Miller with some violence on the ground. Mrs. Miller fell upon a stone and received injuries to a more or less extent. Mr. Miller did not feel his injuries acutely until next morning, when he complained of his back paining him badly. This is the second or third time that like accidents have happened to Mr. Miller.

A gentleman in New York met an "uncertain" acquaintance the other day, when the latter said, "I'm a little short, and should like to ask you a conundrum in mental arithmetic." "Proceed," returned the gentleman. "Well," said the "short" man, "suppose you had ten dollars in your pocket, and I should ask you for five dollars, how many would remain? "Ten dollars," was the promp answer.

TIME, it is said, proves everything and among other things it has proved the value of Dr. J. C. Ayer's Cherry Pectoral as a standard remedy for diseases of the throat and lungs. This is a household medicine with thousands of people, and deservedly so, for it has been in use more than forty years, and all who use it know that it accomplishes even more than is claimed for it. Nearly every community possesses evidences of its great curative power, in persons who have been cured by it of various throat and lung complaints, and who owe to it alone their recovery from the threatening symptoms of consumption. In emergencies like croup and sudden colds, Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the remedy that every family should have at hand for the treatment of these cases as they arise. Richmond, Va., Standard.

THE BEST REMEDY
FOR
Diseases of the Throat and Lungs.

In diseases of the pulmonary organs a safe and reliable remedy is invaluable. AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL is such a remedy. It is a scientific combination of the medicinal principles and curative virtues of the finest drugs, chemically united, of such power as to insure the greatest possible efficiency, and uniformity of results. It strikes at the foundation of all pulmonary diseases, affording prompt relief and rapid cures, and is adapted to patients of any age or either sex. Being very palatable, the youngest children take it readily. In ordinary Coughs, Colds, Sore Throat, Bronchitis, Influenza, Clergyman's Sore Throat, Asthma, Croup, and Catarrh, the effects of AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL are magical, and multitudes are annually preserved from serious illness by its timely and faithful use. It should be kept at hand in every household for the protection it affords in sudden attacks. In Whooping-cough and Consumption there is no other remedy so efficacious, soothing, and helpful.

Low prices are inducements to try some of the many mixtures or syrups, made of cheap and ineffective ingredients, now offered, which, as they contain no curative qualities, can afford only temporary relief, and are sure to disappoint the patient. Diseases of the throat and lungs demand active and effective treatment; and it is dangerous experimenting with unknown and cheap medicines, from the great liability that these diseases may, while so trifled with, become deeply seated or incurable. Use AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, and you may confidently expect the best results. It is of acknowledged curative power, and is as cheap as its careful preparation and fine ingredients will allow. Eminent physicians, knowing its composition, prescribe it. The test of half a century has proven its certainty to cure all pulmonary complaints not already beyond the reach of human aid.

PETERBOROUGH, NOV. 10, 1881.

The Syndicate Bargain.

It may be laid down as a sound principle of criticism in dealing with the working of the contract with the Pacific Railway Syndicate, that whatever the charter granted them by Parliament allows them to do, they have a moral as well as a legal right to do, and are therefore justified in doing. If therefore the bargain is found in practical operation to be a bad one for the country, the Syndicate are not to blame, but the Government which granted them the terms, and the Parliament which sanctioned them. The extraordinary nature of these terms gave a shock of surprise to the whole country when they were first published. The bad features of the bargain were pointed out by the Opposition, and it was shown to a demonstration that the evil effects of ratifying it would be enormous and far-reaching. These warnings were slighted. For party purposes the contract was forced through Parliament amidst a chorus of predictions that the Opposition predictions would certainly be falsified by the event.

So far from this being the case, however, they are one by one coming true already, although the charter has been only a few months in force. A few references to what is going on in the North-West will suffice to prove the truth of this assertion. It was pointed out, for instance, by the Opposition, that under the charter the Syndicate would have a virtual monopoly of all the railway traffic in that country. The charter makes them a present of the Pembina branch, which connects at the frontier with the St. Paul and Manitoba line, owned by some members of the Canada Pacific Company. No other company is allowed to construct a railway running to the frontier in such a direction that it will be available as a rival outlet, and though Sir Charles Tupper referred to the South Western charter as a means of breaking the monopoly, the Syndicate are now asking the Government to prevent the South Western Company from crossing the frontier. This the Government can easily do, and are by the spirit, if not the letter, of the contract with the Syndicate bound to do. A very short time will suffice to show whether even this partial and insufficient measure of relief will be allowed or not. Meanwhile the Syndicate have been made a present of the Thunder Bay branch, and of all the shipping facilities at its terminus. They are thus in a position to keep that branch from competing with their other outlet by Pembina, and to squeeze all steamers off Thunder Bay route except their own, or those belonging to owners who are willing to come to their terms. The present indications are that they will have an absolute monopoly, and it is certain that they will have a practical one, in any event, for a long time to come.

It was predicted by the Opposition that the possession of a monopoly would enable the Syndicate to charge excessive rates of freight, not merely on emigrants' effects going in, but also on the settlers' produce coming out. Recently a grain tariff was published, which shows that for the comparatively short line of road between points in the Northwest and St. Paul, controlled by Stephen, Angus, Hill and their associates, the rate per bushel is very much higher in proportion than it is from St. Paul eastward. The same comparison holds good with respect to the rates paid on freight sent westward, the charges made by the men who control the Canada Pacific being enormously high. For this they are not to be blamed. As business men they drove a hard bargain with the Government, and when the Government were so careful in giving them a monopoly it would be idle to expect them not to take advantage of it.

The charter exempts the Syndicate's railway property for ever from municipal taxation in the Northwest outside of Manitoba, but no one dreamed that they would ever seek exemption on their line inside of that Province. The people of Emerson have learned to their cost, however, that they are bent on securing exemption there also, and their claim to it seems unimpeachable. This is a new feature in this wonderful charter, which escaped the lynx-eyed leader of the Opposition last session. The contract provides that the Company shall be put in "possession" of those portions of the road built by Government, as soon as they are ready for traffic, but it also provides that these portions of the road do not become their "absolute property" until after the Eastern and Central sections are completed. Until they become their absolute property the Syndicate decline to pay municipal taxes on them, and they will probably make good their contention, as the sections are still the property of the Government, though operated by the Syndicate to their own profit. As the time allowed for completing the eastern section is ten years, it will be seen that the exemption is a very important matter.

The last point we shall notice just now is the Syndicate's method of dealing with their lands. The Opposition predicted that, as these lands were, under the contract, to be exempted from all municipal taxation as long as the Compay held them up to twenty years, the Company would try to hold as much of them as they could and force immigrants to settle on the adjacent Government lands. They are enabled under the charter to do this with great safety and facility, for in the first place the Government sections alternate with their own like squares on a chess board, and in the second they are allowed to raise money by bonding their land which is much the same as mortgaging it—to the extent of a dollar an acre. In this way, to say nothing of the money they can raise on the security of the road itself, they can borrow twenty-five million dollars on the security of their lands and hold them for the increase in value which is sure to be large enough to pay them handsomely. Every body knows that a square mile of land standing unimproved will rapidly increase in value when the Government sections on all four sides of it are settled and cultivated. The settlers on these Government sections will have to build school houses, and will have to make roads, build bridges, and do many other things without being able to tax the unoccupied Syndicate lands to the extent of a single cent, while all these public improvements will make it easy for the Syndicate by and by to sell their lands at three or four or more times the price they will bring if sold just now. And that this is their policy is clear from their actions. They have already borrowed ten millions by means of land bonds, and they have tacked on to the deeds they give for their lands such conditions that very few settlers will be able to comply with them. The purchaser is compelled to reside continuously on his land, to erect buildings of a certain value, to break up and put under crop a certain amount of his farm, and to be punctual in the payment of his instalments. The evidence of experience goes to show that on the average the settlers now in the country have not been able to do more than half of what the Syndicate require of them within the four years allowed them, and yet if the purchaser fails in the fulfilment of a single one of the conditions his deed of purchase calls for the forfeiture of his land and all his improvement to the Company. Why, the state of affairs in Ireland, which necessitated the Gladstone land bill, was nothing to the state of affairs which would result in the Northwest within the next five years if any considerable number of people were to purchase from the Syndicate on these terms. Evictions would soon be as plentiful as in Ireland, or more so, and so would agrarian outrages and acts of lawlessness. The Government should have reserved control over the disposition of the greater part of the lands, as Mr. Mackenzie proposed to do under his Act, and then all this trouble would be avoided. They chose to act in defiance of warning, however, and and now the Government, and not the Syndicate, will have to bear the blame for whatever evils are inflicted on the settlers under cover of this wretched contract.

GO WEST YOUNG LADIES.—An exchange says:—From all accounts there is a splendid opening for unmarried ladies at present in the North-west. There is plenty of room, plenty of land, plenty money, plenty work, plenty men—many of them no doubt good—but women are scarce. It is said that in any church in Winnipeg or other public gathering where women usually congregate, there are six men for every woman. Rev. Mr. Robertson, superintendent of missions for the Presbyterian church in the North-west, says there are 800 single men in the country who presumably want wives but cannot get them in the North-west.

THE Quebec election campaign progresses on the whole favorably to the Liberals. The nominee of the junior Conservatives has retired in Montreal West, and the Liberals are likely to carry all the Montreal seats. No Bleu candidate has appeared in Quebec East. Mr. Owen Murphy, who is in accord with the Liberals in condemning the Chapleau railway policy, has been assured of victory in Quebec West by the retirement of Mr. Charleson in his favor. Hon. D. A. Ross announces his inability to contest Quebec County on account of ill-health.

IRELAND.

The great reductions made in rents in the North by the sub-commission are rather frightening the landlords, and they seem to have little hope of the full Court reversing the decisions. The value of land in Ireland is much depressed by this course, and numbers of estates will be at once thrown on the market. It is said that a "syndicate" of Radicals and Liberals in England, among whom is John Bright, are watching for investments in Ireland in this way. According to the principles laid down by the Court a reduction of about $27,000,000 will be made in the total annual rental of $80,000,000. The applications to the Land Court now number 16,000, and the Government, it is said, is contemplating the appointment of four more sub-commissions. The Pope has strongly condemned the course of the Land League.

Although matters are assuming a much quieter and better aspect, yet an occasional brush between the police and the people take place, but the government in every case shows its determination to stamp out disturbances.

Among the other indications that the fire still smoluders are the shooting of a rent paying tenant and the necessity found by the authorities of arming the Limerick police with revolvers instead of batons.

Parnell is reported to have said in a conversation with two members of the Home Rule League that reductions made in rents in the North corresponded with his contention that Griffith's valuation should be the standard, and that many landlords would be obliged to sell out by these reductions. He afterwards said the report of the conversation was inaccurate. The authorities are taking the names of those who go into the Ladies League meetings with a view to prosecuting them.

The Land League are succeeding to some extent in their new scheme, if that be to block the Land Commission with tenants' applications, for hundreds of them are pouring in every day.

The Land Court sitting at Belfast has made considerable reductions in the rents on the estate of Archdeacon Crawford, and the farmers in the vicinity are mightily pleased with its proceedings.

One of the chief items of interest in Irish news during the week is the summary of a manifesto to be issued by the Home Rule League. Therein the claims of Ireland to be allowed to manage her own local affairs are strongly set forth, and a protest entered to the assertion that anarchy would follow on the establishment of Home Rule such as the British dependencies and the States of the American Union possess.

A VEXED CLERGYMAN.—Even the patience of Job would become exhausted were he a preacher and endeavoring to interest his audience while they were keeping up an incessant coughing, making it impossible for him to be heard. Yet, how very easy can all this be avoided by simply using Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. Trial Bottles given away at Taylor & Macdonalds' Drug Store.

Peterborough Markets.

[Supplied by W. H. Wrighton, Grain and Produce Dealer, and General Grocer, George Street.]

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 9th, 1881.

Receipts of grain have fallen off, with only a light business doing. The small amount of fall wheat offering is taken at $1.20 to $1.23, and spring $1.23 to $1.26, for milling purposes. Barley is fairly steady, stained selling at 60c. to 75c., and bright 78c. to 85c.; quantity offering is small. Oats are still scarce and will command 43 or 44 cents. In peas there is very little doing, the few offering bring about 70c. Rye is lower, selling from 85c. to 87c. On the Market there is a good deal doing considering the roads and bad weather. A large amount of keg butter has changed hands, the ruling price for fine being 20c.; other grades from 14 to 18 cents, the quantity offering being small this year. Fresh butter is plentiful and weaker, sells from 20c. to 23c. Eggs are in less demand—not many offering. Dressed hogs are offering more freely and are lower, bringing $6.50 to $7.00. There is no change in fresh meat or poultry—both in good supply. Geese and Turkeys slow sale. No fruit offering except apples. The demand is well-supplied, selling from 50c. to 75c. a bag. Some choice bring more.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS.

...ouncillor Rutherford, Chairman of Fire, Water and Gas Committee read following report, recommending

...—That the contract with the Gas Com... for lighting gas lamps extend for a ...od of five years, commencing on the 1st ...December next. That the council by ...g six months notice may terminate the ...ract at the end of any one year.

...—All lamps to be lit before dark and ...e kept burning until after the hour of ...clock.

...—Six lamps to be kept lit all night at ...following places, namely:

...e at the corner of Brock and George St.
... " " Hunter and George St.
... " " McDonel and George St.
... " " Simcoe and George St.
...e at the Town Hall.

...—The Company shall not be required ...ht the lamps during ten nights in each ...r month, namely for seven nights before ...ull moon, and the two nights following ...pt that in cases any of the ten nights are ...ded and dark, the same shall be lit as ...other night.

...—The company shall keep at their own ...all repairs required to lamp posts and ... except as may maliciously and will... be destroyed.

...—The price to be paid for each lamp ... be $30 per annum.

...—In case the company fail to comply ... any of the above conditions after they ... been properly notified by the Town ...t the Company shall pay to this corpor... the sum of $10 for each and every ...t.

...—It shall be the duty of the Chief Con...le or his assistant to see that the above ...itions are carried out, and in case of any ...re to report the same to the Chairman ...ire, Water and Gas committee.

...e Department.—Your committe further ...mmend to the Council the purchasing ...0 feet of the Merry-weather hose, and ...purchasing of four suitable water proof ... for the use of the Branchmen, also ... lanterns.

...ouncillor Rutherford, in submitting ...report, drew attention to the differ... between the old and new contracts, ...pointed out that the town had secured ...mber of advantages over the former ...agements. He moved the adoption ...the report, seconded by Councillor ...glas.

...ouncillor McNaughton asked for in...nation as to cost of lamps in other ...es, and said he thought the people ...ld soon find out what gas would cost ...n when the rate would run up to 18 ...0 mills.

...or the information of Mr. McNaugh... and others, Councillor Rutherford ... the lamps in other places cost as fol... and were lit during the hours speci... namely:—

...Toronto—$22.25; 10 hours.

...Belleville—$20.00; outskirts, dark to two a.m., centre of town, dark to four a.m.

...Chatham—$23.60; dark of moon, until daylight; new moon, lit late and kept burning till daylight.

...St. Catharines—$22.50; lit at dark and kept burning till daylight.

...Kingston—$13.00; from 1 and 1½ hours after sunset, extinguished at midnight.

...Guelph—$22.50; sundown to sunrise, except moonlight nights.

...Cobourg—$20.00; until 11 p.m.

...Port Hope—$20.00; from dark to 12 when there is no moon.

...London—$16.50; lighted every night, moonlight excepted.

...Hamilton—$18.00; the company shall not be required to light the lamps during eight nights in each lunar month, namely, for seven nights next before the full moon, and one night after a full moon, during all other nights the lamps shall be lit at sunset, and not extinguished before dawn, except for one week next after full moon, when they may be extinguished on the rising of the moon above the horizon.

Councillor Cahill thought the lamp at the corner of George and Charlotte streets should be lit all night.

Councillor Chamberlain thought the contract should be for one year, and from year to year, so that the hands of future Councils should not be tied.

Mr. Stevenson was asked to address the Council. He said as to the lamp spoken of by Mr. Cobill, he would give instructions to have that lamp left lit any night when the trains were late. The Company here were acting as fairly and equitably as could be expected. They had not yet been able to declare but two dividends. There was not such a fortune in it as some supposed. He was in favor of making gas cheap so as to induce a larger consumption, as the Company could easily supply twice as much gas as they were doing. They wished to meet the town fairly in the matter.

Councillor Cahill said Mr. Stevenson's remarks were all well enough; yet the lamp he spoke of was as necessary to be lit all night as any others, and he would move the report be amended accordingly.

The amendment was put and declared carried, and instructions given to have the contract drawn out and signed.

A QUESTION OF CHARITY.

The Mayor drew the attention of the Council to the case of Mr. Dubois, who has for the last three months kept a sick Frenchman, who had come to his place from the shanties, and was in the second stage of consumption. He did not consider it fair that Mr. Dubois should have to bear the expense.

After some discussion the matter was referred to the Charity Committee with power to act.

MR. MCCOMB'S PETITION.

Councillor Yelland drew the attention of the Council to the matter of the petition of Mr. McComb. The sheds which the petitioner asked to be allowed to build he did not consider was increasing the risk, and thought he should be allowed to go on building, as he proposed to the Committee, and moved a resolution in accordance therewith.

Mr. McNaughton did not wish to be a party to breaking any By-law, still he considered it a hardship to prevent Mr. McComb from building the shed he asked for.

Mr. Menzies, Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Richardson all spoke of the unfairness of punishing one party for violating the By-law and allowing others to go free.

Mr. Cahill suggested that the shed should be erected under the superintendence of the Inspector, and instead of erecting a temporary shed Mr. McComb should be allowed to put up a strong substantial one.

Mr. Douglas thought Mr. McComb as much entitled to build this shed as was Mr. Elias Burnham and several others, and did not see, if it was erected as proposed, that any risk would be run.

IMPROVEMENTS TO THE MARKET HOUSE.

Moved by Mr. Rutherford, seconded by Mr. Paterson,—That the Commissioners be requested to have the verandah around the Market House extended some four or five feet, and have the weigh scales removed to some other part of the square, and that the Market Committee, including Mr. Rutherford, be instructed to proceed at once.—Carried.

MR. DUBOIS' CASE.

After a lengthy discussion over this matter a resolution was carried allowing Mr. Dubois $12.00 towards his expenses, and authorizing the purchase of a ticket to Montreal for the sick man.

DOG BY-LAW.

Mr. Chamberlain introduced a by-law providing for the registration of dogs with the local license inspector, and providing them with collars and metallic tags.

The by-law was read a first time, and in committee of the whole on the second reading the committee arose and asked leave to sit again. In Council it was Moved by Mr. Cahill, seconded by Mr. McNaughton,—That by-law No.— be referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Chamberlain, McNaughton, Rutherford and Menzies to report at next meeting.—Carried.

$1,000 REWARD.

Moved by Mr. Menzies, seconded by Mr. Richardson,—That this Council offer a reward of $500 for the apprehension of the party or parties who set fire to the premises of Walter Paterson & Son, on the morning of the 16th of October; and, also, $500 for the apprehension of the party or parties who set fire to the premises of Charles Cameron on the same night, and that the Clerk be instructed to have the same advertised in the local papers.

SPECIAL POLICE.

The Mayor said in accordance with the petition of Mr. Choate, and the items in the papers, in reference to the noise and rows on the streets at nights the Committee had instructed the Chief Constable to employ special police on Saturday nights. He believed they had paid their expenses through the extra number of convictions made.

Moved by Mr. Chamberlain, seconded by Mr. Paterson,—That the Chief Constable be instructed to report monthly to this Council as to the number of special police engaged and the cost of the same.—Carried.

STREET MATTERS.

The notice of motion given by Mr. Paterson in reference to improvements on Park Street at the last meeting was put and carried.

Moved by Mr. Paterson, seconded by Cahill,—That the Clerk ask the Monaghan Council to make a grant to assist in constructing a drain between the gravel road and Weller street.—Carried.

TOWN PARK.

Moved by Mr. Paterson, seconded by Mr. Yelland,—That the Park Committee use their utmost endeavors to procure a suitable place for a town park, and report to this Council at a future meeting; and that the mover be the chairman.—Carried.

Council adjourned for two weeks.

IMMORAL LITERATURE.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—The question just now engaging public attention is how far the Government is justified in prohibiting the importation of infidel works and the dissemination thereof among the people. One party contends that to do so is an interference in matters of religion and conscience, while another party says the Government is right. In discussing this matter we must be careful not to confine ourselves to the simple question now under consideration, because this is only a small part of the general question, but we have to go farther and determine whether there should be any interference with the liberty of every man to bring into our country and scatter broadcast among the people, not only the writings of Tom Payne and Voltaire, but all the worst class of literature which is so common throughout the world. It is admitted that it is the duty of Government to provide means for, and to superintend public education, and I suppose I may go farther and say that it would be the duty of the Government also to see to it that books of an immoral or infidel character were not supplied to, and taught, in our schools. Granting this proposition to be correct, and granting also that the proper education of the young is indispensible, the question sought to be determined is whether this duty is confined strictly to the school room, or whether it is to be pushed far enough to protect the young outside of the school room also. If this is not to be exercised, then we occupy the position of giving the means of undoing, outside of school hours, what has been done within them. Of course, if children are to be protected, impure literature must be prohibited; but, if not protected, then these streams of pollution are to be kept free and the young are to be allowed to go to ruin. There is no half way to be followed—for if the rising generation, after having been instructed in the inspiration of the Bible during school hours, are to go home and receive and read infidel books tending to teach them that the Bible is false, how is it possible to raise up a Christian people at all? This kind of teaching would be like the man who spent much labour and money in finding the source of pure water and then destroy its goodness before it reached its destination.

This is not a matter of denominational controversy at all. It does not involve even an attempt to interfere with the question of religion as viewed from any denominational standpoint. It is not a question of church polity or discipline. It is a question of public right and public security. It is a question of duty and justice to our youth and to coming generations. It is not what one man thinks or another man thinks or desires—and Government, in dealing with it, must be made to understand and feel the great responsibility which rests upon them, and they must act, not to gratify the whims of individuals, but to secure the welfare and safety of the whole people.

We have numerous examples of the right and the authority of Parliament to interefere for the public good, Our license laws and our laws against crime, and many others, show this. I do not argue from this that the interference of Government is desirable except where the public welfare requires it, or where the interests of society are at stake. The law protects minors and secures them from the rapacity and frauds of others and makes it illegal to give them whiskey, and no one has any fault to find with them. Why, then, may the law not go a little farther and protect them from poisonous literature as well as poisonous whiskey? It is no answer to this to say that this power may be exercised in regard to mere secular matters, because, if laws are to be made and enforced at all, they are to be enforced whenever the happiness and well-being of society requires it.

Perhaps I may refer to this matter again.

TORY.

NORWOOD SCHOOL TROUBLE.

To the Editor of the EXAMINER:

SIR,—Mr. Wm. Sargent, who kept on at his hifalutin' until he had unfortunately "bitten off more than he could chew," has apparently taken to his heels and ran away, but so anxious is he to slip with some show out of the tightening rope, that the fertile ingenuity of this noisy disturber invented the cunning idea of procuring a "disinterested" party to hold the "gap" just for a few moments, and cry aloud,—"Hold, Mr. Sargent has had enough, he was a trifle foolish, but wasn't it a rascally Board, and, oh! what a villianous teacher." But Mr. Sargent inadvertently omitted to instruct this "disinterested" to tack on—and "how inherently bad was the Judge, and think of that vile Minister of Education, and was not that a confounded Bailiff, and what a fearful Inspector of Division Courts, and, my! what a wicked Inspector," whom I'm going to demolish bye and bye (Vide Sargent, EXAMINER, 6th Oct.)

The oily way in which Mr. Sargent's nurse gets at the bottom of things is really too, too; and while in the act of nursing Sargent, he is brimful of advice and abuse for others. Now I fully agree with this "disinterested," self-complacent, but not self-constituted champion of Mr. Sargent, "that this Norwood-Sargent-Dutton school whipping affair should come to an end," and he will find if he glances at the EXAMINER of Oct. 22nd, he is but reiterating what I then said, viz: "In mercy now to the readers of the EXAMINER it is to be hoped we have heard the last of Sargent and his disobedient son."

This powerful analyser's irresistible logic, combined with his incomparable art of sophistry and "masterly presentation of facts," impresses us with the conviction that he is as small a man intellectually as the man who is now dodging behind him.

Now, the cool effrontery and unblushing impudence of the latter, catered by himself continuously to the public, was so overwhelmingly nauseous, proclaiming that he was not only wrong, but inherently and incurably bad, fully justified me in wishing in my communication of 22nd October "we had heard the last of Sargent and his disobedient son." A consummation which is now devoutly to be wished, and also the last of Sargent's nurse and non-self-constituted champion.

There has been a rod in pickle some time now for some one, and if Mr. Sargent sickens us with much more of his diatribes, or the juggler behind whom he is sanctioned performs too much of his fraudulent and one-sided legerdemain, I would not answer for its non-production.

BOSTON, 14th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co., Toronto.

DEAR SIRS,—For brilliancy and sympathetic quality of tone, I consider your Upright Pianos unequalled by any made in Canada. The touch is responsive, the treble clear and resonant, so that I can in all respects recommend them.

OTTO BENDIX.

Letter from Dr. G. W. Strathy, so long known in Toronto as a most thorough and accomplished musician:

TORONTO, 26th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co.,

GENTLEMEN—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

Wishing you every success,

I remain Gentlemen,
Your obedient humble servant,

CIRCULAR!

While it is pleasing to the Business Man to know that his efforts to satisfy the public are being appreciated, it can be no less satisfactory to the citizens of any locality to know that among their merchants are those whose goods have not only a local fame but are sought for by those in other parts. The advantage of this is two-fold. Not only does it direct trade from a distance and build up the reputation of the place, but it has the advantage of assisting the artizan and workman in thus bringing both labor and money among them which otherwise would be spent elsewhere.

Peterborough, we are proud to say, has many such business men in her midst, some of them old established houses and others of comparatively younger years. In the latter may be classed Mr. Johnston Carey, a gentleman who but a little over seven months ago cast his fortune among the residents of Peterborough, succeeding Mr. W. J. Larmour in the manufacture of Boots and Shoes. That he is establishing a reputation for satisfactory fulfilment of orders may be judged from the following letter, one among the many which he is constantly receiving. It speaks for itself and needs no explanation:—

LINDSAY, Oct. 13, 1881.

MR. J. CAREY, Peterboro'.

DEAR SIR,—I send you a pair of shoes for repairs. Will you kindly re-sole and heel them with the best of material? Sew the half-soles. I am very much pleased with the lace boots and feel like ordering another pair like them, but I can hardly afford it. Please put these boots in hand at once, as I may call for them to-morrow evening. Make a good job of them for sure and leave bill ready. What was cost of lace boots?

GARFIELD'S FAVORITE HYMN.

Ho, reapers of life's harvest,
Why stand with rusted blade
Until the night draws around thee
And day begins to fade?

Why stand you idle waiting
For reapers more to come?
The golden morn is passing,
Why stand ye idle, dumb?

Thrust in your sharpened sickle
And gather in the grain,
The night is fast approaching
And soon will come again.

The Master calls for reapers,
And shall he call in vain?
Shall sheaves lie there ungathered
And waste upon the plain.

Mount up the heights of wisdom
And crush each error low;
Keep back no words of knowledge
That human hearts should know.

Be faithful to thy mission,
In services of the Lord,
And then a golden chariot
Shall be thy reward.

THOUGHTS ON PLOUGHING.

Of all the work on the farm requiring the careful, earnest and patient attention of the husbandmen, that of ploughing—preparing the soil for the future crop—is by far the most important. There are those who think that no ploughing is good for anything that is not narrow in the furrow and straight as a line, every strip of soil must be turned over and laid firmly against the preceding slice, like long slender ribbons partly overlaping each other. It is not our intention, however, to lay down the law and say whether wide or narrow, deep or shallow furrows are the best, for we are satisfied that ploughing is one of the many operations of the farm upon which there will always continue to be a difference of opinion. We shall, therefore, content ourselves by stating that our own observations and experience has satisfied us that deep and thorough cultivation is necessary in all agricultural operations. But many misunderstand the question, and imagine that those who advocate deep cultivation, advocate the turning up of the under soil and depositing it above, and upon that which was formerly the surface. Undoubtedly if you plough deep you bury that which was the surface and bring the under soil to the top, but because you do this there is no reason that you should sow the crop on the newly exposed soil; no one who ever thinks will do this. The under soil must be exposed to the air or you cannot benefit it, the upper must be buried or you do not kill the weeds; but this operation is not necessarily done every crop or every season. The right time for deep ploughing is in the Fall when you plough your stubble land, then tear up the ground to as great a depth as your team power will allow. Let the ground be thrown up as roughly as possible—never mind its looks—the rougher it lies the more surface is exposed to the action of the frost and sun during the following Winter and Spring. But there are exceptions to almost every rule, and there are cases when deep ploughing is positively injurious, such as when the soil on the top is reasonably good but lying on a poor wet sand, or gravel, or cold clay subsoil, in these cases great care must be taken to keep what you have that will bear a crop in such a position that it can bear one, and deep ploughing must not be practised until the subsoil has been thoroughly drained or so gradually exposed to the influence of the air as not to lose too much present benefit whilst aiming at future good. Hence deep and shallow ploughing must remain a question of judgment to the mind of the intelligent husbandman, but let the farmer bear in mind that when he has a deep soil deep ploughing is certain to benefit it, provided a proper knowledge of the circumstances of the case is understood. If the soil is poor and thin he must proceed more slowly, yet even here he will find it to his interest year after year to increase his tilth if even by half an inch at a time, taking care to add manure in proportion to the amount of new and poor soil he brings to the influence of light and air.

BARBED WIRE FOR FENCING.

Experience has demonstrated the practical value of the following suggestions for constructing barbed wire fences: Set substantial posts one rod apart; the post at the starting point should be braced by cutting a notch in it two and a half feet from the ground, and running a strong pole from the notch to the foot of of the second post where it is fitted to rest firmly, and is supported about three inches above the ground by means of a short block driven down beside the fence post. This method of bracing should be repeated once in forty rods. A faulty construction would be to cut the notch in the starting post four feet from the ground, make the brace shorter, and allow the lower end to rest upon the ground; for the moment the wire is tightened upon the fence, the short brace acts as a fulcrum to lift the first post. When the posts are set a wire is wrapped firmly around the first post, four feet and two inches from the ground; then the coil is unrolled forty rods and the wire drawn tight by means of a set of small pulleys with grapples. After this wire has been securely stapled, a second is similarly fastened one foot below it and a third and fourth below this, leaving a foot space between the respective wires; the ground space is fourteen inches. Four wires thus arranged make a perfect cattle fence. For horses the lower wire should be without barbs to prevent cutting the knee, and a fifth wire should be placed upon the posts five feet from the ground. American Agriculturist for November.

SUGGESTIONS OF AND FOR THE SEASON.

It is difficult to tell just what kind of weather November will bring. We are likely to have hard frosts, some snow storms, and a foretaste of the coming winter. The fine mellow weather of October often lingers, and a long Indian Summer may allow the doing of a large amount of out-door work. All in all, this is a month when much may be expected in fair weather and foul, and therefore it is all the more necessary that every good day be taken abvantage of, and every bad one provided against. Should any of the work that properly belongs to last month, be still unfinished, such as sowing winter grain, husking corn, etc., it should be pushed to completion at once. The wheat that is sown in early November often does well, though late sowing has nothing in itself to recommend it. Rye may be sown so late, that there is only time, before the freezing weather sets in, for the plant to get a fair start. Corn-husking can be done in the barn at any time, but it is more pleasant and profitable to do this work in the field during warm weather. Much grain is threshed this month, partly because the threshers were not earlier available, and the work now is not so pressing. Some farmers suffer from not speaking for the threshers early in the season. Those with large grain farms may have their own machines, and thus be independent of those who go from farm to farm. Farmers with only a small amount of grain, may do their own threshing by hand, and thus make good use of stormy days. The importance of planning for work for days when the help must be in-doors, should be more fully appreciated. There are many thing about a farm that may then be done in-doors with great advantage. There are tools to be mended, painted, and put in good trim for the time when they will be needed; harness to be cleaned and oiled; grain to be fanned; wood to be split, and many other jobs that can be done as well when it rains, as during the brightest sunshine.

PREPOTENCY OF PERCHERON HORSES.

It is claimed by high authority that Percheron horses are possessed of more endurance, are capable of performing a greater amount of quick, heavy work, are more tractable and easily broken than any other breed of large horses. And that the colts, the produce of Percheron stallions partake in a greater degree of the qualities of their sires, and from their great value bring higher prices on the markets, than those from any other of the large breeds. These are facts that will be appreciated by the public. It is well known that of all countries where draft horses are raised, the French people are the only ones who make a practice of leaving all the males entire and of working them before and after the season service ends, a practice that has been in vogue in France for hundreds of years, and to which may be attributed much of the superior excellence of the race. Every one knows that the only way to secure a high physical or mental development is to adapt a judicious and systematic course of exercise. And the grand results attained by the French have been by carrying out the principle of breeding from sires and dams both developed physically to the highest degree by constant use in such work as their progeny would be called upon to perform.

This system, practiced continually, has increased the prepotency of each generation and concentrated into transmissable qualities all of those valuable elements developed by the judicious training of ages. Therefore in their progeny are found the docile and willing workers, with a superior quality of muscle, a density and toughness of bone, a general vigor and organization that cannot be obtained from any race whose sires have been for generations wholly exempt from even the most ordinary labor; and whose temper has been made irritable by constant confinement, in most cases in an isolated stable. Then, if valuable, good-tempered and healthy, hardy work horses are desired, breed from those that possess these qualities, transmitted through sires and dams from the remotest ancestry. On the contrary, if soft, loose-muscled, spongy-boned, ill-natured horses are wanted, breed from those whose sires or progenitors have never known what the collar is, nor have never been developed by actual service.—National Live Stock Journal, Chicago,

DOMESTIC AND USEFUL.

Old wall paper may be very much improved by simply rubbing it well with a flannel cloth dipped in oatmeal.

To Perfume Linen.—Rose leaves dried in the shade, cloves beaten to a powder, mace scraped. Mix them together, and put the composition into bags.

Many experienced housekeepers, in order to prevent the formation of a crust in a tea kettle, keep an oyster shell in it. The shell attracts all the stony articles to itself.

The most charming decoration for a plate is a good piece of beefstake with well-cooked potatoes, and just a sufficiency of gravy. It will lay over trailing vines or a sunflower any day.

Apple Shortcake.—Make the cake of biscuit dough, with a tablespoonful of sugar added to it: or take one-half cupful of lard and half a cupful of butter, and put them into a quart of flour.

Flies are said soon to disappear from a room containing a plate of the following mixture:—Half a teaspoonful of black pepper in powder, one of brown sugar, and one of cream mixed well together.

A carelessly kept coffee pot wil impart a rank flavor to the strongest infusion of the best Java. Wash the coffee pot thoroughly every day, and twice a week boil borax and water in it for fifteen minutes.

When dressing a fowl do not let it lie in the water in which it is rinsed. Wash it perfectly clean; rinse as much as you please, but do not let it soak in the water; put it on a plate to drain; if it is not to be cooked at once sprinkle a little salt over it.

Savory Rice.—Take some plain, boiled rice, put it into a saucepan with a lump of butter, and add as much tomato sauce as the rice will take up, and plenty of grated cheese. Mix well, and keep stirring on the fire till hot. Serve piled high on the dish.

WOMAN'S TRUE FRIEND.—A friend in need is a friend indeed. This none can deny, especially when assistance is rendered when one is sorely afflicted with disease, more particularly those complaints and weakness so common to our female population. Every woman should know that Electric Bitters are woman's true friend, and will positively restore her to health, even when all other remedies fail. A single trial always proves our assertion. They are pleasant to the taste and only cost fifty cents a bottle. Taylor & Macdonald, Agents.

Fricassee of Cold Roast Beef.—Cut the beef into very thin slices, shred parsley very fine, cut an onion in quarters, put altogether in a stew pan with sufficient broth, season with salt and pepper, stew for a quarter of an hour, mix it into the beaten yolks of two eggs, stir it quickly, rub a hot dish with shallot, and serve in it.

BRONCHITIS.—From John Flagg, Esq., of Bennington, N. H. "Three years since I was very much reduced with a dreadful cough, which resulted in Bronchitis, affecting me so severely as to render it difficult to speak in an audible voice. To this was added severe night sweats, and I was fearful of going into a decline. After recourse to various remedies, to no purpose; I made use of Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, a few bottles of which fully restored me to health. Since that time I have had several severe attacks of cough, but the Balsam has always removed them. I always kept it by me, and should not know how to do without it." 50 cents and $1 a bottle. Sold by all druggists.

A Nice Dish.—Pork chops fried and served with apples are not to be frowned upon. Put the meat in the frying pan, and then scatter a little sage and pepper and salt over it; cook thoroughly; if it is fat enough so that there be plenty of gravy, fry the sliced apples in that; if not, add a lump of butter, brown the apples, and lay them over the pork.

FARM AND GARDEN.

An hour spent in making seed clean will save a day or a week in the future in eradicating weeds.

Onions keep well in a cold, dry cellar, if not too early; they should be stored in a dry loft, or on a bare floor, until cold weather endangers their freezing, when they may be barrelled and put in the cellar.

The best farmer is the one who thinks as well as works; who knows what he intends to do a day, or at least a night, in advance; who believes that thought has as much to do with successful farming as plenty of muscle, if not more.

Plants prepared for the greenhouse and the window gardens should be kept in the open air to harden them, as long as the frost keeps off, but at night they should be either brought into the house or protected from the chilly air.

Rhubarb plantations may be manured as soon as the leaves are killed by frost, and the work will be out of the way in the spring. It is usually done by first raking off the rubbish, after which a light furrow is turned from the roots on each side; the manure is then spread along the furrows, and covered over by the plough.

The use of charred bran for preserving delicate fruit while on the road to market bids fair to solve the problem which has so long perplexed some millers. Converted into charcoal, the light and slippery product of the mills ceases to be unmanageable, and it is quite likely that a large local demand for charred bran will arise in the vicinity of most mills, for packing not only quickly perishable fruits like peaches, plums and grapes, but also apples and other firmer fruits, for storage as well as for transportation

IT SAVED MY LIFE.

The value of human life is so supremely important that any thing which tends to its prolongation is entitled to the highest consideration. Speaking to us recently on this subject, Charles Nelson, Esq., proprietor Nelson house, Port Huron, observed: I suffered so with rheumatism that my arm withered, and physicians could not help me. I was in despair of my life, when some one advised me to try St. Jacobs Oil. I did so, and as if by magic I was instantly relieved, and, by the continued use of the Oil entirely cured. I thank heaven for having used this wonderful remedy, for it saved my life. It has also cured my wife.—Port Huron (Mich.) Commercial.

An Arizona man, while digging a grave in which to bury the body of his wife, struck a valuable silver lode. Thereupon he remarked, "Well, I reckon Polly'll keep if this weather continues," and kept on digging. To-day he is a rich man.

PEOPLE TORMENTED by the many disagreeable sensations produced by dyspepsia, or are thin, nervous and weak, should use the standard tonic—Northrop & Lyman's Quinine Wine. They will find it agreeable and beneficial. It enriches the blood by aiding digestion and assimilation; soothes and invigorates the nervous system, and imparts a healthful appetite. When used as a remedy for bilious and intermittent fever, it produces the happiest results, if taken between the attacks. Convalescence is hastened, and untimely decay of the physique and constitution is arrested by it. The spirituous constituent, sherry wine, is of the best quality, and the aromatics combined with it renders its flavor additionally pleasant. They who use it gain flesh as well as strength and it exerts a cheering influence upon the mind. It promotes a healthy secretion and flow of bile, sound repose and regularity in the action of the bowels. If judiciously used it may be taken without apprehension of any ill result by persons of the most delicate constitution. A fair trial is all that is needed to prove the genuineness of its claims to public confidence, and to the truth of the general verdict in its behalf. No article of its class commends its self so strongly to nervous invalids who require building up—none is so well adapted to fortify the system against the dangers which threaten the debilitated. It should not be mistaken for a mere stimulant of appetite, which so many so-called tonics simply are. It so regulates the stomach that it is enabled to perform its various functions with regularity and vigor, and its action is not only thorough but prompt. Ask for the "Quinine Wine of Northrop & Nyman." Sold by all druggists

NOT THE SLIGHTEST AFFINITY exists between the numberless cough mixtures with which the market is flooded and that successful preparation—Northrop and Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. It stands alone, distinct, itself, and nothing else. It embodies the best results of pharmaceutical science. It accomplishes positive, decisive results, effectually relieving coughs when the lungs are not tuberculous or hopelessly affected) colds, larnygitis and diseases of a scrofulous origin. While it does not cure Consumption it is the most reliable means of defence against that dreaded scourge. The invigorating properties of the hypophosphites reimburse the system debilitated by the constant tear and wear of a cough, while the paroxysms rapidly diminish in violence, in consequence of the soothing emollient action of the cod liver oil upon the inflamed lung membrane. The phosphorus, lime and soda, in combination with it are all natural components in the construction of the bodily edifice, which, in a state of decay, lacks a sufficiency of those elements. These the hypophosphites supply, increasing the nutritive properties of the blood, and building up and rehabilitating the tottering human structure with a degree of promptitude as astonishing as it is gratifying to the invalid. A perceptible gain in flesh as well as strength is one of the consequences of using this standard preparation, which both time and experience have demonstrated to be fully worthy of the confidence reposed in it. Prepared by NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto and sold by all druggists.

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. "It will most surely quicken the Blood and Heal, as its acting power is wonderful." GOIN' FOR THE COWS.

The western skies were all aglow
With clouds o' red an' gray;
The crickets in the grassy fields
Were chirpin' merrily.
When up the lane an' o'er the hill
I saw a maiden roam,
Who went her way at close o' day
To call the cattle home:
Co-boss—co-boss!
Co-bow—co-bow!
Come home—come home!

The echo o' her charmin' voice
It sounded thro' the vale;
It lingered on the evenin' air,
It floated on the gale;
'Twas borne along the mountain side,
It drifted through the glen;
It roved away among the hills,
Far from the haunts of men:
Co-boss—co-boss!
Co-bow—co-bow!
Come home—come home!

Her face was flushed with hues o' health,
Her arms an' feet were bare;
She had a lithe and active form,
A wealth o' raven hair.
Beyond the hill she passed from sight,
As sinks a fallen star,
Until her voice was faintly heard
Still callin' from afar:
Co-boss—co-boss!
Co-bow—co-bow!
Come home—come home!

Soon o'er the distant knoll appeared
The cattle, red an' brown,
An' from the pasture to the lane
Came gayly trottin' down.
With sparklin' eyes and cheeks aglow
Returned the gay,
Who waved her arms, and shouted low:
Whay-boss—whay-bow—O whay!
Whay-boss—whay-boss!
Whay-boss—whay-boss!
O whay—O whay!

HAD NO FUN IN HIM.

One of the members of the Methodist Conference held here was out for a walk at an early hour one morning, and while on Howard Street encountered a strapping big fellow, who was drawing a wagon to the blacksmith shop.

"Catch hold here and help me down to the shop with this wagon and I'll buy the whiskey!" called the big fellow.

"I never drink," solemnly replied the good man.

"Well, you can take a cigar."

"I never smoke."

The man dropped the wagon tongue, looked hard at the member and asked:

"Don't you chew?"

"No sir," was the decided reply.

"You must get mighty lonesome," mused the teamster.

"I guess I'm all right; I feel first rate."

"I'll bet you even that I can lay you on your back," remarked the teamster."

"I never bet," replied the clergyman.

"Come, now, let's warm up a little."

"I'm in a hurry."

"Well, let's take each other down for fun, then. You are as big as I am, and I'll give you the under hold."

"I never have fun," solemnly replied the member.

"Well, I'm going to tackle you, anyway. Here we go."

The teamster slid up and endeavored to get a back hold, but he had only just begun to fool about, when he was lifted clear off the grass and slammed against a tree box with such force that he gasped half a dozen times before he could catch his breath.

"Now, you keep away from me," exclaimed the minister, picking up his cane.

"Bust me if I don't," replied the teamster as he edged off. "What's the use in lying and saying that you didn't have any fun in you when you are chuck full of it. You wanted to break my back, didn't you.—Detroit Free Press.

ONLY A MECHANIC.

Only a mechanic! Well, for my part I hardly know anyone I respect more than I do a faithful, skilled mechanic, who puts thought into his handicraft, and knows why he does things.

His hands may be hard, and his working clothes rough, but I wonder what we should do without him—you and I! We should sit under a rock, perhaps, cooking our food on bits of stick over a fire of dead branch without roof to cover us, and certainly destitute of stoves, ranges, and stationary tubs.

Only a mechanic! Look at the great buildings that line our streets, which vast crowds enter without fear; think of the long stretch of sidewalks, the bright gas lamps, the pure cold water to be had by turning a little faucet!

Think of the carriages we ride in—the railroad cars, the steam engine. Think of almost anything we use, from a fork to a hairpin, and then turn up your nose at "a mechanic" if you dare. Mechanics led on by scientific men, have made every improvement we rejoice in. They are mechanics of a better sort—mechanics who have original thoughts.

Mechanics are by no means an ignorant set of men, either. They generally keep pretty well up with the times. They educate their families. They have neat little homes where you often find pianos and good books. Thanks to the advantages they have here, they are, in this country at least, well-spoken and well-mannered people, with no servility about them, and no necessity for being servile. On holidays they dress as well as anybody else, and are often more comfortable and grow a great deal richer than people who speak so contemptuously of "a mechanic," without realy thinking what a mechanic is, or what—if he is a genius—he may be. It would be an uncomfortable world I assure you, my dear, if mechanicism and the mechanics were left out of it.

DISAGREEABLE HABITS.

Nearly all the disagreeable habits which people take up come at first from mere accident, or want of thought. They might easily be dropped, but they are presisted in until they become second nature. Stop and think before you allow yourself to form them. There are disagreeable habits of body, like scrowling, winking, twisting the mouth, biting the nails, continually picking at something, twirling a key, or fumbling at a chain, drumming with the fingers, screwing or twisting a chair or whatever you lay your hands on. Don't do any of these things. Learn to sit quietly like a gentleman, we were going to say, but we are afraid girls fall into such tricks sometimes. There are much worse habits than these, to be sure; but we are speaking only of these little things that are only annoying when they are persisted in. There are habits of speech also, such as beginning every speech with "you see," or "you know," "now-a," "I don't care," tell ye what." "tell ye now;" indistinct utterance, sharp, nasal tones; avoid them all. Stop and think what you are going to say, and then let every word drop from your lips just as perfect as a new silver coin. Have a care about your way of sitting, and standing and walking. Before you know it you will find that your habits have hardened into a coat of mail that you cannot get rid of without a terrible effort.

HE WAS A "DAISY."

"Come, Norah, and join in the maizy,"
"Now, Patrick, sit down and be aisy,
"Faith you're there all alone,
"For the girls are all gone,
"Sure a wall flower should dance with a daisy."

MALTOPEPSYN.

(REGISTERED AT OTTAWA.)

AN ARTIFICIAL GASTRIC JUICE.

This is not a patent medicine(secret remedy,) the formula is printed on the label attached to each bottle.

MALTOPEPSYN cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Intestinal and Wasting diseases, Constipation, Nausea, Chronic Diarrhœa, Cholera Infantum, and most of infants troubles, which generally arise from the stomach.

50 CENTS FOR 48 DOSES, OR ABOUT 1 CENT PER DOSE.

Regular-sized bottles containing 1½ ozs., with dose-measure attached, 50 cents, for sale by all Chemists throughout the Dominion.

Avoid taking liquids of any sort, more than is absolutely necessary to quench thirst, as the excessive use of liquids is the cause of half the Dyspepsia in the world. Maltopepsyn is a powder, agreeable and easily taken, supplies to the stomach the actual Gastric Juice.

Prescribed by the leading Physicians throughout the Dominion, in their regular practice. Maltopepsyn is also used to a large extent in Hospitals, Dispensaries and Infirmaries.

SPECIMENS OF TESTIMONIALS RECEIVED FROM PHYSICIANS.

WALLACE, N. S., Oct. 4, 1880.

"The Maltopepsyn was given in a marked and distressing case of Indigestion with the most rapid, pleasing and beneficial results." Z. W. KEMPTON, M. D.

ATHLONE, ONT., Jan. 20, 1880.

"The Maltopepsyn I obtained from you has far more than answered my anticipations. Having tried it in two old and very obstinate cases of indigestion, I found it to act like a charm." C. McKENNA, M. D.

CAMARAY, ONT., Jan., 1881.

"I have used your Maltopepsyn in severe cases of Indigestion and Malnutrition in adults, and Diarrhœa of children, and am so well pleased with the results that I have instructed my druggist to keep a supply on hand." T. W. READE, M. D.

ATHLONE, ONT., Dec. 30, 1880.

"After giving your Maltopepsyn a trial in some of my worst cases, for which it was recommended, I am well pleased with the way in which it acts. Continue to make a good article like that now in use, and it will be a universal favorite." R. HAMILTON, M. D.

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Manhattan Feed!

—FOR—

HORSES, CATTLE, MILCH COWS, SHEEP AND PIGS.

IT is a source of health, because it keeps the organs in a natural healty tone. It acts as a relish, promotes perfect digestion, and purifies the blood, thereby keeping the coat in a free and glossy condition. TRY IT! BUY IT!

READ THESE RECOMMENDATIONS:

Toronto, March 4th, 1881.

We have used the "Manhattan Feed" for six weeks, reducing our oats one-quarter and using no bran. We have ordered more, considering the system of feeding a good one, having saved about $5 per month on the feed of 12 horses, their condition being fully kept up.

MESSRS R. W. SMITH & Co., MONTREAL:
Gentlemen,—We have used the Manhattan Feed this winter with our horses, one of which we have hitherto found it difficult to keep fat;—but since using your feed he has picked up and become remarkably well conditioned, so much so that it has been the remark of the townspeople how well our horses looked. Apart from this, we find that we are not obliged to feed as many oats as before; and have great pleasure in recommending its general use.

Yours etc., GEO. LABATT,
Manager P. B. & M. Co.

Peterboro, Jan. 4th, 1881.

Messrs Taylor & McDonald, Agents,—Dear Sirs:—The Manhattan Feed bought from you has not only done all you professed for it, but much more. Before feeding it to our hens we were only getting on an average two eggs per week from each hen, now we average five to six. The difference it has made in our sheep one would have to see in order to credit. I would advise all interested in getting their cattle in good condition to get a bag. It has more than paid me its cost twice over.

VITAL STATISTICS.—The registrations made with the Registrar during the month of October were as follows: Births, 19; Marriages, 5; Deaths, 12.

LEGAL.—At the law examinations lately held in Toronto, Mr. F. W. Haultain successfully passed his second intermediate, and Mr. A. E. Dixon his first intermediate examination.

We are given to understand that the Rev. Wm. Muir, of the Canadian Baptist, is on a business visit to the town of Peterborough. He is making his home with the pastor of the Baptist Church.

I. ROBINSON & Co. have just received a large stock of Buffalo, Japanese, Wolf, White Polar and Jet Black Polar Sleigh Robes. Also a lot of plush and India Rubber Carriage Rugs, at very low prices. 45-tf

SOMETHING NEW.—Soap bubble festivals are the latest device for raising money. Five cents is charged for a blow, and the one blowing the largest bubble receives a prize, a committee of young ladies acting as judges.

FORESTER'S SUPPER.—The officers of Court Peterborough No 29, Canadian Order of Foresters entertain the members of the Court this evening, at an oyster supper at Morgan's Hotel. A pleasant time is looked for.

PARLOR SOCIAL.—A parlor social under the auspicies of the Ladies' Aid Society, of the George Street Methodist Church, was held on Tuesday evening at Mrs. D. W. Dumble's. A very large number was present and a pleasant and enjoyable evening spent.

EVERYONE in want of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Ready-made Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Groceries or Crockery, should see the large assortment of new, fresh and sound goods, sold at the most reasonable prices by W. J. Wallace, Lakefield. 45-tf.

IN ITS FAVOR.—An exchange has the following kind words to say for the oyster:—"Raw oysters are the only kind of fruit which, eaten at night, won't get up in the small hours and kick the plastering all off the inside of a fellow's stomach."

ROCK ISLAND BOOTS.—Messrs. R. Stenson & Son have just received several cases of Rock Island Boots, which are marked down to bottom prices. Full stock in all other departments, selling extremely cheap. Call and see for yourself. 36-tf.

ORANGE SOCIAL.—The anniversary of the gunpowder plot was celebrated by the members of the orange fraternity in this town, by a social re-union on Thursday evening last in the Orange Hall. Quite a number were present and a very pleasant evening spent.

TO STAMMERERS.—The stammerer's friend will be in Peterborough the coming week, where he will remain for a few days to treat those who may be troubled with any defects in speech. All are invited to call and consult him. Consultation free. Rich and poor welcomed. No cure no pay. 43-

"THE AULD SCOTCH SONGS."—Those who desire to hear these grand, tender, beautiful and humorous lyrics sung as only native and grand musicians can sing them should not miss the opportunity of hearing the Kennedys on Friday and Monday nights in the Opera House.

A DISCRIMINATING OFFICIAL.—The Lindsay Post of last week says:—Mr. James Buller, the obliging and efficient baggage-master at the Peterborough station of the Midland Railway, is one of the few men in his position that seem to recognize the difference between a trunk or valise and a half ton casting, and handles both as they should be.

WEEK OF PRAYER FOR YOUNG MEN.—The International Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association, at Cleveland, 1st June, set apart the second Sabbath in November and the week following (Nov. 13-19) as a season of special prayer for young men and for Christian work in their behalf. A similar recommendation was made by the World's Convention of the Young Men's Christian Association, in London, in August last.

A HANDSOME ADVERTISING WORK.—We have received from the Gazette Printing Company, of Montreal, a large advertising work ehtitled "The Three Chief Cities of Canada," being a description of Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton. The typography of the work is excellent and the engravings of the principal buildings and places in the three cities are of a quality somewhat unusual in a work of this kind.

MECHANICS' BANK BILLS.—The following appeared in the Ottawa Free Press of Saturday last, which parties in this vicinity holding bills of the above Bank will do well to note;—"Holders of Mechanics' Bank bills throughout the country districts should be made aware that they must return their notes or bills of the bank before the final dividend of the bank liquidators shall have been declared It is believed that the advertisement announcing the last dividend will be made shortly, and when this has been paid the bills of the bank become valueless. It is in the interest of bill holders that this matter is brought to their notice."

LITERARY ASSOCIATION.—The annual meeting of this Society was held last Monday, Mr. Corkery in the chair. After preliminary business the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—President, Mr. N. D. Beck; Sec.-Treas., Mr. W. A. Stratton; Committee, Messrs. J. Henry and J. Corkery. Mr. Campbell read an essay on "The Influence of the Drama." Mr. Toole favored the meeting with a reading, after which the debate was postponed and the meeting adjourned.

A correspondent asks us what are the privileges conveyed in presenting a person with the "freedom of a city." Theoretically, it conveys the right of exercising the franchise, but practically it is merely a distinction, and of very little more use than knighthood or any of the other solemn humbugs of the day. The freedom of a city is presented, in the language of the address fiend, "not for its intrinsic value, but merely as a token of esteem.

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.—A meeting of the Village Council was held on Monday evening. Abraham Dormer applied to be relieved from paying the taxes on a dog, not having any. After making a declaration to that effect the Council deducted the amount. Mrs. Waters applied for charity for herself and husband, which, was, after consideration left with the Reeve. After ordering the payment of three small accounts the Council adjourned.

WORTH TRYING.—It will soon be time to give a trial to the following practice, recommended by the Scientific American, for the removal of stumps: In the Autumn or early Winter bore a hole one or two inches in diameter, according to the girth of the stump, and about eight inches deep. Put into it one or two ounces of saltpetre; fill the hole with water and plug it close. In the ensuing spring take out the peg and pour in a gill of kerosene oil and ignite it. The stump will smoulder away without blazing, to the very extremity of the roots, leaving nothing but ashes.

TRY IT.—A medical authority says, when you get a chill all over and way into your bones, and begin to sniffle and almost struggle for your breath, just begin in time and your tribulations need not last very long. Get some powdered borax and snuff the dry powder up your nostrils. Get your camphor bottle, smell of it frequently, pour some on your handkerchief and wipe your nose with it whenever needful. Your nose will not get sore, and you will soon wonder what has become of your cold. Begin this treatment in the forenoon and keep on at intervals until you go to bed, and you will sleep as well as y ou ever did.

LACROSSE.—The Committee appointed at a late meeting to arrange for a bowling alley and gymnasium, in connection with the Lacrosse Club, reported the other evening. Through the kindness of the Rev. Mr. Lynch, the building used as an alley last season in rear of the Separate School, was placed at their disposal, and arrangements have already been commenced to fit the place up, a portion of it being set apart for gymnasium purposes. It is expected to be opened by the 15th instant. Those not members of the club, and wishing to take part in the winter's amusements, can procure tickets from the Secretary, Mr. R. H. Fortye. The management of the Club are to be complimented upon their success in providing suitable amusement for keeping the members together during the winter season.

"THE MODEL FARM," SPRINGVILLE. For two or three years past we have had the pleasure annually of recording the amount of produce raised by Mr. Archibald Goodfellow, from his "Model Farm" at Springville. This year the receipts are one-half more than in previous years, and demonstrates very forcibly what care, attention and competent tillage will produce. His receipts this year have been as follows:

Wheat, 636 bushels, 10 lbs	$778 89
Barley, 450 bushels	360 00
Oats, 300 bushels	120 00
Potatoes, 80 bushels	40 00
Carrots, 100 bushels	15 00
Hay, 7 tons	63 00
Dairy Produce	106 78
Total	$1483 58

There were under tillage 46 acres; 8 acres of hay and 12 acres of pasture, realizing an average of almost $22.50 per acre all round.

BAPTIST CHURCH.—On Friday evening, the 4th inst, over two hundred ladies met in the Baptist Church, Aylmer street, to listen to an address from Mrs. Armstrong, late of Chicacole, India. Mrs. Gilmour presided, and the pastor of the church read the Scripture lesson and led in prayer. Mrs. Freeland, of Toronto, also took part in the meeting, and gave some interesting information about the work of the "Baptist Womens' Foreign Missionary Society." Mrs. Armstrong is a bright, intelligent, vivacious speaker and succeeded in holding the attention of her audience for over an hour while she spoke on "Christian Womens' Work in Pagan India." The meeting was under the auspices of the Baptist Womens' Foreign Mission Circles of the Peterborough district and was a grand success. A collection of $18.83 was taken up at the door to defray expenses. We understand that the Peterborough Mission Circle is very prosperous.

THE LINDSAY Post in alluding to the proposed hotel and summer residences to be erected at Chemong Lake, says: "There is no reason why the project should not be a successful one, if the cost of staying is not so high as to make paterfamilias button up his pockets and refuse. A sensible idea about the thing is that in place of putting all the eggs into one basket, by erecting a large summer hotel, a number of small cottages will be run up which can be rented for the season at a fair figure. If the energetic men at the head of the Rowing Club of that town can induce the capitalists to provide accommodation and reasonable facilities for reaching the lake, there is no better spot for a regatta in Canada. A straightaway course of seven miles, and almost unfailably smooth water, and only steamboats enough to lend enchantment to the view. Should the steamers, however, prove obstreperous they can be tied to the floating bridge with a spool of thread where they will be out of harm's way.

THIEVES AND RECEIVERS.—Between August and the middle of September, last two different burglaries occured in Whitby, and also a burglary of Mr. Russel's boot and shoe establishment in Port Hope, all thought to be the work of one individual or gang. Detectives Burrowes and Sheehan, of the Toronto force, had strong suspicions that these goods had been brought to Toronto. Burrowes visited a second-hand dealer named Spain, who keeps on Queen-street, frequently, but Spain denied all knowledge of having received a quantity of boots and shoes. On the 14th October Detective Burrowes received positive information that the stolen boots and shoes had been sold to Spain in a large valise on the 25th September. The detective went to Spain's place and demanded the goods. The dealer was very much frightened, and said that the boots and shoes were at his residence. Burrowes went to Spain's house, and there discovered the goods. Word having been sent to Port Hope, Spain was taken down on Wednesday last. On Saturday Burrowes went to Port Hope and appeared against Spain, who was convicted of receiving stolen goods and sentenced to twelve months in the Central Prison. The burglar has also been captured in Oshawa and sentenced to the penitentiary for seven years.

POULTRY ASSOCIATION.

The annual meeting of the Midland Central Poultry Association, was held in the room adjoining the Council Chamber, on Tuesday evening last, at which there was a fair attendance. In the absence of the President, Mr. R. Hall occupied the chair. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The Secretary Treasurer, Mr. Jas. Saulter, presented the report for the past year showing that the Society has been prospering. After discussion, it was decided that should the Society receive the same liberal support from the people of the Town and County this season, that it has received during the past, the exhibition would be held in January, one month earlier than last year. After the following officers were elected for the ensuing year, the meeting adjourned for one week.

PRESIDENT.—J. R. Stratton.
VICE-PRESIDENT.—J. Saulter.
SECRETARY.—G. B. Sproule.
TREASURER.—John McClelland.
DIRECTORS.—Robert Hall, R. Howden, H. W. Watson, T. E. Bell, J. Baptie.

OUR OTTAWA LETTER.

THE PRINCESS' RETURN—POLITICAL MOVEMENTS—A PROBABLE DISSOLUTION—THE LUMBER TRADE—THE JURY SYSTEM, ETC.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Well, the Governor-General has gone to England, to return about the middle of January next. There appears to have been some doubt about his returning, but his own utterances on the day of his departure should put the matter at rest. On the day he left Ottawa, the Corporation presented him with a parting address, and in his unwritten reply he said he purposed returning at the time abovementioned. In alluding to the Princess, he said she had twice made all her preparations to sail for Canada, but had been ordered by her medical adviser to remain in England. She would, however, sail for Canada in the Spring. The chances are that she will not again come to Canada; and, all things considered, it is just as well she should not. The forms and ceremonies that doth hedge these Royal personages around, the almost worship that is expected is not suited to our people. The State entertainments at Rideau Hall, when she is here, are fridigidly ceremonial and unenjoyable in the extreme. Of course, people who come here and get a bid to the Hall, and are allowed to be in the "presence" for a short hour or two, may talk about how they enjoyed it all, but it is only talk. The Marquis himself is free and cordial, and there is not nearly the same restraint as when the Princess is present. So society will lose nothing by her absence this winter.

THE POLITICAL SEA

is just beginning to surge a little, as it always does when preparations for meeting Parliament are being made. During the summer, in fact since Parliament arose, the Ministers have nearly all been away, and always away. Some of the small gems have been left here to sign papers and look a little after the routine of the Governmental machine, but the knights have been tilting the country all over. Sir John has just now got his hands full of these small troubles that beset a First Minister. Two members of his Government must be transplanted; but where to put them, and who to put in their places, is the burning question. When the present Minister of Marine retires who will succeed him? Some say the Hon. Fortin. He should be well-qualified, as he has gone down to the sea in a ship. But that would be giving

ANOTHER MINISTER TO QUEBEC,

which would hardly do. Then, there is poor old John O'Connor; what is to be done with him? He would be very glad, no doubt, to get well shelved. He is in poor health. His legal acquirements hardly fit him for the Superior Bench indeed his health would not permit the proper discharge of the duties of a Puisne Judgeship was he otherwise equal to it. But the great difficulty with Sir John is that there are too many applicants for the birth. Costigan, Bergin, and we do not know how many more. To give the place to one makes a not very warm friend of the other. So things meantime drift along, and while Costigan, Bergin & Co. are enjoying the pleasures of anticipations, the Hon. John enjoys the pleasure of possession and keeps the nest warm. Then there is M. P. Ryan flitting around every few days, it is supposed-pushing his claims to the Montreal Collectorship of Customs. Sir John does not want to open any constituency just now. So M. P. Ryan must join the expectants. Then, just think of the six or seven Senatorships vacant. There is a class of politician that manages to get into the Commons House for once. They feel they can never get in again. They have tasted the

SWEETS OF PARLIAMENT LIFE,

and would like to keep on coming to Ottawa in the winter—and the present Parliament has a host of this kind in it. If we could only sit at Sir John's elbow and take note of the pushing and squabbling of this class of men for the Senatorships—that haven where elections and constituents do not rise and trouble—it would be at least amusing to the onlooker; but it must be very vexatious to the dispenser of the favors.

It is not at all unlikely that after the next session

THERE WILL BE A DISSOLUTION

and a new election; it is indeed very probable. The Government people argue that the country is prosperous and the people content and happy and that it will not be difficult to convince the body of the electors that it is the present Government who have brought this state of things about. If they await, the evil fruit their policy is sure to produce will ripen. The knowing ones see this and are in favor of snatching a further lease. The difficulty will be with the following. There are some money accidents in the present House that cannot be repeated in any case. But be ready—an election next summer is quite on the card.

OUR LUMBERMEN

have had a tolerably good season, and have made money. The lowness of the water has interfered somewhat. It has made it difficult, and expensive to get down logs, and it has added to the freight charges by reason of the small loads that could be put on barges. The trade is, however, in a healthy state, and the number of men that have gone into the woods this fall, at very considerably increased wages, is large. In fact, men have been in great demand.

TRIAL BY JURY

has been put to a severe strain at the Assizes just closed here. We are constrained to regard trial by jury as a kind of sheet-anchor palladium, or invaluable institution; whereas, in a great many cases it is a fraud of the first water. It is notorious that criminal trials here are decided out of Court, and party and creed have in many cases had more to do with deciding the verdict than the evidence at the trial. A remedy for this kind of thing will have to be found, if the administration of justice is to be kept pure and the law made a terror to evil-doers. The mode of procedure in civil jury cases under the new Judicature Act has the approval of lay men.

SOME LAWYERS MAY DENY IT, because they may have to learn and unlearn, and would prefer to stick to the old rut. But if a jury are to be only judges of fact—which has always been their function—it is obviously much better that they perform that duty alone, and not as formerly, to apply the law as laid down by the Judge. The plan of submitting certain questions to the jury, which determine the facts alone, leaving the Judge to record the verdict, which the determined facts make legal, is a decided improvement. Every person who has been in Court, and heard the Judge charge, too well remember the style,—"Gentlemen, it is my duty to inform you that the law affecting the case is so and so; the evidence is so and so; if you believe so and so it is your duty to find for the plaintiff; but if, on the other hand, you do not think the evidence so and so, you will find for the defendant." Now, the Judge simply says,—"Gentlemen, you have heard the evidence, according to that evidence are such and such things true? I will make the application of the law." The administration of justice in its purity is a matter of paramount importance. The well-being of society is bound up in it, and it were well that the

JURY SYSTEM SHOULD BE LOOKED INTO,

to see if some way cannot be found whereby the individual who may be brought to trial shall have a fair trial, but his or her fate shall be determined by the evidence alone, all other considerations being put out of sight. We are a young community, and on the whole law-abiding, but as population becomes more dense things may alter. The attainment, therefore, now, of as pure and certain a system as possible is desirable, as prevention is always better than cure. Let it be understood that criminals who violate the law will be punished, and our people will continue to grow up in wholesome dread of the restraining influences of law, and order will be the result.

ALPHA.

BRITISH AND FOREIGN.

Four hundred and ninety agrarian outrages were reported in Ireland during the month of October.

A rather staggering item is going the rounds to the effect that a rifle of silk has been invented in Japan which possesses all the advantages of a steel weapon with only a small part of its weight.

The trial of Lefroy for the murder of Mr. Gold closed on the 8th instant. The lord chief justice's summing up for the prosecution, which lasted three to four hours, was strongly against the prisoner, who was found guilty and sentened to be hanged. After the sentence was passed, Lefroy protested his innocence.

A despatch from Hong Kong announces that a terribly disastrous typhoon has ravaged Western Tonquse. Two hundred churches, thirty-four presbyteries and colleges and two thousand houses have been reduced to ruins. Sixty thousands Christians have lost all they possess. The suffering is frightful.

A law has just gone into effect in Paris providing that all cans for fruit, vegetables and meat shall hereafter be soldered on the outside, and that the plate shall be covered with pure tin instead of the alloys often used. There should be similar laws in this country, for cases of poisoning are becoming anything but uncommon.

A Parisian journal estimates the total number of recognized medical men throughout the civilized world at 189,000, of whom it assigns 65,000 to the United States, 35,000 to Great Britain and her colonies, 26,000 to France, 23,000 to Germany and Austria, 10,000 to Italy, and 5,000 to Spain. Of the whole number 11,000, it estimates, have contributed to medical literature—2,800 in the United States, 2,600 in France, 2,000 in Great Britain, 2,300 in Germany and Austria, and only 300 in Spain.

It is to be hoped that the friends of Ireland will not be called on to regret the sympathy they have given to the cause of the Irish peasantry. From Paris comes the order of Egan to the tenant farmers to refuse to appear before the land court, decline to pay rent, and hold on to the harvests for support. These are the words of an impratical theorizer. If the rent question is the one in issue in Ireland, this is the worst possible advice to give, for, if followed by those to whom it is tendered, it divorces them at once from the active sympathy and encouragement of thousands in America. The land courts have thus far manifested a disposition to deal justly and generously with the tenants. Nearly every decision thus far reported has been in favor of the tenant farmers, and against the landlords. Rents have been reduced by the court, and a more just and equitable adjudication made of the relations existing between the landlords and the tenants. So, if the battle is for the reduction of rents, merely, then the advice of Egan is ill-timed.

AMERICAN NEWS.

Thursday, November 24, has been appointed Thanksgiving Day in the United States.

It is stated that an English syndicate seeking to invest one hundred million dollars in America is about to purchase railroads and coal lands in Ohio.

The bench of judges in Massachusetts have endorsed Chief Justice Gray's decision against the admission of women to the bar of that state.

At Green bridge, Pa., Jno. Thompson and his brother tried to stop a dog fight and the latter threw a stone at the animals, and missing them, smashed his brother's skull.

There is living near Turners, at the age of seventy, a hale and hearty man who has never tasted liquor since he was eighteen, nor eaten a morsel of meat in forty years, and used neither tea nor coffee in twenty-five years. He claims to be the first teetotal temperance man in Orange county.

Fifty thousand dollars have been offered by showmen in the United States for the funeral car that carried the remains of the late President to their last resting place, and it wasn't accepted. For curious ways of making money, commend us to the Yankee showmen. It is said the photographer at Washington, who is supplying the public with photos of the assassin, will make a fortune by it.

Truth says:—"Information has reached us from a most reliable source that the body of the late merchant prince, A. T. Stewart, has been recovered, owing to certain negotations that had been entered into between Mrs. Cornelia Stewart and a certain prominent, though impecunious lawer of this city, by whose means the body was recovered, he receiving as his share of the clarnel house offering the sum of $12,000; the aggregate amount paid being $37,000.

CANADIAN NEWS.

A large seal was observed in the river near Brockville the other day.

The expenditure on new streets and walks, in Napanee, this year has so far amounted to only $280.

For the week ending November 5th, the mail carriers of Toronto delivered 100,000 letters, 3,000 of which were registered.

The Owen Sound Council is about to pass a by-law so that any person found smoking cigars or pipes around stables can be snatched by the Chief and put in the lock-up.

Mr. W. C. Vanhorne resigned from a position worth $10,000 a year to accept the management of the Canada Pacific Railway. He will probably make Montreal his headquarters. His salary is to be $60,000.

The Toronto city council will be called upon to pass a by-law prohibiting handbills, dodgers and loose paper from being thrown around the streets. This will have the effect of driving all advertising into the columns of the newspapers, where it legitimately belongs.

Voting took place in Pictou County, N. S., yesterday, on the Canadian Temperance Act. In the town of Pictou there is a majority of 147 for the Act, and the other districts, so far as heard from, give a total majority of 586. Sixteen sections are yet to be heard from.

Henry Marchbank, a well-known resident of Belleville, and a former corresponding clerk of the Mechanics' National Bank at Newark, N. J., has been arrested on a charge of being a defaulter to the extent of $50,000. Marchbank left the bank two years ago and his defalcation was covered up.

The Toronto Telegram says: A new swindle has been discovered in connection with the sale of fresh pork by local dealers. When the pork is procured from the butcher it is put into water to steep so as to make it heavier. When this is done the customer who pays for two pounds of pork only receives a pound and a half.

An indignation meeting was held at Queen's College, Kingston, on Tuesday evening, to protest against the decree ordering that academic costume shall be worn at all classes and students' meetings. The student who busied himself in obtaining signatures to the petition in favor of the change has been excluded from all college societies until he apologizes.

On last Thursday evening, while Mr. W. Neilly, head teacher of the public school, was standing in the post office in Bracebridge, Mr. Thos. M. Bowerman, clerk of the division court, entered, and without saying a word dealt him a blow from behind with a heavy walking stick, cutting his head open to the skull. The teacher having punished Mr. Bowerman's boy is the alleged cause of the assault.

At an assembly at Napanee lately some smart youth distinguished himself by scattering powdered cayenne pepper over the floor and in the ladies' dressing room. The trombone of the orchestra was also liberally treated. This was rather a pungent joke, but that young man will have no idea of what heat is till he comes to settle for this and similar escapades in another world.

St. John N. B. has a sensation. A few days ago two or three men drove up in a waggon in broad daylight to a two-storey vacant store, they loaded their vehicle with some furniture that was inside, the counters, doors, and sashes from several windows, and then drove off. The men were thieves, and as the deed was witnessed by scores of people who resided near by, it was undoubtedly one of the boldest that has ever happened in St. John. There is no clue to the perpetrators.

MISS ANNA PARNELL, sister of the agitator, intends coming forward as a candidate for Meath at the ensuing election for member to British Parliament It elected, she would not be allowed to sit in the House.

The trial of William and Robert Donnelly for the alleged incendiarism of Messrs. Stanley, Dight & Co's mill at Lucan, took place on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week. Both the prisoners were acquitted.

THE Credit Valley Railway people have resolved to discontinue their Sunday train. It did not pay, and as the money was the only reason for starting it, it was but natural that when the pay was not forthcoming the innovation should be dropped.

IT is understood that Sir W. P. Howland, ex-member of Sir John Macdonald's first Cabinet subsequent to Confederation, and ex-Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, will re-enter political life at the general elections as a follower of Hon. Edward Blake.

THE Belleville people have lately been complaining about the quality of the gas furnished the city by the Gas Company. The Inspector, after making a series of daily tests, found the gas very impure, being strongly impregnated with sulphuretted hydrogen.

MR. BALDWIN, the New Jersey bank official, is attracting a good deal of attention. "Did he leave anything?" a depositor recently asked one of the employees of the bank. "Yes," replied the employee, "he left the bank building, the safe and a three-cent postage stamp."

THE Ottawa Free Press makes the announcement that the Grand Trunk has applied to the Ontario Government for a charter to build a road from Cornwall to Ottawa. This means that the Grand Trunk are going to show fight and will not let the Syndicate have things its own way without a struggle.

AMERICAN papers are pointing out that there is as many Irish and people of Irish descent in the United States as there are in Ireland, and they claim that it will not be many years before they will have in the States as many Canadians and descendents of Canadians as there are in Canada.

Sir Charles Tupper's wonderful travelling power for a sick man excites profound admiration. During his illness and convalescence last spring and since he has travelled over twenty thousand miles, crossed the Atlantic twice, crossed the continent and back, and made several trips to the maritime provinces and back. He is now expected to be absent two weeks in the Maritime Provinces, returning in time for the Tory pow-wow at Toronto.

THE ACTION of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition Association in claiming the lease of the grounds from the city for August and september, 1882, means that they will not have anything to do with the Provincial, which will have to go elsewhere The days of the old institution are plainly numbered, so far as Toronto is concerned.

The Marquis of Lorne, before leaving Quebec for England, took the opportunity to remark that the statements set afloat as to the unwillingness of the Princess Louise to return to Canada are without foundation and unworthy of those who set them in circulation. He stated that he would return in a few weeks and that the Princess would come back next spring.

The Thomas case of heresy, or rather the Burns one, is likely to cause trouble among the Methodists in this country. Already different sides are being taken. Some are condemning Dr. Burns with great vehemence. Others are saying that he is all right, and that the opinions he expresses, instead of being 'heretical,' are strictly in accordance with truth and soberness. With such conflicting views among leading Methodist clergymen we may look for lively times.

NAPANEE rowdies appear to lead the van in acts of lawlessness and vandalism. On Monday night of last week several roughs attacked the residence of the editor of the Standard and hurled several large stones through the parlor wiadows. One stone was thrown with such force as to pass through the glass, the linen blind, and the lace curtain. Through another window a picket, apparently recently wrenched from a fence, was thrown through the glass. On Tuesday night the offence was repeated in a more aggravated form, more glass being broken than on the previous night. That such an act could have been committee two nights in succession in a town of four thousand inhabitants is a disgraceful approach to the authorities of Napanee.

THE Bobcaygeon Independent in speaking of Canadian statesmen, says:—"Foremost among the men of whom Canada can be justly proud is Mr. Edward Blake. We are not now speaking of the political views of that gentleman, but of his high principles and honorable character. Mr. Blake has given up a law practice in which he was making $30,000 a year for the purpose of devoting his whole time to the public service of his country, which may, at the next election reward him by a temporary position worth $8,000 a year. Just now he has to wait two years for so much as a chance at that. Mr. Blake is evidently not seeking after money as the highest good, and the example which he sets is one which should receive commendation from every right thinking man in Canada."

THE English "Fair Traders," whom Canadian Tory organs have been patting on the back for weeks, have received a crushing blow in a recent article in the London Times. The leading journal prints an array of figures which clearly demonstrate the immense increase of British trade during the past few years. The increase in American exports consists principally of cereals, to which England offers "no protection." The American marine, although "protected" and pampered by subsidies, has been swept off the seas by free British vessels. This involves a loss to the United States of the enormous sum of £16,000,000 sterling a year! The persistent refusal of the Americans to initiate a more liberal trade policy, leads the Times to direct the attention of British statesmen to the necessity for encouraging the growth of wheat in other countries, so as to lessen the dependence upon "protected" America for their breadstuffs.

THE idea which the majority of people have of our North-West Territory is that it is a vast expanse of prairie land, with only occasional clumps of popular trees along the banks of a stream. But the idea, though it is correct as applied to certain portions of the North-West, is not true as applied to the whole. It is known that there are vast regions yet untrodden by the foot of the explorer, covered with magnificent pine timber—regions which it will take many years to explore. Some idea of the quantity of timber which those regions are capable of yielding to the lumberman of the future may be conceived from the fact that one forest alone, according to the estimate of Colonel Mercer, a railway engineer, who explored it, contains 24,000,000,000 feet of lumber. The vast pine forests of Michigan, which is now the chief lumbering State of the Union, contains only 35,000,000,000 feet. There are, as a contemporary expresses it, indeed, oceans of pine in the North-west Ontario, and still greater oceans in the North-West. It can truly be said that Canada has not yet been discovered.

The Local Newspaper.

The Stratford Beacon, in an article on the effort made by the large city weeklies to crush out the country newspapers by reducing the price of their subscriptions to almost the bare cost of the white paper, says:

"There are a few men in every community who judge a "hog" simply by size, but the number is fortunately getting smaller and smaller every year. The skinflint who took a huge city weekly in one hand and a local journal in the other and choose the city paper simply because it was the larger of the two is not a factor in society to the extent he was a few years ago. A few men of that kind can be found yet without a search warrant. They die as slowly as a snake's tail, but when they do die, thank fortune they have no successors. Intelligent men know that good local journals are indispensable and do vastly more to promote the interests of the locality than a paper however large or cheap, published in a distant city. A good local journal at $2 a year is cheaper in proportion than a city weekly at half the price. A really good large sized country paper, brim full of local news, cannot be published at a reasonable profit for less than two dollars. This is not a large sum to pay for a really good home paper, and even at that price it requires prompt cash and a large advertising patronage to make the business moderately profitable.

MAGIC'S WONDERS.

"While in London, England, a short time ago," said the professor, "our Oxford-street waiter was made the victim of a practical joke. One morning as this tonsorial artist sat reading his newspaper, he was startled by seeing a young man enter in a very excited manner, who throwing, rather than seating, himself in the chair, demanded a shave instanter. The barber, who was a ready fellow, at once set about obeying the commands of this excited and hurried guest. With a rapidity that surprised himself, he shaved the right side of his customer's face, and then immediately turned to the left. That side he also shaved with cleanliness and dispatch, but, judge of his surprise, when his customer demanded to know in tones anything but pleased why he did not shave the right side. The poor bewildered barber was almost certain that he had done so, but perceived to his surprise that the side in question was covered with jet-black hair. Again he shaved it, but while he did so, to his surprise and horror, the hair was growing on the other side. Thus it continued for an hour. While he shaved one side he could actually see the hair growing on the other side. Terrified beyond expression, he stood motionless; hereupon the young man leaped from the chair, and, snatching the razor, drew it across his throat, and fell to the floor covered with blood. The barber flew into the street hallooing "Murder!" at the top of his voice. A crowd soon gathered, and, with the affrighted barber, beheld the supposed corpse quietly arranging his tie before the mirror—turning very pleasantly, he paid the barber and departed. A theatrical gentleman among the lookers-on soon gave it out that it was Professor Hermann the Great American Magician. I went to my hotel and awoke next day to find myself the talk of London," concluded the Professor, "for it was I who did it. I gave the barber fits." "Did you ever hear how I gave a friend of mine the snakes?" asked the Professor. On receiving an answer in the negative, he said: "A friend of mine, who was as great a drunkard as an actor, and that is saying a great deal, was one morning seen by me to enter a drinking-saloon when he was almost on the verge of delirium-tremens, and knowing his horror of 'snakes,' as mania-a-potu is vulgarly called, I resolved to save him. I entered just as he raised a glass of whiskey to his lips, and rushing forward I snatched the glass from his hand, crying at the same time: 'Hold, S., until I take this fly out.' Pretending to take the fly out, I held up a serpent. C. cried out: 'My God! that is a snake!' 'Not at all,' said I; 'it is a simple housefly. See? you are covered with them,' saying which I approached, and from his sleeves, and hair, etc., I proceeded to pull snakes, protesting all the time that they were flies. 'They are snakes!' cried C. again. 'My God! that is a snake; I tell you, Hermann, they are snakes!' 'Nonsense,' said I, 'they are but flies.' 'Then,' said he, 'I have the snakes myself!' and he rushed from the saloon. He was not seen for more than a week after; but when next seen he was sober, and has been so since." "Professor," asked the interviewer, "were you, who are so fond of surprising others, ever surprised yourself?" "Once," was the answer; "then the surprise was a very great and agreeable one, I assure you. It came about in this way: I was for a number of years a sufferer from cramps in my left side, immediately under the heart. I suffered regularly at the close of each performance, and very often was compelled to cancel engagements which I had made, owing to my inability to fill them, being prostrated by cramps, and being in a very weak condition. I entertained very serious thoughts of giving up my profession and spending some years in travel, and would have done so but for an attendant of mine, whose head I had cut off occasionally while performing my wonderful decapitation act. The individual to whom I complained of the pains and cramps in my side on one occasion said it was curious, that I, who could decapitate another and replace the head at will, ought certainly be able to cure myself. I told him how some of the best doctors in Europe and America had failed. He laughed at me, and said he could cure me in a week. That night he presented me with a bottle of St. Jacob's Oil, the Great German Remedy, saying that its use would produce an effect more magical than I could readily believe. I laughed at the idea of St. Jacob's Oil doing what had baffled the greatest doctors, but said that I would try it, simply to convince him that trying it would do no good. That night, on retiring, I rubbed my side with the Oil, and, sure enough, its good effect was instantaneous—magical, in fact; I felt relief at once. I slept better that night than I had done for a long time before. Again in the morning I rubbed with the Oil, and at the close of the afternoon performance I noticed a great diminution of the painful cramps. Was I surprised? Well, I was very much surprised, and I told my attendant so. In less than a week, and before I had finished using my third bottle, I was entirely and permanently cured. The effect of St. Jacob's Oil was indeed magical, so much so that I could scarcely believe my senses. I have never felt a cramp since—nor is there prophet, seer, soothsayer or magician who can perform such wonders as St. Jacobs Oil." Cincinnati Enquirer.

PORT HOPE.

One had re...ceived a wound in the arm, the ...ond had been favoured with a kick in the nose when playing football—number three had nearly severed one of his fingers from his hand with a sharp chisel—and number four had cut his scalp by falling on the back of his head.

ANOTHER CHANCE.—The News says: Port Hope has now another chance, and it is not a bogus one, either, for the establishment of an extensive factory in this town. The preliminaries have been arranged between the principal parties concerned, so that a definite proposal can now be laid before the capitalists of this town. The project is for the construction of a cotton mill, wherein two hundred employees will find steady work. If the people of the town will raise $50,000 in stock, and the town will supply the land necessary for the site, and grant exemption from taxes for ten years, foreign capitalists will embark $150,000 in the enterprise.

A CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—On Wednesday afternoon, as the eldest son of ex-Coun. Deering, who is only ten years of age, was climbing a poplar tree near the residence of Mr. J. S. McNeillie, he ventured on a rotten branch about thirty feet high, which suddenly broke with his weight, thus precipitating him headlong to the ground. His arms which were extended, broke the force with which his body would otherwise have struck. Mrs. McNellie was the first at the boy's side, and found him unconscious. Shortly after he was laid on the bed he came to. In the meantime Dr. Clemesha was sent for, and an examination revealed the fact that both of the lad's arms were broken about half way between his wrists and his elbows. Mr. Deering is certainly deserving of sympathy in his recent family affliction. Within the last few weeks one of his little fellows has been run over, three weeks afterwards his infant daughter died, two weeks again witnessed his second son being kicked in the head by a horse, and now, three weeks after that, finds his eldest son with both arms broken. Such a chapter of family troubles is seldom met with.

NORWOOD.

Mr. S. H. Dewart, formerly Head Master of the Norwood Public School, has been appointed Inspector for the schools at Rapid City, Brandon, Eden, Needawa and Lisburn, Manitoba.

BADLY BITTEN.—A young fellow named Newall, while engaged in drawing gravel on Wednesday of last week had occasion to buckle a strap in connection with the bridle on one of the horses, and while so engaged had one of his hands almost bitten off by the vicious animal before he could effect his escape.

SEVERELY CUT.—James Nickum (colored), while standing on the sidewalk on Peterboro street, near P. W. Reynolds' store, on Thursday evening last, was, without the least provocation on his part, struck in the neighborhood of the temple with a stone weighing at least a pound and a half, and rendered almost insensible, by some person unknown.

SCHOOL BOARD.—At a meeting of the School Board, on the 4th instant, Mr. McKay was re-engaged as Principal at a salary of $800; Mr. Lees, as Assistant High School Master, at a salary of $500; Mr. Dutton, at $475; and Miss B. Anderson was promoted to the Intermediate Department at a salary of $250. A Committee were appointed to engage a teacher for the Primary Department at a salary not to exceed $225.

HUNTING.—Mr. Charles Gillespie, hardware merchant, Campbellford, and R. Scriver, T. and J. Wells, J. and W. Ellis, and A. Brown, of Belmont, killed fifteen deer in seven days at Deer Lake. Capt. Jifford and Messrs. Wright and Mann, of Cobourg, and Thomas Morrison and son, who have been encamped in the vicinity of Coskemogobog Lake for a month past, passed through here on Saturday last with eleven deer.

LITERARY SOCIAL.—The literary social, as announced in a previous issue, came off on Wednesday evening of last week, in the basement of the Presbyterian Church, and was in every particular a success. Over 180 persons were present, and all expressed themselves highly satisfied with the programme. The readings given by Mr. McKay and Misses Ford and Saunderson were particularly good, that of Mr. McKay's eliciting roars of laughter. Financially, the social exceeded the expectations of all, the nice little sum of $18.10 having been taken in at the door.

OMEMEE.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday last, James, son of Mr. John English, of this village, met with a severe accident while playing shinny in the High School yard. The block with which the boys were playing struck him with sufficient force to split his right cheek from the nose to the corner of the mouth.

RUNAWAY.—As Mr. Geo. Adams was leaving the field where the ploughing match was held on Saturday, his team took fright at the whistle of a locomotive on the Midland Railway, and ran away. Mr. Adams held on to the lines till the clevis on the plough gave way when he was forced to let go. No damage was done beyond breaking the clevis and a whiffletree iron.

SUPPER.—On Saturday evening, the 5th of November, a supper was given, at the Bradburn House, to the participaters in the ploughing match of that afternoon. Some fifty persons sat down, and after ample justice had been done to the deliacies, short speechs were delivered by A. McQuade, M.P., Mr. John Calvert, Rev. Dr. Smithett, John Shaw, M. A., and Capt. Evans. Thos. Stephenson, Esq., filled the chair, and Mr. Wm. Adams the vice-chair.

PLOUGHING MATCH.—The first match of the Emily Ploughing Association was held on Saturday, 5th November, and was, considering the very disagreeable state of the weather, well attended. Rain and snow fell throughout the day, accompanied with a keen, cutting wind, which made it almost impossible for the ploughmen to do good work, as the horses did not like to face the storm, and when an opportunity presented itself they would turn aside. However, the ploughing was fair and everything passed off very successfully. The committee of management did their work in an able manner. Judging from the interest taken we are assured that next year there will be double the entries and that the Association will become a standing institution. The judges, we are pleased to learn, gave entire satisfaction. The following is the prize list and the names of the winners:—MENS' MATCH.—1st prize, T. Graham, plough, $10.00; 2nd prize, D. Stinson, $6.00; 3rd prize, Geo. Adams, $4.00; 4th prize, W. H. Godfrey, $3.00. BOYS' MATCH. 1st prize, Jos. Bradley, $6.00; 2nd prize, R. Johnston, $5.00; 3rd prize, A. Faulkner, $4.00; 4th prize, R. J. Adams, value $3.00.

BOBCAYGEON.

NARROW ESCAPE.—Mr. J. Kelso had a "barn raising" last week. Whilst one of the timbers was being raised, some of the appliances slipped, and the log slipped down, and caught a youth named Thomas Reid. At first it was thought that his legs were broken, but it was found that he was only severely bruised.

VENISON.—There are lots of deer in the woods north of this village. Several parties have been out hunting, and not less than a dozen deer have been killed within four miles of our Post office. The most successful hunt was made last Monday by Mr. Thomas McCamus. He went out with two companions, and during the day shot three fine bucks.

RAILWAY.—Mr. Howson is still corresponding with Mr. Cox relative of the proposed branch of the Midland from Powler's Corners to Bobcaygeon. As soon as the meeting of the Company, on the 12th, has ratified the agreements with the Grand Junction and Nipissing, Mr. Cox will be at liberty to turn his attention in this direction. If Peterborough would help, this village and that rising town might be united for ever and ever.

A CANADIAN SPEAKS.

When anything worth saying is spoken that terse and pointed way that bears the impress of honest conviction, we like to have people know the nature of the communication. Of such a nature is the following from Mr. W. F. Haist, Campden P. O., Lincoln Co., Ontario. Mr. Haist says: With great joy over my restored health, I would write a few lines concerning that wonderful remedy, St. Jacobs Oil. For the last six years I have been using various medicines internally and externally, but nothing would help me. Finally I procured a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, which cured me after a few applications. My mother-in-law, who has also been a great sufferer from rheumatism, was also instantly relieved by the use of the Great German Remedy. St. Jacobs Oil is a great blessing to suffering humanity, and I shall do everything in my power to make known its merits.

SALT AS MANURE.

After a full consideration of the subject of salt as a manure, the conclusions arrived at by the Massachusetts agricultural society were as follows:

That salt has the property of hastening the maturing of grain crops.

That wheat on salted land will ripen six to ten days earlier than on unsalted land, all other conditions being equal.

That it increases the yield from 25 to 50 per cent.

That it stiffens the straw and prevents rust and smut.

That it checks, if it does not entirely prevent, the ravages of the chinch bug.

That there is no danger of a man's pocket permitting him to put too much salt upon his land, as two barrels per acre will injure no grain crop.

In answer to questions as to the best time and manner of sowing salt, as also the proper quantity to use, the following answers were given:

The best time to sow salt is in the spring, and it ought to be the first thing done on either fall or spring plowing, as all afterstirring of the land assists in its equal distribution through the soil. The best and easiest method of sowing salt, in the absence of a machine for that purpose, is to sow it from out of the rear end of a wagon, the sower using both hands while the team is moving at a slow walk. In this way thirty or forty acres can be sowed in one day.

The quantity of salt used may be from 150 to 200 pounds per acre, but the greatest quantity is the better.

NO RISK.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL! WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD. DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING OF IT? IF NOT IT IS TIME YOU DID.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common Sore Throat. One bottle has cured Bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old Standing Cough. One or two bottles cures bad cases of Piles or Kidney Troubles. Six to eight applications cure any case of Excoriated Nipples or Inflamed Breast. One bottle has cured Lame Back of eight years' standing. Daniel Plank, of Brookfield, Tioga Co., Pa., says: "I went thirty miles for a bottle of our Oil, which affected a wonderful cure of a Crooked Limb, by six applications." Another who had had Asthma for years, says: "I have half a bottle left, and $100 would not buy it if I could not get no more."—Rufus Robinson, of Nunda, N. Y., writes: "One small bottle of your Eclectric Oil restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper for five years."—Rev. J. Mallory, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes: "Your Eclectric Oil cured me of Bronchitis in one week."

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. It is as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be immeasureably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense.

Beware of Imitations.—Ask for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. THOMAS is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cents. NOTE—Eclectric—Selected and Electrized

THE ALEMBIC OF THE BODY. The stomach is the alembic of the human system. In it those wondrous chemical changes take place which result in the transmutation of food into blood. When it is vigorous the necessary processes of digestion and assimilation go on uninterrupted, and the system is suitably nourished. When it is feeble or disordered, they are obstructed, and being in consequence ill supplied with blood of a vitalizing quality, the physical organism becomes weak and feeble, the nerves suffer, the liver and bowels are semi-paralyzed, and appetite and sleep fail. These disastrous consequences may, however, be prevented, or remedied with the supreme stomachic and aperient, NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, a medicine of rare purity and efficacy, which reforms a disordered and repairs a weakened state of the digestive organs, overcomes biliousness, relieves the bowels when obstructed without straining or weakening them, and promotes the exit from the system of impurities which infect the blood, which cause serious organic maladies. No objectionable mineral contaminates it, and its value is not marred by a subsequent re-action prejudical to the general health. Far perferable is it to the ordinary nauseous drugs used to produce a similar effect, but which are frequently ineffective as well as unpleasant; nor is it a cheap and valueless medicine, puffed into existence. It is used for dyspepsia, biliousness, affections of the blood, kidney complaints, female weakness, lumbago, &c., and in all blood diseases it is unequalled. Price, $1.00. Sample Bottle 10 cents. Ask for NORTHROP & LYMAN'S Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac-simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Rest and Comfort to the Suffering.

"BROWN'S HOUSEHOLD PANACEA" has no equal for relieving pain, both internal and external. It cures Pain in the Side, Back or Bowels, Sore Throat, Rheumatism, Toothache, Lumbago and any kind of a Pain or Ache. Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

IT is a most agreeable dressing, which is at once harmless and effectual, for preserving the hair. It restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray, light, and red hair, to a rich brown, or deep black, as may be desired. By its use thin hair is thickened, and baldness often though not always cured. It checks falling of the hair immediately, and causes a new growth in all cases where the glands are not decayed; while to brashy, weak, or otherwise diseased hair, it imparts vitality and strength, and renders it pliable.

The VIGOR cleanses the scalp, cures and prevents the formation of dandruff; and, by its cooling, stimulating, and soothing properties, it heals most if not all of the humors and diseases peculiar to the scalp, keeping it cool, clean, and soft, under which conditions diseases of the scalp and hair are impossible.

As a Dressing for Ladies' Hair

The VIGOR is incomparable. It is colorless, contains neither oil nor dye, and will not soil white cambric. It imparts an agreeable and lasting perfume, and as an article for the toilet it is economical and unsurpassed in its excellence.

PETEBBOROUGH, NOV. 17, 1881.

The Coming Elections.

The air is full of rumours and speculations about an early dissolution of the Dominion Parliament as the result of the call for a Conservative Convention for this Province. It is just possible that there is no intention on the part of Sir John Macdonald to cut short the life of the present Parliament, but it is, from present appearances, more probable that he will make his appeal to the people after the close of the approaching session. At all events it can do no harm for Liberals everywhere to bestir themselves.

One part of their preparation for the election, whether it is to come off next year or the year after, can be done now as well as some months hence—that is to select good candidates. As a rule it is better that the candidate of the party should be some time before the electors. He is thus enabled to complete his canvas in a more thorough manner, and to do the work required of him to better advantage. On the other hand the voters have a better chance to become acquainted with him and have more time to make up their minds about giving him their support. The Liberal party have nothing to fear from discussion of principles, and just as little to dread from a comparison of records. But there is always some danger of losing, or failing to win, a constituency on account of an injudicious choice of candidate. Let the best man—and as a rule this is equivalent to saying the strongest man—be chosen, and when once he is in the field let him be cordially and energetically supported.

There is another very necessary preliminary which should be very promptly attended to, whether the election is to come off in a few weeks or a few months. Whether the voting takes place in 1882 or 1883 it is liable to take place according to the lists based on the next assessment rolls. These should be carefully watched and all necessary corrections should be made. If the Assessor in any municipality puts on Conservatives as voters who should not be on, steps should be taken to have them struck off in the Court of Revision or before the County Judge; and, on the other hand, if the Assessor leaves off Liberals who ought to be put on, it is equally necessary to have the matter rectified. A little watchfulness now may mean the recovery of more than one closely balanced constituency, and the lack of it may mean the loss of some that are now represented by Liberal members.

Amongst the reasons mentioned as likely to influence Sir John Macdonald in hurrying on the election are some to which a good deal of force must be granted. The Premier is by no means in such a state of health that his physical ability to continue two sessions in the discharge of his duties of leadership is at all assured. He has partially recovered from a long and severe illness, but he is now advanced in years and his manner of life has not been calculated to promote longevity. It is said that he desires to retire from the position he has held, and it is even hinted that an Imperial position can be secured for him whenever he does so. Be that as it may, it is not unlikely that his party friends, who must contemplate his early resignation with well-founded alarm, have insisted on going to the country under his leadership rather than that of Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Leonard Tilley, or Sir Hector Langevin. In spite of the many well-founded charges of political misconduct that history records against Sir John, he is the only man who can hold the party together. The rank and file, who are always devoted to him, do not like Sir Charles Tupper, largely because they cannot trust him, and they have just as little love for the unctuosity of Sir Leonard Tilley. There is not a man of them who can manage to carry Ontario except Sir John himself, and he has carried it only twice in the last quarter of a century.

Another possible motive for an early dissolution is to be found in the present state of the country. We are now on a rising tide of prosperity, which may last for a few years and may come to some sudden stop in a few months. It is not unlikely that the Premier and his friends may have come to the conclusion that it would be better to take time by the forelock and appeal to the people while it is still possible, with some show of plausibility to attribute the present prosperity to the Tilley tariff. The persistence with which the Government organs take this line of argument gives some color to this conjecture, and the danger of a reaction next year is by no means to be disregarded from the point of view of men who have so much mal-administration to answer for.

One result of the calling of the Conservative Convention will be a lively session of Parliament. There are many things calling for investigation, and the time for looking into them are now ripe. The supporters of the Government will, we have no doubt, be called upon during the approaching session to vote down some very unpleasant motions. There will not be many points of advantage neglected by an able Opposition led by so expert a tactician as Mr. Blake, and therefore the Ministerial candidates may expect to meet on the hustings, whenever their leader chooses to send them thither, some division lists which they would rather have consigned to oblivion.

Politics in France.

The acceptance of office by Gambette marks an important stage in the political history of France. When the old regime of the Bourbons was swept away by the great revolution, it was generally supposed that it had disappeared for ever. The Bourbon dynasty was, unfortunately for France, restored by the allied nations of Europe after Napoleon's final overthrow, and it was once more—this time permanently—repudiated in 1848. The second Empire lasted, under Napoleon III, until its overthrow at Sedan, and amongst the leading men who came to the surface in France in that time of danger and confusion was Gambette. Escaping from beleagured Paris in a ballon, the fiery tribune raised a large undisciplined army; but gained nothing by his adventurous military career except a reputation for impetuosity and personal courage backed by great ability. When the war closed he appeared in the role of a politician of what was then the extreme left—that is, he was an intense radical. He very soon showed a decided aptitude for state-craft, and by his advanced views and personal talents obtained a strong hold on the Republicans. During the past ten years he has developed great capacity for political leadership and has been steadily coming to the front. At each general election he became stronger than ever before, and one by one the Conservative Republican leaders disappeared from the scene or subsided into comparative oblivion. At the late election the Monarchist party was almost extinguished; while Moderate Republicans were returned in overwhelming numbers. Of this party Gambette has long been the leader, and his election to the Premiership was the inevitable consequence. Any ministry which could be formed in the present state of affairs must exist on sufferance, and it is better that he who wields the power should assume the responsibility. Those who have closely watched Gambette's political career will not feel any doubt as to his ability to manage the affairs of the great nation for which he has already done so much.

Editorial Notes.

THE London Times pays $50 a piece for its leading articles.

IN the work of African exploration Belgium is now taking the lead of all the countries of Europe. Her extraordinary enterprise in this direction results from the active interest shown by King Leopold, who is the President of the general European society formed to carry forward the work of opening the Dark Continent to scientific research and commercial enterprise.

Railway matters in the Northwest continue as lively as ever. The probability that the charter of the south-eastern railway from Winnipeg to the United States frontier will be disallowed by the Dominion Government, seems to be on the increase. Amongst the promoters of the scheme, are John Haggart, M. P., and Messrs. McDonald and Shields of Section B fame. All three are in a position to benefit by government favours and therefore they may be induced to consent to the disallowance of their charter without raising any great row over it. There is no reason why the charter, which was passed by the Manitoba Legislature should be disallowed. That body had the same right to grant such a charter as the Ontario Legislature had to grant any of the dozens of charters it has passed during the past fourteen years. If the South Eastern charter is disallowed we may expect a disturbance of no ordinary magnitude over such an unwarrantable stretch of Dominion prerogative, and we may expect also that similar projects will be chartered from time to time with a view to securing some relief from the monopoly incubus of the Syndicate.

A Good Opportunity.

We have arranged with the publishers in such a way as enables us to offer the Weekly Star, of Montreal, and THE EXAMINER, for the small sum of $2.25. The Weekly Star, of Montreal, is almost too well known to need any notice at our hands. It has reached the enormous circulation of 60,000 a week, and is recognized as a great paper. Those who have not seen it will find sample copies at this office, and those who want to avail themselves of this opportunity to get the two papers at a low figure should send us $2.25 at once.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

REV. MR. STARR PRESENTED WITH A PURSE OF $750 AND A $125 BEAVER COAT.

The many friends of the Rev. Mr. Starr in this town and district will read with pleasure the following from the Winnideg Free Press, of the 10th instant.:—

"At the close of a largely attended and interesting prayer meeting in Grace Church last evening, when the audience had risen to leave, Mr. J. A. M. Aikins requested all present to remain standing for a few moments. He then turned to Rev. J. E. Starr, the assistant pastor, and in behalf of the young men of the congregation, presented him with a purse of $750. In doing so he spoke briefly of the esteem entertained by the congregation generally for Rev. Mr. Starr, and of their high appreciation of the reverend gentleman's services. He also said that the contributors had given willingly, and shown themselves glad of the opportunity thus afforded of expressing their regard for Mr. Starr. He added that he felt certain he was expressing the sentiments of every member of the congregation in saying this. They were satisfied with Mr. Starr and his ministry and pleased with his preaching of the exalted theme to which he has devoted his life, and they desired in this way to contribute to his material support.

"Rev. Mr. Starr, in reply, said he thought it not fair that he should be taken in that way. He spoke truly in saying that he was surprised; and he was the more so because he did not know why he should be made the recipient of such a gift. True he had tried to do what he could for Christ, and he had to bear up under some difficulties; but he blessed God, Christ had ever been by his side. He thanked the donors of the gift especially, because it relieved him from a position which he had vowed he never would occupy, namely, that of being a charge upon the missionary fund. He would now be able to return what he had received. He prayed that God might bless the people and give them grace to discharge their duty. He had been asked again and again since coming here why he did not like Winnipeg. He did not know how such an impression had got abroad, as he had never said he did not like this city or its people. He had ever found them kind and willing to work. He had sometimes laughed and joked when he heard the enthusiastic way in which many talked of Winnipeg and its future; and this perhaps may have created the impression; but whatever its origin he wished now to dispel it. This he had already said privately and he wished now to say it publicly. From the bottom of his heart he thanked them for their gift.

"The presentation above referred to was not the result of any laborious canvassing for subscriptions. Originating among the young men the movement met with so hearty a response that the object was fully accomplished before the congregation generally had been appealed to at all. In fact there were but forty names on the list when the amount mentioned was subscribed.

"It may help to illustrate the friendly feeling of the young men of Grace church towards Rev. Mr. Starr to add that a short time ago, they very ostentatiously presented him with a fine beaver overcoat valued at $125."

THE QUESTION SETTLED.

There's no use in arguing the question of the potency of some substances for especial service in emergencies. They will do all they promise, and more, if judiciously used. The following from Mr. P. Murphy, of No. 1 Fire Station, Ottawa, bears upon the point stated above. Mr. Murphy says: I had occasion to use St. Jacobs Oil recently, and must say that it is the best Liniment I ever saw used. I caught cold from getting wet at a fire, and it settled in my shoulder and down my back to my hip. I suffered a great deal from the pain. I was advised to try St. Jacobs Oil. I did so, and after the fourth application I was entirely free from pain. I cannot speak too highly of it, and advise others to use it.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough St. Andrew's Society was held on Wednesday evening, 9th instant, in the room adjoining the Council Chamber. Mr. Thomas Telford, second-Vice, occupied the chair. The attendance was small, although nearly all the most active members were present.

TREASURER'S STATEMENT.

Mr. William Cummings, Treasurer of the Society, read his annual report of the receipts and expenditures for the past year, which showed the funds to be in a very prosperous condition—a balance of $162.90 remaining to the credit of the Society in the Bank of Commerce to be carried forward to next year. This statement was considered all the more satisfactory, seeing that the membership had fallen off considerably during the year.

On motion, the Treasurer's report was received and referred to Messrs. W. Telford and Turner to audit the same, who carefully examined the accounts and vouchers, and found them correct.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The following officers were then unanimously elected for the ensuing year:—

President—Thomas Telford.
First Vice-President—Peter Hamilton.
Second Vice-President—John Patterson.
Third Vice-President—A. McNeil.
Secretary—W. Menzies.
Treasurer—Wm. Cummings, re-elected
Executive and Charitable Committee—Messrs. Adam Turner, John Stewart, Andrew Hewie, William Telford and Henry Bowie.

THE ANNUAL CELEBRATION.

On motion, it was decided to have no formal celebration of St. Andrew's Day this year, but a committee was appointed to make arrangements for holding a social gathering on the night of the 20th instant of as many members as desired to participate.

The Secretary and Treasurer were appointed to wait on the Rev. Mr. Torrance of St. Paul's Church, for the purpose of inviting him to preach the annual sermon.

A number of grants for charitable purposes were then passed, after which the meeting adjourned.—Review.

A Cough, Cold or Sore Throat should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an INCURABLE LUNG DISEASE OR CONSUMPTION. Brown's Bronchial Troches do not disorder the stomach like cough syrups and balsams, but ACT DIRECTLY ON THE INFLAMED PARTS, allaying irritation, give relief in ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, CATARRH, and the THROAT TROUBLES which SINGERS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Bronchial Troches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cents a box everywhere. 42-26ins.

Peterborough Markets.

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 16th, 1881.

There is nothing new to report in the grain market. Receipts are light. Wheat is more steady at the decline. Fall wheat,—very little offering. Selling from $1.20 to $1.24. Spring is doing better—for local grinding brings $1.25 to $1.27. Arnouts, about $1.10. Barley is quiet—not much doing. Stained sells from 60c. to 70c., and bright 75c. to 85c.; the latter price being extreme for above grade. Oats sell from 45c. to 46c.; not many offering.

ON THE MARKET.

Saturday's market was a poor one, owing to the bad weather. Wednesday's market was very good. A large quantity of keg butter was offered. The most of it changed hands at from 17c. to 18c.; in a few cases 19 cents was paid. Inferior butter 14c. to 16c. A good few hogs sold from $6.00 to $7.00. Poultry remains about the same. Geese and Turkeys slow sale. Fresh meat quiet: 7c. to 8c. for lamb; beef $5.00 to $6.00.

ENDORSEMENT EXTRAORDINARY.

790 TREMONT STREET, BOSTON, MASS., Oct 6th, 1880.

ALEX. NOTMAN:

DEAR SIR.—In reply to your enquiry as to my opinion and experience of the HOLMAN LIVER PAD and its auxiliaries, I have much pleasure in stating that though I had applied them without any faith in their efficacy or belief in the principles of absorption treatment, for the attack of nervous prostration, partial paralysis and a-tonic dyspepsia, from which I had been suffering for the past two years, I can now, thank God, declare that it has resulted in the ENTIRE removal of the symptoms. I had tried every system of treatment—Allopathic, Homœopathic, and Eclectric, Crude Electricity and Turkish Bath—for the whole of the two years, but without effect. Persuaded, much against my will, to try the Pad and Plaster, I put them on, and in two days found that the paralysis of the nerves and muscles was conquered, the entire nervous system gradually toned up, and now, at the present moment, six months from the day of application, I AM FREE FROM any symptoms of nervous debility or dyspeptic tendency. In my professional practice as a physician, in private life, and among my personal friends, I shall ever deem it my bounden duty and my highest privilege, as an act of gratitude, to counsel and enforce the adoption of the Holman Pad, Plaster and Absorption Salts as the best, only reliable, and effectual remedial agency for every disease having for its origin the stomach, liver, brain, or great nerve centres.

Yours faithfully,

FORESTER'S SUPPER.

A very pleasant and enjoyable time was spent last Thursday evening at Mr. A. P Morgan's Hotel, the occasion being a complimentary supper by the Officers of Court Peterborough No 29, Canadian Order of Foresters, to the members and a few guests. Between thirty-five and forty sat down to do justice to the bill of fare provided in Mine Host Morgan's first class style. The chair was occupied by Mr. James Byrne, Chief Ranger, supported by His Worship Mayor Smith, and Edg. Pearse Esq., County Clerk and Treasurer, and the Vice-chairs by Mr. F. J. Jamieson, Vice Chief Ranger and Mr. Robert Robertson, Chaplain, supported by Mr G. H Johnston, District Deputy Grand Master I. O.F., and Mr. Jos. McClelland, M. W., A. O U. W.

After justice had been done to the spread the chairman called the meeting to order, and explained the object of the gathering—to bring all the members together in social intercourse, to bind them together in still stronger bonds of fellowship and to propogate the objects of the Order. He then proposed the first toast "The Queen" which was duly honored—the party singing the National Anthem. Next followed "The Prince and Princess of Wales" and "The Governor-General and Princess Louise."

"The Army, Navy and Volunteers" was then proposed by the First Vice. Song:—"For they are Jolly Good Fellows," Responded to by Sergeant Major Watson.

"The High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters" was then proposed by W. H. Watson, J.P.C.R.

H. Nesbitt, D.D.H.C.R., responded and gave a resume of the history of the Canadian Order of Foresters, its aims and objects. When the first Court of Foresters was organized in Peterborough, it was under the auspices of the Independent Order, whose jurisdiction extended over the United States and Canada. The endowment of this order was met by a levy of one dollar for each death. Owing to the numerous calls made from the Southern States where the death rate was much higher than in the Northern States or Canada, the Canadian branch of the order felt this system was unfair and asked for separation as to endowment. This was refused, and resulted in a large majority of the Courts throughout the Dominion seceding and forming the Canadian order, with a different basis as to endowment. Instead of a call being made for each death, the members pay 50 cents each month, which forms a fund to meet all death calls, the heirs of each member being entitled to $1,000 upon proof of death. At first it was feared by some this would not prove sufficient, but the plan had worked well so far. During the two years eight deaths had occurred. Each call had been promptly met and $8,000 paid out, and by the Grand Treasurer's monthly statement, there was now on hand between $6,000 and $7,000 to meet future calls, which sum would be continually supplemented each month. The death rate provided for by insurance companies was 8 in a thousand, taking in men up to sixty years of age, while the Foresters provided for 6 in a thousand taking in applicants only under forty five years of age. The members of the Order was rapidly increasing and as its objects became better known, it was meeting with very satisfactory results. In eighteen months its membership had more than quadrupled itself As to the other benefits of the Order this court pays a sick benefit of $3 per week, with medical attendance free, and $30 funeral benefit besides the $1000 endowment. If a member's wife dies he receives $15. Taking all these benefits and the social and Court room advantages, Forestery he believed would soon reach a standing, not inferior to any similar institution

The First Vice Chair then gave "Our Sister Benevolent Societies" which was responded to on behalf of the Oddfellows by Mr. G. H. Johnston; the United Workmen by Mr. Jos McClelland; and the A. F. and A. M. by Mr. J. R. Stratton.

Mr. R. Wright, Recording Secretary, proposed "Canada Our Home" Song "God Bless our Dominion" by Mr. G. Johnston. Response by Mr. J. R. Stratton.

"The Mayor and Corporation" was next proposed and responded to by His Worship the Mayor. He thanked the officers for the invitation extended him, and felt certain from the objects of the order as stated by Mr. Nesbitt that it must ere long enroll a very large membership. He then alluded to matters connected with the town, gave a synopsis of what had been done during the year, and thought that while the Town Council generally was the butt for abuse on all hands the members were entitled to some consideration for their management of town affairs this year.—Peterborough having the lowest rate of any town in the Province. The accomplishment of much of the present satisfactory state was due largely to the efficiency of the Town Clerk Mr. C. D. Macdonald, whom he regretted owing to unforseen circumstances was not present this evening.

Mr. Pearse, as Auditor, also returned thanks, and said he supposed one reason why the toast had been so enthusiastically received, was that the tax collector had just finished his rounds, and that those present felt well pleased with the low rate of taxation.

"The Learned Professions," by the chair was responded to by Mayor Smith, who returned thanks for the legal profession. He regretted the absence of the Court Physician, Dr. King, who was unable to be present, and congratulated the Court on having such a worthy officer, and one so well qualified to fill the arduous position. His Worship's remarks were received with loud applause.

The First Vice-Chairman gave the "Mercantile and Manufacturing Interests." Responded to by Messrs. R. Robertson, F. Foote and G Kingdon.

"The Ladies," by Mr. H Nesbitt, elicited responses from Messrs. G. H. Johnston, R. Wright and J. G. Macdonald

"The Press" by Mr. R Wright, was responded to by Messrs. Stratton and Jamieson, EXAMINER, and Macdonald, Review.

Mr. Pearse, in a very pleasant manner, proposed "The Officers and Members of Court Peterborough," to which Mr. Byrne, and Mr. Jamieson, C. R., and V. C. R., respectively, returned thanks.

"The Host and Hostess" was given by the Chair, and heartily received. Song "Jolly Good Fellows" Mr. Morgan returned thanks

After singing "God save the Queen" and "Auld Lang Syne" the Company departed having spent a very pleasant evening.

THE SMITH AND NORTH MONAGHAN PLOUGHING MATCH.

ALNWICK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The saw-mills at Harwood have been shut down. Ullyot & Saddler's, which was closed on Friday 11th, has done a very fine season's work turning out upwards of 100,000 feet daily, and leaving sufficient logs in the boom to commence operations in the spring early. The other mill has not been so successful, as two of the hands received injuries by accident, which resulted in one case in death, and in the other amputation of a leg above the knee.

A good deal of the barley grown here has been shipped by the small steamers via Harwood to Cobourg.

Diphtheria has taken down a few, of which a boy in Roseneath died.

A few cases of Typhoid fever are reported, one resulting in the death of a girl at Harwood.

Several young men have been attracted to Michigan by "booming" wages.

THE PRESIDENT'S PEW.—President Arthur on Sunday last formally took possession of the pew in St. John's Church (Episcopal), Washington, which was occupied by several generations of Presidents. Although this pew, which is near the centre of the church, was set apart in 1816 for the President's use, free of charge, the Treasurer's books show that its occupants, without exception, insisted upon paying the annual rental.

FURS! FURS!

The undersigned has pleasure in announcing that he has spared no efforts in securing the very best material for this season's stock, and is now offering to the public an article in every way superior to that offered by dealers in wholesale ready-made goods, and which in not a few cases, those who have bought such goods as Astrachan Jackets have had them fall to pieces by the mere shaking off of snow. I OFFER:

LADIES' FUR JACKETS IN PERSIAN, RUSSIAN, BOCKARDEN & ASTRACHAN

Jackets, Circulars and Dolmans, Fur Lined.

LADIES' SETS in VARIOUS MATERIALS and STYLES.

Gents' Fur Coats, Caps, Gauntlets, Buck, Kid and Imitation Buck Gloves.

FANCY SLEIGH ROBES IN GREAT VARIETY!

BUFFALO ROBES, on account of the small quantity in the market, are high in price. I have on hand a small selection of the CHOICEST SKINS. The Highest price paid for Raw Furs.

CIRCULAR!

While it is pleasing to the Business Man to know that his efforts to satisfy the public are being appreciated, it can be no less satisfactory to the citizens of any locality to know that among their merchants are those whose goods have not only a local fame but are sought for by those in other parts. The advantage of this is two-fold. Not only does it direct trade from a distance and build up the reputation of the place, but it has the advantage of assisting the artizan and workman in thus bringing both labor and money among them which otherwise would be spent elsewhere.

Peterborough, we are proud to say, has many such business men in her midst, some of them old established houses and others of comparatively younger years. In the latter may be classed Mr. Johnston Carey, a gentleman who but a little over seven months ago cast his fortune among the residents of Peterborough, succeeding Mr. W. J. Larmour in the manufacture of Boots and Shoes. That he is establishing a reputation for satisfactory fulfilment of orders may be judged from the following letter, one among the many which he is constantly receiving. It speaks for itself and needs no explanation:—

LINDSAY, Oct. 13, 1881.

MR. J. CAREY, Peterboro'.

DEAR SIR:—I send you a pair of shoes for repairs. Will you kindly re-sole and heel them with the best of material? Sew the half-soles. I am very much pleased with the lace boots and feel like ordering another pair like them, but I can hardly afford it. Please put these boots in hand at once, as I may call for them to-morrow evening. Make a good job of them for sure and leave bill ready. What was cost of lace boots?

NEWCOMBE PIANOS

BOSTON, 14th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co., Toronto,

DEAR SIRS.—For brilliancy and sympathetic quality of tone, I consider your Upright Pianos unequalled by any made in Canada. The touch is responsive, the treble clear and resonant, so that I can in all respects recommend them.

OTTO BENDIX.

Letter from Dr. G. W. Strathy, so long known in Toronto as a most thorough and accomplished musician:

TORONTO, 26th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co.,

GENTLEMEN.—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

Wishing you every success,
I remain Gentlemen,

NATURE'S LAWS.

New Ideas Concerning Them.

Lecture Delivered by Dr. D. W. Fairchild, of New York, in Hope Hall, Liverpool, England.

You have not been invited here for the purpose of being treated to an intellectual repast. Neither is it my object to utter an unkind word where it is not deserved, or to traduce character, or to wander into any extravagant statements not susceptible of proof. If I know my own heart I am here to tell you, in as plain and simple a manner as I am capable, a series of facts full of wonder and astonishment, and to endeavor to make you better acquainted with yourself; and also to teach you the direct cause of nearly all the diseases man is heir to, and how simple and inexpensive a mode there is for you not only to prevent, but to cure the same. The question will be treated seriously, and fairly as it deserves. And right here I will take the occasion to say no man has a higher regard or more thorough veneration for than I. Such a man is entirely void of selfishness and prejudice. He is a constant student. He keeps pace with every fresh thought advanced; puts it into practice most willingly as an auxiliary anything that proves itself better than he has yet known. At least he never condemns short of a thorough investigation. Such men are sometimes found. They deserve the confidence, love and respect of all who know them. Such a man will tell you that the best of them are groping about in the dark; that it is one continuous round of experiment. The principle of Allopathy has proved unsatisfactory—yea, a failure. A. H. Stevens, M. D., says: "The older physicians grow the more skeptical they become in the virtue of their own medicines." Professor Willard Parker says: "Of all science medicine is most uncertain." Professor E. H. Davis:

"THE VITAL EFFECTS OF MEDICINE

are little understood." J. Mason Good, M. D.: "The science of medicine is a barbarous jargon." Dr. Bostwick, author of History of Medicine: "Every dose of medicine is a blind experiment." Professor Evans, M. D.: "The medical practice of the present day is neither philosophy nor common sense." Professor Gregory: "Gentlemen, ninty-nine medical facts are medical lies." Dr. McLintock: "Mercury has made more cripples than all wars combined." And he should have added, that the present abuse of soda of potassi in its present various forms is destroying myriads of stomachs beyond redemption. Sir Astley Cooper says: "The science of medicine is founded on conjecture and improved by murder." Oliver Wendell Holmes said before a medical class in the year 1861: "The disgrace of medicine has been that colossal system of self-deception, in obedience to which mines have been emptied of the cankering minerals, the vegetable kingdom robbed of all its growth, the entrails of animals taxed for their impurities, the poison bags of reptiles drained of their venom, and all the conceivable abominations thus obtained, thrust down the throats of human beings suffering from some fault of organization, nourishment or vital stimulation."

Thus I might enlarge to the extent of volumes in quoting the long list of physicians' strictures on themselves, in which they tell you that medical science, thus far, is not only not beneficial, but absolutely injurious and killing in its effects. Notwithstanding all this, custom and early education ever hold a wonderful power over us, and it matters not how unreasonable and absurd any teachings and customs or habits may seem to us, and how plainly it may have been proved to us that they are injurious and fallacious. Yet it would seem that nothing short of long years of bitter experience, or some sudden mighty power, will ever change the course of most of us from impressions made through early education and example. Yes, we are slaves to habit, custom and fashion. There is usually a wonderful lack of individuality. For example: we are used to our doctor; we see him daily; we rely upon him; take his medicines, poisons and otherwise; pay his bills; gradually grow worse; do no thinking or acting for ourselves; finally die, and the friends charge it to a dispensation of Providence. Less than thirty-five years ago millions up to that period had gone down to their graves begging for one swallow of cold water. Mothers, sisters, brother and fond lover had, each in their turn, withheld from the dear one this precious and most natural antidote. This, too, when it was apparent that life could hold on but a few short hours at most. Doctors said in those days:

COLD WATER IS DEATH.

Give them calomel and a spoonful of warm water instead. Those loving friends were made the willing instruments through early education, to obey literally the doctor's command. Not only was the fever patient denied water, but was drugged, physiced, bled and starved, until all reactive power was lost, and he gave up the ghost to the treatment instead of the disease.

I doubt not there are numbers here to-night who know this statement to be true. But to-day the patient gets ice-water in superabundance. And why this radical change of antidotes? If fire was once the antidote of fire, why should water now be the antidote of fever fire? Simply for the reason that nature always revolts against any system that lacks a supply of Nature's natural wants, or that is cruel to itself. In every neighborhood, more or less there were found persons of strong will-power that decided they would not die until they had satisfied that intense thirst, and allayed the fire that was burning them up. Many interesting experiences have been told of what these creatures, in torment passed through to get water. My own uncle, for one, lay, as was supposed, at the point of death. A trusty old colored man, his watchman was called to his bed about midnight. Speaking just above a whisper, he said: Abe, I am going to ask of you one last request. Will you grant it?" "Yes, massa, anything you ask I'se do." "Take the old wooden jug, go to the spring, back of the barn, fill it with cold water and bring it to me quick." "Oh, massa, massa, anything else you ask I'se do; you know what missus and doctor said; "No water, no water." "Abe, you go; if you don't and I live I'll shoot you dead." After deliberating for a moment he says: "Massa, I go." It was brought him. He drank his fill. By morning every drop was gone. The fever broke. He fell into a quiet, peaceful sleep, and was soon restored to health. And not until then was any one told what had cured him. Such examples as these finally changed the present system of treating fevers. In this specific disease common sense is at last master of the situation. But how about the entire catalogue of nearly every other diseases known?—such as bilious disorders, liver complaints, dyspepsia, female weakness, pain in the side, stomach, back, shoulders and muscles, periodical and life-long sick headaches, constipation, bilious diarrhœa, bilious colic, neuralgia, rheumatism, kidney difficulties, paralysis, irregular action of the heart, nervousness, liver cough—often taken for consumption—periodical drunkenness, and more especially the dreaded scourge, malaria—such as intermittent, remittent, bilious, typhoid and scarlet fevers, fever and ague, ague cake, malaria fever, and the yearly visitation of yellow fever in the South, a still more virulent form of malaria.

The above embraces a long list, and the unreflecting mind would naturally be slow in accepting all these as proceeding from a great cause—the stomach and liver.

We ask the question:—Do you remember of ever suffering with any of the above-named symptoms while you had a sound stomach and liver? Ask your neighbour the same question.

But little change or advancement in the old practice has been during the last 200 years in the treatment of all these diseases, which are with the rarest exceptions, the outgrowth of a diseased stomach and a torpid liver, the latter being a consequence of the first. Yet they are all treated specially, as if they were distinct diseases, proceeding from other causes than those I have just named. These are generally treated with some of the following so-called medicines: First, mercury or calomel—a deadly and insidious poison, which has filled the world with human wrecks; once taken into the system it never ceases to rack and poison the sufferer until death steps in to relieve him. Arsenic, a deadly mineral poison, but often used. Strychnine—one-sixth of a grain will kill a dog in half a minute, and one grain will instantly destroy human life.

Think of administering such a medicine as that for fever and ague and biliousness. It is done daily however. Bismuth—this corrosive metal poison is becoming a favorite for the treatment of disease. It deposites itself in the bones as lead does, and entails permanent symptoms of poisoning. Quinine—this drug is much relied upon by the profession. But we deny that it has curative power. It excites the vital forces to temporary activity. It helps to resist the shock of disease for the time being. It helps the patient over a bad spot. But it will not eradicate poison.

The curse of quinine is, as you all know, that its continued use establishes an abnormal condition of the liver, kidneys and stomach, tending to congestion irritation, torpidity, engorgement and final positive impairment. Who that has ever used this drug freely did not find an increased quantity needed for each succeeding day? As a consequence deafness, and want of memory are fastened in the system with feeling of horror and wretchedness but a little short of misery personified. Such practice is discreditable to the medical faculty. The theory of poison is fallacious, and cannot be borne out in any illustration in nature. As well might we say benzine is an antidote for fire; or another bite of the dog (not the hair—there is quite a difference between the two) will cure hydrophobia; also that green apples are good for the stomach-ache, etc.

Doctors Disagree. If we examine further the recorded opinions of physicians, eminent in their profession, we will often find one claiming that the very remedies used by others as specifics are causes of the disease they are employed to cure. Thus Dr. Stahl attributes the frequency of consumption to the introduction of Peruvian bark, while Dr. Morton considers the bark an effectual cure for the disease. Dr. Reed ascribes the frequency of this disease to the use of mercury. Dr. Rush says consumption is an inflammatory disease, and should be treated by bleeding, purging, cooling medicines, and starvation, while Salvadore says it is a disease of debility, and should be treated by tonics, stimulating medicines and a generous diet. Galen recommends vinegar as the best preventative to consumption. Dissault and others assert that this disease is often brought on by a common practice of the young people taking vinegar to prevent obesity. Dr. Boddoes recommends foxglove as a specific in consumption, while Dr. Pau found foxglove more injurious in the practice than beneficial. In the face of such contradictory statements, is it not time to think and act for yourself? And this, my hearers, brings us to the vital question; What is it that causes most of the suffering and disease found at this time in the human system? And why is it that the most of the medicines given for a cure give anything but satisfaction to the patient? As before stated, most physicians treat every ill or pain specifically, while they are only each a part of the great whole, proceeding from or growing out of a fundamental cause. First, the stomach; second the liver.

REGULATE THESE TWO ORGANS,

especially the first, so they perform their functions perfectly, and you will remove nineteen-twentieths of all the ills that man is heir to in this or any other climate. Prove this, you may say. The whole thing is in a nutshell. No mystery about it. The first stomach receives the food with no other preparations than what mastication has afforded, and if the stomach is healthy, gastric juice which is both a solvent and antiseptic appears in abundant quantities, mixing with the food, and excites the muscular motion of the stomach, propelling the food from left to right, and back again from right to left, until it is thoroughly saturated with and disolved by the juice. Or else in the absence of gastric juice, it must ferment, decompose and rot before it can even pass into the second stomach, called duodenum. This mass then comes in contact with juices from small glands, and then with the juices of the pancreas, also with the bile of liver. With the aid of these several and ever-important properties digestion continues and separation takes place. The starch is reduced to a sweetish mass and the fat to a soapy emulsion, and the bile on the entire mass prevents fermentation and the formation of gas, and assists in the separation of these properties into three parts, the fatty portion, albuminous and sugary, and the indigestible material. From this condition comes the entire making up of the body of life. The fluids pass into the system by way of ducts, constituting bones, cartilages, ligaments, cysts, muscles, sacs or bags, tubes, glands, nerves, adipose and fatty matter, membranes, etc. This is accomplished, by little villous points which project from the mucous membrane that take up the aliment, to be by them conveyed to the thoracic, which ascends along the spine. It is then emptied into the great horizontal vein on the left side of the neck. It is here the sugary and albuminous parts are surrendered to the veins, to be by them carried to the liver. The liver, kidneys, lungs and skin are all constantly employed in taking from and carrying off the poisonous, dead, effete matter of the human system.

THE HEART SENDS THE BLOOD

out through the arteries into the extremes of the system and to the surface, where the blood vessels terminate in the smallest possible tubes. In this circle it leaves its vitalizing influences and returns through the veins to the heart for redistribution. This returning venous blood is dark and poisonous, and needs to be cleansed, purified and revivified. The liver should receive a large portion of this poison and from it secrete bile, which is Nature's cathartic and an antiseptic and solvent. The kidneys should separate the surplus water, thus preserving a uniform temperature and removing those poisons having nitrogen in them. The lungs should take from the blood carbon and impart oxygen, through contact with the atmosphere. The remainder of these poisons should pass off through the pores of the skin and the natural outlets of the body.

THE SPLEEN.

The spleen is like a sponge, and is susceptible of great expansion and contraction, without injury; it is, indeed, like the air chamber of a fire engine, which serves as a cushion for the water to press against, accommodating itself to the amount of pressure brought against it, and securing a steady unremitting flow or stream. The blood passes through the spleen. The heart is a double acting force pump, forcing the blood out through the arteries into the veins. When the blood is natural and the mind free from excitement, and the body from disease, the machinery moves smoothly and beautifully, with regular and uniform pulsations, and without undue pressure upon any of the vessels or organs of circulation. But let the mind be suddenly brought under exciting or depressing influences, such as anger, grief, joy or fear, and how quickly the heart responds, either almost ceasing to beat, or by jumping, as it were, into increased vitality and strong vigorous throbs, with the blood seeming almost ready to break through some of its restraining barriers, under the great pressure. Right here comes the office of the spleen. It expands easily and readily under the pressure (like the air-chamber in the force-pump) till the crisis is passed without harm, when it gradually comes back to its natural condition as the exciting causes give way.

In fever the same results follow, the fever being the exciting cause. When malarial, the blood is thick with poison, and the heart finds great difficulty in performing its work, especially in the extremities, like an engine forcing water through a small pipe or nozzle instead of through open hose. The small vessels are easily clogged, and offer a resistance to the blood circulation, and thus bring into use and make necessary the office of the spleen. It yields and expands under this pressure, which, being constant or very long continued, gives it no opportunity to contract at all, and it becomes congested, and loses its contracting power; hence ague cake or enlargement of the organ.

Now, then, inasmuch as the stomachs are the great reservoirs from which the entire system is sustained, it will be readily seen that if the gastric juice in the first stomach is lacking in quantity, then fermentation and decay of the food follow as a necessity—large quantities of gas lactic acid and other poisonous substances being formed—and it must pass into the second stomach a vile, vitiated poison. Neither the juices of the pancreas, the bile, nor any other known property can ever restore it to the condition for which nature first intended it; and it is these vile poisons mixed with the poor fluids chemically changed that begin their circuit through the system; first attacking the liver, then the heart, thence to the kidneys, and then the lungs, then the skin, and finally permeating the entire system. And it is in this manner that you can now begin to understand yourself, and see at a glance why it is your liver becomes lifeless and torpid and fails to secrete bile, and that flutterings and palpitations occur about the heart; why the kidneys are diseased, and also the lungs, leaving them sore and irritable and liable to colds and pneumonia; why your skin becomes a saffron color; why the nervous centres over your digestive organs are diseased and cause you sick headaches and neuralgia; and why you should have rheumatism, seeing as you can the cardon crystallized in the blood, and why women suffer such untold misery and weakness. The ligaments are relaxed; the fluids are weak and insufficient; the whole system is let down. There is want of vitality; a perfect goneness. It was once called laziness. It is now known as a dreadful and hated disease; and is the reason why you have cold extremities, fevers, inflammations and obstructions, spinal disease and an innumerable amount of pains, and not the least of all these, why we have periodical drunkenness. No one needs our sympathy and deserves the broad mantle of charity extended him more than the periodical drunkard. He will tell you it is not the love or habit that prompts him to drink, neither is it that he does not comprehend the terrible consequences growing out of its use; but that he is attacked at certain periods by gradual approaches, finally culminating in an indescribable gnawing feeling at the pit of the stomach, and a nervous prostration that pervades the entire system, such as seems to demand without delay a powerful opiate, or what is more convenient, a glass of whiskey, which will, for the time being, appease those dreadful sufferings; but once taken, and the system momentarily braced, he repeats the dose over and over for the same reason, until the stomach is finally unloaded of all its contents, including not only the whiskey, but base fermented and decomposed food and dead mucous matter it had previously accumulated.

This and this only was the cause of all the mischief that produced the above described symptoms; and not until this unloading is completed that the dormant stomach and torpid liver begin their work of secretions can he be free of this his periodical, mental and physical disease. Here again the liver and stomach play a most important part in life. A healthy stomach only will save the periodical drunkard. It is high time the question was better understood. Further on I will tell you a sure preventative.

ZOPESA

(FROM BRAZIL.)

The New Compound, its wonderful affinity to the Digestive Apparatus and the Liver, increases the dissolving juices, relieves almost instantly the dreadful results of Dyspepsia Indigestion, and the TORPID LIVER, makes Sopesa as every day necessity in every house.

It acts gently and speedily in Biliousness, Costiveness, Headache, Sick Headache, Distress after Eating, Wind on the Stomach, Heartburn, Pains in the Side and Back, Want of Appetite, Want of Energy, Low Spirits, Foul Stomach. It invigorates the Liver, carries off all surplus bile, regulates the Bowels, and gives tone to the whole system.

Cut this out and take it to your Druggist and get a 10 cent Sample, or a large bottle for 75 cents, and tell your neighbor about it.

VARIETIES.

Bric-a-brac to be avoided—Family jars.

Handy Book-markers.—Dirty fingers.

"Hurry, mamma," said the little innocent with his cut finger; "hurry, it's leaking."

It is estimated that there are at present 283 styles of corsets for clinching young ladies into slenderness.

"Changing the breath," is the latest, if not the loveliest, name for imbibing whiskey.

ASK YOUR DEALER for "Castorine Machine Oil," and see that the barrel is branded "Castorine," as none other is genuine. 1-ly

A queer man—the baker, who kneads much, and yet sells everything he kneads himself.

TORONTO OIL COMPANY are sole manufacturers of Castorine Machine Oil. Infringements will be prosecuted. 1-ly.

No, dear, I did not mean to say you could not sing as good as an old cow; you can, dear.—Wheeling Journal.

USE "CASTORINE MACHINE OIL" for all kinds of machinery. It is also excellent for Harness and Leather, making it water and weather proof. For sale by dealers. 1-ly

The girl pressed the leaves, but the boy pressed the girl. The press is mighty and must prevail.—Rochester Express.

"I shall give you ten days or ten dollars," said Judge Walsh to a trembling wretch. "All right, judge," answered the t. w., "I'll take the ten dollars."

MANUFACTURERS of Reapers, Mowers and Threshing Machines prefer "Castorine Machine Oil" to any other. It will outwear Lard, Seal or Elephant, and is guaranteed not to gum. 1-ly

Substraction.—Take two letters from money and there will be but one left. We know a fellow who took money from two letters and there wasn't anything left.

A pointed criticism need not necessarily be written with a fine pointed pen, one of Esterbrook's medium or broad pointed pens will answer as well. Ask your stationer for them.

Exactly. "My boy, what does your mother do for a living?" was asked of a little barefooted urchin. "She eats cold victuals, sir."

USE THE celebrated "Lardine Oil" on your machinery. Best and cheapest oil in the market. Does not clog or gum. Has good heavy body and will not thin in summer. Sold in Peterborough by Messrs. McKee & Davidson; and in Lakefield by W. H. Casement. Try it and you will use no other. 25-52t

An awful typographical error occured the other day. It was in a wedding notice and it read, "Rev. Mr. Smith inflicted the ceremony." "Officiating at the ceremony," was what the writer wrote but in the light of the present may we not say the compositor for once builded better than he knew.—Lockport Union.

Thomas Myers, Bracebridge, writes:—"Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—is the best medicine I sell. It always gives satisfaction, and in cases of coughs, colds, sore throat, &c., immediate relief has been received by those who use it."

"Few people," says a writer, "realize what a wonderful delicate structure the human ear is." It is a remarkable organ, that's a fact. Ask a man for the loan of ten dollars, and the chances are that the ear won't hear you. Softly whisper come up and take something," and the ear manifests an acuteness that is truly marvelous.—Norristown Herald.

Dollars, which might otherwise be thrown away by resorting to ineffectual medicines, are saved by purchasing that inexpensive specific for bodily pain and remedy for affections of the throat, lungs, stomach, liver and bowels, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which does not deteriorate, and is thorough and pure.

Charles Augustus was on his knees to his girl, telling in poetry, and prose, and melody, and song, etc., how much he loved her, and what she was to him, when he choked up and stopped. "Ah," she remarked in a pitying voice, "I think, dear Charles Augustus, that you are too fool for utterance." The meeting was dismissed without the usual benediction, and services have been discontinued.—Steubenville Herald.

Every one, at times, feels the necessity of some restorative of the vital powers, depressed by mental or bodily exhaustion. In such conditions, let every one, instead of flying to the alcoholic or medicinal stimulants, which must be followed by depression equal to their excitement, reinvigorate his deranged system by the natural tonic elements of the Peruvian Syrup. Sold by all druggists.

A citizen of Detroit entered a Michigan avenue grocery the other day and said he wanted a private word with the proprietor. When they had retired to the desk he began: "I want to make confession and reparation. Do you remember of my buying sugar here two or three days ago?" "I do." "Well, in paying for it I worked off a counterfeit quarter on the clerk. It was a mean trick, and I came to tender you good money." "Oh, don't mention it," replied the grocer. "But I want to make it right." "It's all right—all right. We knew who passed the quarter on us, and that afternoon when your wife sent down a dollar bill and wanted a can of sardines, I gave her that bad quarter with her change. Don't let your conscience trouble you at all—it's all right!"—Detroit Free Press.

GIVEN AWAY.—We can not help noticing the liberal offer made to all invalids and sufferers by Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption. You are requested to call at Taylor & Macdonald's Drug Store, and get a Trial Bottle free of cost, if you are suffering with Consumption, Severe Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Hay Fever, Loss of Voice, Hoarseness or any affection of the Throat or Lungs. It will positively cure you.

HOMESICK.—"Darling, wake up and stop snoring," said a Detroit woman to her husband. "Eh! Whazza matter now?" he asked as he half raised up in bed. "Won't you please stop snoring? If you only knew how homesick it made me I'm sure you would." "Homesick! How the duce can my snore make you homesick!" "Why, you know, darling, that the home on the coast from which you took me a joyous bride was only half a mile from a government fog horn, and every time you snore it reminds me so of home that I just can't stand it. Please lay on your side and have some little respect for my feelings." And then the brute spread himself out on his back, and in five minutes had her bathed in tears as visions of the old home crept upon her.

As a rule we do not recommend Patent Medicines, but when we know of one that really is a public benefactor, and does positively cure, then we consider it our duty to impart that information to all. Electric Bitters are truly a most valuable medicine, and will surely cure Biliousness, Fever and Ague, Stomach, Liver and Kidney Complaints, even where all other remedies fail. We know whereof we speak, and can freely recommend them to all. Taylor & Macdonald, agts.

MALTOPEPSYN.

(REGISTERED AT OTTAWA.)

AN ARTIFICIAL GASTRIC JUICE.

This is not a patent medicine(secret remedy,) the formula is printed on the label attached to each bottle.

MALTOPEPSYN cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Intestinal and Wasting diseases, Constipation, Nausea, Chronic Diarrhœa, Cholera Infantum, and most of infants troubles, which generally arise from the stomach.

50 CENTS FOR 48 DOSES, OR ABOUT 1 CENT PER DOSE.

Regular-sized bottles containing 1½ ozs., with dose-measure attached, 50 cents, for sale by all Chemists throughout the Dominion.

Avoid taking liquids of any sort, more than is absolutely necessary to quench thirst, as the excessive use of liquids is the cause of half the Dyspepsia in the world. Maltopepsyn is a powder, agreeable and easily taken, supplies to the stomach the actual Gastric Juice.

Prescribed by the leading Physicians throughout the Dominion, in their regular practice. Maltopepsyn is also used to a large extent in Hospitals, Dispensaries and Infirmaries.

SPECIMENS OF TESTIMONIALS RECEIVED FROM PHYSICIANS.

WALLACE, N. S., Oct. 4, 1880.
"The Maltopepsyn was given in a marked and distressing case of Indigestion with the most rapid, pleasing and beneficial results." Z. W. KEMPTON, M. D.

ATHLONE, ONT., Jan. 29, 1880.
"The Maltopepsyn I obtained from you has far more than answered my anticipations. Having tried it in two old and very obstinate cases of indigestion, I found it to act like a charm." C. McKENNA, M. D.

CAMARAY, ONT., Jan., 1881.
"I have used your Maltopepsyn in severe cases of Indigestion and Malnutrition in adults, and Diarrhœa of children, and am so well pleased with the results that I have instructed my druggist to keep a supply on hand." T. W. READE, M. D.

ATHLONE, ONT., Dec. 20, 1880.
"After giving your Maltopepsyn a trial in some of my worst cases, for which it was recommended, I am well pleased with the way in which it acts. Continue to make a good article like that now in use, and it will be a universal favorite." R. HAMILTON, M. D.

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps, for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes o adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

Manhattan Feed!

—FOR—

HORSES, CATTLE, MILCH COWS, SHEEP AND PIGS.

IT is a source of health, because it keeps the organs in a natural healty tone. It acts as a relish, promotes perfect digestion, and purifies the blood, thereby keeping the coat in a free and glossy condition. TRY IT! BUY IT!

READ THESE RECOMMENDATIONS:

Toronto, March 4th, 1881.
We have used the "Manhattan Feed" for six weeks, reducing our oats one-quarter and using no bran. We have ordered more, considering the system of feeding a good one, having saved about $15 per month on the feed of 12 horses, their condition being fully kept up.
COSGROVE & SONS,
Maltsters and Brewers.

Office of
Prescott Brewing and Malting Co.
Prescott, Ont., May 3rd, 1881.
MESSRS R. W. SMITH & Co., MONTREAL:
Gentlemen.—We have used the Manhattan Feed this winter with our horses, one of which we have hitherto found it difficult to keep fat;—but since using your feed he has picked up and becomes remarkably well conditioned, so much so that it has been the remark of the townspeople how well our horses looked. Apart from this, we find that we are not obliged to feed as many oats as before; and have great pleasure in recommending its general use.
Yours etc., GEO. LaBATT,
Manager P. B. & M. Co.

Peterboro, Jan. 4th, 1881.
Messrs Taylor & McDonald, Agents.—Dear Sirs:—The Manhattan Feed bought from you has not only done all you professed for it, but much more. Before feeding it to our hens we were only getting on an average two eggs per week from each hen, now we average five to six. The difference it has made in our sheep one would have to see in order to credit. I would advise all interested in getting their cattle in good condition to get a bag. It has more than paid me its cost twice over.

MANHOOD

How Lost! How Restored!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

Local News Record.

EVENING CLASSES.—The Mechanics' Institute intend forming evening classes in a few days. We hope to see a large number take advantage of these during the winter evenings.

TRINITY UNIVERSITY.—We notice that T. Sullivan, G. S. Beck and A. Spilsbury have taken the degree of M. D. from Trinity. We congratulate them on their success.

I. ROBINSON & Co. have just received a large stock of Buffalo, Japanese, Wolf, White Polar and Jet Black Polar Sleigh Robes. Also a lot of plush and India Rubber Carriage Rugs, at very low prices. 45-tf

LICENSE INSPECTOR.—Mr. Christopher Leary, of North Monaghan, has been appointed Inspector of Licenses for the West Riding of Peterborough in place of Mr. A. Cox who had resigned.

ROCK ISLAND BOOTS.—Messrs. R. Stenson & Son have just received several cases of Rock Island Boots, which are marked down to bottom prices. Full stock in all other departments, selling extremely cheap. Call and see for yourself. 36-tf.

THE SEASON has gained a noteworthy record for rain and rainy Saturdays. Last Saturday made the eight in succession. The swamps are filling up rapidly to overflowing, and pools are forming on the low grounds.

EVERYONE in want of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Ready-made Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Groceries or Crockery, should see the large assortment of new, fresh and sound goods, sold at the most reasonable prices by W. J. Wallace, Lakefield. 45-tf.

TO STAMMERERS.—The stammerer's friend will be in Peterborough the coming week, where he will remain for a few days to treat those who may be troubled with any defects in speech. All are invited to call and consult him. Consultation free. Rich and poor welcomed. No cure no pay. 43

FLATTERING.—The Lindsay Warder in announcing a concert under the auspices of the St. Vincent de Paul Society, says:—"Miss Bagsley, of Peterborough, is also announced on the programme. Miss Bagley's many friends here will be pleased, although not surprised, to learn that she is now the leading vocalist in Peterborough."

PROVINCIAL APPOINTMENT.—G. T. Leonard, County Court Clerk, Deputy Clerk of the Crown, and Registrar of the Surrogate Court for the county of Peterboro', has been removed from office by the Lieut.-Governor for misconduct, and Mr. John Maloney, Peterboro', has been appointed in his stead.

ENTERTAINMENT.—We are pleased to announce that an entertainment will be given in Bradburn's Hall on Thursday evening, the 24th instant, of which the first part will consist of a concert by the leading amateurs of the town and neighborhood, and the second part, a play. All those who wish to have an evening's recreation should hold themselves disengaged for this occasion.

ENVELOPES.—A fresh assortment of Fine Envelopes just received at the EXAMINER Office, manillas, in all sizes and prices; merchants' cream laid and tinted; antique, flax, and azure laid, two new lines—very fine and just the article needed by business men for private correspondence. Prices marked down to close margin. Call and see samples.

PARLOR CONCERT.—It is proposed to hold one of these popular entertainments under the auspices of the St. Luke's Parochial Association, at the residence of Mrs. C. B. Orde, Peterborough, on Tuesday evening next, the 22nd instant. A programme consisting of vocal and instrumental music will be rendered by efficient amateurs. Admission 10 cents. The public cordially invited.

GRIP'S ALMANAC.—From the specimen pages of Grip's Comic Almanac for 1882, which we have had the pleasure of inspecting, that publication will excel in every respect those of other years. It will be profusely illustrated, containing over 100 pages and will be issued about the 1st December. It should meet with a large and rapid sale, as every one with a relish for wit and humor cannot but purchase a copy. Retailed at 25 cents.

A NEW WRINKLE.—A new wrinkle for raising funds at Church and Sunday School fairs is as follows:—The ladies write their names and weight on slips of paper, and the gentlemen draw the slips, each gentleman taking the lady whose name he has drawn to supper, and paying half a cent per pound on the weight of his partner. If the lady should happen to over estimate her weight it isn't a sin, as it is for the benefit of the church.

A MUCH NEEDED OFFICIAL.—In Napanee, the corporation pay a man three dollars a week for driving cattle that are trespassing on the streets to the pound. From the appearance of the streets in Peterborough, at all hours, day or night, such an official is much needed here, and the councillor who has the courage to have the appointment made will earn the gratitude of a very large portion of the community. Let us see who will take the matter up.

FIREMEN'S LIBRARY.—The members of the Fire Brigade are endeavoring to establish a library in connection with their hall, and we are pleased to know that already the nucleus of such a commendable object has been formed, several volumes having been contributed by some of the citizens.

THE WEATHER.—The prophets are divided in their opinions as to the weather to be expected during the coming winter. Vennor predicts an open winter, while De Voe, a New York meteorologist, says there will be very rough weather in Canada, with heavy rains, until the middle of December, when the rains will turn to snow. As the storm belt moves eastward it will be followed by heavy snows and very cold weather.

THE LETTER BOXES, of which notice was taken in former issues of the EXAMINER have been located at the following places:

(1.) At Richardson's grocery, north end of Water street.
(2.) At John Lynch's, corner of Elm and Park streets.
(3.) At Dunford's grocery, opposite the South Ward School.
(4.) At Crow's grocery, corner of George and Perry streets.

Collections are made daily at 7 a.m. and 4 p.m., by Mr. I. Richardson, who has been appointed Collector.

AN OLD TIME REPUTATION.—The Canadian Craftsman in chronicling the laying of the corner stone of Christ's Church, Belleville, says: "The day's proceedings wound up with a grand supper in the evening, at the Dafoe House. This is the first opportunity which our old friend, Bro. Allan F. Huffman, has had, since he took possession of the Dafoe House, of showing his abilities as a public caterer—on an extensive scale—and it is only necessary to say that he fully sustained the old time reputation of the house. The repast to which the numerous guests sat down was a sumptuous and recherche one, and, it is needless to add, was done ample justice to."

The Traffic Returns of the Midland and Grand Junction Railways for the week ending Nov. 7th, 1881, were as follows:

MIDLAND RAILWAY.—Passengers and mails, $2,726.88; Freight, $7,856.75; Total, $10,583.63 as compared with $8,381.09 for the corresponding week of 1880, being an increase of $2,212.54 and the aggregate traffic to date is $356,123.12, being an increase of $55,714.10 over 1880.

GRAND JUNCTION RAILWAY.—Passengers and mails, $710.11; Freight, $1,695.52; Total, $2,405.63 as compared with $1,310.68 for the corresponding week of 1880, being an increase of $1,094.95, and the aggregate traffic from 1st June to date is $54,842.95, being an increase of $31,500.71 over 1880.

WAGGON TIRES.—During the wet period that we have just had, the roads in many parts of the country have been badly cut up by the traffic on them. The expense of keeping roads in proper repair is very heavy, and any suggestions for lessening that expense are worthy of the serious consideration of farmers and members of municipal councils. The use of broad tires for heavily loaded vehicles would to a very great extent prevent the cutting up of the roads and streets during the wet season. The use of narrow tires on heavily loaded waggons is very destructive to any kind of road or street, but the damage is more permanent and costly for repairs on macadamized ones. The cost of substituting wide for narrow tires and felloes will not be great, while the change would prove a great protection to the road bed.

X-MAS CARDS.—During the past few years the trade in Christmas and New Year cards has assumed very large proportions, and with each season the resources of the designers and manufacturers are heavily taxed to provide something more handsome and beautiful than on former occasions. This year it would seem their efforts have exceeded all anticipations, if we are to judge from the very magnificent assortment which Mr. James Little, photographer, has just received. His stock embraces every style and quality from the plain and inexpensive to the more elegant and costly, although they are all sold at prices that cannot be considered costly when their quality is taken into account. We would advise all who contemplate investing in these tokens of friendship and good will to make an early visit to Mr. Little's, as the choicest lines are sure to go first.

FOOTBALL.—Wednesday, a spiriting and exciting game was played on the Cricket Ground between the Peterborough and Trinity School teams. The home men by constant practice had arrived at a high degree of perfection and consequently played well together, passing the ball splendidly and checking neatly and quickly. The Trinity Collegians were fast, well-practised, but of lighter calibre, and their play altogether was excellent. For Peterborough, Hatton, Snyder and Hubbell played especially well, whilst Abbott, Meritt and Hyatt worked hard for Trinity. The game was decided in favor of Peterborough by one goal and one "try." On the conclusion of the match Mr. Geo. C. Rogers entertained the visitors to lunch, when a pleasant time was spent.

TOO MANY SCHOOL TEACHERS.—There are too many school teachers, yet hundreds of young men and women continue to flock into the profession, and depress the "market." The knowledge of this fact has resulted in a resolution, by several school boards, to cut down salaries to the lowest possible notch. A few days ago a school teacher was advertised for for the Orillia School, and there were no less than seventy-five applications for the position. The latest to make a "cut" are the Kincardine Trustees, who have reduced nearly every teacher's salary, from the Head Master of the High school down. With clothing advancing in price, and the cost of many articles of food also enhanced by the action of the Dominion Government, the outlook for the teachers is not a very pleasant one.

PREPARING FOR THE "TREAT."—The Liberal Conservatives of Peterborough held a meeting in the Old Music Hall on Wednesday afternoon. The President occupied the chair. He read a letter from headquarters, calling a convention of the party at Toronto, on November 22nd, and stated that the present meeting was called for the purpose of appointing delegates to attend the convention. He also read a circular announcing that a banquet will be given to Sir John A. Macdonald in the pavillion at Toronto, on the 23rd. There were about 20 or 25 present. After discussion it was decided that the following should be delegates to the pow-wow:—Messrs. Hilliard, M.P.; Kincaid, M.P.P.; Morrow, Dr. O'Lullivan, Mayor Smith, T. Dolan, J. Stevenson; J. Carnegie, J. McClelland, C. W. Sawers, H. Collins, C. Brealey, C. D. Moore, H. Waddell, D. Costello, R. Dunlop, T. M. Willan, Alex. Clarke, Jos. Bennett, sen., H. Crosley, Jos. Barnard, Lewis Davis, W. Mills, Alex. Scott, Jas. Stewart, I. Garbutt, W. C. Saunders, Ed. Fitzgerald, H. Stabler and T. E. Bell.

REVISING THE LAWS.—Grand Secretary King of Toronto, Dr. Cl. T. Campbell of London (formerly of Stratford), and Mr. E. W. Harding, of St. Marys, have been appointed by the Grand Master of the I. O. O. F., to prepare and publish the laws and decisions of the Order in Ontario. The other members of the committee have requested Bro Campbell to undertake the work of compilation, and, with an unequalled zeal for the Order, he has undertaken the arduous task. Although no brother in the jurisdiction is better qualified for duty of consolidating the laws of the Order, the task is one from which the most enthusiastic might well shrink. The brethern may get some idea of the magnitude of the work when we state that it will be necessary to read over very carefully the proceedings of the Grand Lodge, from 1855 to the present time—twenty-seven yearly journals—and note all the decisions, compare them with each other and the law of the Sovereign Grand Lodge, and then arrange all that are still valid in suitable form for publication. The work will be looked for with interest.

INSTALLATION OF OFFICERS.—The installation of the Caswell Lodge I. O. of G. T. took place on the 4th inst., wherein the several elected officers were duly installed in their respective offices by the Rev. John Shaw, P. G. W. C. T., in the presence of seventy members of the order. The officers for the ensuing quarter are as follows:

Bro. T. Esterbrook	P. W. C. T.
Bro. G. A. Mitchell	W. C. T.
Sister M. Wallace	W. V. T.
Bro. G. J. Early	W. S.
Sister F. Douglas	W. F. S.
Bro. J. King	W. T.
Bro. A. Tebby	W. M.
Bro. C. Huffman	W. Chap.
Sister M. A. Russell	W. I. G.
Bro. A. Moore	W. O. G.
Sister G. A. Mitchell	W. R. H. S.
Sister Baxter	W. L. H. S.
Sister E. Morris	W. A. S.
Sister E. Rishor	W. D. M.

There was a prize of a beautiful ink stand of cut glass inserted into a handsome frame accompanied with a gold pen, presented by Sister K. Morris, to the Bro. who brought in the highest number of male members, of which Bro. G. J. Early was the recipient. Much credit is due members of the Lodge for the graceful manner in which they had their hall decorated for the occasion, which presented a gay aspect. The lodge in general is in a very prosperous condition at present; and is still progressing favourably in membership each night of late. At the 21st order of business, the Rev. Mr. Shaw, W. M. M. and P. G. W. C. T., addressed the Lodge on the vice of intemperance, and how necessary it was for the temperance people to work in order to reclaim the inebriate, and save others from falling. He remarked the prosperous and healthy appearance of the Caswell Lodge, wishing them every success, and hoped soon to be able to meet them again.

PERSONALS.

The Lieutenant Governor of Ontario has been pleased to appoint Dr. R. W. Bell an associate coroner in and for the County of Peterborough.

Mr. W. H. Mitchell, formerly in business in Peterborough, but now of Brantford, was in town last week visiting friends.

Hon. C. F. Fraser is reported to be better and is expected to return to Toronto towards the latter end of this week. He has left New York.

Mr. James Graham, an old Peterboro' boy, returned home on Friday last, after a two years sojourn in Leadville, Colorado. As a place of residence he has not a high opinion of it, both on account of climate and the lawlessness of society. When he went there first it was almost a nightly occurence for some one to be lynched or murdered.

The many friends of Mr. J. B. McWilliams, Superintendent of the Woods and Forests for the Midland District, will be pleased to learn that he has finally decided to decline the position offered him some time ago in the Crown Lands Department, Toronto. Although the position offered was more lucrative than his present one, he preferred remaining in his native town than removing to Toronto on a larger salary.

PERILS OF THE DEEP.

Special to the Chicago Inter-Ocean: The world-renowned swimmer, Captain Paul Boyton, in an interview with a newspaper correspondent at the seashore, related the following incidents in his experience:

Reporter:—"Captain Boyton, you must have seen a large part of the world?"

Captain Boyton:—"Yes sir, by the aid of my Rubber Life-Saving Dress, I have traveled over 10,000 miles on the rivers of America and Europe; have also been presented to the crowned heads of England, France, Germany, Austria, Belgium, Italy, Holland, Spain and Portugal, and have in my possession forty-two medals and decorations; I have three times received the order of knighthood, and been elected honorary member of committees, clubs, orders and societies."

Reporter:—"Were any of your trips accompanied by much danger?"

Captain Boyton:—"That depends upon what you may call dangerous. During my trip down the river Tagus, in Spain, I had to "shoot" one hundred and two waterfalls, the highest being about eighty-five feet, and innumerable rapids. Crossing the Straits of Messina, I had three ribs broken in a fight with sharks; and coming down the Somane, a river in France, I received a charge of shot from an excited and startled huntsman. Although all this was not very pleasant, and might be termed dangerous, I fear nothing more on my trip than intense cold; for as long as my limbs are free and easy, and not cramped or benumbed, I am all right. Of late I carry a stock of St. Jacobs Oil in my little boat,—(the Captain calls it "Baby Mine," and has stored therein signal rockets, thermometers, compass, provisions, ect.)—and I have had little trouble. Before starting out I rub myself thoroughly with the article, and its action on the muscles is wonderful. From constant exposure I am somewhat subject to rheumatic pains, and nothing would ever benefit me until I got hold of the Great German Remedy. Why, on my travels I have met people who had been suffering with rheumatism for years; by my advice they tried the Oil, and it cured them. I would sooner do without food for days than be without this remedy for one hour. In fact I would not attempt a trip without it."

CANADIAN NEWS.

The Japanese Board of Education have taken legal action to compel the Town Council to raise $2,500 for school purposes.

Toronto has declined to give the Provincial Exhibition accommodation for the coming year, consequently it goes to Kingston.

Harris Nichols of the Rochester house, Cobourg, was fined $100 last week and $4.75 costs for breach of the liquor law, this being his third conviction.

Two African lions valued at $200 each, three panthers valued at $100 each, and one sea lion valued at $600, have arrived in Toronto for the zoo.

Mr. Kelly, postmaster, Bobcaygeon, has young potatoes of a nice size. He planted some in August, and has now a crop of young ones, good for eating.

A meeting of ministers and laymen was held in Toronto on Saturday to consider means for suppressing houses of ill-fame, which have been increasing in that city lately.

A young lad named Geria, while playing among the car wheels at Cromen's Car Works, Cobourg, one day last week had his arm broken in two places by one of the wheels falling on him.

On leaving Fenelon Falls for Port Hope, Mrs. J. D. Smith was presented with a very handsome silver water cooler and goblet, by the citizens of the former place.

A township of Myrtle gardener raised 206 pods from one bean, the pods containing 1,068 beans. They are known as the Prolific Bush beans. The seed has been imported from Iowa.

Sergt. John Connors of the Dominion police force, Ottawa, is said to be the lucky holder of the ticket which drew the $30,000 prize at the Louisiana state lottery at its last drawing.

Several farmers in the neighborhood of Warkworth contemplate engaging in the cultivation of Sorghum or amber sugar cane next spring and will fit up a building this winter for the manufacture of sugar and syrup.

Mr. Robt. Stewart, while at work on his farm just outside of the village of Hastings one day last week unearthed an elk's antler of an enormous size, its length in a straight line being 3 ft. 4 in., the base measuring 10½ inches in circumference.

A Napanee paper is informed that there are fully 300 men and boys in that town between the ages of 14 and 20 years who make a practice of carrying revolvers. The Ontario says it is safe to say that 500 persons are guilty of the same practice in Belleville.

An Ottawa young woman has had a queer experience. She was engaged to be married four times in three years. Her first affianced died of the smallpox, the second eloped with another girl on the night fixed for the wedding, the third was drowned, but she was married to the fourth a night or two ago.

The Cobourg Sentinel-Star says that Mr. Wm. Elliott one night last week on returning from church instead of walking into his ark turned round and walked over the wharf. By the assistance he received from a man who heard the splash he got out very badly frightened, spoiling his black suit and losing his bible.

A little son of Dr. McBrien of Oshawa was taken with a choking fit on Friday last which proved fatal. The child frequently complained of having a pea in his throat for some time, but as he had a cold little attention was paid to it. A piece of the pea at last fell into the windpipe and completely stopped the passage.

The other day a clever feat was accomplished by Miss Rachel and Miss Maggie Dale, daughters of J. Dale of Franklin. They espied a large deer in Trading lake, and taking a boat started in pursuit. After a warm chase they came up with it, when they seized it by the head and drowned it. When dressed their noble game weighed 190 pounds.

Mr. H. J. P. Good and Mr. P. D. Ross are getting up a sporting annual for the Dominion of Canada. They desire to get a record of all the sporting and athletic organizations in the country. Presidents and secretaries of the clubs should take note and forward the information to Mr. Good, at the Mail office.

The family of Joseph Brittain—his wife, three children and a servant—nearly lost their lives from coal gas at Bowmanville on Thursday night. They are now out of danger, but had a very narrow escape. Mr. Brittain was away from home and they did not understand the management of the stove. The servant had closed all dampers so that the gas could not escape.

In a house in one of the suburbs of Montreal the corpse of Geo. Leser was laid out for burial. The coffin was heavily draped with crape and the usual candles were burning. A gust of wind blew a bit of crape into the flame of a candle and the room was soon ablaze, and the corpse was badly scorched before the fire was subdued.

The Napanee Standard says:—James Hearns, a bricklayer's lieutenant, working on the Standard block, carried fifty-four bricks weighing 270 pounds, to the top of the second story, up a ladder and two scaffold boards, without pause or rest—a weight equal to six bushels of barley. They who don't think this much of a feat of strength should try to carry a dozen bricks the same distance.

A Mr. Fraser of Toronto, who landed in Manitoba about a year ago, with $300 in his pocket, purchased a piece of ground for a homestead, but the proximity of three branches of railroads induced him to lay out a portion of the ground in town lots. These have been sold and Mr. Fraser has realized about $25,000 from the sale.

The Trenton Courier says:—"The men planting trees for Mr. George Smith around Mount Pelion, while digging holes on the eastern brow of the mountain, came across the remains of a fully developed human body, the feet pointing to the north star. They dug up the remains of the lower extremities and, not knowing their historic importance, covered them up again. The bones were well preserved but very brittle. It is supposed to be one of Champlain's companions who accompanied him in his exploring trip up the Ottawa and down the route of the Trent Valley Canal. Portaging their canoes down the Trent River Rapids they came on the summit of Mount Pelion, where they got a view of the beautiful Bay of Quinte, and where they sorrowfully laid to rest the remains of their departed companion. In the Hastings Directory the Rev. Canon Bleasdell makes concise reference to the tour of Champlain."

NORWOOD.

HORSE-TRADING—BEAUTIFYING PREMISES DIFFERENCE OF TIME-PIECES—BAD ROADS—A COMMENDABLE ACT—A GAME OF "POKER," ETC.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The horse disease, Pink-eye, prevails here to a large extent, but no fatal cases have as yet been reported. Our "vets" are busy.

The roads in this community have never been in such a bad condition, and on many traffic is out of the question. On Saturday night, owing to the depth of the mud and the cut-up state of the road between here and Colborne, the stage did not arrive till after eleven o'clock.

Our Presbyterian friends are constructing a neat barb-wire fence around their pretty church. This will give the church premises a finishing touch and set off the grounds to perfection. The Presbyterians deserve credit for their taste and enterprise in matters connected with their church, and gives a good evidence of their financial status—a very important thing in church affairs.

James Nickem, a harmless and innocent old negro, who makes Norwood one of his stopping places, received some hard treatment in Hastings on Friday evening last. It appears he was on premises where he was not welcome, when the lady of the house seeing him, armed herself with a poker, and gave "Black Jim," as he is called, a severe blow upon the back of the head, severely injuring him. However, as he has gone through a number of engagements of this kind, he no doubt will survive this one.

Time here is out of all gear and control, and the only thing we seem to do regularly here is to go to our meals, as we have a better indicator in this matter in the state of our stomachs than either watches or clocks. It is a fact no two time-pieces in the village are alike, and consequently our churches on Sunday are receiving their people from the time the services begin till they are almost ended. The want of correct time was referred to last Sunday in the Methodist Church, from the pulpit. It is to be hoped that proper steps will be taken at once to give us the correct time of day.

A rara avis has been discovered here in the person of Mr. John Curtain, son of the late widow Curtain, of Asphodel, who to his credit be it said, discharged a debt of long standing due to the late Mr. James Foley, who, it will be remembered, some thirty years ago conducted business in Norwood. The debt amounted to some eighty dollars, which he, without scruple, paid over to Mrs. Foley a few days ago at Peterborough, where she now resides. Mrs. Foley had no claim on Mr. Curtain whatever, but, notwithstanding the lapse of many years, he felt it his duty to his honored parents to discharge a debt which he knew would have been paid if they had lived long enough to have done so. This act on the part of Mr. Curtain is certainly a commendable one, and he deserves praise for his honesty and liberality.

Horse-trading is a peculiar science in which not a few Norwoodites are formidable adepts, and the art of humbugging in this particular line is brought down to a fine thing here. Only the other day was one of our tradesmen relieved of a valuable buggy for a quadruped in the shape of a horse not worth, to use an Irishism, a trawers. At the time the bargain was made the animal could not walk a hundred yards to a load of hay or a feed of oats if the remainder of its short existence depended upon the effort. Even its hide was valueless, and teeth it had none, but other bones in superabundance. However, the horse dealer, in concluding the transaction with his dupe, said with emphasis, "It was a rusher." The man gave the buggy, and while the other was drawing it away, the "rusher" was quietly drawing its last breath on the street, not two hundred yards away. The new proprietor of the "rusher" did not know the fate of the animal till he received a notice peremptorily demanding him to withdraw the carcase, as it was a nuisance upon the street. But this is not the last of the "rusher," as it still did duty in victimizing another Jehu, who wanted a "fast" horse, and to whom it was traded for a valuable watch and a sum of money. He, too, got his "fast" horse, as it was laying fast on the ground, and also received a peremptory order to withdraw the "rusher" from public gaze. Both victims had hired teams to accomplish this object, and arrived at the scene of the death struggle of the valuable carcase about the same time, but it was not worth fighting for, and the latest owner was allowed the privilege of conveying the celebrated "rusher" to his last home, his funeral obsequies being attended by a troop of his own kindred. For obvious reasons I withold the names of the parties concerned.

MILLIONS IN IT.

J. D. Alexander, editor News, Barnesville Ga., U. S. A., says: "For the past twelve months I have been suffering with inflammatory rheumatism. I tried several physicians but they failed to relieve me. A friend recommended St. Jacobs Oil. I at once procured a half dozen bottles, which I have used, and find that I am improving all the time. It relieves me at once when I am suffering terrible pain, and prevents me from spending many sleepless nights. Nothing has done me so much good."

UNHAPPY IRELAND.—Disturbances continue at Belmullet. Thus far four persons wounded in the affray of the 27th ult. have died and six more deaths are expected. Two hundred military and two hundred police are on the spot. The roads leading to Aglow are blockaded with stones, and the bridge has been broken for the purpose of impeding the movements of the military. Gilhooly, secretary of Beatry branch of the land league, has been arrested under the coercion act.

LAKEFIELD.

Contract Let Hunt—Municipal Neglect Pork—Accident Floral Forester's Meeting.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

FORESTER'S MEETING.

Court Lakefield No. 43, C.O.F. meet in the Union Hall next Thursday night, when the installation of officers (which was unavoidably postponed last meeting) will take place.

PORK.

During the last few days quite a quantity of pork has been brought into the village and has been eagerly taken by our merchants at fair prices. The supply of poultry has also been good, and though prices asked and given are above quoted market prices in Peterborough, our country friends find no difficulty in disposing of all they bring in.

MUNICIPAL NEGLECT.

Winter is coming apace and there are a number of repairs to our sidewalks and crossings which should have been attended to ere this. A few feet of plank, some nails and a couple of days time on the part of the road-master would place our walks in a good condition for the winter. In several places there are planks broken or worn out, leaving holes which are dangerous for pedestrians, and our council have received more than one blessing for their neglect in the matter. Perhaps they intend to retire this year, so have lost interest in village matters.

HUNT.

A few days since as the steamer Cruiser was taking a scow up to the head of Stoney Lake, some one noticed a large Buck come in from the Dummer shore closely followed by two hounds, all at once was excitement on board as the steamer was headed for the deer. There was a gun on board but unfortunately for them, the man steering the scow had all the ammunition with him. At last they got the man and cartridge on to the boat but just in time to see the Buck get ashore and go up the rocks and to realize they were not going to have venison for dinner that day.

CONTRACT LET.

We understand that Mr. T. Watley has taken a contract from Messrs Poussette & Roger to clear the lot known as "Kelley's Woods," about a mile from the village, in Douro. It is expected to obtain between three and four thousand cords of wood, besides telegraph polls, ties, posts, etc. All are to be laid down at the railway track here and will give employment to quite a number of hands all winter. In the event of there being poor sleighing, Mr. Watley will run a train track from the woods to the piling ground, the people along the route having given him the right of way to do so, and the cost will not be high.

FLORAL.

Our worthy friend, Carter, finding that the people of Lakefield and vicinity have appreciated his efforts to supply them with choice flowers for home decoration, has just made an addition to his green house plants, to meet the increasing demand for house plants. A few years ago it was a rare thing to see plants in the house in winter, and then only those of the more common and hardy kind. Now, thanks to the efforts of our florists, people of even limited means can supply themselves with choice plants at all seasons of the year, at a trifling cost, which not only beautify but also serve to enliven our homes during our long Canadian winters when a green leaf much less a flower is esteemed a treasure by both young and old.

ACCIDENTS.

A Frenchman named Peter Deyotte from the city of Quebec, who has been working in one of Ross & Co's shanties, met with an accident last week which will lay him up for some time. While chopping, his axe glanced and entered his foot splitting it nearly in two. He was afforded such relief as kindness and the resources of the shanty afforded, until he could be sent to Lakefield, where he now is under Dr. Bell's care. Before leaving, the men of the shanty, with that generosity which is characteristic with lumbermen, subscribed $40 to pay his expenses until able to work again, an example which might often be followed by more wealthy men.

On Tuesday evening while Mr. Isaac Manning, of Smith, was on a visit to his brother at Selwyn, his little boy, about five years old, fell out of the carriage and broke his arm just above the wrist. Dr. Bell happened at the time to be at Selwyn on a professional call and soon had the little fellow's arm all comfortable.

On Monday, a well known farmer from the north of Smith, while on his way to Peterborough, by the Selwyn road, managed to break the axle of his buggy in one of the mud holes for which that road is famous. He came to Lakefield on horseback and got the buggy sent to town with a friend. It is said his blessings on the Smith Council all the way down would almost have pulverized enough stone to macadamize the road.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Of the total length of the Sault Ste Marie railway from Gravenhurst to the Sault—350 miles—260 miles have been instrumentally surveyed, and the remaining distance fully explored, and its feasibility ascertained.

Mr. Geo. Wheeler, M. P., we understand, has received the contract to build the missing link of the Midland railway from Wick to Manilla. The work will commence at once and be completed at an early date.

MR. WILSON'S PATENT CAR.—Mr. Wilson's patent car passed through Port Hope on Saturday, loaded with eight hundred bushels of wheat from Stratford for Halifax. The car will be inspected at the Government workshops at Moncton, and then loaded with merchandise from an ocean steamer, for Toronto. Every trial of the car has proved successful. The next trip of this patent car will be to Chicago.

The amalgamation of the Midland Railway, and the opening of the line from Peterborough to Omemee bids fair to produce a most extraordinary contention between the two county towns of Lindsay and Peterborough. They both demand the blacksmiths' shops! * * * The blacksmiths' shops are due to Peterboro', and Peterboro' ought to have them. The chances are, however that Lindsay will give a bonus to obtain them. That's where the pull is. Anyway the struggle between the two towns will be momentous, and will be watched with deep interest by the public.—Independent.

Political Parties.

It appears that there are some people in Canada who cannot feel comfortable within either the Liberal or the Conservative camp, for from time to time we have hints and arguments about the necessity of a third party. The so-called "independent" press—though the journals in question have by no means a monopoly of independence—constitute themselves the vehicles of these suggestions to the public, but no journal has yet had the courage to come forward with a new set of principles to serve as planks for the "third party" platform. The Toronto World, which oscillates between admiration for Mr. Blake and a desire to favour protection, came out the other day with a series of questions suggestive of the need of a new party organization, but instead of answering the questions itself it merely elicited answers from correspondents. We venture to these malcontents the hint that this is not the way a great political party ever was built up or ever will be. A few bold and able men, full of new ideas and enthusiasm, may set on foot a successful political propaganda, and build up a new political sect as, for example, Mackenzie, Rolft, Bidwell and others did under the Family Compact regime, or as the late George Brown did with his agitation for equitable representation of the Provinces in Parliament—an agitation which he continued for ten years before it resulted in Confederation. The names we have mentioned are amongst the great names of Canadian political history; but who are the present advocates of a new party? Echo answers, "Who."

Taking the World's questions, it is easy to show the absurdity of the implied assertion that any homogeneous party can ever be built up on such a platform as they suggest. The first has reference to the future political state of Canada, and mentions independence, annexation, imperial federation, and the colonial condition as the states of existence from which we must choose. Well, is there such a pressing need for immediate choice as to impel men to abandon their present party affinities in order to work for a political revolution of any sort? The obvious answer is to be found in the fact that no one ever seeks election to Parliament on the ground that he is an independent or an annexationist. Veteran advocates of independence, like Galt, Huntington, and a few other Lower Canadians never mention the subject now, unless, as Galt did the other day in New York, to assert that it has no place in the minds of the Canadian people. Mr. Perrault of Montreal, is an open advocate of independence and he has evidently very up-hill work in his canvass in Montreal East as a candidate for a seat in the Provincial Assembly; and yet, if independence has a foothold anywhere, it is admittedly in Montreal.

The World seems to think that only those who support the Tilley tariff favour the commercial independence of Canada. Our contemporary has evidently forgotten that one of the first Liberal resolutions proposed in the House of Commons after Confederation was a resolution in favour of commercial independence and that it was voted down by the party which now stakes its existence on protection. It is a great mistake to suppose that the opponents of an unjust and excessive system of taxation are opposed to it simply because it may affect people outside of Canada either one way or another. The Tilley tariff is unpopular because it is oppressive to the people on whom it imposes burdens, and whose living it makes dearer in order to keep up a huge surplus which may afford the party in power the means of corrupting constituencies.

The World suggests "simplification" of our political system, but the term is far too vague to do duty as a political plank. Does it imply that all our local matters are to be determined at Ottawa; that our Crown lands and other sources of local revenue are to be absorbed by the Dominion treasury; that our municipal and educational systems are to be moulded and modified by people from other Provinces; that property and civil rights, as we appreciate them, are to be handed over to the care of a Legislature made up of representatives from districts separated by hundreds and thousands of miles? If not, what does it mean? If it does, then we venture to predict in advance that any third party, based on opposition to the federal principle in our constitution, will have a long lease of the cold shades.

We sympathise with the desire for civil service reform, and with Mr. Blake at the head of the Liberal party, we have no doubt that something will be done, or at least attempted, in that direction at no distant day. At all events, no Liberal will find himself compelled to abandon his party because civil service reform is not one of its aims. Very much the same may be said of the development of the Northwest. The whole record of the Liberal party on that question is a continuous effort to keep the heritage of the people—the land—for the people. When Mr. Mackenzie proposed to aid a Pacific Railway Company with a land grant, he proposed to reserve the control of the bulk of the grant in the hands of the Government, and the present system of dealing with Northwest lands has been opposed with the utmost persistence step by step, and will be opposed until opposition is successful and we find it reversed. The only other point worthy of notice is the extension of the franchise. All previous extensions of it have been gained by the Liberal party, and we believe that to-day in this Province there is a strong numerical element within that party in favour of the abolition of all property qualification for voters in political elections. The franchise has been so much extended as to include the great mass of those who would be included by manhood suffrage, and a simple registration franchise would do away with a large amount of the perplexity and bad feeling engendered by the present system. But this would be a very narrow basis for a political party to stand on.

TORONTO.

The Coming Session—The Mercer Case—The Judicature Act, &c.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

TORONTO, Nov. 21.

MEETING OF PARLIAMENT.

Now, that there is no chance of the Dominion Parliament meeting before some time in February, the Ontario Legislature will certainly be called together about the usual time. A much more convenient arrangement would be to have the Dominion session first and the sessions of all the Provincial Legislatures afterwards, but it has not yet seemed good to the powers at Ottawa to adopt this plan, and therefore the old system must be adhered to for sometime longer. There is every indication of here this year. The Government will not have a heavy budget of legislation to propose, and they will have a largely increased revenue to point to, while there will be little or no increase in the expenditure to offset it. The increase in revenue is due to the revival of the lumbering industry, and the consequent increase in the amount of lumber manufactured. There will, of course, be the usual war of words about the cause of this revival—the Opposition attributing it to the N. P., the other side claiming that the Tilley tariff hampers, instead of helping, the lumberer—and it will be seen when the debate on the address takes place who is likely to have the best of the argument. Mr. Mowat will have some proposition to make, no doubt, about the boundary dispute, which has taken on a new form since last session. Then the dispute was between Ontario and the Dominion; now it is, to a certain extent at least, between Ontario and Manitoba. There seems to be no possibility of settling the matter now without an appeal to the Privy Council unless meanwhile an early dissolution of the Dominion Parliament takes place, followed by the restoration of the Liberal party to power. That party agreed to leave it to arbitration when in power before, and would no doubt be prepared again to act honorably by this Province, as the present Government are not. To complicate matters it is reported that the Minister of the Interior is granting timber licenses within the disputed territory to political supporters, and if this turns out to be true, the Ontario Government will have to treat all those who assume to cut timber under such licenses as trespassers. The disallowance of the Streams Bill of last session at Ottawa, together with the recent decision of the Court of Appeal, leaves the owners of slides and other improvements without any authority to collect dues on timber floated through their works. It will therefore be necessary to re-enact the Streams Bill, this time in the interest of the owner of improvements rather than the owner of the timber. Of course it will be once more disallowed, unless there is first a change of Government at Ottawa, but meanwhile it will no doubt remain in force long enough to regulate the driving of timber next spring, which there is at present no law to control.

A DULL SESSION

THE MERCER CASE.

A good deal of interest, local and political, is taken in this now celebrated case. The late Andrew Mercer was for many years before his death the owner of a large amount of property near where the Parliament buildings now stand. Portions of this property were sold from time to time for building purposes, and as he gave out always that he had no wife there was no barring of dower in the deeds of transfer. For years before his death his house was kept by a woman who was a member of the Roman Catholic Church, and who has since his death claimed to be his wedded wife. Her son—whom she avers to be also his legitimate son, and who goes by his name—claimed to inherit the property, and in order to facilitate this claim his mother consented to have her dower barred in all the titles to property held by Mr. Mercer in his lifetime. It is well known that Mr. Mercer never acknowledged her as his wife, while he did acknowledge young Mercer as his son, and as the old man had no other relatives who could establish their title to be his heirs-at-law, his property naturally escheated to the Crown. After making a liberal provision for young Mercer, the balance of the capital was expended in the establishment of the Female Reformatory here—a destination of his money which was deemed most in keeping with the views of Andrew Mercer, whose name it bears. The son attempted to recover the property by means of an informal memorandum for a will purporting to be the expression of Andrew Mercer's wish to let his son have his real property. It was also attempted to be shown that his mother was Mr. Mercer's wife, the proof cited being a Roman Catholic parish church register from an adjacent township. The entry in this register, however, and memorandum along with it, were pronounced by the Court of Chancery to be forgeries, and the Government thereupon proceeded to bring suit in the same Court for the possession of the property. They succeeded in both the Court of Chancery and the Court of Appeal, but the decision of the latter Court has just been reversed in the Supreme Court of the Dominion, not on any ground which entitled young Mercer to inherit the property, but on the ground that the property of a man who dies without heirs should escheat to the Dominion and not to the Province. The case will now be appealed by the Ontario Government to the Privy Council, in order to test once for all the important question whether what is technically known as the "Crown" is in this and analogous matters represented by a Provincial as well as by the Dominion Executive. It is worth while noting that the Provincial Courts of Quebec have decided the point in the same way as the Provincial Courts of Ontario, and that from the peculiar composition of the Supreme Court at present, no other decision than the one above referred to was expected by any body.

THE JUDICATURE ACT.

Among the greatest achievements of Mr. Mowat's Administration will yet be ranked his successful attempt to consolidate our Superior Courts, simplify the procedure in suits, and secure the adoption of a single system of pleading instead of the two heretofore in use. This great measure of legal reform has been effected by degrees, and under several statutes, all of which have been passed since Mr. Mowat became Attorney-General, and the last of which was the Judicature Act of last session. In spite of all that has been said about this measure it has gone into operation with very little friction or uncertainty. A great deal is left under it to the discretion of the Judges, who have exercised that discretion wisely and well. Some amendments may be necessary but they will be of very insignificant character, and when they are made we will be able to boast in this Province of one of the most perfect systems of judicature in the world, as we have beyond question one of the ablest judiciaries—a boast which we can make quite as proudly as the one about our school and municipal systems.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The cause celebre at Osgoode Hall last week was the Murdoch case, in which a young lawyer who lived separated from his wife tried to recover the custody of his child. The parties charged each other with conjugal infidelity, but Mr. Justice Osler—as Henry Ward Beecher would say—pronounced both of them "innocent of the great transgression," at least in so far as the evidence submitted went to show. It seems to be a case of foolish young married people suspecting each other and living so extravagantly as to become "hard-up."

A good deal of interest has been taken in a meeting of clergymen and laymen called for the purpose of devising some means of lessening vice in this city. Those engaged in the undertaking have entered into a very heavy contract if they mean to succeed, for the amount of vice here under the surface is simply appalling. The subject is an unsavory one, but it is difficult, nevertheless, to keep it out of the papers.

The Ontario Government have made an excellent appointment to the Wellington Registrarship. Col. Higinbotham is a most trustworthy and competent man. There was a report that Mr. Speaker Clark was likely to get the position, but though he would have been a suitable enough appointee otherwise, the fact that he represents part of the county would have made his appointment unpopular.

The issue between the two parties in the forthcoming contest is one of the most important ever presented to the people of Canada. It is not merely the question whether a notoriously corrupt Administration shall be sustained and prolonged, though that of itself is a matter worthy of the gravest attention. It is very desirable that the men who are entrusted with the collection and expenditure of the country's revenue shall be men against whom even the voice of detraction cannot bring a charge of corruption, but it is even more desirable that the pernicious principles on which the Government of the country is now avowedly conducted should be reversed and discarded.

NATURE'S LAWS.

New Ideas Concerning Them.

Lecture Delivered by Dr. D. W. Fairchild, of New York, in Hope Hall, Liverpool, England.

My friends and suffering humanity, this a vital point for you to understand, and member that the cause of gins at the first stomach. First, obviate primary cause by avoiding indiscre-ons. Reduce yourself to a systematic sis of living. Do not eat too much. d never hurriedly. Never swallow our food until it is thoroughly masti-ated. If you are a clergyman, never ach within an hour before speaking or within an hour afterwards. Digestion ases while the brain is very active. nd to my young female friends, let me plore of you, give your vitals full scope. void tight lacing. Throw your corsets, natural instruments, to the four winds; , what is better, let the women through-t the land join hands in crushing em all. Continuous tight lacing is cer-in suicide. Millions have already paid e penalty of this crime. Millions more e continuing to suffer the keenest tor-res of mind and body in consequence of eir use. And a vast number are hope-ssly beyond restoration. Stop before it too late. Send good blood and healthy ids into the system and you will soon nd your liver works well enough, also e heart, kidneys, lungs and the entire stem. Again I repeat it, the liver is lcion wrong when the stomach is right and I would add, by way of parlance, find human being ever had a fever, fever nd ague, or yellow fever, who had a ound, healthy stomach and liver. These o diseases come from decomposed egetable matter that vaporizes and per-ades the atmosphere with its poison and taken into the system, but never lodges here while the various organs perform eir proper functions. So with any other vers. So long as there are no obstruc-ons those diseases are impossible. But , on the contrary, we find ourselves com-laining more of less, we rush headlong r a remedy—some poison as an antidote kill a poison. The disease may be in e form of biliousness, which is a mild pe of malaria, manufactured in the omach, or, if it is fever and ague a more olent type of malaria. We persevere day in and day out, and as I have seen r thirty or forty years, using some of e so-called drugs heretofore mentioned —poisons. The result is we find ourselves rnished with a complexion as yellow as saffron bag, and a disease that alternates tween constipation, diarrhœa, and all her trouble before mentioned.

NEARLY ALL YOUR ILLS

In cold weather we long for the fire. n warm weather there is a feeling of las-tude. The reasons are you have ne-lected the original cause, the stomach, nd substituted a medicine, a poison, or villainous cathartic, to treat all these ils specifically. So both poisons are stened in the system, never to leave ou, perhaps, until you meet the welcome essenger, death, unless you seize the pportunity offered you in the principle I m the happy instrument in presenting ou, which has proved that it will ac-mplish what nothing else on earth can. he statements and charges I have made gainst the come from one who has felt and known what it is to be a loving father and have is pets looking beseechingly and pitiously for help when there was no help under hat system. I refer to two of my children —a daughter and a son. The daughter had been a constant invalid for over four years, with bilious and malarial poison in the system, which had settled into some ive diseases, as we thought, and were the consequences growing out of a long and continuous suffering and sickness. My son had the old-fashioned vomiting lever and ague, with the worst case of en-largement of the spleen I ever saw. All the well-known remedies had been ap-plied for each of them, especially in my daughter's case. Instead of a cure she was rapidly drifting away, until all hope had disappeared of her ever being a well woman again, when through the kindness of Dr. Fairchild, my brother, living at New Haven, and an uncle, who had each of them seen some remarkable cures ef-fected in their section, she came into possession of the HOLMAN FEVER AND AGUE AND LIVER PAD, something she or I had never seen or heard of before. So soon as I had found out its claims I threw it down, declared it to be the greatest humbug of the age, and said I would not honor it enough to put it on. Something over a week from that time she said: "Father, I have been using the Pad, and there is no denying the fact, the Pad is efficacious. All those ugly symptoms I have carried for the last four years have left me." I said: "Nonsense! Wait a little. Those are conditions most likely which would have occurred any hour." My good wife, who seemed possessed with better faith and fairness than I, then in-sisted that I should get a Pad for Charlie. After wearing it about one week I thought he was having a worse time than ever. He however had put it on, believing most thoroughly it would cure him. But faith didn't help him or cure the chills. At last my wife said, "Charlie, where are you wearing it?" He said: "Here," pointing to his side. She then adjusted it so that the top of the Pad touched the bottom of the breast bone, and covered the pit of the stomach, and that was the last whisper of complaint I ever heard from either of those children for over a year. A near neighbor of mine, who had been an invalid with ague and biliousness for over fourteen years, was then induced to try it. After a reasonable length of time she reported the same results as in my children's case. This convinced me that the Pad was good. It brought peace to my family. I began to look well into the principles claimed for the Pad. I also hunted up every person I could find who had tried it. At last I decided to see the owners. I became convinced that the Pad was a success beyond question. I learned from them that when the Pad was worn as directed, there could be no failure. With this conviction, and not-withstanding I partially comprehended the sacrifices I had to make—absences from my family, opposition from the doctors, and prejudice, the ridicule and indifference from my fellow-man gener-ally—yet I decided to return to the city of Cincinnati, where I had lived seven-teen years of my life, and there

BEGIN THE PIONEER WORK,

proclaiming a principle that looked like a humbug on its face to a people who never before had heard the name of the Holman Fever and Ague and Liver Pad. If there is any one here who has ever experienced all that it means to make a discovery that, if adopted, would redound to the benefit of man, or has experienced the hope, joy, disap-pointments, discouragements, contempt, sorrow and labor that fall to the lot of those who attempt to promulgate it, then he is prepared to count the cost of the Holman Liver Pad to date. Those who have not, could with profit read the lives of Galileo, Jenner, Harvey, Fulton, and many others who have tried it. Like all new beginners, my com-mencement was a hard struggle. The first three cases were among the worst chronic, played out ones I ever had. These were the desperate ones. They had exhausted the whole list of medical science and humbugs—and the poor Pad had to come in and be put up as a target for the doctors to shoot at. The first was a case of thirty-four years' standing, notoriously well known. Because the Pad did not cure inside of three weeks the doctors were heralding it all over town. But when it did cure no one ever heard from them a word of credit or praise given the Pad. The next was a case of twenty-five years' standing; there was but one slight chill after wear-ing the Pad. Also George Krenning. I said to him, "No cure, no pay." In five days he acknowledged himself well; in thirty days he gave me his testimonial, and is now at Fort Recovery, Ohio, sell-ing Pads for a living. So with John C. Preston—a case of liver and stomach dis-ease, pain in side and liver, constipation, diarrhœa, headache; inside of ten days he was well, after being ill for over eighteen years. Dr. Bissell, of Cincin-nati, who had suffered a thousand deaths with neuralgia in the stomach for over eight years, was permanently cured in-side of two weeks. P. A. Moffett, of heart disease, malaria. Col. Thorton, as-sistant postmaster, Cincinnati, S. V. Curtis, banker, of Middleton, a very old case of malaria and biliousness, who had spent a small fortune to be cured and was never aided until he used the Pad. Thus it was that one after another, re-markable cures, covering nearly every form of disease, and including almost every kind of blood poison, came about; also the diseases common to women and children, were being duly reported from every part of the land, until this little common-sense doctor has assumed a his-tory of gigantic proportions. Important depots and consultation rooms free of charge are now to be found, not only in nearly all the important cities of this country, but also in the Canadas and portions of Europe. They have also found their way in lesser proportions to Asia, West Liberia, South America, Mexico, the Bahamas, etc. One of the remarkable facts connected with this treatment is that it seldom fails to cure where instructions are literally followed, except in cases where the coatings of the stomach are destroyed by the use of powerful medicines, or where the short ribs lay over the pit of the stomach—the result of tight lacing. In the language of another, I believe there is no disease that can be kept in subjection and modi-fied by the use of medicine, but what can be acted upon in a far more satisfactory manner by the Holman Pad and the auxiliaries, our medicinal plasters and medicated salt water foot-baths used with it. I believe there is no disease that medicine will cure but what can be cured more promptly and effectually by this treatment. I do know that times without numbers universally acknowl-edged to be beyond the reach of medicine, have melted away under the action of these remedies; and the work was done so quietly and with so little inconven-ience to the patient, that in many cases the pain was gone ere he was aware. More than a quarter of a million earnest, intelligent living witnesses bear testi-mony to the truth of these statements. The experiences that have come under my own observation of the wonderful cures which I hear continually from the lips of grateful patients, have made it for me a work that transcends every other consideration. Money could not buy me to aid in suppressing it. Think for one moment what the Holman Pad will do for the spleen.

PHYSICIANS ONE AND ALL

will tell you that it is next to impossible to cure a chronic case of enlargement of the spleen—usually called ague cake. By the application of the Pad, the power to correct the disturbance of this organ will be understood and appreciated, when I say to you that it will begin to remove the enlargement, or ague cake almost as soon as applied. An ague cake under the pad is like the ice cake under the sun's rays. I have had repeated cases of this trouble, or disease, of from a few months' to twenty-three years' standing. Thus far I have never known a failure to cure within from two to four weeks. This may seem hard for you to believe. Ocular demonstrations will bear me out in these statements.

Permit me to call your attention to its antidotal and preventative power. As a preventative and cure, the pad is worth many times its weight in gold; it is im-possible to compute the value of a dis-covery which, without medicine, may be relied on to prevent the most dangerous maladies. The Holman Pad will pre-vent Yellow, Chagres, Typhoid, Remit-tent, Bilious Congestive, and all kinds of Fever. This has been tested and proven in so many cases, and we state it posi-tively, and without qualification. It will prevent summer complaints by keep-ing the bowels regular; it will prevent dyspepsia by absorbing all poisons and arousing nervous action in the stomach and liver. It will prevent and cure heart disease (other than organic). It is seldom we meet with other than function-al sympathetic heart disease, which pro-ceeds from stomach derangement.

IT HAS BEEN DEMONSTRATED

beyond the possibility of a doubt, that it will prevent chronic internal rheuma-tism and neuralgia. The same may be said of sick headaches, also spinal dis-eases and nervous prostration. These are distinctly traceable to a great nerve centre that pervades the digestive organs over the pit of the stomach. This is the battery that communicates quicker than thought to every part of the system any disturbance of the stomach. Disease there means nerve prostration, inaction, inflammation, obstructions. Hence, pain and suffering indescribable. These feel-ings are, of course, intensified in pro-portion to mental strain or undue excite-ment. Also in proportion to the amount of poisonous substances which are ab-sorbed into the blood that poison the brain nerves, muscles, tissues and organs, and cause nervousness, dizziness, general debility, gout, neuralgia, rheumatism, paralysis and death. The Pad, and our Plasters, and Medicated Foot-Baths, will do more for you in curing these than all the World's treatment combined. In the name of humanity, try them. But you are ready to say—you are asking too much for it to say it will cure and pre-vent all these. Not so. If it be true these diseases all come, as I claim, from the same cause, and I will give ample proof that they do, then, if the pad cures or prevents in one, it must of necessity in the whole. And this it does. Oh! would that the doctors, for humanity's sake, who hold in their hands the lives of so many millions, understood better the fundamental cause, and acted upon it, in-stead of treating all specifically. Not to trust disease by first finding the cause re-minds me of once drinking from a small brook a cup of water that tasted putrid. I sought the cause by first rinsing out my cup. The taste was still the same. I followed the stream some distance, and found a putrid hog lying in it. I need not tell you that boiling the water would not have made it less offensive, so long as the cause remained. You are, no doubt, ready to ask, "What is the prin-ciple by which the Pads act?" The Hol-man Pad is made of a number of harmless vegetable compounds, such as have been found to be an antidote to diseases in the human system, and contains just the tonic required for the system. It does its work without any internal medicine, and is two-fold (distinct) in its action. The principal is absorption—Nature's law. A tonic is thrown into the system by the way of circulation, and exactly where needed, over the liver and stomach and centre of the nervous system, which pervades the digestive organs. Another property it has, which is to absorb from the system all bilious, malarious and me-dicinal poisons into the Pad. If there is any disease in the system, it immediate-ly sets about its work. The question would naturally be asked, how is this possible? It is a fact established beyond controversy, that the human body, when at ease, can exist no inconsiderably length of time without food or drink, by occa-sionally wetting the garments with salt water and that thirst can almost entirely be satisfied in this manner. Again, if a plaster of wet tobacco be placed for a few minutes only over the pit of the stomach, it will produce deadly sickness. No person would be safe in trying the experi-ment for thirty minutes even, for the poison of the tobacco will have entered the circulation by absorption. Poultices and blisters are used to draw or absorb diseases to the surface.

Every person knows the danger of rubbing or placing certain poisons on the surface of the body. That in a few mo-ments the entire system could be poisoned unto death. A blister and a poison can both be applied on the same spot, and at the same time, neither being an impedi-ment to the other, showing beyond a question, that the body receives and throws off at the same time.

This method of curing diseases, rather than dragging the stomach is so well un-derstood in England that a committee appointed by the Royal Medical Society to investigate the subject reported as fol-lows: "The activity of nearly every sub-stance that can be used is three, if not four times greater, if given by the skin than if swallowed." Let us understand the reason of this. In the skin, and un-der the skin, and penetrating through all the tissues, and of all the organs of the body, in many places forming a com-plete net-work are fine ducts and small glands called lymphatics. These are the chief absorbents of the body, although absorbtion takes place by the blood ves-sels also. It is because of the lymphatics extending from the skin to every organ and every part, that a raw piercing wind or damp atmosphere pierces through us. And this is also why the touch of deleteri-ous matter makes us sick, and contact with poison may cost us our lives. For this same reason the proper remedies placed upon the surface, have power to remove diseases. If we would heal sickness, we must make use of those natural outlets—the million little paths God has provided through which evils may be expelled, and good may come to us. Before concluding my lecture, I again return to the causes of other diseases not yet mentioned, such as catarrh, bronchitis, throat, lung difficulties, etc. The formation of gas and acids in the stomach and intestines, caused by indigestion, produce great irrita-tion of the mucous membrane lining these organs, which often extends upwards to the membranous lining of the cavity of the nose, causing the irritations and se-cretions called the catarrh; also to the membrane lining the air tubes to the lungs, causing bronchitis, chronic inflam-mation and ulceration of the throat. Chronic catarrh, ect., originate in and are sustained by chronic irritation of the lining membrane of the stomach, and by blood poisons. The Holman Pad will begin to remove the trouble as soon as applied. In cases of malaria in every form, I make this bold declaration, that I doubt if there is a case in existence that the Holman Pads will not cure. I use Pads in the plural sense. It is under-stood that it be adjusted and worn ac-cording to directions. If you will give the Pad and our Plasters and Medicated Salt Foot Baths, that are frequently used, one quarter the patience and fairness you give any other treatment and will drop everything else and rely entirely on them, they will bring you the blessing of health, that it has seldom been your privilege to enjoy, provided your stomach is not en-tirely worn out and destroyed by the use and abuse of medicines. After you are once cured, if you will secure a second Pad, and in the spring time when all na-ture is undergoing a change, would wear it, say two weeks, and also at any time, for a few days, when you feel any symp-toms of biliousness, and ten days in each malarial month, as a preventive, you will find one Pad keeping you in health a whole year—therefore making the Hol-man Pad the cheapest, the pleasantest, and most convenient, the surest and most satisfactory curative, preventive, and thorough system regulator in the world. Of all this you can rest assured.

It can with truth be said, that on the American continent south of latitude forty-seven, not one person in five has a sound liver and stomach. And it is my fixed purpose, if my life, strength and talents are spared me, never to cease my labours in behalf of this blessed boon un-til every man, woman and child has heard of the Holman Liver Pad. To those of you who are old enough, and free to act for yourselves, if, after all that has been said, you choose to treat the subject in-differently, preferring to suffer rather than yield your prejudice, then let me ap-peal to you, in the name of humanity, to save your children; for I have drank to the very dregs all that it means to see a household blighted with sickness, and have on the other hand seen the joy, peace and happiness that good health brings us.

Facts are stubborn things, meet them as we may. A word to mothers and I am done. I quote the language of Mrs. Dr. Carter, of Philadelphia, who is a mother and physician: "It is now not uncom-mon to put apparently well children in the care of a physician, that their systems may be kept in such a state that they may be in no danger of contracting the scourge of the nursery—scarlet fever. But to do this by medicine is itself repre-hensible. The Pad will prevent this dis-ease, being at the same time a source of good and no injury. And these are not mere idle words, or, what would be yet worse, false utterances; they have been proved repeatedly by actual experiment. The Pad has been placed upon one mem-ber of a family in which all were equally liable to infection, except for its protec-tion, and this one wearing the Pad would be the only one not stricken down by the contagion. The Holman Pad should com-mend itself to every mother in the land. And that other disease that adds yearly to the little graves in the cemeteries of every village, town and city in the coun-try—cholera infantum—for the curing of which our physicians have got on so fur ther than the baneful drug called opium, which lays the little innocent head to a fevered sleep, and leads only in thousands of cases to a premature death. You can-not safely give the baby strong medicine of any kind, and carelessness or ignorance in this particular is little short of crimi-nal, for the result, though unintentional and deeply regretted, is child murder. Lay the Pad upon the stomach of the teething infant upon the first indication of any derangement of that organ. It will draw the fever from the brain, draw the pain from the little writhing body, and regulate the bowels, just as rapidly as it can be done with safety, and more promptly than any medicine you could dare to give. Dragging is most pernicious to a child. Opiates are injurious. They only suspend pain, but do not remove it or its cause. The medical faculty are wrong in using them thus frequently and largely. Do you think I am urging these facts upon you too strongly? By the love I bear my own, which thus far heaven has spared me, not for one million dollars would I be guilty of misleading you I tell you and if these were the last words I should ever utter they would still be the same, that for children of any age this is the one treatment that should and will supercede every other. For the sake then, of the little ones confided to your care, which must needs be unceasingly watchful, give this matter your immediate, candid and most serious attention." "In conclusion my words to you are, learn to be your own doctor, practising under the diploma of the FACULTY OF COMMON SENSE."

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, NOV. 24, 1881.

What Peterborough Wants.

What this town needs at the present time more than any one thing, is a live working organization among business men and citizens interested in her prosperity. The facilities are here for far more rapid growth and enlargement of mercantile and manufacturing interests. What should and can be done is to attract new men and new capital to residence and investment in Peterborough. This cannot be accomplished without effort—without organized work. Individual work should not be under-rated, but it does not compare in result with united, active business organization. An American exchange says that Des Moines is claimed to be the most prosperous city in its State, and her citizens do not hesitate to attribute her growth and attraction of new enterprise directly to the organized work of a board, composed of the wealthiest and most influential men of the city. They serve on committees, attend meetings, assist in correspondence and work for their town. The result is a rapid increase in population and business, the price of property advances, houses are in demand, the value of every man's possession is enhanced, and there is general prosperity and hopefulness. A like public spirit would show greater results for Peterborough, for we have far superior natural advantages, and considerable accumulated wealth among our citizens.

Is it not possible to secure some sort of organized work for the advancement of the mercantile and manufacturing interests of our town?

THE NEW MIDLAND RAILWAY SYSTEM.

The Lindsay Post in an article on the changes about to take place in railway matters, through the Midland's amalgamation scheme, puts forward Lindsay's claim to receiving any advantages which may arise therefrom, and says:

"It would be well for our manufacturers' committee to take definite action to ascertain what can be accomplished for the direct and indirect benefit of the town. Lindsay is most advantageously situated not only for the town but for the railway. From this place the system radiates; and this is the most central position as compared with the termini at Toronto, Midland, Whitby, Haliburton, Port Hope and Belleville, and for the far more distant terminal points, the Sault and Ottawa. Lindsay has generously assisted the Midland railway in the past, but has never been treated as it ought to have been, with the exception of the past few years. The local improvements that have been made at other places have not been made here on account of the amalgamation scheme under consideration. These will now be effected, and will embrace among other things a fine union station for which purpose the Midland track will probably cross in the south ward of the town towards the Whitby railway and along the old survey. This, however, is an altogether minor matter. There are advantages much more considerable to be obtained; and which we are confident can be secured owing to the exceptionally fine railway and geographical position of the town."

Editorial Notes.

It is rumored that a large amount of paper held by the Ontario Bank has been undervalued, and the meeting on the 30th instant is looked forward to with much interest.

Hon. Mr. Langevin's costs in the libel suit amounted to $1,500, all of which was subscribed by his party in Montreal. His counsel, it is said, gave their services free.

The London World characterizes Miss Parnell as the "Sally Brass of the Land League." "Sally" has a tongue in her head, and she spares neither age nor sex when her "sweet" temper is crossed.

The United Empire Club, of Toronto, is in a bankrupt condition. $55,000 is owing on the building, and all the furniture is heavily mortgaged to the Oshawa Cabinet Company. The faithful are expected to come down with the stamps at the approaching Conservative Convention.

The Governor General and the Princess Louise have visited Mr. Gladstone at Hawarden, and gone on to London. It is stated in a despatch from London that the Princess will accompany His Excellency back to Canada about five weeks hence, and that he will resign the Governor-Generalship early in 1882.

The Irish Land Court is doing more for the settlement of the vexed question of how to govern Ireland than a round dozen of Egans and Parnells. At a recent sitting in Belfast there appeared fifteen tenants of an estate in Ulster, demanding relief. The Court reduced their rents from £122 to £89, from £71 to £48, from £79 to £52, and so on. Adjudications are averaging over 25 per cent. This sort of work demonstrates two things: that the Irish tenants have a real grievance against landlords, and that the Land Court is not the sham that the extreme Land-Leaguers paint it. It will be the part of wisdom for the Irish landlords to make terms with their tenants before the Court obtains a chance to decide between them.

Some of the journals of both sides of politics are clamoring for the abolition of the Royal Military College at Kingston. While we are not sure that the country as yet gets full value for the money expended on that institution, it is certainly too early yet to pull this particular potato up in order to see whether it has taken root. If the course of instruction is not in all respects what it should be, modify it to suit the circumstances of the country, and above all, make provision in it for militia officers who wish to qualify for taking command of corps. This might easily be done, but we doubt whether it ever will be done unless some outside advice is pressed on the present Commandant. A practical Minister of Militia might do a great deal to remove some of the objections against the institution, and render it at once more popular and more useful.

The special correspondent of the Globe in the North-west calls attention to one of the injurious features of the Government's land policy. Immense tracts of fine grazing and farming lands are leased to capitalists at a nominal rent for ranching purposes. Before many years this land will have acquired a marketable value, and then it will be found to be to a great extent locked up. The correspondent suggests, as a better arrangement, to sell outright to the rancher what he requires for his headquarters, and let him herd his cattle where he will, or rather wherever he can find pasture for them. The evil tendencies of the present land system will affect the North-west for many years to come, and one of the strongest reasons why there should be a change of Government is the necessity for a more common sense method of dealing with the land in that great region.

Amongst other political rumors there is one that a dissolution of Parliament will take place, and the general election be held, before next session instead of after it. This would cut down the present Parliamentary term to three years instead of five, without any excuse except party advantage to offer the public for putting the country to the cost and inconvenience of a premature election. We do not expect this particular rumor to prove true, not because we have any faith in Sir John Macdonald's desire to do what is right in the matter, but because we believe that to spring an election on the country just now would be dangerous to his party, and that he is aware of this state of affairs. It is much more likely that he will allow another session to pass before dissolving Parliament, and that he will try to make that session as brief as possible. Liberals everywhere, however, would do well to act on the rumor as if it were already confirmed. "Fore-warned is fore-armed," and our friends will have themselves to blame if they are caught without organization or preparation when the struggle comes.

ZOPESA.

(FROM BRAZIL.)

The New Compound, its wonderful affinity to the Digestive Apparatus and the Liver, increasing the dissolving juices, relieving almost instantly the dreadful results of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and the TORPID LIVER, makes Zopesa an every day necessity in every house.

It acts gently and speedily in Biliousness, Costiveness, Headache, Sick Headache, Distress after Eating, Wind on the Stomach, Heartburn, Pains in the Side and Back, Want of Appetite, Want of Energy, Low Spirits, Foul Stomach. It invigorates the Liver, carries off all surplus bile, regulates the Bowels, and gives tone to the whole system.

Cut this out and take it to your Druggist and get a 10 cent Sample, or a large bottle for 75 cents, and tell your neighbor about it.

SOME PLAIN TALK TO SENSIBLE PEOPLE.

!!NEWS!!

Now that the secret's out, we are asked some fifty times daily—"When are you going to Winnipeg?" WE ARE NOT GOING to Winnipeg, for good and sufficient reasons.

We had some time ago made all arrangements to take up a retail trade there and had contracted with property owners to put up for our use one of the finest business places in that city. Owing to alterations in the plans of the capitalists, a block of wholesale buildings are being erected where our retail premises were to stand.

After diligent enquiry, and offering the inducements of an enormous rent, we have been unable to provide ourselves with a suitable location. We have now abandoned the idea of leaving Peterborough at all and shall remain here permanently.

Under the impression that our arrangements with the Winnipeg people were beyond doubt, we concluded an agreement to dispose of the balance of our Stock here on the first of February next, and will therefore have to leave the premises we now occupy. We shall consequently move on that date to our future store, THREE DOORS NORTH of our present stand.

Our old customers, and, we hope, many new ones, will then find us in one of the most convenient and pleasant places to purchase in in town. Our new store (Stethem's old one) will be fitted up in the handsomest manner, with every improvement that experience can suggest. It is our intention to carry on the MILLINERY and MANTLE DEPARTMENTS more extensively than hitherto, and we shall put in a Stock of the freshest and most fashionable kind.

IN MEMORIAM.

MISS LIZZIE JOHNSTON, OBIT 22ND JULY, 1881.

(Published by Request.)

If from those bright Elysian fields,
Where thou art safely dwelling now,
Where Heaven to thee its glory yields,
And Immortelles adorn thy brow;
If from that blessed home above,
Where freed from tears and care and pain,
Where God is and where all is love,
You can revisit us again;

Can gaze with spiritual eyes,
Can whisper to the souls who weep,
Can quell the doubtings that arise
Around this mystical death-sleep,—
Then you will see this very night,
The dear ones that on earth remain,
Their present shorn of all delight,
Eyes fill with tears, hearts full of pain;

And you will surely, surely know
That your brief life on earth was blest—
That passing into endless rest
You shed around you fadeless glow,
Cheered tired souls, rough pathways smoothed,
Turned hate to love, and banished strife,
And like a guardian angel soothed
The aching heart and weary life.

Yes, in thy heaven above dear one,
We know that thou art safe at last;
All conflicts o'er, all trials done,
All grief forgotten, troubles past,
The perfect peace above is thine,
The knowing e'en as we are known,
The glory of the eternal throne
The Saviour and the life divine.

Ah! could we reach thee where thou art,
And speak to thee and clasp thine hand,
And walk with thee in that fair land,
And all our burning thoughts impart,
Were sweet indeed, yet know we still
That all our tears and all our grief
Are seen of thee, we find relief
In bowing to God's holy will.

Farewell! like incense sweet shall rise
The memory of thy life on earth,
Its largeness, purity and worth
True goodness never, never dies,—
And thy dear spirit hovering near,
Shall comfort, bless and cheer us still,
Our souls with noble promptings fill,
And beckon us to visions clear.

News of the Neighbourhood.

PORT HOPE.

Mr. John Elliott is asking for a bonus for the establishment of a knitting factory.

James Haw, the popular cabman of Port Hope, is about to retire, having acquired enough "lucre" to enable him to spend the rest of his days in leisure.

The Cobourg 'Prentice Boys were entertained by their Port Hope brethren on the evening of the 4th November, at a supper in the Queen's.

Wm. Middleton, only son of Mrs. Moses Robinson, of the 4th Con. of Hope, fell from a G. T. R. freight train near Scarboro', on Monday night, and was instantly killed. The lad was seventeen years of age, and had only been a brakesman for a few weeks.

About ten days ago, a gentleman named Arthur Tuar fell down the stairs of a house on Protestant Hill. He frequently complained of feeling ill from the effects of the fall, and died quite suddenly last Tuesday. The deceased was an Englishman and had been residing here for a few weeks. He leaves a wife and five children. His life was insured in English companies for $20,000

A CURIOSITY.—The News says: We were shown, a day or two ago, a twenty shilling bill, that had been issued by "The Newcastle District Loan Company" at Peterboro', on August 27th, 1836, and signed by Geo. Hall and Geo. Cunningham. The present holder secured it thirty-five years ago, as the stakes on a game of "old sledge," which was played in a hay-loft at Bletcher's Corners. The bill was worthless at the time, but he did not know it until after he had spent the whole afternoon winning it. The person who placed it up as a stake now resides in Peterboro', and told the gentleman owning it the other day, that he would treat him to a plate of oysters if he would produce it. It is now trotted out, and they and their friends are going in for the oysters.

A BAD GANG.—The Times says:—One of our local exchanges shows up the character of a travelling troupe lately in Port Hope. As far as we can learn no one in this town has been victimized in a manner similar to the following:—"On Wednesday night of last week, Mrs. Hall, residing on the southeast corner of Simcoe and Athol streets, Oshawa, was awoke during the night by the breaking of glass in the wood shed. She went out to see the cause, and discovered one of the negroes belonging to Wren's Uncle Tom's Cabin Company, trying to gain admittance to the house. She ordered the rascal off, when he informed her that two of his companions were in the house and he was going in also. Mrs. Hall called upstairs for assistance, when she saw two other negroes run away from another part of the house. There is evidently a bad lot connected with this show, as one of them was lately arrested for theft near Barrie."

A CLOSE CALL.—There came near being a terrible accident on the Midland Railway last Thursday night. The train that left here for the north at 4.20 should have been held at Garden Hill to cross a special, but the agent at that station neglected to detain it. Two miles north of Garden Hill there is about a mile of straight road, and when near the extreme end of this stretch, the fireman saw the smoke of the special around the bend; this train was coming thundering down at the rate of forty miles an hour, and was within thirty car lengths of the up train. As quick as thought the driver of the up train reversed his engine, which brought the train to such a sudden standstill that the passengers were thrown forward off their seats. A general rush then took place among the passengers for the car doors, which were promptly locked by the brakesmen. The train backed down to Garden Hill, no harm was done, but the passengers had a very bad scare. At the station here, as soon as it became known that a collision was imminent—with the greatest promptitude a relief train was equipped and ready to start out, when the welcome news came that the danger was past. The agent was promptly removed this morning.

"LETTER IN THE POST-OFFICE." An urchin of three of four summers was going down Mill street the other day, with a loaf of bread under his arm and feeling "just as happy as a big sunflower." The bosom of his little unmentionables was somewhat worn, and a rear view displayed what the boys would call "a letter in the post-office." Patsy Connors' white dog "McGinnis" was not long in taking in the situation, and in its playful way went for that "letter" in a manner that would lead one to think the pup had concluded to make a meal of the small boy; and then ensued one of the most amusing scenes that could possibly be witnessed—the little shaver holding unto his bread with one hand and striking at the dog with the other, and also using the feet with great energy but little effect, while round and round the pair went. "McGinnis" had a champion grip on the under-garment, which was gradually passing through the rent in the aforesaid unmentionables and likely soon to take an exterior position, being then elongated a foot or more. The canine was finally persuaded to let go, but no before it had furnished fun enough to lay one man up against a lamp-post to hold on and laugh, and give another a kink in the back from which he has not yet recovered.—Guide.

ORMSBY.

The Ormsbee and Emily Councils are to have a meeting for the purpose of arranging for the purchase of land for an agricultural show ground.

KICKED BY A HORSE. On Wednesday morning early, Mr. James Johnston, who lives a short distance north of Ormsbee, was severely kicked while attending his horses. Four ribs were broken, a bad cut inflicted on the side of the head and the left hand and shoulder badly bruised.

The Herald says:—In the year 1846 Mr. Robert Grandy, of Ormsbee, was appointed Postmaster for this village and has since then given entire satisfaction, and in 1869 he was appointed clerk for the township of Emily, and since then has performed the duties of that office in an able and straightforward manner.

ANOTHER KICK.—On Wednesday last, as Mr. J. S. Campbell was driving from Downeyville, the horse took fright and ran away. Mr. Campbell held on to the lines, when the shafts broke he was pulled out over the dashboard and received a most severe kick from the horse on the right jaw which inflicted an ugly gash about an inch and a half long, and very deep.

LINDSAY.

Whooping cough has prevailed in town for some time, and has taken in some cases a virulent turn. In one family two little ones have died lately, and three others in three different families have passed away.

THE CENTRAL EXHIBITION.—A meeting of the executive committee of the central exhibition was held in the town hall Friday afternoon last for the purpose of winding up the business for the year. The meeting was very well attended, there being representatives from each of the different ridings. After the reception of a number of communications in reference to awards of prizes, Mr. Keith, the treasurer, presented his financial statement, shewing the number of tickets sold and the amount of money received, which was $2,400.85. It was moved by Mr. Westington, seconded by Mr. Porter, that the secretary be instructed to communicate with the secretaries of East Northumberland and East Peterborough agricultural societies offering them terms of union whereby they may unite with the central association the ensuing year, also to send delegates to the next annual meeting. The meeting then adjourned. It was understood before closing there would be a deficit of about $325.

THE WOODEN WARE FACTORY. The Post says:—The proposition of Mr. Fuller for the establishment of a woodenware factory in this town, is feasible and reasonable. The bonus will, we are confident, be granted after due consideration; and we are equally confident that the local capital required will be subscribed. The project is deserving cordial support, as far as we are able to judge at present, and we trust it will get the desired support. At a meeting of the committee to whom the matter was referred, Mr. Fuller said the factory he proposed to run would employ about fifty hands; thirty-five men and fifteen boys. The pay list would foot up to something like $400 per week. After a lengthy discussion a satisfactory arrangement was arrived at and the following resolution put and carried. Mr. D. J. McIntyre moved, seconded by Mr. W. Grace, that the proposition of Mr. Fuller that the town of Lindsay should give a bonus of $5,000, that stock be subscribed to the extent of $15,000, and that Mr. Fuller put in his patents at $10,000, and cash amounting to $5,000, to form the capital stock of a company to manufacture wooden ware in the town of Lindsay, meets with the approbation of the committee, and that they think it advisable to issue a prospectus and stock list, and call a public meeting to discuss the matter and recommend the scheme to the ratepayers of the town and those who may be expected to subscribe the necessary stock.

BULMER RELEASED.

HIS SENTENCE OF IMPRISONMENT CANCELLED THROUGH A TECHNICALITY.

MONTREAL, Nov. 18. A short time ago William Bulmer was convicted of a murderous assault upon Benjamin Plow. The latter was shot at and narrowly escaped death, after a desperate struggle with his assailant. Bulmer was sentenced to gaol for a term of years, but his counsel made a reserve case out of a flaw in the indictment, because the words "falsely, maliciously," etc., had been left out of the indictment. The same gentlemen who had given a decision in the Orange case were unanimous in quashing the prisoner's conviction. Thus, because the Crown prosecutor, Mr. C. P. Davidson, was careless enough to leave out these words a would be murderer walks out of the gaol door unpunished for his crime. One hardly knows upon which to bestow censure—the Crown prosecutor who omitted the words, or the judges who thus gave the incentive to fresh legal quibbling. His Honour Judge Baby, the most recent comer on the bench, chafed considerably at the decision of his confreres. He said it went against his wishes to concur in such a judgment; such legal quibbles were in his opinion absolute rubbish, and should be so treated.

THE MOST JUVENILE OF WIVES.

Hindoo girls, says the St. James' Gazette, are taught to think of marriage almost as soon as they talk; indeed, they are often contracted in marriage at 10 years of age and go to live with their husbands at 12 or 13. Before this, at the age of 5, they are taught to propitiate the gods in order to secure a good husband and their little minds are distracted by the idea of what a model husband ought to be. The orthodox conception is a husband like the god Siva, who was holy, austere, advanced in years and faithful and devoted to one wife, the goddess Doorga. Good little girls revolt at the idea of a husband marrying a second wife while the first is alive, and will consequently confess their anxiety to marry a faithful spouse like Siva; and they learn from their elders to utter the most vindictive curses against a rival wife. But for all that, Krishna is the idol of Hindoo woman and he was anything but faithful to one wife. He not only kicked over milk pans and ran away with the clothes of milkmaids when they went to bathe, but he danced and flirted with other men's wives, eloped with royal damsels and married an infinite number of beautiful women.

RESPECT.—The Grey Hairs of old age demand and should receive respect—but the Grey Hairs of young people require attention—in the way of using Gingalese Hair Renewer. Sold at 50 cents per bottle. 47-ly

AUTOMATIC GAS EXTINGUISHER.

Daniel Davis, of Iowa City, has patented an automatic gas extinguisher which is destined to be of vast service to gas companies. Its operation is thus described:

On the inside of each street lamp is fastened close to the burner a small round can, partially filled with a non-freezing liquid. A short tube connects with the main gas pipe, and extrudes above the liquid. Covering the can is a lid with a deep rim, which enters into the liquid, and fits loosely, so that it can be raised or depressed by the pressure of the gas. Upon the cover is a small horizontal and flexible bar, which connects with an arm firmly fastened to the ordinary cock used to turn gas on and off, and having attached to it a small iron ball. The arm is raised by turning the cock to let on the gas for the purpose of lighting it, and is held in position in an indentation in the bar. Remains of the pressure of the gas against the cover of the can. By partially turning off and decreasing the pressure of the gas at the works, the cover sinks, the alarm is released from its catch, and the iron ball falls, turns the cock and completely shuts off the gas so far as the street lamps are concerned. The gas at the lamps can then be turned on to its full pressure for use in private and other buildings. If it is desired to extinguish part of the street lamps here, the leave other street lamps burn, the cover can be adjusted, by a screw for the purpose, that the arm will fall at a certain decrease in the pressure of the gas without affecting the extinguishers in other lamps, that will be affected later by a somewhat greater decrease of pressure, whereby the lamp will be put out at the desired time.

"You want to know, do you, young man," said the old man, "why it is that with all your management, you can't live on your salary and are always in debt at the end of the year? Well, I'll tell you, Telemachus, why it is, and it won't cost you a dollar for the information. It's because you're trying to have a 1200 time on a $900 salary, and it can't be did. Older men than you have tried and failed right along. A $900 boarding house and a $300 livery stable just exactly cuts the last coupon off your vanity and then how the man who makes your clothes expects to get anything out of you is more than you can tell him. Yours is a very simple case, my dear, and you can apply the remedies yourself and perform the necessary operation without the presence of a consulting physician. "Will it hurt? My poor boy, I mean bet your last bottom dollar that it will hurt. It will make you squirm three times and times a day until you get out of debt, and then you'll feel as though you were in Paradise. Begin treatment at once; the longer you wait the worse your case will be and the more you'll dread it.

PEOPLE TORMENTED by the many disagreeable sensations produced by dyspepsia are thin, nervous and weak, should use the standard tonic—Northrop & Lyman's Quinine Wine. They will find it agreeable and beneficial. It enriches the blood, aids digestion and assimilation; soothes the nerves, invigorates the nervous system, and imparts a healthful appetite. When used as a remedy for bilious and intermittent fevers it produces the happiest results. If taken during the attacks of Convalescence it hastens and unfailingly decay of the physical constitution is arrested by it. The generous constituent cherry wine, is of the finest quality, and the aromatic combination with it renders its flavor additionally pleasant. They who use it gain flesh as well as strength and it exerts a cheering influence upon the mind. It promotes a healthy secretion and flow of bile, sound repose and regularity in the action of the bowels. If judiciously used it may be taken without apprehension of any ill result by persons of the most delicate constitution. A fair trial is all that is needed to prove the genuineness of its claims to public confidence, and to the truth of the general verdict in its behalf. No article of its class commends itself so strongly to nervous invalids who require building, but none is so well adapted to fortify the stomach against the dangers which threaten the debilitated. It should not be mistaken for a mere stimulant of appetite, which some so-called tonics simply are. It so regulates the stomach that it is enabled to perform its various functions with regularity and ease, and its action is not only thorough but prompt. Ask for the "Quinine Wine of Northrop & Lyman." Sold by all druggists.

NOT THE SLIGHTEST AFFINITY exists between the nameless cough mixtures with which the market is flooded and that successful preparation—Northrop and Lyman's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda. It stands alone, distinct, itself and nothing else. It embodies the best results of pharmaceutical science. It accomplishes positive, decisive results, effectually relieving coughs when the lungs are not tuberculous or hopelessly affected, colds, larnygitis and diseases of a scrofulous origin. While it does not cure Consumption it is the most reliable means of defence against that dreadful scourge. The hypophosphites, the hypophosphites, supplying to the system the material required by the constant tear and wear of cough, while the paroxysms rapidly diminish in violence in consequence of the soothing emollient effect of the cod liver oil upon the inflamed membrane. The phosphates, lime and soda, in combination with it, are all natural components in the construction of the body, edifice, which, in a state of decay, indicate a sufficiency of those elements. Thus the hypophosphites supply, by increasing the nutritive properties of the blood, and building up and rehabilitating the wasting human structure with a degree of promptitude as astonishing as it is gratifying to the invalid. A perceptible gain in flesh as well as strength is one of the consequences of using this standard preparation, which both time and experience have demonstrated to be fully worthy of the confidence reposed in it. Prepared by NORTHROP & LYMAN, Toronto, and sold by all druggists.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with the excruciating pain of cutting teeth? If so, go at once and get a bottle of MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately—depend upon it: there is no mistake about it. There is not a mother on earth who has ever used it, who will not tell you at once that it will regulate the bowels, give rest to the mother, and relief and health to the child, operating like magic. It is perfectly safe to use in all cases, agreeable to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States. Sold everywhere at 25 cents a bottle.

TORONTO OIL COMPANY are sole manufacturers of Castorine Machine Oil. Infringements will be prosecuted. 1-1y.

'Guilty or not guilty?' asked a Dutch justice of a prisoner. 'Not guilty.' 'Den what do you want here? Go about your pisness.'

ASK YOUR DEALER for "Castorine Machine Oil," and see that the barrel is branded "Castorine," as none other is genuine. 1-1y

A newspaper, gushing over a recent painting, says: "In front stands a rustic maiden, wrapped in her own thoughts." The scene is laid in latitude 1 degree south.

USE "CASTORINE MACHINE OIL," for all kinds of machinery. It is also excellent for Harness and Leather, making it water and weather proof. For sale by dealers. 1-1y

A penny makes more noise in the contribution box than a five dollar bill, and the man who gives the penny usually makes more noise than the giver of the bill when it comes to say "amen" or voting on church management.

MANUFACTURERS of Reapers, Mowers and Threshing Machines prefer "Castorine Machine Oil" to any other. It will outwear Lard, Seal or Elephant, and is guranteed not to gum. 1-1y

An Irishman who had never slept on a feather pillow once got hold of a feather, and placed it on a rock, lay down with his head on it. "Be jabers," he growled, "if wan feather is as hard as that I wouldn't like to sleep on a bagful!"

USE THE celebrated "Lardine Oil" on your machinery. Best and cheapest oil in the market. Does not clog or gum. Has good heavy body and will not thin in summer. Sold in Peterborough by Messrs. McKee & Davidson; and in Lakefield by W. H. Casement. Try it and you will use no other. 28-52t

'Austin, Texas, has a female deputy sheriff, and when she tells a man she has an attachment for him, he don't know whether to blush and try to look sweet or to light out for the woods.

"Friendship," Cicero says, "is the only thing in the world concerning the use of which all mankind are agreed," but all writers agree that a good pen is a desideratum, and Esterbrook's will be found to be A1.

A shy Philadelphia girl, having a lover she was afraid wouldn't stick, covered her lips with glue and invited him to kiss her. Owing to the fact that she had previously posted her father when to pounce into the parlour, the plan worked admirably.

John Hays, Credit P. O., says:—"His shoulder was so lame for nine months that he could not raise his hand to his head, but by the use of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil the pain and lameness disappeared, and although three months has elapsed he has not had an attack of it since."

FREE OF CHARGE.—All persons suffering from Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice, or any affection of the Throat and Lungs are requested to call at Taylor & Macdonald's drug store and get a trial bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, free of charge which will convince them of its wonderful merits and show what a regular dollar-size bottle will do. Call early.

"How do you pronounce s-t-i-n-g-y?" Professor Stearns asked the young gentleman nearest the foot of the class. And a smart, bad boy stood up and said it depended a good deal whether the word applied to a man or a bee. Go to the head young fellow.

There is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the breathing organs. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil—a pulmonic of acknowledged efficacy. It cures lameness and soreness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back; and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claims to public confidence.

A darkey who was stopping to wash his hands in a creek, didn't notice the peculiar actions of a goat just behind him; so, when he scrambled out of the water and was asked how it happened, he answered: "I dunno 'zactly; but 'peared as if the shore kinder h'isted and frowed me."

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.—In these times of quack medicine advertisements everywhere, it is truly gratifying to find one remedy that is worthy of praise, and which really does as recommended. Electric Bitters we can vouch for as being a true and reliable remedy, and one that will do as recommended. They invariably cure Stomach and Liver Complaints, Diseases of the Kidneys and Urinary difficulties. We know whereof we speak, and can readily say, give them a trial. Sold at fifty cents a bottle, by Taylor & Macdonald, agents.

There is a young lady in Keokuk, Iowa, who is 6ft. 4in. tall, and she is engaged to be married. The man who won her did it in these words:—"Thy beauty sets my soul aglow—I'd wed thee right or wrong; man wants but little here below, but wants that little—long."

HONESTY.—It is commonly said that you cannot make an honest man believe that white is black and vice versa, but those who have grey hair, by using the "Cingalese Hair Renewer," will find that this apparent difficulty is overcome. For sale at 50 cents per bottle. 47-1y

A man who was reprimanded by a divine for swearing, replied that he did not see any harm in it. "No harm in it!" said the minister; "why, do you not know the Commandment, "Swear not at all?" "I do not swear at all," said the man, "I only swear at those who annoy me."

THE SADDEST OF SAD SIGHTS.—The grey hairs of age being brought with sorrow to the grave is now, we are glad to think, becoming rarer every year as the use of Cingalese Hair Restorer becomes more general. By its use the scanty locks of age once more resume their former color and the hair becomes thick and luxuriant as ever; with its aid we can now defy the change of years, resting assured that no Grey Hair at any rate will come to sadden us. Sold at 50 cents per bottle. 47-1y

"Just keep your bottle of whiskey in your closet and when the girls bring you your hot shaving water in the morning, you can mix your toddy quickly, and not a soul will know a thing about it." said the M. D. The plan worked well until the old man's daughter thought he must be going insane because he wanted to shave five or six times every day.

A PUBLIC MEETING should be called of the citizens of every city, town and village in the Dominion, to consider what should be done to prevent the hair from turning Grey—and falling out. If this important question received their earnest consideration they would unanimously decide that science had at last discovered something that would answer this purpose—and furthermore would recommend Cingalese Hair Renewer as being this something for restoring the hair to its natural color, and prevent its falling out. 50 cents per bottle. 47-1y

MALTOPEPSYN.

(REGISTERED AT OTTAWA.)

AN ARTIFICIAL GASTRIC JUICE.

This is not a patent medicine(secret remedy,) the formula is printed on the label attached to each bottle.

MALTOPEPSYN cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Intestinal and Wasting diseases, Constipation, Nausea, Chronic Diarrhœa, Cholera Infantum, and most of infants troubles, which generally arise from the stomach.

50 CENTS FOR 48 DOSES, OR ABOUT 1 CENT PER DOSE.

Regular-sized bottles containing ¼ ozs., with dose-measure attached, 50 cents, for sale by all Chemists throughout the Dominion.

Avoid taking Liquids of any sort, more than is absolutely necessary to quench thirst, as the excessive use of liquids is the cause of half the Dyspepsia in the world. Maltopepsyn is a powder, agreeable and easily taken, supplies to the stomach the actual Gastric Juice.

Prescribed by the leading Physicians throughout the Dominion, in their regular practice. Maltopepsyn is also used to a large extent in Hospitals, Dispensaries and Infirmaries.

SPECIMENS OF TESTIMONIALS RECEIVED FROM PHYSICIANS.

WALLACE, N. S., Oct. 4, 1880.
"The Maltopepsyn was given in a marked and distressing case of Indigestion with the most rapid, pleasing and beneficial results." Z. W. KEMPTON, M. D.

ATHLONE, ONT., Jan. 20, 1880.
"The Maltopepsyn I obtained from you has far more than answered my anticipations. Having tried it in two old and very obstinate cases of indigestion, I found it to act like a charm." C. McKENNA, M. D.

CAMARAY, ONT., Jan., 1881.
"I have used your Maltopepsyn in severe cases of Indigestion and Malnutrition in adults, and Diarrhœa of children, and am so well pleased with the results that I have instructed my druggist to keep a supply on hand." T. W. READE, M. D.

ATHLONE, ONT., Dec. 29, 1880.
"After giving your Maltopepsyn a trial in some of my worst cases, for which it was recommended, I am well pleased with the way in which it acts. Continue to make a good article like that now in use, and it will be a universal favorite." R. HAMILTON, M. D.

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries.

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes o adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

MANHOOD

How Lost! How Restored!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediment to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

BOWLING ALLEY.—The Lacrosse Club's bowling alley and gymnasium was opened on Monday evening, and from the very lively interest being taken in it there is every prospect of a liberal patronage from both members of the Club and friends.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH S. S. CONCERT.—If you wish to spend a pleasant evening do not fail to attend the concert and entertainment this evening in Bradburn's Hall, in aid of the building fund of St. John's Church Sunday School. An interesting programme is promised.

I. ROBINSON & Co. have just received a large stock of Buffalo, Japanese, Wolf, White Polar and Jet Black Polar Sleigh Robes. Also a lot of plush and India Rubber Carriage Rugs, at very low prices. 45-tf

LEGAL.—We have pleasure in extending our congratulations to Messrs. E. A. Peck, F. A. Hilton and H. B. Weller, who a few days ago passed successful examinations in law, the first-named for Barrister and Solicitor, and the latter two for Barristers.

EVERYONE in want of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods, Ready-made Clothing, Boots and Shoes, Groceries or Crockery, should see the large assortment of new, fresh and sound goods, sold at the most reasonable prices by W. J. Wallace, Lakefield. 45-tf.

PINK-EYE.—The Lindsay Post says:—Several farmers have cured their horses of pink-eye by a very simple remedy. To a pail of bran mash add about half an ounce of boneset, and continue feeding the same a short time until the horse recovers his appetite.

HARPER'S MONTHLY.—This king of the magazines still maintains its superiority. The December number is to hand, and its illustrations are a marvel of beauty, while its literary contents are fully up to the demands of the most exacting readers. Get a copy at the bookstores.

ST. ANDREW'S SERMON. Rev. Mr. Torrance, of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, will preach the annual sermon to the members of the St. Andrew's Society, next Sunday evening, 27th inst. A special collection, in aid of the funds of the society, will be taken up.

BRO. Barr, of the Lindsay Post, has abandoned the idea of a county directory for Victoria. He says:—The Post county directory, like that proposed by the Peterborough Review, was based on the N.P., and like that humbug failed entirely to "git around" these parts.

ADMITTED TO PARTNERSHIP.—Dr. Kincaid has admitted to partnership Dr. Alexander, of Ottawa, a gentleman of experience and practice and a graduate of Queen's College, Kingston, and a member of the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons. The new firm has our best wishes for its success.

TO STAMMERERS. The stammerer's friend will be in Peterborough the coming week, where he will remain for a few days to treat those who may be troubled with any defects in speech. All are invited to call and consult him. Consultation free. Rich and poor welcomed. No cure no pay. 43

TO OUR ADVERTISERS.—We have repeatedly drawn the attention of our advertisers to the necessity of changes for contract advertisements being handed in before publication day. To ensure changes either the copy must be handed in or notice of a change given by Tuesday at noon. Our patrons would confer a favor upon us, as well as avoid disappointment themselves, by remembering this.

MORTON'S QUARTERLY ADVERTISER. This is the title of a neat little sheet issued by Mr. H. Morton, jeweller, &c., of Hastings, for free distribution. As its title denotes it is an advertising sheet; but so arranged that its contents are interesting, spicy and newsy. It is published at the office of the Hastings Star, and reflects credit on that establishment.

FASHIONABLE ROUND DANCES.—A society paper announces the following as the fashionable round dances for the present season:—"The New Society Glide," "Diagonal Glide Waltz," "Waltz du Temps" and "The Glazzidio." The latest quadrilles are:—"La Boulevard" and "The Fashion." The diagonal is the only genuine glide waltz.

FURNACES FOR MILL REFUSE.—Mr. Wm. Hamilton has recently shipped to Port Severn and Byng Inlet two mill refuse furnaces, of plate-iron lined with fire brick. They are from 20 to 30 feet in diameter at the base, and from 100 to 120 feet high. He is finishing another similar one for Waubaushene, and has an order for a much larger one for Gilmour's new mill at Trenton.

AUCTION SALE OF FURS.—The whole of Messrs. Fairweather & Co's stock of furs and fancy sleigh and buffalo robes are now being offered for sale at greatly reduced prices, by private sale during the day and by auction each evening. Bargains may be looked for, as the stock must be closed out during the next few weeks. Remember the place—James Delaney's Old Stand, George street.

Attention is directed to the advertisement of Mr. G. S. Ryerson, Oculist and Aurist in the Toronto General Hospital, in another column. This gentleman ranks high in his profession and has visited this town on several occasions, and has successfully treated some very severe cases while here. Any person afflicted with affections of the Eye, Ear or Throat, should not fail to call on him at the Oriental, on the 17th December.

WARWICK'S PUBLICATIONS.—These favorite periodicals are again on our desk, and as usual brimful of interesting and profitable reading. They comprise Sunday at Home, Leisure Hour, Girls' Own Paper and Boys' Own Paper, and can be had through any of our booksellers, or clubbed with the EXAMINER. They should find a place in every family, as they are really a credit to Canadian enterprise, and deserve a very liberal support.

LITERARY ASSOCIATION.—The regular meeting of this Society was held in the Mechanics' Institute last Monday. There were twelve members present. After the usual preliminary business, the President, Mr. N. D. Beck delivered his inaugural address, after which Mr. G. W. Hatton took the chair. A spirited reading entitled "A Reply to Mr. Gorry" was then given by Mr. T. B. Braden. The question "Is the action of the British Government as regards the arrest of Parnell to be approbated" was eloquently debated by Messrs. Hourigan and Eastwood, for the affirmative, and Messrs. Orr and Henry, for the negative. The question, on being left to the meeting, was decided in favour of the affirmative. On motion the meeting adjourned. A full attendance of members is requested for the next meeting as unusually interesting proceedings are expected.

HYMENEAL.—On Wednesday morning last, St. Peter's Church was the centre of attraction for a large number of the friends of the interested parties, the occasion being the marriage of Mr. John Regan, of Chandos, to Miss M. A. Kelly, youngest daughter of the late Patrick Kelly, and sister of Councillor Kelly, of this town. The Rev. Mr. Chicolari officiated. The bride was the recipient of a large number of handsome and costly presents. The happy couple took the evening train for an eastern trip. We wish them every happiness.

A SENSIBLE IDEA.—In order to avoid the crushing and crowding always prevailing on market days under the verandah around the Market House, the market committee, at their last meeting, decided that all the benches, etc. are to be removed to the old Town Hall over the butcher's stalls, where ample accommodation will be made for those offering butter, eggs, poultry, etc. The Market Clerk has received positive orders that all those having these commodities for sale, must go up stairs. This is a move in the right direction, for while it will do away with much of the crowding around the market building, it will be much more comfortable for both buyer and seller.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Duncan Drummond, of Otonabee, died suddenly on Tuesday morning, at his residence in Keene. He had been somewhat ailing for two or three days, but not considered seriously so; on Tuesday morning about six o'clock, he rose in his usual way, and after starting a fire, his daughter who lived with him heard a noise and proceeding to the place found him lying on the floor. She ran to a neighbor's for aid, but when she returned, he was just expiring. Mr. Drummond was a native of Perthshire, Scotland. He settled in Otonabee in 1829, where he resided until his decease at the age of 73 years. He was esteemed for his sterling character in all his relations as parent and as a citizen, and was always found generous, trustworthy and liberal in politics, as well as his religious associations. He leaves four sons and six daughters, all comfortably situated in life, and noted for inheriting the sterling traits of their deceased father.

BRIEFLETS.—There have been sixty-two appeals made against the Voters' List for 1881, chiefly in cases where parties have moved since the assessment has been made.....A special meeting of the Town Council will be held on Monday evening next.....Mr. John Braden has been engaged to teach the Mechanics' Institute Classes in commercial arithmetic and bookkeeping, and Mr. W. H. Trout in mechanical drawing.....Frank Taggart, a youth employed at Hall Bros'. Confectionery Works, had his fingers badly jammed last Wednesday night in the machinery.....Mrs. Robert Darling, while on her way to church, on Sunday morning, slipped and fell on the sidewalk, breaking her left arm. Dr. Kincaid was called in, and she is progressing as favorably as can be expected.....Mr. Andrew Armstrong, of Otonabee, received serious injuries on Saturday evening while returning home from town. His horses ran away when near Downer's Corners, and he was thrown out of the waggon and dragged a considerable distance on the ground, before the lines, which were twisted around his feet, broke.

HAMILTON'S AGRICULTURAL WORKS.—The march of progess is visible at the agricultural works of Mr. Peter Hamilton, of this town, where a very large addition is being erected to his already spacious buildings. Annually, for years past, the enterprising proprietor has found it necessary, in order to keep pace with the requirements of his steadily increasing business, to extend his facilities so that he might be enabled to meet the increased demands which are being made upon him each season. From comparatively small dimensions this industry of the town has grown till now it has assumed proportions which may well draw forth exclamations of surprise from those who remember its dimensions when the present proprietor took control of it. And we may ask, why should not this be the case? Hamilton's implements are known in every section of Eastern Ontario, and especially in the Midland Counties it would be difficult to find a farmer who is not using more or less of them. In fact the universal satisfaction which they are giving have almost left him sole master of the situation, as we venture to say western manufacturers and their agents do not now sell one machine where they formerly sold ten. It must be as gratifying to Mr. Hamilton to see that his efforts to provide the husbandman with the best and latest improved implements are being duly appreciated, as his yearly increasing sales testify, as it is a pleasure to the citizens of Peterborough to know that they have among them a manufacturer of such enterprise, ability and business capacity.

A CHEEKY TRAMP.—Quite an interesting adventure occurred to a family living on Charlotte street last Saturday night. Shortly before retiring a noise was heard as of some one opening the hall door, and the lady of the house, with a lamp in hand, proceeded to investigate the cause of the noise, thinking, perhaps, as the house is situated close to the sidewalk some one had entered. Closely examining the hall as she proceeded, nothing was noticed, and to further satisfy herself she made an inspection of the parlour, but with like result. Returning, she locked both parlor and hall doors, making the remark that "if any one was there they were locked in." All retired as usual and nothing more occurred to attract attention until between five and six o'clock on Sunday morning, when the lady was awakened by some one turning the knob of a door leading from the parlor to the bedroom, but which, being seldom used, is kept locked. She immediately awoke her husband, who called out, "Who's there?" but no answer being given, and hearing no further noise, he commenced to chaff her, attributing her scare to a dream. However, upon rising in the morning the hall door was found wide open, the parlor door also open, and traces of snow off the intruder's feet appeared on the carpet and sofa, where apparently their nocturnal visitor had quietly stowed himself away during the night, having evidently hid himself in an unoccupied room on the opposite side of the hall during the time the search had been made the previous night. The sensation experienced by the female portion of the household upon realizing the state of affairs can be better imagined than described. As nothing has been missed, it is supposed their visitor was some tramp who had taken this course to secure lodgings for the night. It would be well for those living close to the streets to keep their doors locked, as all of those travelling gentry may not turn out to be as honest as this one.

PERSONALS.

We are glad to hear that the health of Hon. C. F. Fraser is nearly fully restored, and that he has returned from New York.

Lieutenant-Col. Nathaniel Higinbotham, of Guelph, has been appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council to the Registrarship of the South Riding of Wellington, made vacant by the death of Captain Prince. Col. Higinbotham has resided in the county for nearly a quarter of a century, and has been intimately connected with it in many public capacities. He represented the North Riding in the last Dominion Parliament.

Mr. R. Romaine, of the Parliamentary stationery department, who recently went to Montreal to inspect a quantity of Government stationery which had been damaged by salt water while in transit on the steamer Grecian, has returned and reports the damage much slighter than was expected. Only fourteen cases out of twenty-seven were wet, and as they are tin-lined it is supposed that the contents have received but slight damage. The contents will be examined by two experts to determine the extent of the injury.

We had the pleasure of a call on Tuesday from Mr. T. P. Murray, one of Winnipeg's leading citizens, who is in town visiting friends whom he had met in Winnipeg during the past summer. Mr. Murray is a genial fellow, possessed of sufficient shrewdness and business capacity to make a large business for himself in that city. His visit to Ontario at the present time is to show those of the people of Ontario who have not been West the samples of grain that Manitoba produces. This is an enterprise of his own, having received no assistance from either the Dominion Government or the Provincial Legislature of Manitoba, and his enterprise deserves the thanks of the people of the Province. The expense entailed in making an exhibition of this kind is great, and the effort of this gentleman should be appreciated by all.

OUR TORONTO LETTER.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

TORONTO, Nov. 28.

THE CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION.

The Conservative convention and banquet have been the great stir of the week in town. It is easy to understand the banquet, but now that the convention is over everybody would like to know what it was for if not to secure a good attendance at the banquet. There was something so mysterious about the announcement beforehand that everybody expected a bolt out of the flue of some sort, and when the convention dispersed without doing anything except pass a few commonplace resolutions prepared by Mr. Plumb and Mr. Thomas White there was a sinking disposition on the part of even Conservatives to laugh at the whole affair. Many were prepared to have it announced that Sir John intended to dissolve Parliament immediately, on the chance of securing, under the present favorable circumstances, a snap verdict in favour of the N. P., and an endorsation of the Pacific Railway contract. Had he forced on a general election just now without holding another session he would probably have embarrassed the Liberals if not defeated them. But, if he ever thought of such a thing he was unable either to bring his own courage up to the sticking point or to bring his followers to agree to a measure which would certainly extinguish many of them. Nothing can be more certain than that a large number of the constituencies at present represented by supporters of Sir John will change their political complexion when they get a chance to do so, and it is natural that the present incumbents should dislike the idea of losing their position and allowances for even a single session, not to say two.

FEELING AMONGST LIBERALS.

But if the convention has done no good to the party which held it, it certainly has served a good purpose in arousing their opponents. Had the announcement been made that there would be a general election within a few weeks there would have been a sudden springing to arms on the part of the opponents of the Government, and as such an announcement was amongst the possibilities, if not the probabilities, the mere holding of the convention has naturally had the effect of acting as a spur to the Liberal party in the matter of selecting candidates and perfecting organization. Nor is the movement confined to Toronto. Here, owing to the special date for taking our municipal assessment, we are just entering on the work of revising voters' lists, and the effect of the recent Conservative gathering will be to make the opponents no less than the supporters of the Government, eager to make as large preliminary gains as possible in this connection. Politically, Sir John's advice to his followers may be summed up in these two precepts. "organise" and "get the lists properly fixed," and as the proceedings of the convention has been published, Liberals, as well as Conservatives, can see what the trump cards are on which he is depending. It will be their own fault now if they are caught unprepared when the election does come, whether that be in 1882 or 1883.

CITY SINS AND SORROWS.

A good deal of space has been taken up this last week in the city papers by a discussion of some unpleasant but almost irrepressible social topics. That there are in Toronto a very large number of females who live by prostitution has long been known. A few years ago Mr. John Macdonald, a gentleman whose motives no one, who knows anything of him, will for a moment question, paid visits to a number of their houses and reported what he saw, and how the miserable inmates lived. A few months ago the Mail entered on a crusade against these same houses for the purpose of forcing the authorities to take more vigorous action for their suppression. More recently a number of clergymen and prominent laymen have entered into a movement which bids fair to turn out anything but spasmodic. A convention was called by circular to meet at Shaftesbury Hall, and some very plain speaking was indulged in by a few of those who attended. The intention was to have the proceedings kept from the newspaper readers; but one journal had a pretty full report, and another has since taken up much of its space with interviews on the subject, in the course of which a great deal of information has been given to the public. There is a prevailing impression that the police authorities are not enough in earnest in their attempts to suppress the nuisance and that they are abetted in this position by the "respectable" men who support it. So strong is this feeling, that I would not be surprised to see it lead to some change in the law or else in the personnel of the staff of officials who administer it. It is well known that some members of the police force maintain strenuously their ability to banish the majority of the prostitutes who now plant their vile trade in the face of the public if they were not hampered by their superiors. These latter will now have to assume the defensive and the chances are that if they do not turn over a new leaf their places, will become too hot to hold them.

PAUPERISM.

Owing to causes which I do not pretend here to analyse, living in Toronto has become within the last few months very much dearer than it was last year, and merchants candidly intimate that goods are likely to go up before they come down in price. When there is such keen competition, as there is here, in all branches of trade, the rise in prices cannot be due to local causes, and we in Toronto wonder whether the same tidal wave is noticed elsewhere. Meat, bread, cotton, woollens, fuel and a host of other necessaries of life have run up at least 20 per cent., and unfortunately, though people are more generally employed then they were last winter, there has been no such increase in either the amount of work or the wages earned. There will be much suffering in the city this winter, and already steps have been taken by a few benevolent persons to institute a series of Sunday breakfasts. Other entertainments of a similar kind will have to follow, if the present very bad condition of a large number of people is to be relieved.

TRENTON is to have a park. Mount Pelion, which lifts its emerald peak above the steeples of the town, and upon which nature has lavished many attractions, is being laid out with walks and drives and planted with trees. What about our Park?

NORWOOD.

"Crowner's" Inquest—Our Schools—Municipal—The "Examiner"—Deer Hunting—Personals—New Teacher.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

"CROWNER'S" INQUEST.

A "crowner's" inquest was held upon body of the late "Rusher"—the animal who proved so productive to its late owner—the jury being composed of a lot of hungry and dejected crows. After a lengthy consultation they came to the conclusion—"That as the animal had been given nothing to eat when alive, it had nothing to give to eat when dead." This was certainly a crow-ning victory for the "Rusher."

OUR SCHOOLS.

Our High and Public Schools, since their opening, have never been in such a flourishing condition, nor have ever the staff of teachers given such satisfaction both to the pupil and public. The attendance at the High School for the year has been very gratifying indeed, and the success in its different departments unprecedented. Mr. McKay, the Principal, is highly qualified for the position, and is assiduous in his efforts to forward the educational interests of those under his charge. He enjoys thoroughly the confidence and respect of all, consequently there is the utmost harmony and good feeling in the School. The other teachers are also well up in their work, and discharge their onerous duties with the utmost efficiency, and, I might say, without resorting to that sad system of "cramming" which prevails to a large extent in some of our schools, and which has a vast prejudical effect upon the young pupil. At a recent meeting of the Norwood Board of School Trustees, so well pleased were they with the progress of all the departments of both schools, they raised the salaries of all the teachers. No doubt a sufficient guarantee that the work of the teachers is satisfactorily performed.

MUNICIPAL.

The candidates for municipal honors are cropping up; but the desire to fill the dignified position of a village Councillor does not seem to be an ardent one. Our present dignitaries seemingly have not given general satisfaction. What body of Councillors ever did? And surely there cannot be any exception made to the gentlemen who now occupy the civic benches here. From present indications it seems probable that nearly all our present Councillors will receive the "grand bounce" in January next, and I think they care very little about being bounced.

THE "EXAMINER" ADVERTISEMENTS.

The advertisement of Munro & Alexander in your last issue has been universally commented on. Its neat and attractive typographical appearance has drawn a large amount of public attention. The splendid assortment of type used, the striking and remarkably pretty arrangement of the display lines, and the thoroughly practical method of the general get-up of the advertisement, speak volumes for the resources of the EXAMINER establishment. There is no doubt an advertisement of this kind must prove highly remunerative to the business-like firm of Munro & Alexander.

DEER HUNTING.

Deer hunting is at a standstill here, as our hunters unfortunately have not proved a success in the field. The two last campaigns were remarkably unproductive, resulting only in a catch of one buck. Considering the fact that well-trained pointers and newly-improved breech-loading guns were brought into requisition this result is far from encouraging. A small party from the front have sent home as much as fifteen deer at one time, and other parties from a distance have forwarded batches of eight and ten. Why the Norwood party of nine, during a campaign of three days, bagged nary a deer is beyond the comprehension of our people. However, the Norwoodites have been reconciled to the fact that the last campaign produced one buck. The deer this year have been very plentiful in our vicinity, quite a few having been seen on the roads quite close to the village.

PERSONALS.

Mr. Fred. Nicoll, only son of our respected townsman, Mr. Wm. Nicoll, left for Dakota last week to pay a lengthy visit to an uncle residing there. Fred. intends to make a good use of his time and see for himself the productiveness of the far-famed West.

Mr. Thos. Drain, youngest son of Mr. Hugh Drain, of Asphodel, who left for Manitoba a short time since, has already commenced speculating in the Prairie Province. He writes home that he has purchased a number of well-located lots in Portage La Prairie, and intends buying more. He says that he can double his money on them in another year. Mr. Drain has another son in that vicinity rapidly accumulating wealth.

NEW TEACHER.

Miss Emma Waters, eldest daughter of Mr. R. Waters, of this village, has been appointed teacher in the Primary Department of the Public School, in the place of Miss Anderson, who has been promoted to the next department of that School, now taught by Miss Keele, of Peterborough, who has resigned. Miss Waters, as a teacher, has given the utmost satisfaction in the school she had charge of in School Section 7, Asphodel, so much so that the Trustees offered to increase her salary as an inducement to remain with them.

THE LAND COURT'S BUSINESS.—The business of the Irish Land Court still increases, and there are now 45,000 applications before it for the reduction of rent. There is at present no general strike against the payment of rent, but it is said that in many cases tenants refuse to pay unless reductions are made. The quiet has been so general that the government has relaxed some of the precautious before deemed necessary, but the fire is apparently yet smouldering and ready to break out. Serious agrarian outrages are reported in this morning's despatches, and the mysterious "Captain Moonlight" occasionlly walks abroad.

TRUE TO HER TRUST.—Too much cannot be said of the ever-faithful wife and mother, constantly watching and caring for her dear ones, never neglecting a single duty in their behalf. When they are assailed by disease, and the system should have a thorough cleansing, the stomach and bowels regulated, blood purified, malarial poison exterminated, she must know that Electric Bitters are the only sure remedy. They are the best and purest medicine in the world, and only cost fifty cents. Taylor and Macdonald, agents.

NEWS FROM ALL OVER.

The hotel keepers of Guelph are making a move to raise the price of liquor from 5 to 10 cents a glass.

And now Montreal is to make a move in the direction of securing the Pacific Railway workshops. Ald. Grenier is to bring the matter before the Finance Committee of the City Council this afternoon.

Thomas Slight, a sober, industrious farmer, living in the Township of Gwillimbury, was murdered on his way home on Thursday night last. On that day he went to Barrie with a load of produce, which he sold, and the proceeds and money for cheques which he cashed, amounting to $100, he had with him when he started for home about 7 p. m.

The Orange Young Britons of Ottawa have adopted resolutions to secede from the Grand Lodge of Canada on account of the action of the latter society at the convention held in Toronto, changing the name to Protestant Benevolent Association, without consulting the outer branches. Steps have been taken to organise a Grand Lodge to be called the "Young Britons' Grand Lodge."

THE MURDOCH CASE.—The terms of the order made in this husband and wife case were settled by Mr. Justice Osler yesterday. The father is to have access to the infant, Maud, twice a week; on Wednesday from 2 to 5 p. m., and on Sunday from 10 to 12 a. m. This is the end of this lamentable business, so far as is known.

A CHEAPLY CONDUCTED CITY. St. Thomas, according to a local paper, is the cheapest conducted city, in so far as salaried officers are concerned, in Canada. The following is a list of the officials: Police Magistrate, $1,200; City Clerk, $600; Treasurer, $350; Assessor-Collector, $400; Police Force—Chief, Sergeant and two men—$1,750; Engineer, $400; Auditors, $30; Sanitary Inspector, etc., $200; total, $4,930.

CHOKED TO DEATH.—A very melancholy accident occured in the towhship of Pickering, resulting in the death of a young woman named McIntosh, about twenty years of age. It appears that she has been in the habit of getting behind a roller towel and throwing it over head, and must have been committing the same act at the time of the accident. It is supposed she fell and was strangled to death. She was found by her uncle when he went to dinner.

An idea may be gained of the loss inflicted upon the Dominion by bush fires when it is stated that the Ottawa valley alone has suffered to the amount of five million dollars during the past summer, the total loss in Ontario being placed all the way from ten million to fifteen million dollars, while the average annual loss is estimated at one million dollars. With such appalling figures before them it behoves both the legislators amd people of the country to devise ways and means for arresting this great drain upon our national resources.

THE SADDEST OF SAD SIGHTS.—The grey hairs of age being brought with sorrow to the grave is now, we are glad to think, becoming rarer every year as the use of Cingalese Hair Restorer becomes more general. By its use the sounty locks of age once more resume their former color and the hair becomes thick and luxuriant as ever; with its aid we can now defy the change of years, resting assured that no Grey Hair at any rate will come to sadden us. Sold at 50 cents per bottle. 47-1y

The Bank of Prince Edward Island, doing business at Charlottetown, has been brought to grief through the conduct of the cashier, Mr. J. R. Brecken. He, it seems, left the Island on the 21st inst., and instead of returning at the intended date, sent letters to his wife in which he admitted making unauthorized advances. An investigation showed these advances amounted to $600,000, and the bank suspended payment on Monday morning. There are $294,000 due other banks abroad, and $386,000 in circulation in notes. Of assets the specie amounts to $36,000, and bills receivable $160,000, miscellaneous assets unknown.

A PUBLIC MEETING should be called of the citizens of every city, town and village in the Dominion, to consider what should be done to prevent the hair from turning Grey—and falling out. If this important question received their earnest consideration they would unanimously decide that science had at last discovered something that would answer this purpose—and furthermore would recommend Cingalese Hair Renewer as being this something for restoring the hair to its natural color, and prevent its falling out. 50 cents per bottle. 47-1y

A REFORM DESIRED.—Chief Cummings, of St. Catharines, Chief Williams, of London, and Chief Stewart, of Hamilton, intend waiting on the Attorney-General at an early date in reference to some points in the administration of justice, as connected with the departments of police, which, in the opinion of the Chief Constables' Association, requires alteration. At the same time, Chief McKinnon, of Belleville, Sherwood, of Ottawa, and Paradis, of Montreal, will wait on the Minister of Justice at Ottawa on the same business.

BRILLIANT SCIENTIFIC TRIUMPH.—Thousands cured of catarrh, bronchitis, asthma and lung disease by Dr. M. Souvielle's Spirometer, an instrument which conveys medical properties direct to the parts affected. These wonderful instruments are used in all first-class hospitals, and prescribed by leading physicians. Full directions for treatment sent by letter, and instruments expressed to any address. It is only since Souviele's invention that lung diseases are no longer feared until their very last stage. Write for particulars to M. Souvielle, ex-Aide Surgeon of the French Army, 13 Phillips Square, Montreal. All letters must contain stamp for reply. 48-1y

CURE FOR A FELON.—The following is recommended as a cure for a felon: When a finger pricks as though there was a thorn in it, and throbs intolerably when held downward, and yet there is no external sign of mischief, the probabilities are that a felon is in prospect. Go at once to the butcher's and procure some of the spinal marrow of a beef creature. Take a piece, say about two inches in length, and having cut it open lengthwise, wrap around the affected finger, covering it, of course, with cloth. In a few hours change the piece of marrow for a fresh one, and continue to keep the finger encased until all the pain has ceased and there is no discomfort when the marrow is removed. The finger will look strangely white and porous but the cure is complete. This remedy ought to become professional. It is vastly better than the surgeon's knife and more effectual.

Selection of Clerks by Merit.

At a late meeting of the Merchants' Club, in Boston, the Right Honorable Lyon Playfair, Deputy-Speaker of the House of Commons, made a very clear and admirable statement of the English civil service system, which is well worthy the attention of those who honestly think that selection of Government clerks by merit instead of patronage is a pedantic and impracticable fancy. On the contrary, it secures not only the most efficient service, but self-respect in the incumbents, who feel that they owe their positions to proved qualification and not to personal favor. "Practically," says Mr. Playfair, "except in one or two offices, patronage "has ceased to exist in the English civil "service. In the last Ministry I was "Postmaster-General, and nominally had "between forty and fifty thousand ap"pointments in my gift. In reality I "had not one. Even the higher offices "were competed for by any one in the "service of the Post-office, and the claims "were adjudicated by a committee of ex"perts, so that the Minister was a mere "confirming officer. It will be a splendid "day for the United States when they "base their civil service on an open com"petitive system. Since we adopted it "in England, the House of Commons has "become much elevated in independence "and political morals. The education of "the country has also received an untold "influence." The subordinate civil service, as the spoils and plunder of party victory, has been practically taken out of politics entirely in England. But no one who knows the facts would pretend to assert that either the service or politics are the worse for it. On the contrary, there is no period in English history in which the service was so economical, efficient and honest, or when politics was so free from corruption, as now.

Editorial Notes.

SEVENTY-FIVE thousand dollars is reported to be the sum spent by young Mr. Astor in his congressional campaign against Fowers in New York city, but for all that he was defeated

THE Senate will not be abolished if Sir John can help it. It is filled with his nominees and its duty is to register his decrees. For him to assent to its abolition would be to sign the death warant of his own friends, and he cannot be expected to do that.

THE passage of a resolution by the Conservative Convention tying the party up to the Imperial connection is a plain indication to the young men of Canada that whoever may sympathize with their longings for national manhood the Tories will not.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER said, while addressing a political meeting in Pictou, that the people of Ontario pay $400,000 of coal tax, which relieves the people of Nova Scotia of a part of their just share of taxation for Dominion purposes. This is very considerate to the people of Ontario.

WHAT the Toronto World has to say as to the taxes on newspapers is worth hearing, and is certain to meet with a hearty response from every intelligent person in the community. It says: "The agitation for the removal of the "duties upon printing material, in the "manufacture of which there is no home "competition, is assuming considerable "proportions. Publishers labor under "many disabilities, prominent among "which is the prepayment of postage. "This is a tax upon knowledge, and all "taxes upon knowledge are odius. The "public receive sufficient gratuitous ser"vice from the press to more than recoup "the cost of the free postal delivery of "newspapers. A country that boasts of "free schools should also be able to boast "a free press."

Notes and Comments.

The contributions to the Garfield Memorial Hospital now amounts to $80,000.

ZALZBURG, now spoken of as the Pope's prospective retreat when he leaves Rome, is a walled and castled mediæval cathedral town hid away in an Alpine defile in upper Austria.

IF despatches with regard to the pillage of Macedonian villages by disorganised and unpaid Turkish troops are to be trusted, the Eastern question will in all probability be opened again.

THE outrages on dumb cattle being perpetrated by the enemies of landlordism in Ireland will not increase the world's respect for those who are urging it. To cut the tails off cows and to poison hounds is not the way to win legislative independence.

THE County Council of Elgin has been expressing its opinion on the Provincial Exhibition. The subject was pretty thoroughly discussed at its meeting in St. Thomas last week, the result being the the passing of a resolution to petition the Ontario Government to withhold the annual grant from the Provincial Exhibition, and to distribute the same in an equitable manner to the county agricultural societies

THE feeling in Montreal is that if the Loyal Orange Society is illegal because it administers a secret oath to its members, the Good Templars, Foresters, and Oddfellows are also contrary to law in the Province, because they also administer an oath of secrecy. Freemasonry would also come under the ban only it was specially exempted from the operation of the Act that has been so strangely interpreted.

THE Irish Land Courts are fast rendering unnecessary the presence of troops in Ireland, by the sweeping reductions they are making in rents. None but the implacables can fail to be satisfied with the action of the Courts. The latest reductions in County Mayo scaled the rents fifty per cent. If tenants are not satisfied with reductions of this kind they will scarcely be content with anything short of a gift in fee simple of the estates, with a landlord's agreement to pay all taxes accruing from year to year.

NINETY per cent. of the crime in the British army is attributed by Sir Garnet Wolseley directly to intemperance. He says when the men are removed from the temptation of strong drink, crime is practically unknown among them; and that when he was in South Africa his escort had very hard work to do, but did it without grumbling, and behaved better than any other set of men he ever was assisted by, for the reason, he believes, that every man in the company was a total abstainer.

THE area of the Dominion of Canada is given as follows in a document just issued by the Department of the Interior:

QUEEN VICTORIA, on October 25th, completed a reign of 44 years and 128 days, which is just the length of time that Queen Elizabeth sat on the throne, that Queen reigning from Nov. 17, 1558, to March 24, 1603. Consequently she has reigned longer than any other English Queen Regnant, and longer than any English King, with the exception of George III., who reigned 60 years (1760-1820); Henry III., who reigned 56 years (1216-1272); and Edward III., 50 years (1327-1377).

AN exchange has noted the growth of the feminine movement in England to wear trousers instead of skirts, and has taken alarm. It says of these progressing and progressive women:

"We are willing that they shall have the ballot when they convince us that they want it; we are willing that they shall give us the whole width of the street crossing and take to the mud; we are willing that they shall resign to us their seats in the horse cars and other public places, and receive in return our placid disregard; we are even willing that they shall crawl out of bed first and kindle the fire in the morning; but by the holy hide of the sacred bull, we will cling to our pantaloons

"Till the stars are old,
And the sun grows cold,"

And our last gallus button shall lose its hold!

THE Irish landlords are demanding compensation from the Government. Having placated the tenants, the Government is now called upon to appease the landlords. This Irish business is hard to understand. If the Land Court is right in reducing rent, what ground of complaint have the landlords; and if they have a claim on the Crown because the rent has been reduced, in what way have the tenants been harmed by the rents heretofore? Reports reach this country that large as well as small landlords are quietly disposing of their surplus estates. From every quarter in England comes the announcement of the sale of some hereditary estate which has lain in the family for ages, and in every case the announcement is accompanied by the most bitter lamentations against the depression in the value of land. The Duke of Westminster has already sold some of the most desirable portions of his property. He is said to have already realised over a quarter of a million by his sales, and he has expressed his anxiety to lessen his responsibility still further. The lush times of the landed proprietor seems to have reached their limit.

THOSE ladies who would like to study medicine, but who fear the result of their competition with male practitioners, need not be discouraged. If the chances are against them here, India offers a field of unlimited privileges. The high caste ladies there would rather die than be attended by a male practitioner. In the Bengal Presidency alone there are between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 women of high caste rank, and their patronage is given to female doctors entirely. A few years ago a young Canadian woman graduated in medicine at the Michigan University, and soon after went to India, where she is making a fortune and taking very high rank socially.

THE sad intelligence has been received that Rev. Dr. Robb, former Pastor of Cooke's Presbyterian Church, Toronto, died on the 8th November, at Galway, Ireland, of a complication of jaundice and other internal diseases. Dr. Robb was born in Belfast in 1833, and therefore at the time of his death was 48 years of age. He received his early education at the Royal Academical Institution, Belfast, a school which has turned out a large number of eminent men. After being licensed, he was appointed in 1858 to Clogar, County Tyrone, where he remained till he was translated to Toronto in 1874. He left Toronto three years ago for Galway. He held an influential charge there until his death. Dr. Robb will be remembered as the vigorous opponent of all innovations in the worship of the Church, and at the meeting of the General Assembly in 1878, his speeches against the use of hymns and instrumental music were features of the gathering. He was an excellent special pleader, though in a hopeless minority so far as these innovations were concerned. In 1863 he married Martha, third daughter of the Rev. John Hanna, his predecessor in the pastorate of Clogher. His degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred in 1876 by Hanover College, Indiana.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Sidney Smith, Q. C., who is out for west Northumberland was in favor of manhood suffrage six years ago, and he says he intends advocating it in the present contest. Joseph Rymal, the veteran member for south Wentworth, has long held the same views

The Cobourg harbor is another beautiful instance of contract jobbery. The government has taken it off the hands of the contractor and sent Mr. Kilgannon to take charge. Many thousands of dollars will be lost in this case as in the Welland Canal Aqueduct and the Greece's Point works.

An eloquent proof of the benefit derived by the people from the N. P. is given by the Brockville Recorder. On the United States side of the St. Lawrence, opposite Brockville, coal oil can be bought for eleven or twelve cents per gallon, while in Brockville the price is from thirty-five to forty cents. Yet the organs say the tariff has not increased the cost of living.

The Review advocates pno olitics in the Provincial Government. Mr. W. R. Meridith, leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition in the Ontario Legislature, is displeased with the Conservative party because he does not get the full party strength in Provincial elections. He wants to see cast iron politics in our Local affairs. The Review knows too well that the removal of the Mowat Government cannot be justified by argument.

A Tory organ is sorely vexed because some of the timber limits in Canada have been sold to Americans, and say that "if this is the best way in which Mr. Mowat and his colleagues can defend our interests, it is high time that the people emphasised the doctrine of Canada for the Canadians." But the London Advertiser pointedly replies, if "Mr. Mowat and his colleagues sold the limits to whoever gave the highest prices, and if they can induce Americans to come over here and engage in active business, they are doing more to keep Canada for the Canadians than the Government at Ottawa, which drives Canadians to the United States."

The Toronto Telegram says:—"A much better thing than urging the formation of a new party would be to urge the young men to hold themselves free from either of the existing parties until the time arrives when an issue worth fighting for presents itself. There is not much to be looked for, so far as the country is concerned, in the multiplication of parties. It means simply the creation of a new army of locusts to eat up the green things of office. Young men may well decline to be branded with the party trade mark. They should vote for those whom they believe to be the best representatives of Canadian nationalism. It makes little difference whether a man calls himself a Grit or a Tory, as there is no great principle at issue between the two parties, so long as he is in heart-sympathy with the aspirations and ambitions of the Canadian people. That should be the test applied by young Canadians.

Midland District Notes.

A valuable deposit of sand for moulding purposes has been found on the Minden road near Kinmount.

A firm of threshers near Napanee threshed 1,045 bushels of grain in ten hours. Pretty good work.

The Messrs. Rathbun have about six hundred men at work in their lumber shanties this winter.

Mr. A. Campbell, of Colborne, shipped 5,000 bushels of potatoes from that harbour during one week recently.

A span of horses was stolen from the stable of Dr. Pyfe, of Brighton, during the past week.

Mr. Wm. Ramsay, of Orillia, has already this season shipped 115 sleighs and cutters to Winnipeg. He was to ship 60 more this week.

Three large cargoes of barley have been shipped to Chicago via Midland from points on the Midland railway by Lindsay buyers.

The Hamilton Times says the Victoria and Whitby railways enter the Midland combination at a valuation of upwards of $1,000,000.

Mr. Tracey, an old resident of Haldimand township, has fallen heir by the death of a brother in Ireland to some three hundred thousand dollars worth of property in that country.

Mr. E. B. Morgan, of Oshawa, recently shipped a double deck car load of lambs from Oshawa for the American market. He is shipping a number of sheep to England also.

Mr. Hugh Galloway, a former resident of Madoc, has been murdered by his employer in California. Deceased was about twenty-seven and leaves a wife and three children. His mother still lives in Madoc.

APPRECIATION.—Rev. Geo. Richardson, pastor of the Baptist Church, Haldimand, was presented with a well-filled purse and other good will offerings from the members of his appreciative congregation, a few days ago.

A valuable mare of Mr. Richard Moore, of Verulam, fell into a well 20 feet deep. Mattie, a girl about fourteen years of age, the only person at home at the time saved the animal by running about a mile and a half for help.

The shareholders of the Ottawa Agricultural Insurance Company at a meeting on Tuesday resolved to wind up the business of the organization. It will be necessary to apply for an Act of Parliament to this effect. This will be done at the next session.

The Vindicator says that the farmers of Ontario counties having finished taking in their roots find that the crop is almost a total failure, turnips in many instances yielding only 150 bushels per acre, and of an inferior quality. The failure will be pretty severely felt, as there was considerably more than the usual breadth sown this year, and farmers had intended feeding largely during the coming winter.

A miniature grist mill is in operation at the Street Railway stables, Belleville. It is worked by horse-power, and is capable of grinding all the feed which is required for the horses which are used on the line. Its capacity is 20 bushels an hour. The machine is very simple, but ingenious and handy, and, we fancy, would be of great service in any establishment where a number of horses are kept.

The Norwood Register says: "F. W. Wilkins, Land Surveyor, &c., who left here for the North-West in August last, has returned, having completed his survey of some eight townships. His assistants, who were young men from this locality, remain to push their fortunes there. He gives a very favorable report of the country and intends to return shortly."

A young woman named Emma Rushbush, employed at the farmhouse of a Mr. McNelles about three miles from Stirling, drowned herself in Trent River on the 17th inst. No cause has been assigned for the act. Miss Rushbush was seventeen years of age, was the daughter of Mr. Tobias Rushbush, a respectable farmer, and was herself well liked by her associates and thoroughly respectable.

It transpires that Noyes, the founder and ruling spirit of the Oneida Community, whom Guitteau calls "a cold blooded scoundrel," sojourned in Orillia for some time last summer, and was petted by the best society as a very wealthy and benevolent American. He did not register his name, and it was not until he had presided at several church socials and tea-meetings that a visitor recognized him as the President of the free-love organization, and a fugative from justice for having appropriated the funds of the association. He then silently stole away, and after he was gone his name was connected rather prominently with several of Orillia's fair daughters. In short, the old sinner had loved freely.

The Gazette says that a boy thirteen or fourteen years of age named Donaldson, in the employ of Mr. James Brokenshire of Cameron Point, committed, on Sunday Nov. 13th, an act of such incredible folly that it almost justifies his incarceration in a lunatic asylumn. Going into the house of Mr. David Brokenshire, who lives close to his brother, he found no one at home but Miss Brokenshire, and taking down a gun that hung on the wall and was heavily loaded with duck-shot, he cocked it, pointed it at the young woman and pulled the trigger. Fortunately the gun was very hard to fire, which caused the muzzle to drop, and the charge tore a large hole in the floor close to the feet of Miss Brokenshire, who shrieked and sprang backwards as the boy raised the weapon. As far as we have heard no steps have been taken to punish the young scamp, whose only plea in extenuation of his conduct is that he did it to frighten the girl and that he didn't know the gun was loaded.

The Senecal-Laurier libel suit, as our readers know, resulted in a disagreement of the jury, ten being in favor of the defendant, Laurier, and two in favor of the plaintiff, Mr. Senecal. The suit arose from a newspaper article entitled "The Den of Forty Thieves," in which Mr. Laurier accused Mr. Senecal of fraud and robbery before his appointment by the Quebec Government, as Superintendent of the Q., M., O., & O. Railway, owned by that Government, and of managing that road in his private interests. When the charge was brought Mr. Laurier pleaded justification, and pleaded that Senecal had obtained $50 by false pretences from the Three Rivers Navigation Co., that he had, while Manager of the Pierreville Mining Company, diverted to his own use $40,000 belonging to the company, which collapsed in consequence; that he stole from Mr. Ray notes to the amount of $16,000; that he misappropriated the proceeds of a note for $872 given him to renew a note falling due at the Merchants' Bank, Sorel; that he had caused the ruin of a number of people with whom he had done business; that he was insolvent when appointed superintendent of the railroad, and could give no guarantee; and that he had drawn $8,700 when only $1,200 was due him.

A STATUE OF BURNS.

The following tender and touching tribute to the character of Burns, is from the pen of genial Dick Richardson, of the Davenport Democrat:

We see a man clad in the rough homespun garb of a peasant, standing waist deep in a surging, foaming, fretting, fretful sea of trouble. One hand clasped lovingly to his breast a timorous, frightened hare, wounded almost to the death, the other holding aloft a half-crushed daisy, towards which his face, full of compassion, tenderness and love is turned. The waters rush and roar about him, dash against his breast and almost "whelm him o'er;" but never once does he address them angrily or rudely chastise them, but with a sad, sweet sympathy, made more pathetic by his harsh surroundings, he mourns the fate of his poor comrades, who, like himself, unfitted to combat the sterner things of life, be crushed and bruised beneath the wheels of harsh adversity. This is Burns. We see him as his plowshare rudely breaks the sod about the tiny flower's root, kneel quickly down, and brushing away the clods that crush the poor and helpless plant, carry it to his bosom, tender as a mother of her new-born babe, and with his great dark eyes, wet with the dews of sympathy, pour forth a prayer for forgiveness so pure and simple as though it were human flesh he had injured. Listen to his words:

> Pow'r, mindest, crimson tip'd flower
> Thou'st met me in an evil hour.
> For I maun crush among the stower,
> Thy slender stem;
> To spare thee now is past my pow'r,
> Thou bonnie gem.

Even so his own troubled breast, hungry for a word of sympathy, and his brow for the touch of a tender hand, his eye for the melting of a kindred eye to meet, looking out into the cold world to meet but a cold refusal or the scorning smile of derision and contempt; and with a woeful heart he turned about and sought in nature's children what the world denied.

What wonder the poet, that had but kindly feelings for all soulful things, should sometimes, when pushed to extremes by cold neglect, turn a two-edged sword, and smite, not persons, but their faults, their weak hypocricies, their self deceits. He seldom turned his pen into a lance to pierce, but rather strove to sooth the sorrows of his kind, by painting their most common joys in softened colors, so that they with clearer eye saw new and holy beauties in them, and forgot their griefs in singing of their pleasures.

His was a microscopic eye, beneath whose lens all things became enlarged. He saw far down into the heart of things, and looked upon his favourite flowers as on the face of friends. For him they smiled or wept, bowed low in sympathy of woes or raised their heads in honor of his triumphs. He reasoned that they knew or felt his keenest griefs or joys, and thus he wrote of them while the cold world "that knew not genius when it came," turned coldly from him. His poor, hungry nature sought in solitude's surroundings the sympathy that human hearts refused, and the neglected daisy, the poor wounded hare, and timorous field mouse received from his pen such honor as kings and princes would in after years have given provinces for. They received the love and confidence of such a genius as the world had seldom produced. None that went before or have followed after, wrote or do write of the common things of life so sweetly or so touchingly, and to-day the poor, harassed gauger is read, loved and wept over, who was, out of the bitterness of his heard and neglect of his fellow men, found to cry:

> "the bonnet hung once, fu' fair on his brow,
> His gold ane looked better than many ane's now,
> But now he lets't wear any way it will hing,
> And flings himself dowry up 'o the corn bing."

THE BUREAU OF STATISTICS.

The Ontario Government has done a wise thing in establishing a Statistical Bureau. The object of the Bureau will be to collect statistics and other information in regard to agriculture and its allied industries, and also respecting the lumber trade, and present this information to the public in such a manner as not only to be useful in guiding legislation, but of direct practical benefit to the agricultural and commercial classes. Besides collecting these annual and complete statistics, a system will be adopted of obtaining from time to time throughout the year information regarding the crops, dairying, etc., and publishing and placing these reports in the hands of the public. In April the first report will be issued, showing the acreage sown in various crops, and the extent and locality of any winter killing which may have occured. Then from month to month, and oftener when need arises, reports will be published showing the condition of the growing crops and their probable yield, and, after harvest, the results obtained. Information regarding pests which are affecting the grain, and sundry opinions respecting the crops of other countries, and possibly present and prospective prices, etc., will be included in these reports. An important feature of the Bureau's work will be the close watch that will be kept on everything which threatens the crops and live stock. Epidemic diseases breaking out among cattle will be reported to the Bureau at once, and competent parties will be appointed to investigate its nature and ascertain the methods of treatment to be adopted for prevention, cure, or eradication. It is expected the cost of maintaining the Bureau will not be more than $10,000 per annum—not an extravagant sum certainly when we consider the benefit to be reaped from it.

AT A LOSS FOR WORDS.

The pleasure which I hereby attempt to express cannot be half conveyed by words. Physicians of very high character and notoriety have heretofore declared my rheumatism to be incurable. Specifics, almost numberless, have failed to cure or even alleviate the intensity of the pain which has frequently confined me to my room for three months at a time. One week ago I was seized with an attack of acute rheumatism of the knee. In a few hours the entire knee-joint became swollen to enormous proportions, and walking rendered impossible. Nothing remained for me, and I intended to resign myself as best I might to another month's confinement to my room and bed, whilst suffering untold agonies. By chance I learned of the wonderful curative properties of St. Jacobs Oil. I clutched it as a straw, and in a few hours was entirely free from pain in knee, arm and shoulder. As before stated, I cannot find words to conver my praise and gratitude to the discoverer of this king of rheumatism.

CHAS. S STRICKLAND, Boston.
9 Boylston Place and 156 Harriston Avenue.

LARGE YIELD.—From the product of 26 acres, Mr. Jas. Whitton, Sr., of the township of Seymour, lately threshed one thousand and ten bushels of grain. The yield consisted of 120 bushels of wheat, 290 bushels of barley, 100 bushels of peas, and 500 bushels of oats. This would average nearly 40 bushels to the acre.

CIRCULAR!

While it is pleasing to the Business Man to know that his efforts to satisfy the public are being appreciated, it can be no less satisfactory to the citizens of any locality to know that among their merchants are those whose goods have not only a local fame but are sought for by them in other parts. The advantage of this is two-fold. Not only does it direct trade from a distance and build up the reputation of the place, but it has the advantage of assisting the artisan and workman in thus bringing both labor and money among them which otherwise would be spent elsewhere.

Peterborough, we are proud to say, has many such business men in her midst, some of them old established houses and others of comparatively younger years. In the latter may be classed Mr. Johnston Carey, a gentleman who but a little over seven months ago cast his fortune among the residents of Peterborough, succeeding Mr. W. J. Larmour in the manufacture of Boots and Shoes. That he is establishing a reputation for satisfactory fulfilment of orders may be judged from the following letter, one among the many which he is constantly receiving. It speaks for itself and needs no explanation:—

LINDSAY, Oct. 13, 1881.

MR. J. CAREY, Peterboro'.

DEAR SIR,—I send you a pair of shoes for repairs. Will you kindly re-sole and heel them with the best of material? Saw the half-soles. I am very much pleased with the last boots and feel like ordering another pair like them, but I can hardly afford it. Please put these boots in hand at once, as I may call for them to-morrow evening. Make a good job of them for sure and leave bill ready. What was cost of last boots?

Cathartic Pills

Combine the choicest cathartic principles in medicine, in proportions accurately adjusted to secure activity, certainty, and uniformity of effect. They are the result of years of careful study and practical experiment, and are the most effectual remedy yet discovered for diseases caused by derangement of the stomach, liver, and bowels, which require prompt and effectual treatment. AYER'S PILLS are specially applicable to this class of diseases. They act directly on the digestive and assimilative processes, and restore regular healthy action. Their extensive use by physicians in their practice, and by all civilized nations, is one of the many proofs of their value as a safe, sure, and perfectly reliable purgative medicine. Being compounded of the concentrated virtues of purely vegetable substances, they are positively free from calomel or any injurious properties, and can be administered to children with perfect safety.

AYER'S PILLS are an effectual cure for Constipation or Costiveness, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Loss of Appetite, Foul Stomach and Breath, Dizziness, Headache, Loss of Memory, Numbness, Biliousness, Jaundice, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dropsy, Tumors, Worms, Neuralgia, Colic, Gripes, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Gout, Piles, Disorders of the Liver, and all other diseases resulting from a disordered state of the digestive apparatus.

As a Dinner Pill they have no equal.

While gentle in their action, these PILLS are the most thorough and searching cathartic that can be employed, and never give pain unless the bowels are inflamed, and then their influence is healing. They stimulate the appetite and digestive organs; they operate to purify and enrich the blood, and impart renewed health and vigor to the whole system.

Peterborough Examiner

PETERBOROUGH, DEC. 1, 1881.

Municipal Elections and Voters' List.

It is a great defect in our electoral system that the register of votes for use at political elections is made up from the municipal assessment rolls. The natural effect of the present system is to cause the municipal elections to turn too often on general political issues, instead of those local questions which alone should cause one man to be preferred to another for the position of municipal councillor. The great object, especially when a general election is pending, is to get control of the Council of a municipality in order to receive the appointment of an assessor of the right political stripe, who will see that no one is left off who ought to be on—from his point of view—and that no one is put on who, from the same point of view, ought to be left off. There is no use shutting one's eyes to the fact that this kind of reasoning actuates a great many people at every municipal election, for were it not for the connection between the assessment rolls and the voter's lists it would be impossible to induce sensible people to prefer a man for the position of town or township councillor simply because he happened to be a supporter of a government or an opponent of it. This is an aspect of our governmental machinery which merits early attention from our Provincial Legislators who can easily supply the necessary remedy by cutting the connection. If this act of severance involves the abolition of a franchise based on property or income, it need not on that account seem a dreadful change to any one who considers that we have already extended the franchise in various ways so as to include all but a comparatively small number of those who would be entitled to registration under a system of manhood suffrage.

It is evident from the report of certain remarks at the recent Conservative convention, which were not intended to reach the general public except through the party organizers, that the approaching municipal elections are to be run, so far as Sir John Macdonald and his associates can manage it, on political issues. The project to capture the municipal councils as a means of getting the voter's lists properly attended to was plainly announced, and if there is a general skirmish all along the line on this issue on Sir John must rest the responsibility. In view of the plot which has been so unexpectedly laid bare, Liberals will do well to take warning in every part of the Province. The intention of their opponents is to steal a march on them, and though their intention may not be put in force in all municipalities it will undoubtedly be in a large number of them. We do not recommend the introduction of Dominion party politics into municipal contests, but we urge Liberals everywhere to watch this movement closely and wherever it shows itself, endeavour to checkmate it. The Liberal party are not given to fighting out municipal contests on that line, and therefore it is all the more desirable that that party, which is in a majority in the Ontario Legislature, should promptly sever the connection between assessment rolls and voters' lists for political elections. The Province is becoming nauseated with this ever recurring January struggle and there is no reason why it should be perpetrated.

Editorial Notes.

The voting on the election in Quebec takes place to-morrow. If there ever was a corrupt administration convicted before the people the Sanical-Chapleau party has been.

THE TRIAL of Guiteau continues to afford a daily whet to the appetites of those who long for news. His contests with the officers of the court, the court itself and with his own counsel; his posings before the public as the special agent of God, sent to preserve the country by the death of Garfield—all these, as evidences of his mental condition, are eagerly seized upon as matters of comment.

THE Conservative banquet at Toronto was so much more of a success than the Convention was, that people will naturally regard the latter as a ruse to secure good attendance at the former. The crowd at convention was large, but it was largely made up of volunteer delegates from constituencies near Toronto, a large proportion of those all over the Province being entirely unrepresented. The crowd at the banquet was also unusually large for a banquet, but this is not surprising when it is borne in mind that those who attended were in the city at any rate, and might as well go and hear the speeches and drink the free champagne. The chief speeches were those delivered by Sir John and Sir Leonard, who talked the usual protection platitudes and made the usual claims for credit to the N. P., on the score of returning prosperity. Some day, when the tide turns, there will be a terrible awakening for those who allow themselves to be deluded by clap-trap political speeches into the belief that the customs tariff of the country can be framed as to make it prosperous. The present tariff will not stave off the inevitable reaction of the present season of prosperity for a single hour, but will rather hasten it by taking out of the people's pockets so much more than is necessary by way of taxation. Every extra dollar thus abstracted makes the man who pays it a dollar poorer, and so much less able to resist the depression when it comes. The load of taxation under which the country is staggering now will become simply insufferable when things take a turn, as they will do sooner or later.

THE most important announcement made at the Tory convention was one by Sir John Macdonald, to the effect that the Pacific Railway Syndicate, instead of running their main line in a north-westerly direction from Callender, north of Lake Superior, intend to substitute for part of the main line the section heretofore known as the Sault branch. In other words, instead of running a branch from some point on the Sturgeon River down the Spanish River valley, and along the shores of the Georgian Bay to Sault Ste. Marie, the Company now intend to run their main line thus far south and then continue it from Sault Ste. Marie, north-westerly round Lake Superior. It is evident that this will lengthen the main line by at least 100 miles, and Mr. George Stephen admits that it will afford a worse line to construct. What then can be the object of the change? In the first place it is quite clear that the Syndicate want to hamper the Ontario Sault Company as much as possible, and if possible, prevent them from getting the necessary financial assistance for their line. In the second place, it is equally clear that the Syndicate want to apply to their Sault line the money and land bonus they will earn by calling it their main line instead of a branch of their road. And in the third place, it is highly probable from present appearances that this change of route means, on the part of the Syndicate, a deliberate intention to abandon the line north of Lake Superior altogether, in working, if not in construction. They own the St. Paul and Manitoba road, and they are seeking to purchase a railway franchise which will bring them to the Sault from the west. They are now seeking to approach the Sault from the east, and thus create a through line south of Lake Superior, which will enable them to dispense with one to the north of it. A short time will make it apparent whether we have wrongly interpreted the action of the Syndicate, for events move rapidly now-a-days in railway circles. Meanwhile the people of the Midland district, who are so deeply interested in the fate of the Ontario Sault line, will see what fate is in store for it if the Syndicate can carry out their intentions. As a matter of fact we believe they have bought up the whole harbour at Algoma Mills, and have notified the Ontario Sault Company that they cannot have the use of their dock for landing either men or supplies—a proceeding which sufficiently indicates what manner of spirit the Syndicate are of.

A Good Opportunity.

We have arranged with the publishers in such a way as enables us to offer the Weekly Star, of Montreal, and THE EXAMINER, for the small sum of $2.25. The Weekly Star, of Montreal, is almost too well known to need any notice at our hands. It has reached the enormous circulation of 60,000 a week, and is recognized as a great paper. Those who have not seen it will find sample copies at this office, and those who want to avail themselves of this opportunity to get the two papers at a low figure should send us $2.25 at once.

Our Clubbing Rates.

We wish to call the attention of our readers and the public generally, to the following very favorable Club rates which THE EXAMINER is offering for 1882. All subscriptions taken from this time till the end of the year will date from the first of January, giving subscribers the intervening numbers free:

TOWN COUNCIL.

Council met on Monday evening last. Present,—His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors Cahill, Paterson, McNaughton, Chamberlain, Douglas, Menzies, Kelly, Richardson, Yelland.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS.

The following petitions were presented and referred to the Finance Committee:

From S. Johnston asking for remission of taxes.

From Mrs. Williams to the same effect, and also asking for relief.

From Geo. Loudan asking to be relieved of Statute Labor as he was otherwise assessed.

From W. Toole asking remission of arrears of taxes.

ACCOUNTS.

The following accounts were received: F. McAuliffe, $3.00; Wm. Hamilton, $13.00. The first was ordered to be paid and the latter referred to the Finance Committee.

WATER-WORKS COVENANT.

The Mayor submitted and read a covenant from the Water-Works Company, agreeing to comply with the conditions of the Water-Works By-Law.—Received and approved.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Councillor Paterson, Chairman of the Finance Committee, read and submitted the following report:—

The Finance Committee beg leave to report, and make the following recommendations:—

1.—That A. Comstock's account of $40.20 be paid.

2.—As to Mr. Dumble's communication re Mr. Gideon Fitzgerald's R. R. damages; and as the Treasurer has been forbidden to pay the amount by the late Dr. Burnham's solicitor, Mr. D. G. Hatton, we recommend the Treasurer to pay the money over to Mr. Gideon Fitzgerald, provided he indemnifies the Council for the amount and costs of said payment.

3.—As to W. H. Ellis' communication, re estimates on Mr. Trout's water-works scheme, we cannot recommend the payment of his claim.

MARKET COMMITTEE REPORT.

Councillor Chamberlain, Chairman of the Market Committee, reported that they could not recommend any changes.

CONTRACT FOR GAS.

The contract between the Gas Company and the town was received and referred to the Finance Committee.

PREPARING FOR THE ELECTIONS.

A By-Law to appoint Deputy-Returning Officers and Poll Clerks for the municipal elections, and places for holding the same received its first, second and third readings. The following are the names of the officers, and polling places:—

1st Ward.—Dep.-Returning Officer, Jos. Lundy; Poll Clerk, A. Soanes; Polling place—Mission School House.

2nd Ward.—Deputy-Returning Officer, J. I. Davidson; Poll Clerk, James Noble; Polling place—Council Chamber.

3rd Ward.—Deputy-Returning Officer, John Irwin; Poll Clerk, George Toole; Polling place—at John Irwin's house.

4th Ward.—Deputy-Returning Officer, Wm. Lee; Poll Clerk, Frank Mason; Polling place—Wm. Lee's Shop.

WOOD FOR MARKET HOUSE.

Councillor Paterson moved that an order be drawn on the Treasurer for $4.25 for a load of wood for Market House.

RUNAWAY HORSES.

Councillor McNaughton drew the attention of the Council to the frequency of horses running away on the streets, endangering life and property, and hoped the Constables would enforce the by-law regarding horses being left in public places untied.

ANOTHER REWARD.

Councillor Cahill moved, seconded by Councillor McNaughton,—That this Council offer a reward of $500 for such information as may lead to the apprehension and conviction of the person or persons who set fire to the property of Edmond Chamberlain, Esq., in the south end of the town some time ago.—Carried.

Councillor Chamberlain thought it would be better to make a general resolution in regard to conviction of incendiaries.

WORK ON DOWNEY STREET.

Moved by Councillor Cahill, seconded by Councillor Paterson,—That the Treasurer be instructed to pay for the work now done on Downey Street, when the completion of the work is certified to by the Street Inspector.

The Council then adjourned for four weeks.

We have a large assortment of "Memoriam" cards. All new and appropiate designs. Call and see samples at this office.

. ANDREW'S SOCIETY SERMON.

As announced in last week's EXAMINER e annual sermon for the St. Andrew's ciety of Peterborough, was delivered Sunday evening last in St. Paul's sbyterian Church, by the Rev. E. F. rrance, Pastor. The Reverend Gentlen took for his text the 5th and 6th ses of the 137th Psalm.

"If I forget thee, O Jerusalem, let my ht hand forget her cunning.

"If I do not remember thee, let my gue cleave to the roof of my mouth; prefer not Jerusalem above my chief

The following is a synopsis of the ser-n. The speaker said:—

I feel some perplexity as to the form ich my St. Andrew's Society sermon uld take this year. I thought at first preaching upon the claims of the poor. remembered that this subject is often erred to on other occasions. I looked Scripture to see if there was warrant saying something about Scotland. und such passages in the Psalms as 've have heard with our ears O God." If I forget thee O Jerusalem," Paul's rds "I am a man which am a Jew." Psalmist delighted to hear of the derful things which God did in the en time. The exiles in Babylon could ld not forget their native city. Paul his defence was glad to say that Tarsus s his native place. If it is yours then, belong to a land which has been highly oured it would seem in accord with scripture to remind you of some of se privileges, that gratitude may be shrined in your hearts. The exiles in ylon had strong reasons for remem-ring Jerusalem. There were a thous-d hallowed associations clustering und Jerusalem. It was the city of the ir solemnities, the city whither the es went up to give thanks unto the me of the Lord. In it was the Temple ere the priests offered sacrifice, the ophet where was the Schichinah, or nifested presence of Jehovah. It is e that you are not like those exiles in ylon. You may worship the God of r fathers just as you did in your na-e land; you enjoy the highest kind of l and religious liberty in this land of r adoption. Still there are reasons y you should remember your native d.

Consider the Land itself. It is small comparison with other lands. It can-boast of so bright a sky as Italy or so lubrious a clime as other places. But s great natural attractions. Travell-from all parts visit its lakes and ntains and are enchanted by the ied beauty of the scenery. As the rman looks with pride upon those s of the Rhine whose beauties have n celebrated by the immortal Schiller, he Scotchman looks with pride upon se parts of the Highlands which have n described so beautifully by the thor of The Lady of the Lake. If re is anything in nature calculated to the soul up to God — anything calcu-d to kindle the faint embers of linger-nobility in fallen man, it is the sight autiful scenery. As we view from a chain of mountains, whose snow ped peaks rise far above the clouds— we sail over a lake, whose placid ers reflect the rays of the setting sun we stand beneath the shadow of a t tree, whose spreading boughs have ured the blast of many a storm, we e had new views of the goodness and power of God. The scenery in the ghlands of Scotland is inferior to no nery in any part of the world. Soft beautiful as is the scenery of the tish lakes, grand and majestic as is scenery of the Swiss lakes, there are which have a greater combination harms than Loch Lomond and Loch rin. When we think of the land it-, we may say in the words of the lmist, "If I forget Thee, O Jeru-m let my right hand forget her cun-g."

Consider the History of the Scottish ple. "O Jerusalem let my right d forget her cunning." As we read history of Scotland from earliest es we find that the Scotch have ever n a valiant people—a people who d liberty and who were ready to die her than be enslaved. Every school is acquainted with those periods in ttish history where efforts were made ring Scotland into submission to the glish crown. Though the land was ded again and again by large armies, ugh one of the mightiest of English ility tried their utmost to conquer tland, their efforts utterly failed. The es of William Wallace and Robert ce are enshrined in the hearts of tchmen because they appeared as true riots to deliver their land from a ign yoke. And not by force of arms, by the right of succession, was Scot-d joined to the English crown.

Consider the Literature of Scot-d. The very closest relation exists ween a nation's history and a nation's rature. A nation's literature grows of a nation's history, so that a nation hout a history would be a nation with-a literature. And as the early poet-of nations has had for its subject the tial deeds of its heroes, Scotland has duced great men in every department literature. She has produced great losophers, Reid, Stewart and Hamil-

Consider the Religious History of tland and her great Reformers and achers. Her religious history is still re interesting than her political history, great as have been her poets, orators losophers, her reformers and preach-are still greater. In previous ser-s I have refered to some of the great whom God raised to reform the rch. I have to'd you something about ox, Scotland's great reformer. Born , he studied in the grammar school his native place, went thence to St. drews, where he studied philosophy the early Christian fathers. He was t off as a prisoner to France, where rked as a common galley slave; he escaped to England where he attract-attention by his preaching in different ts. He then went to Geneva, where became intimate with Calvin. Re-ing to Scotland at the request of of the nobility, he began to preach inst the mass. He was much opposed the Queen Regent, but her death caus-a short breathing spell, during which was appointed minister in Edinburg. Reformation was again frustrated by arrival of Queen Mary from France, her determination to establish Popery he land. Many were the skirmishes ween Knox and the Queen. He died 572 and was buried in the church d of St. Giles. During the period wing the death of Knox, the ruling rarchs sought to obtain control over church and to force Episcopacy upon unwilling people. In 1605 King James s a messenger at arms to dismiss an mbly at Aberdeen, and when the istry adjourned to meet again he sent tices of the most eminent of them to n. On the accession of Charles I, Book of Canons was prepared, which ade a general assembly or any other ting of the ministers unless especially called by the King. The Scottish people were not willing that their ministers should obey any such command, and in 1638 a solemn covenant was signed at the Greyfriar's church in Edinburgh, in which they determined to put away all idolatry, superstition and immortality, and to worship God in simplicity and faithfulness according to His Word. Charles thought that he would put down all opposition by raising an army and invading Scotland, but he met with such a vigorous opposition from the Convenanters that he was obliged to make a treaty of peace and agree to submit all ecclesiastical matters to the next general assembly for settlement.

But we must now come down to latter times and say a word about that great historical event, the Disruption in the Church of Scotland. As the age of Elizabeth was the golden age of English literature, so the first half of this century was the golden age of a sacred eloquence in the Scottish pulpit. Then God raised up a long line of preachers, who by their piety and earnestness, were instrumental in doing much good. There are three names which shine forth prominently in this long line—Chalmers, Candlish and Guthrie. They took a leading part in that movement, which led to 400 ministers giving up their livings rather than suffer interference with their spiritual rights. It is said that when Jeffry saw those ministers leave St. Andrews Church in a body, that he said "I am proud of my countrymen." When we think of the land itself, its history, its literature, its great reformers and preachers we may say with the psalmist if "I forget the O Jerusalem let my right hand forget her cunning."

I have said this much in praise of the land which you adore so well; I would not conclude however, without some words of warning. There seems to be a tendency on the part of some Scottish ministers to disregard that book to theology of which, above everything else, Scotland owes its material, intellectual and political greatness. The Rationalism of Germany seems to be finding its way to Scotland and to be superseding those grand old doctrines which the Reformers and the Disruption ministers so faithfully preached. The drinking customs also, which prevail in Scotland are terribly injurious to the nation's welfare. To walk along the High street of Edinburg on a Saturday afternoon and see women with babies in their arms, going in and out of the brightly lighted gin palaces to see men reeling in frenzy along the streets, is a sight sad enough to make an angel weep. If the Bible continues to be less regarded, and if the drinking customs continue to increase, who can tell what the result may be? Perhaps in the not far distant future some one may stand upon the Calton hill or upon Arthur's seat, and behold Edinburg, that queenly city, an utter ruin. Let us then determine to honor the word of God and set ourselves against that traffic which is slaying its thousands.

A collection was taken up at the close of the sermon, in aid of the funds of the Society.

LAKEFIELD.

Skating—Frozen Over Hunting Want Supplied—Steamer Tiger—The Mill Refuse, &c., &c.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

SKATING.

The ice in the marsh to the north of the village was in spendid condition last week, and was visited by large numbers of our young people to enjoy a few hours of exercise.

ICE.

Mud Lake and Deer Bay are now frozen over, in fact on Saturday the provisions, etc., for Ross & Co's shanty in Harvey, were taken across in hand sleighs from Harrison's Landing, to the mouth of Deer Bay Creek, where a depot has been all fall. In future, all supplies will go up by way of Burleigh.

HUNTING PARTIES.

News has been received of our boys, who were mentioned in my last as having gone north on a hunt. T. Gordon bagged a fine bear, said to weigh over 300 lbs. J. Richardson, and J. Baladon, have got a deer each; while our friend T. Wallace, who is improving every year, has killed two; one, said to be the finest buck got in the back country this year. We expect to be able to record the largest bag of the season, when they return.

NEW STAGE.

A want, long felt by the travelling community, has been supplied by the enterprising mail contractor, between Lakehurst and Lakefield, viz: a covered stage. Last week a splendid covered stage made its appearance, and excited universal comment, not only from its handsome appearance, but from the comfortable manner in which it has been constructed. Parties will now for the first time be able to make the journey with comfort, in spite of wind and weather, and we trust the venture will be appreciated, and that he will be rewarded as he deserves. Mr. G. H. Davis, we understand, was the builder.

STEAMER TIGER SANK.

On Tuesday of last week, while the steamer Tiger was making her way through Clear Lake Narrows, she ran into some ice which cut into the bow planking, causing her to leak to such an extent that Mr. Grills, who was in charge, had to head her for the nearest island, in the meantime taking such precaution as to prevent any explosion. He managed to reach the shore as she filled, leaving only a small portion of the bow out of the water, those on board getting into a punt they had in tow. Mr. George Chalmers, the owner, with his usual energy, sent up a gang of men next day, who again got her afloat. She has been brought down to Young's Point for repairs and will now be laid up for the winter.

MILL REFUSE.

We notice an item in your last issue, in reference to the refuse kilns being erected for mill owners, by W. Hamilton, of Peterborough, and the satisfaction they are giving. For the last few years we have been troubled in the village, from the smoke arising from what is known as the "Fire-hole," or in other words, the place where the edgings and other refuse from the saw mill are burned On the south side of the river, windows have to be closed often for days, during the hot months of July and August, to keep out the smoke, while it is ruinous to hang out any washing if the wind is blowing in that direction. Messrs. Stricklands are now engaged in building a new saw mill, to take the place of the old one, now worn out. And from report, we learn they have secured limits, which will keep the mill running for some years. We are glad to see such enterprise on the part of our citizens, and we hope to see them go a step further, and place a furnace in place of the open fire, for using up their mill refuse. By so doing, they will not only lessen the risk of fire to their own property, but will add to the comfort of the inhabitants in the neighborhood of the mill, on both sides of the river.

SCHOOLS CLOSED.

Owing to the dread, caused by diphtheria on the Burleigh Road, we learn that the Trustees have closed the schools for the time being, and the authorities are taking such measures as it is hoped will prevent its further progress.

The following copy of the instructions, issued by the Massachusetts State authorities, may be useful to those interested.

DREAD DIPHTHERIA.

The massachusetts board of health has issued the following:

In view of the fact that diphtheria, although now less prevalent than in the colder months may be expected to visit a portion of our state during the autumn and winter it seems important that more thorough attempts to control the disease should be made by the local authorities.

In the first place, as diphtheria is a contagious disease, and under certain circumstances not entirely known, very highly so, it is important that all practicable means should be taken to separate the sick from the well. As it is also infectious, woolen cloths, carpets, hangings, etc., should be avoided in the sick-room and only such materials used as can be readily washed.

All clothes, when removed from the patient, should at once be placed in hot water Pocket handkerchiefs should be laid aside, and in their stead soft pieces of linen or cotton cloth should be used, and at once burned.

Disinfectants should always be placed in the vessel containing the expectoration, and may be used somewhat freely in the sick-room; those being especially useful which destroy bad odors without causing others (nitrate of lead, chloride of zinc, etc.)

In schools there should be especial supervisions as the disease is often so mild in its early stages as not to attract common attention; and no child should be allowed to attend school from an infected house, until allowed to do so by a competent physician.

In the case of young children all reasonable care should be used to prevent undue exposure to the cold.

Pure water for drinking should be used, avoiding contaminating sources of supply; ventilation should be insisted on, and local drainage must be carefully attended to. In country towns, privies and cesspools should be frequently emptied and disinfected; slop-water should not be allowed to soak into the surface of the earth near the dwelling houses, and the cellars should be kept dry and sweet.

In all cities, especially in tidal districts, basins, baths, etc., as now connected with drains, should never communicate directly with sleeping-rooms.

In all cases of diphtheria, fully as great care should be taken in disinfecting the sick-room, after use, as in scarlet fever.

After a death from diphtheria the clothing disused should be burned, or exposed to nearly or quite a heat of boiling water; the body should be placed as early as practicable in the coffin, with disinfectants, and the coffin should be tightly closed.

Children, at least, and better adults also, in most cases, should not attend a funeral from a house from which a death from diphtheria has occurred. But with suitable precautions, it is not necessary that the funeral should be private, provided the corpse be not in any way exposed.

Although it is not at present possible to remove at once all sources of epidemic disease, yet the frequent visitation of such disease, and especially its continued prevalence, may be taken as sufficient evidence of insanitary surroundings, and of sources of sickness to a certain extent preventable.

It should be distinctly understood that no amount of artificial "disinfection" can ever take the place of pure air, good water, and proper drainage, which can not be gained without prompt and efficient removal of all filth, whether from slaughter-houses, etc., public buildings, crowded tenements, or private residences. In the opinion of the board, this is likely to be done properly through independent local boards of health, the appointments of which in all cases we must respectfully, but earnestly, urge upon the citizens of the state.

APSLEY STAGE ROUTE.

The absurd spectacle of a stage, carrying Her Majesty's mails alongside nine miles of a railway track, is witnessed in few, if any, places in Ontario, except our own county, yet such has been the case for years, notwithstanding the matter was brought to the notice of the Post Master General some two years ago, by a delegate from this place, while in Ottawa, as delegate also on the Trent Valley Canal. The then Post Master General, promised to look into the matter, but nothing has ever been done, but, perhaps, if the present Minister had his attention drawn to the subject, a change might be made. The stage to Apsley should start from, and return to Lakefield, the terminus of the Midland Railway. We have a daily mail from the front, so that the people of the back country would receive their mail matter just as soon as at present. The present mail is of little or no use to parties in this village, in fact the stage arrangements are only a convience to the owner of the stage, without any corresponding benefit to the public at large, while the government have to pay for nine miles daily service, which should be done along with other mail matter by train. Lakefield is entitled to be the terminus of the stage route, and should press the matter in such a manner as to obtain her rights.

MASONIC.

Clementi Lodge No. 313, A.F. & A.M., meets in the Masonic Hall next Tuesday evening the 6th instant, for the election of officers.

POLICE COURT.

Last week Mr. Nathan McIlmoyle, of Smith, and his son James, had the honor of appearing before John Hull, Esq., J. P., at his office, to answer the charge of spearing fish in Mud Lake, preferred by our efficient Fishery Inspector, George Cochrane. The charge being proved, they were each fined $10 and $2.25 costs, or $24.50 in all, for the evening's sport. Fresh fish, with oysters for sauce, thrown in, could be purchased cheaper in Peterborough, we should think. Three others were engaged in the same sport but escaped for want of proof.

STEAMER CRUISER.

The steamer Cruiser has been laid up at her old quarters for the winter. There is still a large amount of wood, etc., left over up the lake, which could not be brought down owing to low water, and the loss to all parties has been considerable.

RECOVERING.

The Frenchman, Deyotte, who got his foot so badly cut in the shanty, is so far recovered that he will be able to leave for his home in Quebec this week.

A Cough, Cold or Sore Throat should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an INCURABLE LUNG DISEASE OR CONSUMPTION. Brown's Bronchial Troches do not disorder the stomach like cough SYRUPS and balsams, but ACT DIRECTLY ON THE INFLAMED PARTS, allaying irritation, give relief in ASTHMA, BRONCHITIS, COUGHS, CATARRH, and the THROAT TROUBLES which SINGERS AND PUBLIC SPEAKERS are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Bronchial Troches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25 cents a box everywhere. 42-26ins.

Advice

"Whatever you do, do it Quickly."

This maxim applies to many things, but to none more emphatically than the purchase of a

WINTER SUIT!

People may wonder these frosty mornings why they feel the cold so keenly, and they may continue wondering until they have come and ordered from us a and discarded the linen duster they have been wearing since summer.

WARM SUIT and an OVERCOAT!

Every man can afford to buy a SUIT from us, because we have them at prices to suit the pockets of everyone.

No establishment gives better satisfaction, with this understanding customers select from our goods and order with the knowledge that if they change their minds afterwards—which they never do—they can bring back the clothes and have their money.

The belief is current, and is warranted by the facts, that if we have not what you want, and at right prices, you cannot secure it elsewhere.

The sale of Overcoats still continues, those in need of one will do well to call early.

ZOPESA.

(FROM BRAZIL.)

The New Compound, its wonderful affinity to the Digestive Apparatus and the Liver, increasing the dissolving juices, relieving almost instantly the dreadful results of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, and the TORPID LIVER, makes Zopesa an every day necessity in every house.

It acts gently and speedily in Biliousness, Costiveness, Headache, Sick Headache, Distress after Eating, Wind on the Stomach, Heartburn, Pains in the Side and Back, Want of Appetite, Want of Energy, Low Spirits, Foul Stomach. It invigorates the Liver, carries off all surplus bile, regulates the Bowels, and gives tone to the whole system.

Cut this out and take it to your Druggist and get a 10 cent Sample, or a large bottle for 75 cents, and tell your neighbor about it.

ANOTHER LITERARY CURIOSITY.

There is just now going the rounds of the American press "a literary curiosity," consisting merely of transpositions of Gray's well-known lines:

Homeward the plowman plods his weary way.

Such transpositions are easy. Let the reader try it with almost any familiar lines. We take at random the first lines of Byron's "Waterloo," giving only such changes as preserve both the sense and the metre:

There was a sound of revelry by night,
Of revelry there was a sound by night,
By night there was a sound of revelry,
A sound of revelry there was by night,
A sound was there of revelry by night,
There was a sound by night of revelry,
Of revelry there was by night a sound,
A sound then was by night of revelry,
By night there was of revelry a sound,
Of revelry was there a sound by night,
There was by night a sound of revelry,
Of revelry there was a sound by night,
A sound of revelry there was by night,
By night a sound there was of revelry,
A sound by night of revelry there was,
Of revelry by night there was a sound,
By night there was a sound of revelry,
A sound by night of revelry there was,
By night was there a sound of revelry,
A sound was there by night of revelry,
By night of revelry a sound there was.

Many we have thirty-four transpositions, eight more than the other. It is not difficult, either; anybody can do it, and other lines would no doubt yield far more.

THE EDUCATION OF GIRLS.

Dr. McLaughlin, M. P. P. for West Durham, believes that there are errors in our system of education, and that the effect is especially hard on the Girls. He says:

The great sin of our school system is against the girls. The system overlooks two things; 1st, Girls are given more work than boys. Almost every girl who can studies music, and is expected to practice for an hour a day. She has this in addition to her school work, which is already too much. She can't and shouldn't omit music, if she can afford it, as it is of greater use to her than algebra. 2nd, Girls are of a more delicate organization than boys and have less physical strength. In 1879 there were 2,675 deaths from consumption in Ontario. Of these, of children from 5 to 10 years of age there were 12 females to 6 males; of from 10 to 15, 32 females to 10 males; and from 12 to 20, 136 females to 61 males. That is, during the period from 5 years to 20 years there were 182 girls to 77 boys. It is unnecessary here to enquire into the causes of this difference. We have simply to do with the fact that girls are not so strong as boys, and yet their studies are as hard, and often harder. They have to study hardest, too, when their system is already taxed with the struggle into a new physical condition. A material difference should be made in the mathematical studies of the girls. It is the experience of teachers that girls generally find it much more difficult to study mathematics than do boys. It as an honor to pass the intermediate, yet many a girl is deprived of that honor, which she would greatly value, simply because, though well acquainted with other subjects, she cannot sufficiently master mathematics. I would give her other subjects, such as English literature, history, etc.; in which girls excel. To look at the matter practically, however, what good does algebra do the girls? Women who are well acquainted with literature, history, geography, etc., are better fitted to adorn their homes and be useful in the world than women who, less versed in these, excel in arithmetic. The conversational differences between the two are generally very striking."

A GROWING FEELING.

The extract we give below from the Detroit News is not only valuable in itself as being a clear statement of an economic truth, but it is very suggestive as being found in a paper that find its greatest number of readers among the industrial class:

"Every day one sees in Protectionist papers the statement that 'the American policy of Protection has made the United States the most prosperous nation on earth.' The statement is always unaccompanied by proof. Coincidents are mistaken for causes. We have prospered in spite of, rather than by reason of, our protective system. Our cheap, rich lands, forests of valuable timber and other natural resources have had something to do with our prosperity. How can a nation be prosperous by taxation? A tariff is a tax imposed on the foreign goods when imported. This tax is eventually paid by the consumer. A protective tariff is intended, not to produce a revenue for the support of the government, but to raise the price of the protected articles by shutting out foreign competition. It is clear that raising the price of any article is equivalent to lowering the price of every other article. If the price of iron is raised by the tariff the price of wheat and other articles is correspondingly lowered; that is, it requires a larger quantity of wheat or other merchandise to purchase a given quantity of iron. How, then, can the farmers of America be made prosperous by compelling them to pay an increased quantity of the products of their labor for everything they buy? If protection enabled a farmer to buy more iron, more clothes, more stock, with a thousand bushels of wheat it would doubtless benefit him, but it notoriously does the very reverse. It reduces the price of everything he has to sell; it increases the price of everything he has to buy. The farmers of Michigan should think of this."

PERCHERON HORSES.

This most popular of all breeds of large horses, is attracting the attention of nearly all the intelligent and progressive breeders of horses in this country. And their importation (from La Perche, France, where they have been bred for more than a thousand years,) are doubling and quadrupling annually.

Although but a few years has elapsed since their introduction, they have proved themselves so far superior to all other breeds of heavy horses as a cross upon our common and inferior mares, and even upon the half breeds and Bronchos of the far West, that they are sought after in every quarter of the United States, and large numbers of them are being introduced into Canada, to refine and give quality to the Clydesdale English draft horses, so long used there. The demand is so great, and has grown in so short a time, that it is difficult to supply it.

Probably the most astonishing improvement has been made in the Western States and Territories by crossing Percheron stallions of medium size and good quality upon the small mares of the range. The produce from these mares almost invariably weigh when mature from 1,400 to 1,600 pounds, possessing compactness, vigor and endurance beyond anything of their size ever raised in this country; the sires giving size, uniformity, and the renowned docility of their race to the progeny, making them tractable and easily broken. By the introduction of the Percheron stallion a new and grand field seems to be opening for the large breeders of horses in the West, where horses can be raised for a nominal sum. The fact is, that those half and three-quarter blood colts sell on the Eastern market for higher prices than any other class of large horses, and are in urgent demand at from $150 to $250 each, and choice ones command even larger prices.

This is a matter that should attract the attention of all breeders who desire to pace with the times, and breed horses that will sell when the commoner kinds are unsalable.—The Western Rural, Chicago.

A NATIONAL BLESSING.

(Philadelphia Record.)

The Nineteenth Century, above all other ages, has been noted for its many inventions. It has given us the steam power in its thousand-fold applications, the telegraph, the telephone, the electric light, and innumerable other discoveries, all blessings to humanity; each day bringing us new surprises until we have become so accustomed to the exhibitions of the genius of our century that any new development is at once received as a matter of natural consequence, and most people will simply remark; "I told you so." As an instance of this fact we would only call attention to that wonderful discovery, St. Jacobs Oil. A few years ago this Great German Remedy had never been heard of before in this country; to-day you can hardly find a man, woman or child in the United States who has not used the remedy for some pain or ache, or, at least has witnessed its use and seen its wonderful effects on a fellow-being. St. Jacobs Oil has become a national remedy, for it is known in every city, town, village and hamlet in the country. It is a cosmopolitan preparation, for it is praised by the Americans, Germans, Italians, Bohemians, Danes, Swedes, Portugese, Spaniards, French,—yes, even by the "Heathen Chinee." It may be termed the universal blessing, for it is endorsed by the rich and poor, the clergyman and the physician, the merchant and the laboner, in fact by all classes of the community. St. Jacobs Oil, by its almost marvelous properties, can be employed for a simple cut or sprain or the worst case of inflammatory rheumatism. Persons who have been confined to their bed for years with that terrible disease, rheumatism, have been completely cured by the use of a single bottle. Such cases have been quoted by the leading journals of our country; for instance, the St. Louis Post-Dispatch says: Under the title of Old Probabilities, one of the most useful and valuable officers of the United States Government is most widely known. But quite as well known is Prof. J. H. Tice, the meteorologist of the Mississippi Valley, whose contributions to his favorite study have given him an almost national reputation. On a recent tour through the Northwest the Professor had a narrow escape from the serious consequences of a sudden and very dangerous illness, to the particulars of which he thus refers: "The day after concluding my course of lectures at Burlington, Iowa, on the 21st of December last, I was seized with a sudden attack of neuralgia in the chest, almost preventing breathing. My pulse usually eight, fell to thirty-five; intense nausea of the stomach succeeded, and a cold clammy sweat covered my entire body. The attending physician could do nothing to relieve me; after suffering for three years, I thought, as I had been using St. Jacobs Oil with good effect for rheumatic pains, I would try it. I saturated a piece of flannel, large enough to cover my chest, with the Oil and applied it. The relief was almost instantaneous. In one hour I was entirely free from pain, and would have taken the train to fill an appointment that night in a neighboring town had my friends not dissuaded me. As it was, I took the night train for my home, St. Louis, and have not been troubled since."

The Boston Globe says: Charles S. Strickland, Esq., builder, No. 6 Boylston street and 106 Harrison avenue, Boston, thus speaks: "The pleasure which I hereby attempt to express can only be half conveyed by words. Physicians of very high character and notoriety have heretofore declared my rheumatism incurable. Specifics, almost numberless, have failed to cure or even alleviate the intensity of pain, which has frequently confined me to my room for three months at a time. One week ago I was seized with an attack of acute rheumatism of the knee. In a few hours the entire knee joint became swollen to enormous proportions and walking rendered impossible. Nothing remained for me, and I intended to resign myself, as best I might, to another month's agonies. By chance I learned of the wonderful curative properties of St. Jacobs Oil. I clutched it as a straw, and in a few hours was free from pain in the knee, arm and shoulder. As before stated, I cannot find words to convey my praise and gratitude to the discoverer of this king of rheumatism."

The Chicago Times says: "Everybody on the South Side knows J. D. L. Harvey, Esq., who has been a resident of Chicago for over twenty years. Mr. Harvey expressed himself on the "Oil subject" as follows: "I have spent over $2,000 to cure my wife of rheumatism. Two bottles of St. Jacobs Oil accomplished what all the medical treatment failed to bring about. I regard it as a greater discovery than electricity. It is a boon to the human race, and I am very glad to have this opportunity of testifying as to its remarkable efficacy. I cannot speak too highly of it, and I would be recreant to my duty to those afflicted did not I lift my voice in its praise."

The Philadelphia Ledger says: Mr. George I. Graham 820 Nineteenth street, Philadelphia, is a journalist of many years' experience, and is actively connected with the Philadelphia Sunday Mirror, a leading theatrical and musical journal. During the "late unpleasantness" Mr. Graham was Captain of Company K, One hundred and Eighty-third Pennsylvania regiment, and through exposure in the field he contracted a variety of ills, and he says a very troublesome case of rheumatism in the right leg and foot was a war inheritance that he had in vain tried to get rid of, until he was recommended to try St. Jacob's Oil. He states that he felt a slight relief even on the first application of the Oil. Before the first bottle he purchased had been used up he had but few traces of his rheumatism, and at this time he says the disease has entirely left him, which he attributes entirely to the use of St. Jacobs Oil. He remarks: "No person need suffer with rheumatism if St. Jacobs Oil can be obtained; to those who are afflicted with that complaint it is worth its weight in gold."

The Chicago Inter-Ocean says: Captain Paul Boynton, the world-renowned swimmer, thus speaks of the old German Remedy: "From constant exposure I am somewhat subject to rheumatic pains, and nothing would ever benefit me until I got hold of this old German Remedy. Why, on my travels I have met people who had been suffering with rheumatism for years; by my advice they tried the Oil, and it cured them. I would sooner do without food for days than be without this remedy for one hour. In fact I do not attempt a trip without St. Jacobs Oil, as I do not see how I can get along without it."

St. Jacobs Oil has been endorsed by persons of national reputation, who would not lend their names if they were not convinced that it was a duty they owed to suffering humanity: they have experienced the wonderful effect of the Great German Remedy, and they want their fellow creatures to know the result. We would only mention in this connection the Rt. Rev. Bishop Gilmour, of Cleveland, Ohio: "Excellent for rheumatism and kindred diseases; it has benefited me greatly." Mme. Marie Salvotti, prima donna, Wilhelmj Concert Troupe: "Nothing can compare with it as a prompt, reliable cure for the ailment named." William H. Wareing, Esq., Assistant General Superintendent, New York Post office: "Proved all that is claimed for the Oil, and found efficacious, ready relief for rheumatic complaint." Hon. Thomas L. James, Postmaster, New York, refering to Superintendent Wareing's report concerning St. Jacobs Oil: "I concur." Prof. C. O. Duplessis, Manager Chicago Gymnasium, Chicago, Ill: "Our professionals and amateurs use it in preference to everything they have ever tried." George W. Walling, Esq., Superintendent Police, New York City: "Members of this department relieved of rheumatism by its use," Stacy Hill, Esq., Mount Auburn Inclined Plane Railroad, Cincinnati, Ohio: Undoubtedly it is a remarkable medicine." Captain Henry M. Holsworth, Chief Detective Force, Cleveland, Ohio: Surprising relief: a world of good," Prof. Edward Holst, pianist and composer, Chicago, Ill.: "Its effects are in harmony with its claims." In conclusion we would say that it is the imperative duty of every family to have a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil on hand for all emergencies; for the remedy is a true friend in need, and the occasion for its immediate use may come when it is least expected. Follow this advice, and it will not be long before you will join us in calling St. Jacobs Oil "A National Blessing."

NO RISK.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL! WORTH TEN TIMES ITS WEIGHT IN GOLD. DO YOU KNOW ANYTHING OF IT? IF NOT IT IS TIME YOU DID.

Pain cannot stay where it is used. It is the cheapest medicine ever made. One dose cures common Sore Throat. One bottle has cured Bronchitis. Fifty cents' worth has cured an old Standing Cough. One or two bottles cures bad cases of Piles or Kidney Troubles. Six to eight applications cure any case of Excoriated Nipples or Inflamed Breast. One bottle has cured Lame Back of eight years' standing. Daniel Plank, of Brookfield, Tioga Co., Pa., says: "I went thirty miles for a bottle of our Oil, which affected a wonderful cure of a Crooked Limb by six applications."—Another who had had Asthma for years, says:—"I have half a bottle left, and $100 would not buy it if I could not get no more."—Rufus Robinson, of Nunda, N. Y., writes: "One small bottle of your Eclectric Oil restored the voice where the person had not spoken above a whisper for five years."—Rev. J. Mallory, of Wyoming, N. Y., writes: "Your Eclectric Oil cured me of Bronchitis in one week."

It is composed of six of the Best Oils that are known. It is as good for internal as for external use, and is believed to be immeasureably superior to anything ever made. Will save you much suffering and many dollars of expense.

Beware of Imitations.—Ask for Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. See that the signature of S. N. THOMAS is on the wrapper, and the names of Northrop & Lyman are blown in the bottle, and Take no other. Sold by all medicine dealers. Price 25 cents. THE ALEMBIC OF THE BODY.—The stomach is the alembic of the human system. In it those wondrous chemical changes take place which result in the transmutation of food into blood. When it is vigorous the necessary processes of digestion and assimilation go on uninterrupted, and the system is suitably nourished. When it is feeble or disordered, they are obstructed, and being in consequence ill supplied with blood of a vitalizing quality, the physical organism becomes weak and feeble, the nerves suffer, the liver and bowels are semi-paralysed, and appetite and sleep fail. These disastrous consequences may, however, be prevented, or remedied with the supreme stomachic and aperient, NORTHROP & LYMAN'S VEGETABLE DISCOVERY AND DYSPEPTIC CURE, a medicine of rare purity and efficacy, which reforms a disordered and repairs a weakened state of the digestive organs, overcomes biliousness, relieves the bowels when obstructed without straining or weakening them, and promotes the exit from the system of impurities which infect the blood, which cause serious organic maladies. No objectionable mineral contaminates it, and its value is not marred by a subsequent re-action prejudical to the general health. Far perferable is it to the ordinary nauseous drugs used to produce a similar effect, but which are frequently ineffective as well as unpleasant; nor is it a cheap and valueless medicine, puffed into existence. It is used for dyspepsia, biliousness, affections of the blood, kidney complaints, famale weakness, lumbago, &c., and in all blood diseases it is unequalled. Price, $1.00. Sample Bottle 10 cents. Ask for NORTHROP & LYMAN'S Vegetable Discovery and Dyspeptic Cure. The wrapper bears a fac simile of their signature. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Mothers! Mothers!! Mothers!!!

NEWCOMBE PIANOS

BOSTON, 14th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co., Toronto.

DEAR SIRS,—For brilliancy and sympathetic quality of tone, I consider your Upright Pianos unequalled by any made in Canada. The touch is responsive, the treble clear and resonant, so that I can in all respects recommend them.

OTTO BENDIX.

Letter from Dr. G. W. Strathy, so long known in Toronto as a most thorough and accomplished musician:

TORONTO, 26th Sept., 1881.

Messrs. OCTAVIUS NEWCOMBE & Co.,

GENTLEMEN—After thoroughly testing the Upright Pianos you are now manufacturing, by playing on them and making a critical examination of the mechanism and workmanship, I have much pleasure in stating that on account of the following qualities, viz.:—brilliancy of the treble, sonority of the middle part, and power of the bass, and at the same time, equality of tone throughout, with agreeableness of touch, I consider them entitled to be ranked among the best instruments of the kind manufactured on this continent.

Wishing you every success,
I remain Gentlemen,
Your obedient humble servant,

TORONTO OIL COMPANY are sole manufacturers of Castorine Machine Oil. Infringements will be prosecuted. 1-1y.

A bore is an unlucky animal, who is most welcome when he is gone.

ASK YOUR DEALER for "Castorine Machine Oil," and see that the barrel is branded "Castorine," as none other is genuine. 1-1y

Chimney sweeping must be an agreeable business, for it suits every one who tries it.

USE "CASTORINE MACHINE OIL" for all kinds of machinery. It is also excellent for Harness and Leather, making it water and weather proof. For sale by dealers. 1-1y

A man's curiosity never reaches the female standard until some one tells him that his name was in last week's paper.

MANUFACTURERS of Reapers, Mowers and Threshing Machines prefer "Castorine Machine Oil" to any other. It will outwear Lard, Seal or Elephant, and is guaranteed not to gum. 1-1y

The easiest thing in the world is to see a fault in another man and a virtue in yourself.

RESPECT.—The Grey Hairs of old age demand and should receive respect—but the Grey Hairs of young people require attention—in the way of using Cingalese Hair Renewer. Sold at 50 cents per bottle. 47-1y

You may gather a rich harvest of knowledge by reading, but thought is the winnowing machine.

The greatest revolution in Steel Pen making is in the new turned up point pens, unexcelled for easy writing. Ask for Esterbrook's Tecumseh, Choctaw and Telegraphic pens. For wholesale supplies, Brown Bros., Toronto.

Law suits are not always expensive. About the cheapest a man can get into is the striped one worn in a penitentiary.

USE THE celebrated "Lardine Oil" on your machinery. Best and cheapest oil in the market. Does not clog or gum. Has good heavy body and will not thin in summer. Sold by storekeepers all over the Dominion. Manufactured by McKee & Davidson, and in Peterboro' by W. H. Chesment. Try it and you will use no other. 25-52t

Some persons are never buried in thought because they can't find soil enough to cover themselves with.

HONESTY.—It is commonly said that you cannot make an honest man believe that white is black and vice versa, but those who have grey hair, by using the "Cingalese Hair Renewer," will find that this apparent difficulty is overcome. For sale at 50 cents per bottle. 47-1y

A Sunday School boy, upon being asked what made the Tower of Pisa lean, replied:—"Because of the famine in the land."

A POPULAR REMEDY.—Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam is one of the most deservedly popular remedies for the cure of coughs, colds, sore throat, asthma, whooping cough, croup, bronchitis, and all pulmonary complaints. For sale by all dealers. 48-2t

A boarding house mistress, like the rest of us, has her weak and strong points, the weak point her tea, and her strong point the butter.

"WHAT EVERY ONE SAYS MUST BE TRUE."—And every one who has tested its merits speak warmly in praise of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam as a positive cure for all throat and lung complaints, coughs and colds, sore throat, bronchitis, and incipient consumption. 48-2t

We have just read a handkerchief flirtation code, and advise all men desiring to avoid breach of promise suits to wipe their mouth with their coat tails.

DYSPEPSIA.—That all prevalent disease of civilized life, is always attended with a disordered sympathetic system and bad secretions, and no remedy is better adapted to its cure than Burdock Blood Bitters taken according to special directions found on every bottle. 48-2t

A New York man recently sold his wife to a neighbor for a dollar. Some men seem to take delight in swindling their neighbors.

A REAL NECESSITY.—No house should be without a bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil, in case of accident. There is no preparation offered to suffering humanity that has made so many permanent cures, or relieved so much pain and misery. It is called by some the Good Samaritan, by others the Cure-all, and by the afflicted an Angel of Mercy. 48-2t

The Indian and woman are very much alike in their ways. Both put on their war paint when they go out to capture something.

D. Sullivan, Malcolm, Ontario, writes: "I have been selling Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for some years, and have no hesitation in saying that it has given better satisfaction than any other medicine I have ever sold. I consider it the only patent medicine that cures more than it is recommended to cure."

There are some men in this naughty world who would be worth a million if a hundred per cent. were taken off for cash.

Public Speakers, Actors and Vocalists find, and state that Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil relieves hoarseness and irritation in the throat better than remedies specially advertised to relieve that difficulty. This oil has a wide scope, since it cures external hurts, corns, sores, frost-bites, piles, and a variety of other unhealthy conditions.

'If Jones undertakes to pull my ears,' said a loud-spoken young man, 'he'll just have his hands full.' Those who heard him looked at his ears and smiled.

WEAK LUNGS AND HOW TO MAKE THEM STRONG.—Breathe with the mouth closed, have access at all times to pure air, exercise moderately, eat nourishing but simple food, and take that best of all cough remedies, Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, it speedily cures all throat and lung troubles of adults or children. Price 25 cents per bottle. 48-2t

We are told that the ancient Egyptians honored a cat when dead. The ancient Egyptians knew when a cat was most to be honored.

WHEN DOCTORS DISAGREE, WHO SHALL DECIDE?—Nothing is more variable than the different opinions of medical men; but when they fail to agree, or to perform a cure in a chronic disease, the patients often decide for themselves, and take Burdock Blood Bitters, and speedily recover. It is the grand key to health that unlocks all the secretions, and liberates the slave from the captivity of disease. 48-2t

GENERAL DEBILITY.—This convenient term includes numerous ill-defined and supposed incurable forms of disease, accompanied by general lassitude and exhaustion, without any ascertainable external or internal cause. The PERUVIAN SYRUP sends its renovating influences to the inmost recesses of the system, and has relieved in our community many cases of supposed incurable disease. Sold by dealers generally.

MALTOPEPSYN cures Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Intestinal and Wasting diseases, Constipation, Nausea, Chronic Diarrhœa, Cholera Infantum, and most of infants troubles, which generally arise from the stomach.

50 CENTS FOR 48 DOSES, OR ABOUT 1 CENT PER DOSE.

Regular-sized bottles containing 1½ ozs., with dose-measure attached, 50 cents, for sale by all Chemists throughout the Dominion.

Avoid taking liquids of any sort, more than is absolutely necessary to quench thirst, as the excessive use of liquids is the cause of half the Dyspepsia in the world. Maltopepsyn is a powder, agreeable and easily taken, supplies to the stomach the actual Gastric Juice.

Prescribed by the leading Physicians throughout the Dominion, in their regular practice. Maltopepsyn is also used to a large extent in Hospitals, Dispensaries and Infirmaries.

SPECIMENS OF TESTIMONIALS RECEIVED FROM PHYSICIANS.

WALLACE, N. S., Oct. 4, 1880.

"The Maltopepsyn was given in a marked and distressing case of Indigestion with the most rapid, pleasing and beneficial results." Z. W. KEMPTON, M. D.

ATHLONE, ONT., Jan. 20, 1880.

"The Maltopepsyn I obtained from you has far more than answered my anticipations. Having tried it in two old and very obstinate cases of indigestion, I found it to act like a charm." C. McKENNA, M. D.

CAMARAY, ONT., Jan., 1881.

"I have used your Maltopepsyn in severe cases of Indigestion and Malnutrition in adults, and Diarrhœa of children, and am so well pleased with the results that I have instructed my druggist to keep a supply on hand." T. W. READE, M. D.

ATHLONE, ONT., Dec. 30, 1880.

"After giving your Maltopepsyn a trial in some of my worst cases, for which it was recommended, I am well pleased with the way in which it acts. Continue to make a good article like that now in use, and it will be a universal favorite." R. HAMILTON, M. D.

TEAS! TEAS!

CHINA and JAPAN.

As an article of Domestic use, there is none perhaps for which there is at the present day a greater demand in the aggregate than TEA.

Notwithstanding the increased demand yet the price of TEAS is lower to-day than it has ever yet been.

The causes which have procured so desirable a result to the TEA-DRINKER are practical.

FIRST:—A more extended and scientific system of cultivation in the Tea producing countries,

SECOND:—Cheaper and better carrying facilities, and

THIRD:—Increased and closer competition amongst traders and dealers.

TEAS are popularly known as Green, Black and Japan, and of each of these there are a number of grades and varieties. Thousands of pounds are annually adulterated and sold in this country.

For description of grade, modes of adulteration, and tests for detection, see "ads" to follow.

Meantime we offer JAPAN TEA at 40c. per pound. NONE BETTER. TRY IT!

MANHOOD

How Lost! How Restored!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

Price in a sealed envelope, only 6c. or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured without the dangerous use of internal medicines or the use of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

ST. JOHN'S CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT. The concert and entertainment under the auspices of the ladies of St. John's Church and for the benefit of the Sunday School building fund was well attended, and the programme in all its parts ably sustained.

BARGAINS IN OVERCOATS. By reference to Mr. H. LeBrun's advertisement in another column those requiring one of the necessary requisites for comfort during the approaching winter—a good warm overcoat—will see that that gentleman is offering decided bargains in those articles.

"FATED TO MARRY."—This is the title of another cheap novellette issued by the Toronto News Company. It is by Mrs. May Agnes Fleming, and will be found equally as interesting as other tales from her well known pen. Price 15 cents. For sale at the booksetores.

"CONVERTED" BILLS. The Kingston News says:—The public are warned again that there are a number of one dollar Dominion notes in circulation that have been converted into four dollar bills. The genuineness of the bill can be found by examining it on the back, where the effect of the alteration is plainly visible. The deception cannot be perceived on the face of the note.

LECTURE.—An interesting lecture, entitled "A Visit to England," and illustrated by photographic views exhibited by means of a sciopticon, will be delivered in the school room of St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, on Monday evening next (Dec. 5th). The Lecturer is the Rev. Mr. Bell, and the views have been imported from England. Admission 15 cents.

A POPULAR HOTEL MAN. A Belleville exchange says:—"Mr. Hugh Mottashed, a young man well and favorably known to the travelling public, and who was for many years manager of the Dafoe House here, has been engaged in a similar capacity by the proprietor of the Caisse House, Peterborough. Mr. Choate has certainly been fortunate in securing the services of a man as popular with the travelling public as Mr. Mottashed is, and his connection with any hotel is a guarantee of its future success."

ROSY CHEEKS.—The simple practice of washing with cold soft water and rubbing the cheeks briskly with a rough towel as a daily habit will do more, says an exchange, to produce rosy cheeks than the best artificial invention. Not only may a natural blush be thus secured, but the fulness of the cheek is sustained by the healthy flow of blood which feeds its muscular structure. The muscles of the cheek have very little action; they therefore become flabby and sunken at an early age in persons whose habits of life are such as to maintain little energy in the general system. The simple friction of the cheeks will do much to satisfy fair readers who may take the hint.

ABOUT LAMP GLASSES.—If a lamp chimney be cut with a diamond on the convex side, it will never crack with heat, as the incision affords room for the expansion, and the glass after cooling, returns to its original shape with only a scratch visible where the cut was made. Some people may find it profitable to try this plan even at the risk of losing one glass. Whether it is that manufacturers turn out inferior glasses with a view to increasing their sale, or whether people are less thoughtful in turning on the full flame immediately after lighting their lamps, certain it is, that double the number of lamp chimneys are broken now-a-days that were a few years ago.

SKATING AND CURLING.—The warm weather of the last few days has to a certain extent disappointed the directors of the Skating and Curling Rink. During the cold snap of last week every preparation had been made with a view of opening early this week, and good ice for both skaters and curlers was formed. Before flooding, the bed of the rinks had been levelled and sanded and otherwise much improved. Everything is in order waiting a change in the weather, and with the first cold snap the announcement of the opening may be looked for. We learn the management have decided to have the outside rink in full running order just as soon as the weather will permit.

LACROSSE CLUB GYMNASIUM.—The Lacrosse Club have now got their bowling alley and gymnasium in full running order; the latter being well furnished with the necessary requisites for the members. Both alley and gymnasium are well patronized by the members. The first of a series of matches for the championship of the alley will be held to-morrow evening, at which all the members are requested to compete. The rooms are comfortably heated and furnished, and are sure to become a popular resort during the winter evenings.

PETERBOROUGH LAW ASSOCIATION.—The following officers have been elected for the ensuing year:—

President	C. A. Weller.
Vice-President	A. P. Pamentle.
Sec.-Treasurer	E. B. Edwards.
Trustees	G. Edmison. W. H. Moore

PETERBOROUGH CLUB.—The following are the officers of the Peterborough Club for the ensuing year:—

H. C. Rogers	President
C. H. Sheffield	Vice-President
E. J. Toker	Treasurer
R. E. Weed	Secretary

Committee.—T. P. Attrill, J. E. Belcher, W. H. Baddes, E. H. D. Hall, H. B. Merrick, C. A. Weller.

Of December, Vennor says it looks ugly and smacks of cold, bitter biting cold, with sparely snow-covered ground. The first week of the month will probably give the first good snow falls of the season in New York, Canada and westward. Other snow falls will occur, about the middle of the month, with probably fair sleighing about New Year. Christmas has a stormy period both before and after it, but the day itself may just escape.

IMPORTANT SALE OF FURS.—As announced last week, Messrs. Fairweather & Co. are now carrying on an extensive auction sale of furs, robes, hats, caps and gents' furnishings in James Delaney's old stand. Reference to their advertisement in this issue will show that the stock is a very large one, well assorted, and will be sold without reserve, as the stock must be disposed of before the end of the year. Parties requiring any of these goods should not fail to attend the auction sales every evening and on Saturday and Wednesday afternoons. Goods will be sold by private sale at auction prices.

TIMELY REMARKS.—Councillor McNaughton is certainly deserving of thanks from the citizens for the timely remarks made by him on Monday evening at the Council meeting, in reference to the careless manner in which horses and vehicles are left standing on the streets and public places of the town. Runaways are of almost daily occurrence and it is fortunate that so far no serious or fatal accidents have occurred through them; but how long this may last, if measures of prevention are not enforced, it is hard to state. We trust that those whose duty it is to attend to this matter will enforce the by-law rigidly.

BLASPHEMERS PUNISHED.—People in the Little Rock (Arkansas) region are much exercised over two remarkable events which have just been reported. Robert Nelson, aged 70, has suffered heavily by reason of the long-continued drought, and one day began cursing the Lord for permitting such an affliction. While thus engaged he suddenly fell backward, having been stricken by paralysis. He has not spoken since. A similar occurrence is reported in Union county, where a young man named J. Freeman, who had spoken blasphemously of the Lord for not sending rain, was struck by lightning and killed. These incidents were topics of several preachers on Sunday.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—On Thursday morning last, a young man named Patrick Crowley, of Otonabee, narrowly escaped from being killed while on his way to town. When near Downer's Corners his horses took fright at the whistle of a Grand Junction engine, and ran away, dashing across the railway crossing just as the train was passing. The engine struck the horses and waggon, killing one of the horses, smashing the waggon and throwing Mr. Crowley out on his head, inflicting a very serious wound. The train was promptly stopped and the injured man picked up insensible and carried to town where he was placed under the care of Doctors Kincaid and Alexander. We are pleased to learn that he is progressing favourably.

PROF. GRADY, the stammerer's friend, as will be seen by advertisement in another column, is in town, and may be consulted at the Cassie House. He has been most successful in his treatment of persons afflicted with this painful and embarrassing infirmity. The St. John Telegraph says:—"The Professor truly says that he causes neither pain nor discomfort by his method. In fact, the treatment is comforting and pleasing, as may be readily imagined, when the eye of the stammerer is seen to kindle and his face beams with pleasure as he discovers the impediments to speech passing away, and he finds himself in possession of the secret, without which he might have gone on stammering until his dying day. The treatment is based on philosophical principles, the truth of which none can deny, and yet it is so simple that a child can grasp it. He has been eminently successful throughout the Dominion of Canada, as well as in our own city." No one who stammers should miss this opportunity of being cured.

EVIDENCE OF ENTERPRISE.—Messrs. Wilson & Davis are evidently firm believers in the judicious use of printers' ink. Although a comparatively young house, they have in a few years succeeded in establishing a trade of which much older firms might well feel proud. Liberal advertising in our local town papers have in the past so well repaid them, that they are now extending their basis of operations, and are advertising in the Millbrook, Bobcaygeon, Norwood, Hastings and Campbellford papers. The Herald of the latter place, in referring to their advertisement in that paper says:—"Business men who venture on a large outlay for advertising in papers outside of their own town give evidence of enterprise, and are certainly little afraid of competition. We never saw the establishment of the above firm, but we need no other proof than this we have referred to, to convince us that it is one where purchasers will obtain the best value for their money." We hope they will find their investment remunerative, and that their enterprise may be rewarded by largely increased patronage from those places.

PENMANSHIP IN THE SCHOOLS.—The Guelph board of education deserves credit for the action it is taking in the question of improving the handwriting of the pupils in the schools. The committee which has the matter under consideration has submitted that the majority of those in attendance were indifferent writers, and were almost totally ignorant of the rudiments of composition, that they were unable to write a business or a friendly letter correctly, or even to address their communications afterwards. It was suggested that one cause of the failure of the pupils to acquire a good hand was that every teacher had a system of his own, and the proposition was made to employ a teacher who would make writing a speciality, and combine with it instructions in mechanical drawing or simple lessons in perspective or object drawing. This would be done in co-operation with the other teachers and not in substitution of them. The experience of business men and others who undertake the training of boys fresh from the schools is that, as a rule, although they may have run through a score of books, and have rules without numbers at the ends of their fingers, their handwriting is a wretched scrawl, and of anything that might be useful to them they haven't the slightest idea. Practical education is what is wanted and the sooner the fact is recognized the better.

PRESENTATION.—The Rev. Father Cicolari, for the past four years Curate of St. Peter's church, has been promoted to the parish of Lochiel. The announcement of the appointment was made during Mass last Sunday morning and took the congregation greatly by surprise. At the close of the services a meeting of the congregation was held, and a committee appointed to arrange for presenting the Reverend gentleman with a tangible token of their esteem. During the afternoon subscriptions to the amount of $370 were collected, which sum, together with addresses from the congregation and the St. Vincent de Paul Society, were presented to him. On Monday morning Father Cicolari left for his new charge, carrying with him the good will and esteem of all with whom he was acquainted.

LETTER OF CONDOLENCE.—We have been requested to publish the following letter of condolence from the members of Caswell Lodge, I.O.G.T., of this town:

CASWELL LODGE, Nov. 14th, 1881.
Independent Order of Good Templars.
MRS. BATE,—Madam,—Whereas it has pleased the Almighty Ruler of the Universe to remove by death our respected friend and sister, Annie Bate, and while we sincerely mourn her loss, we would cheerfully submit to the will of an all-wise God, who controls our destinies for weal or woe. We as a Lodge beg to tender to Mr. Bate, yourself and family, our heartfelt sympathies in this your sad bereavement, and we trust what has been our united loss will be our sister's eternal gain, in that better world above, where we hope we shall all meet to part no more, and be for ever with the Lord, and sing His praises with our dear young sister who has gone before us. Our charter will be draped in mourning for three months in memory of our late sister. I am sure we shall all miss her pleasant face from our Lodge room, and one who since she connected herself with our Lodge was a regular attendant. Our sister's sudden death was the cause of members being absent, it being between meeting nights; though myself and three others knew it, we were debarred by our casting that afternoon in the shop from being present. Please accept these our sentiments in this your sad and solemn hour of sadness.

Signed on behalf of Caswell Lodge,
Yours Respectfully,
G. J. EARLY, Secretary.

THE CLEARING SALE OF THE SEASON, at least so far as dry goods are concerned, is now going on at Munro & Alexander's, where last week was commenced a genuine clearing out sale of a $20,000 stock of staple and fancy dry goods, millinery, mantles and tweeds—everything being offered at and below cost. Readers of the EXAMINER need scarcely be told why this sale is going on, for the full-page advertisement in last week's paper and their special issue of 3,000 copies of the EXAMINER last week gives full information. In their "plain talk to sensible people" this enterprising and pushing firm state plainly what they are going to do, and as it has been one of their chief aims to keep faith with the public as to advertising announcements, the public can rely on getting bargains when bargains are promised them. Their sale so far has been extremely successful, Saturday's business being far in advance of their expectations—scores of customers having to leave the shop without being served. As the best bargains are sure to go first, those wishing to take advantage of the offers now made should call early and make their purchases. Our readers should bear in mind that this is not a bankrupt stock of old goods, but a genuine, sweeping sale of a well-selected stock of fashionable and seasonable lines, every department being filled with recent purchases.

PERSONAL.

We had the pleasure of a call on Friday last from Mr. J. W. Leonard, General Traffic Agent of the Credit Valley Railroad; and also from Mr. J. A. Richardson, Passenger Agent of the Union Pacific Railway,

Mr. Robt. J. Lyle, Manager of the Toronto Branch of the Equitable Mercantile Company, was in town during the past week on a visit to his friends.

We observe from the Daily Optic, published in Las Vegas, New Mexico, that Mr. R. O. Helm, well known in Peterborough, is now doing a lively trade in the auctioneering business.

The many friends of the Rev. Mr. Blatchford, formerly Bible Christian Minister in this town and Ashburnham, will be pleased to learn that he has been appointed to the important charge of one of the London churches.

Dr. McInnes, M. P., for New Westminster, B. C., is in Peterborough on a visit and is the guest of Mr. J. Stratton. He has just returned from the Northwest and speaks in glowing terms of its prospects.

GONE TO KANSAS.—The Port Hope Guide says:—"Mr. Thomas Peters, wife, five daughters, and son and wife left on Thursday for Kansas. Mr. Peters went out there in June last, and traded property with a Canadian named McKee, who had emigrated to the State, and whose wife had become so homesick that she could not be satisfied until she got back again to breathe her native Canadian air. They not only exchanged farms, but horses, cattle, implements and household furniture, all except beds and bedding." The gentleman referred to above is Mr. John McKee, formerly of the Township of Smith.

Local News Record.

THE NEW FREIGHT BUILDING at the Midland station is fast approaching completion. It will be a great convenience to all having freight business with the road.

PIANOS.—In our advertising columns, Mr. E. J. Hartley's announcement of bargains in pianos and organs will be of interest to those contemplating purchasing one of these instruments.

JUST opened, another lot of the celebrated Rock Island hand-made boots, also Russian and German felt boots, moccasins, overshoes, rubbers, slippers, women and childrens' wear in great variety. W. J. WALLACE, Lakefield. 46-tf.

AT FIRST COST.—There is now going on at Fairweather & Co's a great clearing sale of Dry Goods, Millinery, Mantles, Silks, House Furnishings, etc., etc., at first cost. Advertisement received too late for this issue, look for it next week.

NEW TICKET OFFICE.—The Credit Valley and Canada Southern Railways have appointed Mr. George Chamberlain as their agent in Peterborough. Mr. Chamberlain will make an efficient agent and will not allow the interests of the roads to suffer in this section.

FOR THE HOLIDAYS.—Foot & McWhinnie have on hand a very large assortment of Ladies and Gents Fancy Slippers, in quite new patterns, which will be sold at very low prices during the holidays. Skating Boots and Gent's Fancy Slippers made on the shortest notice. 49-tf.

CHRISTMAS.—The near approach of the holidays transforms the windows of book and fancy stores into veritable art houses. The Christmas and New Year cards this season are marvels of beauty. As X-mas falls on Sunday this year it is likely the Monday following will be generally observed instead.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.—At the regular meeting of L. O. L. No. 49, held at the Orange Hall on Thursday evening, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Samuel Jameson, W. M.; George Brown, D. M.; Joseph Batten, Chaplain; John Mowry, Secretary; Henderson Nesbitt, Treasurer; J. G. Weir, D. of C.; Geo. Hall, John Lillico, H. Baker, Thos. Dawson and James McIntyre, Committeemen.

SCALDED.—One evening last week while Mr. Peter King, of J. Whyte & Co's foundry, was fixing the steam pipe in connection with the boiler, by some means the check valve became displaced, and the steam and water burst out, striking Mr. King on the chest, arm and side of his face. Dr. Kincaid was immediately called in and under his care the patient is recovering favourably.

BRIEFLETS.—Mr. Cavanagh speaks of going into the horse buying business on his own account. His large experience would no doubt make the venture a paying one....On Monday evening eighteen persons left town for the Northwest.... The Police court business has livened up during the past week....A few venturesome skaters have had the discomfort of cold baths since the mild weather set in.. Mr. Earl is to conduct a class in English in connection with the Mechanics Institute evening classes.

THE MARKET.—The market was well supplied with all sorts of produce last Saturday, a large concourse of people and teams being in from the country. The poultry seemed to be eagerly sought for, and brought good prices. The prices for grain, pork and other offerings were good, and consequently the farmers smiled the smile of satisfaction after disposing of their loads, and added to the joy of merchants by their investments. During the week, owing to the bad roads, very little has been doing and prices generally remained unchanged.

NARROW ESCAPE FROM FIRE.—Timely discovery averted what would have been a most serious fire on Wednesday night last at the St. James' Hotel. Between 12 and 1 o'clock smoke was discovered issuing from the cellar and an alarm given immediately. The work of a bucket brigade, however, had extinguished the fire before any serious damage had been done, and the services of the steamer was not called into requisition although the firemen were promptly on hand. Mr. Daley's loss on furniture caused by hasty removal is about $150; covered by insurance.

LITERARY SOCIETY.—The regular meeting of the Society was held last Monday. There was a large number present—the President, Mr. Beck, in the chair. A motion to expel, in the discretion of the Society, all members who should not attend at least one out of every two meetings, met with general approval and was carried. Mr. Corkery favored the Society with a reading entitled "The Owl Critic," which was followed by a selection, "Our Folks," by Mr. Campbell. A learned and highly instructive address on "Cowper," was delivered by Mr. Earl, after which the subject, "Is the existence of political parties beneficial to a state," was debated. The affirmative of the question was supported by Messrs. Hilton and Dixon, whilst Messrs. Peck and Stratton advocated the negative. The President, after summing up the argument, left the decision to the meeting, which decided for the affirmative.

BIBLE CHRISTIAN CHURCH ENTERTAINMENT.—The entertainment held in connection with the B. C. Church, Ashburnham, on Tuesday evening last was a decided success. Before seven o'clock the people had gathered from all quarters and the place was crowded even to discomfort. The supper which consisted of fowls of different kinds, varied roasts of meat, vegetables, etc., was all that heart could wish for, but, unfortunately owing to the fact that the gathering exceeded all expectation, the necessary arrangements was not made and hence some of the friends received but very poor attention. The after meeting, however, more than counterbalanced all defects relative to the eating department. The lecture given by Rev. E. Roberts, entitled 'An Evening With Solomon,' was good, and highly appreciated by all. It was indeed racy, interesting and profitable, and the pleasure experienced by the friends generally in having the privilege of again meeting with the lecturer fully compensated them for their attendance. The remarks made by Rev's. Stobo and Jolliffe, were timely, amusing and effective. The services rendered by the choir of the B. C. Church, Peterboro', increased largely the pleasantness of the evenings entertainment. "They" it is said "excelled themselves." The proceedings throughout under the control of Mr. Fairbairn, who acted as chairman and who filled his position in the most amiable and efficient manner possible, were pleasing and satisfactory.

LAKEFIELD.

A Good Shot—Forestry—Amusements—That Pure Water—Municipal—Society Officers, &c.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

HUNTING.

Word from our boys brings the intelligence that they had 9 deer up to last Saturday. We are sure of a quarter now, and hope they won't forget the cranberries for sauce.

REPAIRS.

Our Road Master has emerged from his retreat and has been engaged doing some of the necessary repairs mentioned in a former issue; but there is still much to be done, and it behoves our Council to see that it is attended to and save trouble and annoyance to those they represent.

BAD ROADS.

The alternate showers of rain and soft snow to which we are being treated has again placed our roads in a horrible condition, so that everyone is wishing that it would freeze up. The lumbermen are the worst off, as they can do little or nothing, and find it hard work to get in their supplies.

COAL OIL.

One of our enterprising merchants, well versed in the law, brought a car load of coal oil to the village last week, and at once stowed it in his shed, but the information soon conveyed to him by indignant property holders that he was transgressing, caused him to have it removed to safer quarters. A second cartage bill will no doubt serve as a reminder in future.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

On Tuesday evening, at the regular communication of Clementi Lodge, No. 313, A. F. & A. M., the following officers were elected and will be installed on Tuesday, the 27th instant (St. John's Day): W.M., George Cochrane; S.W., F. J. Lillicrap; J.W., Dr. Bell; Chap., Sparam Sheldrake; Treas., Robt. Graham; Sec., Wm. H. Casement.

FORESTER'S ENTERTAINMENT.

The members of Court Lakefield No. 43, C.O.F., will have a reunion in their Hall on Thursday evening. It is strictly private, only members of the families of Foresters being invited, and it will no doubt be followed up by similar entertainments during the coming winter, which will serve to draw still closer the bond of fellowship that now exists between the members of the Court, which is second to none in the Province for their social and hospitables.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS L. O. L. NO. 122.

At the regular meeting of L.O.L. No. 122 held in the Orange Hall on Monday evening, the following officers were elected and installed to serve for the ensuing year:—

Richard Warsam, sen.....W.M.
W. C. Sanders.....D.M.
W. S. Northey.....Chap.
Alex. Fitzgerald.....Treasurer.
David Arnott.....Secretary.
Samuel Nelson.....D. of C.

Committee.—Messrs. J. Horner, Dr. Bell, R. Chapin, T. Simpson, Wm. Charlton.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

We hear very little about the coming municipal election. Mr. Jas. Horner has announced his determination not to stand again; he has got good lately and no doubt looks back on the past five years as wasted, and intends to keep out of temptation. Mr. Wm. Cox is spoken of to take his place. Others of the old council may not stand again; but no doubt there will be no difficulty to find plenty to take office when the day of nomination comes.

WINTER AMUSEMENTS.

The dreary days and long evenings have come in full force, but no effort has been made to provide amusement for our young people. Last winter the Foresters took it up, but their success, and the knowledge that they were making a few dollars above expenses, led to petty jealousy on the part of others, who either wanted a share or they would oppose the readings which had its effect, and this year the Foresters will not touch it; but are having private assemblies instead, confined to members and their families.

WASHINGTON TEMPLE I.O.G.T.

The members of Washington Temple are already noticing the increased interest taken in their work, by their advent into their new hall, which they hold in connection with the Foresters. The membership has not been so large for some years and every night witnesses an increase. Make your Lodge room attractive to the members and the attendance will be better, while new members will soon join to share the pleasure enjoyed by the others.

A GOOD SHOT.

One of our enterprising Grangers, residing some two miles from the village, considering that he could raise prize poultry as well as apples, has during the past year paid considerable attention to that class of biddies, known as "Plymouth Rocks." Of late, however, quite a number of the spring chicks have been disappearing in a most mysterious manner; rats, hawks, and owls, were all in turn blamed for the loss. A few evenings since, our friend before retiring, concluded to take a turn round the barns and see that all was right, while out he happened to glance up, and on top of the barn were to be seen two enormous owls. The loss of his spring chicks were in a moment accounted for. Hastening to the house he secured his gun, which was soon well charged, while a glance outside to the barn top assured him his game was still there. Also is none of the best of shots, but with the gate post for a rest and distant only some fifteen yards he could not fail, nor did he. At the report of the gun both came tumbling down, while our delighted sportsman, dropping his shooting piece turned to secure his game, but, on picking them up was horrified to find he had killed two of his best 'Plymouth Rocks.' It is almost needless to add that chicken stew for dinner next day did not tempt his appetite, for a rock rose in his throat as he thought of his desolated chicken coop, and mourned the good shot.

WATER.

Although not a Lakefield item, I cannot refrain from mentioning the amusement afforded to our inhabitants, by the articles in the Peterborough papers in connection with the water works construction, of the source of pure water destined for your citizens, especially that famous bottle of river water sent to Professor Ellis for analysis—why, not a man, woman, or child would drink the water in the river here if they could help it, having ocular and often nasal demonstrations of the amount of filth contained in it, both before and after passing through our village. Parties living within fifty yards of the river will, during the summer, carry their drinking water four or five hundred yards sooner than use it; and, to improve matters, at a late meeting of the English Church Grave Yard Trustees—who, have in their wisdom decided they can go on and bury their dead in our midst for the next fifty years—one of them proposed to drain their graveyard, and the outlet of the drain to be in the river. The drainage of the whole village now passes into the waters of the Otonabee, which taken into connection with the amount of filth, decayed vegetable matter, etc., brought down from the back lakes with the drives, will perhaps give your readers in town some idea of the sanitary condition of the water when it arrives at Hilliard's pond. Where you get your water supply is no matter to us, but you should know, the opinion of those in a position to judge, before deciding finally the source of your future supply.

PASTORAL VISIT.

The Rev. Mr. Chapman, Methodist Minister of Campbellford will occupy the pulpit of the Methodist church here on Sunday next, both morning and evening. The visit of the Rev. gentlemen is looked forward to with pleasure, as he enjoys the reputation of being a popular pastor and eloquent speaker.

REMOVED.

The spacious and handsome residence of Thos. Buck, Esq., within and on the southern limits of our Village, having been completed, the family this week have removed from their former home on the farm to the new one. It is very pleasantly situated, and is said to be one of the most substantial brick dwellings within the village.

PORK.

Hog-killing is now being industriously carried on in the village and community, and some remarkably fine specimens are falling victims in the hands of the executioners. Nearly all our merchants are dealing largely in dressed hogs, expecting a rich financial harvest in return. Prices range from $6.50 to $7.50 per hundred.

BAD SKATING.

The ice on our "Little Lakes," though fully frozen over, has proven treacherous to the few who have been skating thereon and several youngsters on Saturday last went through and received a bath neither welcome nor healthy. This will no doubt prove a warning to our skaters. A farmer's wife, in taking a short cut across the ice, also went through on Monday, but beyond a severe ducking, nothing serious occured from the unfortunate mishap.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Charles Pearson, now of Colborne and some years ago an old and much respected resident of Norwood, spent several days here last week, visiting a number of his old friends, all of whom were very glad to see him still hale and hearty Mr. Pearson will be remembered while residing here, as one of the proprietors of the stage runing between here and Colborne, on which route he gained much popularity by his courtesy and gentlemanly conduct.

MILITARY.

Lieut. R. E. Birdsall, of No. 5, Company 57th Batt., is about to be gazetted Captain of No. 4 Co'y., headquarters at Keene, a vacancy caused by the death of the late Captain Dean Mr. Birdsall's promotion is pretty rapid, more so than was the case of any officer in the 57th. He has taken a second-class Gunnery School certificate, and will make a good officer. His loss to No. 5 Company will certainly be a gain to No. 4. His many friends in this community will be glad to learn of his speedy advancement and promotion. Sergeant H. Mullins, of No. 5 Coy., will probably be gazetted Lieutenant in the place of Mr. Birdsall.

OUR INSTITUTE.

The Norwood Mechanics' Institute is now in a flourishing condition. Recently a large number of standard works of the day have been added to the library, and, at a meeting of the Directors about a week ago, the Library Committee were instructed to make another selection of such books, as, in their opinion, would suit the tastes of the reading public who regularly patronize the library. This has been done by the Committee, and therefore this week the library will be furnished with additional books to please all classes of readers. Besides the use of the library, patrons have the reading of the most popular magazines published, as well as the Graphic and other illustrated periodicals. The Directors have spared no pains to make the Institute worthy of public patronage, and, during the past year, the increased number of readers indicate that their efforts have not been unrewarded.

MASONIC.

At the Regular Communication of Norwood Lodge A. F. & A. M. No. 223, held in the Lodge Room, Norwood, on Tuesday evening, the 29th ult., the following Brethern were elected officers for the ensuing Masonic year:—W. Bro. W. E. Roxburgh, W.M.; Bro. S. J. Griffin, S.W.; Bro. Thos. Rorke, J.W.; Bro. W. M. Pattyson, Chaplain; W. Bro. W. H. Stephenson, Treasurer; Thomas Burke, Secretary; Isaac Powell, Tyler;

There was a large attendance of the members, and to show the steady progress the Lodge is making, four members received the second degree of Freemasonry at this meeting. It may be here remarked that Mr. Roxburgh has been for many years successively elected Worshipful Master of this Lodge, a fact which amply proves the esteem and confidence in which he is held by its members. The coming Festival of St. John the Evangelist is to be celebrated by this Lodge by a grand Oyster supper.

The Grand Junction Division of the Midland Railway is being put in a thorough state of repair, and work of improvement is being made all along the line.

The location survey of the "missing link" is to be commenced immediately. It will, therefore, not be long until Peterborough will be on the main line. We understand two trains a day are to run direct from Peterborough to Toronto.

The connecting link between the Nipissing and Midland roads at Woodville has been completed, and through trains to Toronto, via Woodville, will we suppose be running in a short time.

PETERBOROUGH, DEC. 8, 1881.

The Sydicate's Operations.

When the contract was made with the Syndicate to build the Canada Pacific Railway, exception was taken by the Opposition, in and out of Parliament, to the magnitude of the bonus in money and land. The best proof that the bonus was too large is the fact that another Syndicate offered at very short notice to do the work for a subsidy some nine or ten million dollars less. But this was not the worst feature of the contract. The mere loss of so much money was bad enough, but it was a trifling defect compared with the obnoxious privileges conferred on the Syndicate, and especially these two, namely: the right to a monopoly of the outward traffic from the North-west, and the right to hold lands from the burden of local taxation for 20 years. It is unnecessary just now to refer to the other points of this extraordinary bargain in detail, but it is not uninstructive to notice how rapidly the worst evils predicted by the Opposition are coming true under the operation of the franchises just referred to.

In the first place, when it was pointed out that by handing over both the Pembina and Thunder Bay branches to the Syndicate, and by preventing any other company from building a railway within 15 miles of the United States frontier, the reply of Sir John Macdonald, of Sir Charles Tupper, of other leading members and supporters of the Government in Parliament and of the Ministerial organs, was that Manitoba could break through the monopoly of outlets at any time by chartering local roads to connect at the boundary with lines within the United States. Time passed on; the contract was ratified by Parliament, and the Manitoba Legislature, taking the Government at their word, chartered a road to run south-easterly from Winnipeg and connect at the frontier with a line running north-westerly from Duluth. The Syndicate at once applied to the Government to have this charter annulled under the power of disallowance conferred on the Dominion Government. The matter is still apparently under consideration, but that the Government intend to disallow the South-Eastern charter seems clear from the fact that all the organs are clamouring for its disallowance, and that the Manitoba delegates have returned home to announce that their mission has been a failure. The disallowance of all local lines to the frontier means that no company will have the right to carry a pound of freight either into the North-west, or out of it, except the Canada Pacific Company, and that they will have, under this privilege, the power of extorting enormous sums out of the pockets of the people who take up their abode there. It is unnecessary to dwell on the evils of a railway monopoly; any one can see them at a glance.

The predictions of the Opposition are being rapidly verified also with respect to the land dealings of the Syndicate. It was pointed out that under the terms of the contract they could locate their line just where they pleased, thus creating new villages and towns for their own benefit, and destroying at one stroke the legitimate investments of hundreds who had spent years in pioneer work. It is needless to dwell here on what has taken place in this respect. Small towns have been cooly told that if they would give up half of their sites to the Syndicate by way of bonus they might get branch railways, and thousands of persons have been ruined in order that the Syndicate may make additional hauls.

But this is not the worst of the matter. They have received under the bargain each alternate square mile for 24 miles back from the railway on each side, and from the mode of arrangement of the surveys, each Syndicate section has Government sections on all four sides of it. As the result of this arrangement the Syndicate lands, when held unoccupied, will rapidly increase in value in consequence of the settlement of the Crown lands, the settlers having to build schools and make the local improvements without any assistance from the gigantic corporation, which is at the same time collecting monopoly tolls on their freight. That the Syndicate would not feel disposed to hold their lands if they were liable to local taxation, is as certain as anything can be, but the Government have carefully provided that they shall be exempt from such burdens, and they are therefore free to hold on with impunity and with the certainty of a rise in price.

It may be said that it is to the interest of the Syndicate to sell in order to get freight for their line, but a moment's consideration will show that there is nothing in this contention. The Government lands will absorb all the immigrants for some time to come, and the Syndicate will get all their traffic whether they sell their own lands or not. As a natural consequence they will not be at all anxious to sell, more especially as by means of the Government guarantee on their land bonds they can raise all the money they require for years without selling any. That they are disposed to hold on to their lands is quite evident from the nature of the deed they give of the lots they sell. The purchaser is required to fulfil extremely onerous conditions within four years, including the cropping of a much larger proportion of his lot than the settler can possibly manage to overtake, and failure to fulfil a single condition gives the right to the Company to evict the purchaser, who loses not only all his land and all his improvements, but also all the payments he may have made on his lot. The intention in imposing such outrageous conditions seems to be to deter people from purchasing Syndicate lands, and at the same time to secure for the Company the chance of making a haul in another way from those who take the risk of purchasing under such conditions.

It should be clearly understood that for doing anything their contract authorizes them to do the Syndicate are not to blame. They are quite right, as business men, in trying to secure a monopoly of traffic, and they have a right, if they please, to sell their land on terms which would disgrace Ireland. The party to blame is the Government, which in the face of warnings and explanations, persisted in making a bargain that permits such things to be done in its name.

A Public Benefactor.

Medical science, it is generally admitted, is still in its infancy, but the spirit of inquiry and research among savans everywhere, is doing much towards its rapid improvement and advancement. The healing art is one whose votaries receive a fair (?) quantity of violet abuse for their selfishness and for the mercenary spirit, it is assumed, they uniformly display. But it should not be forgotten that throughout the civilized world there are now at work among the disciples of Esculapius, scientific investigators whose chief desire it is to study the causes of disease, and whose work, if successful, will but diminish the remuneration of their brethren, while it cannot, save in glory or honor, benefit themselves. At the International Medical Congress held recently in London, the man who met the most cordial welcome, and received the greatest applause from that distinguished body, was the scientific veteran PASTEUR, whose renown is world-wide, and whose achievements in his own field of research are simply astounding. He is a man who, it is said, has done more for medical science than all the physicians, surgeons, and physiologists of his day. But his work is altogether in the domain of preventive medicine. It is not to enrich himself, but to better the condition of the world, and so to bless his fellows, that he has given his great talents and marvellous skill to the work of patient research and quiet investigation. Within the limits of a short newspaper article, it is, of course, impossible to do more than mention the results of his singular investigations. The details must be left unnoticed. But what we shall advance respecting his achievements, and what they may hereafter lead to, will, we believe, be quite sufficient to crown him as the greatest public benefactor of the present day. In 1876, Professor Tyndall said, "the first step towards the extirpation of contagia or epizootic maladies is the knowledge of their nature." In 1881, the researches of Pasteur has supplied us with this very knowledge, so that the stamping out of splenic fever and such disease is now certain. In France and other parts of Europe, horses, cattle and sheep are subject to a terrible disease sometimes called "charbon" and sometimes "splenic fever." In 3 years, 56,000 deaths occurred among sheep and cattle, and over 500 men were carried off by it in one district of Russia. Millions of francs are lost through its ravages yearly in France and the human population frequently catch the infection. Pasteur set to work to trace the sources of this plague. He found special localities haunted by it at intervals. He traced the spread of the disease to earthworms, which he found propagated the poison-germs, though the carcasses of the infected animals on which they fed, had been buried as much as ten or twelve feet. He went still further and discovered that he could actually inoculate animals with prepared virus in such a way that they had the disease, but so mildly that very shortly all regained perfect health and vigor. He found also after a series of most interesting experiments, that this "vaccination" with the mild "cultivated" virus afforded complete protection against the action of the original malady! Fifty sheep were placed at his disposal, twenty-five of which were vaccinated with the mild virus, and about fifteen days afterwards the whole fifty without distinction were inoculated with the strongest charbon virus. Within twenty-four hours the twenty-five sheep inoculated for the first time, were dead; while those protected by previous vaccination were free from even the slightest indisposition,—just as Mr. Pasteur had previously predicted.

Now, a discovery of such surpassing importance cannot occur without leading to others of equal interest and of still greater benefit to the human race. It is already well known that small-pox, measles, scarlatina, cholera, typhus, etc., are due to the presence in the blood of specific poison-germs, which, sown in the circulating fluid, produce fermentation of their own, in the course of which the poison is largely increased. For the most fatal of these human infectious diseases, Pasteur's wonderful results may accomplish in the near future what they have already done for that severe epidemic among the flocks of his own land. An appropriate vaccine may yet be found for measles, scarlet fever, diphtheria and other acute specific diseases, and already researches have been made in this direction with promising results. When we think what Jenner did for small-pox—the most dreaded and the most fatal of all we need not be surprised if this should take place. That it would be a boon to our race, no one who ponders on the following fact will deny. The mortality from measles and scarlatina in England alone, exceeds 30,000 annually—add to this the deaths from those two scourges—diphtheria and typhoid, and the total must be enormous. What must if be in the universe? All honor to those who give their lives to scientific research with a view to ameliorate the condition of mankind. In the records of human benevolence and human industry nothing can approach in interest and importance those contributions to the knowledge of disease which tend to its prevention and its cure.

Editorial Notes.

THE Ontario Farmers' Mutual Insurance Co. (Whitby) has resolved to give up the race, after fourteen years' experience.

Messrs. Eyvel & Gorman, of the Sarnia Observer, have dissolved partnership. Mr. Gorman will in future conduct the business. The Observer is an able exponent of Liberal principles, and is deserving of the large patronage that it is evidently receiving.

MR. GLADSTONE has once more to be guarded by policemen. What a commentary this will prove for future generations upon the morals of the nineteenth century, that the person of the greatest and most philanthropic statesman of the age had to be guarded for fear of felonous attempts at the hands of the very people whose happiness and welfare it was his aim to secure!

THE Agricultural and Arts Association directors last week looked the situation in the face, and decided to memorialize the Legislature to allow certain changes to be made. Under the present constitution the Association is compelled to hold a fair every year, but this it is intended to have modified, leaving it optional whether a fair is held or the grant expended in other ways. The experience of Toronto and London has shown that successful exhibitions can be held without the Government grant, and as there is no doubt the money can be spent to much better advantage, the dissolution of the Provincial Exhibition may be considered a fixed fact.

THE Liberals of West Northumberland on Saturday chose Dr. Waters of Cobourg, as a candidate in the pending election of a successor to Mr. Cockburn in the House of Commons. No better choice could have been made, and it was made with rare unanimity and enthusiasm. The position of standard-bearer was in point of fact pressed upon the nominee who sensibly accepted it, though at great personal sacrifice, when it was seen to be the general wish that he should do so. Stirring speeches were made at the convention by Dr. Waters, by Mr. Kerr, ex-M. P., by J. C. Field, M. P. P., and other gentlemen of prominence in the riding, and from the tone of these speeches it is manifest that the election of Dr. Waters would be a most emphatic condemnation of the Government.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY.

On Wednesday evening last, the anniversary of the Patron Saint of Scotland, was taken advantage of by about a dozen Scottish fellows to pay due homage to the day, as well as to the country whose hallowed associations and sacred memories it is intended to represent. This was done by a dinner at Mr. A. P. Morgan's Hotel. Whether there ever was such an individual as St. Andrew is extremely doubtful, "but it is generally believed," says an exchange, "that he was one of the apostles, and, like his brethren, met a violent death while preaching the gospel. He is supposed to have ended his days on a cross the shape of the letter X, and to allude to the cross proponded his doctrines while life lasted. His name appears in the English calendar as one of the saints, and the 30th of November has been assigned to him as his particular day. Being called the patron saint of Scotland, his name is held in reverence among Scotchmen and their descendants, and the day is generally observed in Scotland, and the world over where a few Scotchmen can assemble, by a dinner, concert, or entertainment."

Mr. Thomas Telford, President of the Society, occupied the chair.

After justice had been done to the very bountiful repast prepared by mine host Morgan, which, by the way, was deserving of far better treatment than that given by the Scotchmen of this county, the usual loyal, patriotic and other toasts were proposed and responded to, Dr. Kincaid, M. P. P., in his usual happy manner, responding to the principal toasts. About twelve o'clock, after having spent a very pleasant evening, the assembly separated.

During the evening, Mr. Wm. Telford, the local bard of the Society, read the following poem:—

THE SCOTS IN NUMBER ARE GETTIN' SMA'.

It grieves me sair, upon St. Andrew's nicht,
To come in here an' look upon sic a sicht.
Sic a concourse—fields to gether sprits,
It's just as nesin' nae few Scotchmen here.
Even those Hame Canadian born sleeps—
They were na brocht up in auld Scotia's coats;
I canna wonder at their love bein' sma'—
Perhaps auld Scotia their een never saw.
Behold a man that boasts of bein' a Scot—
He drew his first breath in a Scottish cot—
Father, fore-fathers, were a' Scotch thegether—
He drew the breast of a rale true Scotch mither—
Doon frae her knee he slipped the youthfu' tether—
Wi' his bare feet aft played amang the heather,
An' a throughe the broom that waved upon the knowes,
Or pu'ed the cowslips in the grass-a bowes;
In joy an' pleasure spent his youthfu' days
Speelin' the steep scars—jumpin' fra the brace—
Wadens the burn, the minna or troot to seise,
His home-made breeks rosed up aboon his knees;
His childhood years passed wi' light, joyous mirth—
Auld Scotia seemed the dearest place on earth;
Aft in the gloamin', under the green shade,
He poured his love out to some Scottish maid.

Had he but stayed in Scotia's glen or hill
He might hae been a rale guid Scotchman still;
His love for country, like auld Scotia's mist,
Vanished that day when he tied up his kist.
That is but ane—guid faith there's hundreds mair
That's ill-deservin o' the name they bear.
Love for their birthland faded in their mind—
When they left hame they left that behind.
For in their heart love left one lingerin' ray,
Remain' the saut sea washed it clean away—
The only relic of that dear auld hame
That they possess—is only but the name.

Charge them wi' that, their face wi' rage gets blue,
They boast they are as guid a Scot as you.
Their words an' actions canna baith be richt,
Or they wad join their brither Scots this nicht.
Some cass the Scotch a selfish, clannish race;
That is na true—I'll prove it to your face:
But few are here, on this the Scotchman's nicht—
If Scots be clannish they keep out o' sight.
Let love of country in your bosom swell,
Where'er you hail from, or where'er you dwell.
Man voit o' that, I care not wha he be,
If heart he has, its smaller than a pea.

Here is a few wha's love is mair sincere,
Still thinks o' hame, an' loves auld Scotia dear;
While lookin' round me, I cou'd beat a groat
Here sits some chips o' the true starlin' Scot.
This nicht stirs up scenes lang past—not forgot;
Their fancy wafts them to the auld thatched cot—
There they were born—the place where they first grat
Wi' sisters, brithers, round the ingle sat;
Their Scotch up-bringin' frae this nicht
Canna back;
How they did jump whene'er their father spake—
How fleet kind mither mended a' their claise—
Aft' kissed an' clapped them when they brake their teas.
Is there a Scot whose heart remains unmoved,
That left in Scotia all the friends he loved?
If they still live, them on your memory keep—
If dead—love Scotia, where their ashes sleep.

St. Andrew's nicht, true as the magnet prove,
To bind Scots closer in the bonds of love;
Here they can spend a social hour or twa.
An' talk o' hame an' freends that's far awa'.

Your guid Society serves anither end;
To needy forms gies kind a helpin' hand;
Tho' it be sma' 'tis better that than nane—
A crust o' bread is sweeter than a stane.

True brither Scots, all ranks I give to you;
Though but a hanfu', sma'll like Scotchmen true;
Tho' some may scoff, let them not you divide—
Hold your Society and yulr country's pride.

May your Society prosper—and remain
A Scotch institution—when you're dead and gone.
Be loyal Canadians; but, whate'er befa'.
Still love old Scotia while a breath you draw.

THE LATE PLOUGHING MATCH.

A special meeting of the township council, called to consider the late ploughing match, on the farm of Mr. Tate, 1st Smith, was held in the room adjoining the council chamber on Wednesday afternoon of last week. There were present Mr. Jas. Campbell, chairman, Mr. J. Carnegie, secretary, and Messrs. John Garbutt, W. Rutherford, W. Breakenridge and H. Collins.

The secretary stated that the expenses and prizes awarded amounted to one hundred and eighty-two dollars, of that amount eleven dollars and fifty cents was expended in printing and paying the expenses of the Judges.

The chairman said that the principal object in calling this meeting was to consider an objection that had been laid with him, with reference to the boy who had taken the first prize at the late ploughing match, it being stated that the winner was over 18 years of age.

Mr. Kidd—"Is there any official protest in writing?"

Mr. Carnegie—There is no official protest other than the communication that appeared in the Review from Mr. Scott.

Mr. Kidd—I am here to defend the actions of my son and I am prepared to prove that there were several of the rules and regulations which governed that match violated. First had ploughed at the Union Match on Mr. Stewart's farm who were over the age of 22 years, yet the secretary, who he believed was aware of the fact took no notice of it. I think Mr. Carnegie thinks more about the vote than he does about the prize. I do not deny that I never did, that my son was over 18 years of age, he was not 21; and I most decidedly object to his being made an example of unless the whole matter is gone into and those who violated the rules dealt with in a similar manner. It seems to me that Mr. Carnegie is Judge, Jury, and all himself, and he never asked the boy his age but he thinks that he will carry out his ill feeling towards me. I have a protest in my pocket from my boy and unless the committee decide to investigate the whole matter I will not lay it before you. It is something unusual to call a committee together to discuss something, that the man, whose name is mentioned in connection with it, dare not put it in writing; and as there is no written protest entered I cannot see what the committee have to take action on. I have not done anything in my whole public career that I am ashamed of, and I am not going to back out of anything that I should be held accountable for.

Mr. Collins—The committee have nothing to do with what occurred at other ploughing matches and if the rules have been broken,—they should all be dealt with in a similar manner. I was a very active member of the committee and I saw none of the rules being broken. I could not say whether the boy was entitled to the prize or not until Mr. Kidd had admitted that the boy was over 18 years of age. I am very sorry that this has occurred and I hope that in future greater precautions will be taken to see that the matches are conducted properly.

Mr. Garbutt—I was not aware that Mr. Kidd's boy was over age, though I was asked after the match if I knew that he was.

Mr. Breakenridge—I had no conversation with any person about this matter until I saw it in print. I am not prepared to deal with any rumours until an official protest is entered.

Mr. Kidd—It is an unusual way of doing business to sit on a verbal protest.

Mr. Breakenridge—Still, if there is any injustice done to any one it should receive the attention of the committee

Mr. Rutherford—It appears from all that I can learn that the rules have been violated by others. I was unable to be at the match. If a general investigation was to take place there would be no end to it. The best thing that can be done is to let by-gones be by-gones and in future take greater pains to see that the rules are carried out properly.

Mr. Collins—I think so.

After some discussion Mr. Collins moved, seconded by Mr. Rutherford,—That the committee regret that an irregularity has occurred in the recent ploughing match, as appears by the verbal protest laid before us, and we would recommend that in future greater precaution be taken to prevent such an occurrence as is said to have taken place and that this committee take no further action in the matter.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Breakenridge a vote of thanks was passed to the chairman and secretary for the manner in which they discharged their duties.

The meeting then dispersed.

ALNWICK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Lively action is now being taken in preparation for the election of a representative to the Commons, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Hon. Jas. Cockburn.

The lake was frozen over the last week in November, but the mild weather commencing the present month has made it totally unfit for travelling on.

Mr. F. Whyte, of Whyte's Mills, has just returned from the back woods, wherein company with Smoke, an Indian, he captured eight fine deer.

A few of the farmers have lately taken advantage of the fine open weather to further prepare the soil for next season's produce.

The sale of farm stock and implements of Mr. J. A. Shearwin, of Gore's Landing, was well attended and the articles which were good, were nearly all sold for full value.

Our esteemed blacksmith, Mr. H. Wood, has fully recovered from his little misfortune of last July, and has been busily engaged fitting up his handsome residence, anticipating the usual approach of cold.

ENNISMORE.

(From our own Correspondent.)

WEATHER NOTES.—November now drawn to a close has reminded us some what of winter, snow having fallen on eight days to the depth of 4½ inches; rain fell on 10 days aggregating to the depth of 3½ inches; making a total depth of water of 3½ inches. The average temperature of the month at sunrise and sunset being 34°.9; the highest the thermometer reached was on the evening of the 1st, namely, 55°, and the lowest on the morning of the 28th, dropping to 3° below zero. The weather keeping fair will no doubt be a great boon to the farmers who are still behind with their fall work.

A Yankee merchant has said, "The man who doesn't advertise hasn't sold his goods twice to the same person; he sells so little that he has to charge like thunder to be able to live." Without advertising, no tradesman can hope to reach the ear of the great mass of the public, and this almost universal use of it is conclusive proof of its efficacy, more powerful than the fall river of all shrewd business men.

THE ONTARIO BANK.

A COMMERCIAL REVIEW.

The Ontario Bank shareholders' meeting resumed at one o'clock on Friday, the attendance being smaller than on the preceding day.

The position of the affairs stood thus:—Mr. Glass' motion to the effect that no notice of the intention to apply for a reduction of the capital be given to Parliament until the board of Directors shall have been reformed had been carried the previous evening, and an adjournment made till Friday for the purpose of considering the following motion of Dr. Clarke's:—"That the proposed resignation of the Directors is a sufficient reforming of the Board as required by the motion passed (that of Mr. Glass'), and therefore this meeting request them to give the necessary notice of an application to Parliament for a reduction of the capital stock of this bank."

On calling the meeting to order the Chairman said the motion made Thursday night by Dr. Clarke and seconded by Sheriff Patrick was open to debate.

Mr. David Gibbs opposed Dr. Clarke's motion to consider the proposed resignation of the Directors six weeks hence a sufficient reforming of the Board in the sense of the resolution passed the previous day, and strongly advocated the passing of a by-law by the meeting reorganizing the Board at once. He submitted an opinion from Mr. S. H. Blake, stating that of the two courses, calling a meeting six weeks hence to receive the resignation of the Directors or passing such a by-law as suggested, the latter was less objectionable, though he refrained from pronouncing it legal.

A long and warm discussion ensued, in which each side construed Mr. Blake's opinion to uphold their particular view.

Mr. Glass at length said he was about to move a resolution to which he consented with very great reluctance. He was acting contrary to legal advice in one way, but he had concluded if it was not acceded to everything would be chaos.

He moved "That the Directors of the Ontario Bank be requested at the earliest moment to place in the Canada Gazette and other papers, as required by law, a notice calling a special general meeting of the shareholders of the Ontario Bank to receive the resignations of the whole Board of Directors and to make by-laws relating to the appointment of Scrutineers and the mode of filling vacancies on the Board of Directors, and for the transaction and consideration of all matters which might be considered pertaining to an annual general meeting of the stockholders. And further, that the Board of Directors do forthwith give proper notice of application to Parliament for a reduction of the capital stock of the Bank, without naming the particular amount of such reduction."

Dr. Clarke stated he never had greater pleasure than seconding such a motion. He withdrew his former resolution, and now believed the whole future was good, and their stock would be worth one hundred per cent in three years.

Carried unanimously.

The meeting then adjourned to the 15th of January.

THE DECEASED WIFE'S SISTER'S BILL.

This bill will of course be again brought before Parliament at its next session, and there are prospects of its passing both Houses. A branch of the Marriage Law Reform Association has been established in Montreal, and amongst its members are found a large number of the leading citizens of that place. The society was really founded in London, England, on the 15th January, 1801, "for the exclusive object of promoting the passing of an act to render lawful marriage with a deceased wife's sister," and it has been doing a good work ever since. Yearly its influence has spread and its membership increased, especially amongst the nobility and gentry in the old country. Among its active members are Lord Houghton, the Duke of St. Albans, Lord Lawrence, Lord Walsingham, Marquis of Stafford, Speaker Brand, Sir Thos. Brassey, Francis W. Buxton, Sir David Weddebburn, Samuel Morley, M. P. and very many others. In Canada the hon. committee of the Montreal branch is composed of Sir Francis Hincks, Rev. A. de Solar, L.L. D., McGill University; Rev. Gavan Lang, St. Andrew's Church; A. W. Ogalvie, and Rev. J. F. Stephenson, Congregational, with Robt. D. McGibbon, B. A., B. C. L., as hon. secretary. From the publications of the society we learn that such marriages was legalized in Ceylon in 1847; in South Australia in 1871; in Victoria in 1873; in Tasmania in 1873; in New South Wales in 1875; in Queensland in 1875; in Western Australia in 1878. The Legislature of Natal passed a bill with the same object in 1878, and again in 1879 by a majority of two to one. In New Zealand a similar bill was passed in August last year, and the majority by which it was gained was very large and influential. Thus far, Canada and the Cape are the only two colonies which have publicly discussed the question, and failed to accept it. Canada, however, carried the measure in the Commons last year by a majority of 160 to 19 on the second reading, but it was rejected in the Senate by a narrow vote; the figures being 31 to 30. The reason for this action was found in the admission made at the time. Some Senators who voted against the bill, admitted that they were not opposed to its principles; but they craved delay to allow the opponents of the scheme greater liberty of expression of opinion on its tenets. Next session the bill will certainly pass and the recent judicial decision in a New Brunswick Court of Justice will hasten its acceptance by Parliament by a large majority.

NORWOOD.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. R. Phillips, while engaged in "roughing" hubs in Finlay & Co's Hub Factory, the other day, was struck on the head with a portion of the hub, which cut his face badly and knocked him several feet from the lathe. He was immediately conveyed home, and is, we are happy to be able to state, rapidly recovering.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.—Mr. Kenneth Kemp, while planing lumber in the Hub Factory, one day last week, narrowly escaped having his hand taken off. It appears that while shoving a board through the planer he allowed his hand to go further than he should have, and the consequence was that he had a slice taken off his thumb and three of his fingers before he could withdraw it. He immediately bandaged the injured members and pluckily resumed work.

PUBLIC SCHOOL.—The following is the result of the examinations held in the public school during the past week:—Grammar (Senior Fourth)—Jennie Mahaney 78, Josie Reynolds 60, May Eaton 58, Matthew Elliott 55, Vida Butterfield 54; (Junior Fourth)—Fred Stephenson 84, Minnie Patterson 76, Hattie Pattyson 74, Mary Kirkpatrick 21, Lambert Vincent 15.—Register.

CIRCULAR!

While it is pleasing to the Business Man to know that his efforts to satisfy the public are being appreciated, it can be no less satisfactory to the citizens of any locality to know that among their merchants are those whose goods have not only a local fame but are sought for by those in other parts. The advantage of this is two-fold. Not only does it direct trade from a distance and build up the reputation of the place, but it has the advantage of assisting the artisan and workman in thus bringing both labor and money among them which otherwise would be spent elsewhere.

Peterborough, we are proud to say, has many such business men in her midst, some of them old established houses and others of comparatively younger years. In the latter may be classed Mr. Johnston Carey, a gentleman who but a little over seven months ago cast his fortune among the residents of Peterborough, succeeding Mr. W. J. Lemoer in the manufacture of Boots and Shoes. That he is establishing a reputation for satisfactory fulfilment of orders may be judged from the following letter, one among the many which he is constantly receiving. It speaks for itself and needs no explanation:—

LINDSAY, Oct. 13, 1881.

MR. J. CAREY, Peterboro',

DEAR SIR.—I send you a pair of shoes for repairs. Will you kindly re-sole and heel them with the best of material? Sew the half-soles. I am very much pleased with the lace boots and feel like ordering another pair like them, but I can hardly afford it. Please put these boots in hand at once, as I may call for them to-morrow evening. Make a good job of them for sure and leave bill ready. What was cost of lace boots?

TESTIMONIALS.

TORONTO, 19th February, 1879.

HOLMAN PAD CO.:

GENTLEMEN.—I have much pleasure in testifying to the extreme efficacy of your remedy for dyspepsia. My mother, Mrs. W. A. Murray, No. 146 Wellington Street, had been a martyr to the sufferings induced by this malady for upwards of six years, obtaining but short temporary relief from the usual remedies so often had recourse to in these cases. After considerable persuasion she consented to wear one of your Liver Pads, and notwithstanding her want of faith in it, she experienced considerable relief in the course of a few weeks. Since then she has used a second one, and now CLAIMS for your Pads the ENTIRE CREDIT of having brought a cure beyond expectation, for which not only does she feel deeply indebted to you, but I myself must congratulate and thank you for a cure I could but at the most have hoped for.

Yours most respectfully,
C. S. MURRAY, M.D., L.R.C.P., &c

GANANOQUE, Ont., Nov. 6, 1877.

HOLMAN PAD CO.:

DEAR SIRS.—After wearing the Pad for two weeks I feel like another man. It is now four weeks since I put it on, and I am now enjoying good health. I shall with pleasure recommend Holman's Pad to all parties suffering from Liver complaints, etc.

Yours respectfully,
REV. WM. J. JOLIFFE,
M. Minister.

Has been in constant use by the public for over twenty years, and is the best preparation ever invented for RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS YOUTHFUL COLOR AND LIFE.

It supplies the natural food and color to the hair glands without staining the skin. It will increase and thicken the growth of the hair, prevent its blanching and falling off, and thus AVERT BALDNESS.

It cures Itching, Eruptions and Dandruff. As a HAIR DRESSING it is very desirable, giving the hair a silken softness which all admire. It keeps the head clean, sweet and healthy.

The State Assayer and Chemist of Mass. and leading Physicians endorse and recommend it as a great triumph in medicine.

WEATHER PREDICTION.—Moses Oates is out with a programme of the weather for December, and it is as follows: The cold period of the last week or ten days of November will continue during at least the first half of December, and will include two cold snaps—the first near the 3rd of the month and the second near the 14th. Navigation, however, will not entirely close, and this season past it will probably continue comparatively open during the winter. I shall not be surprised to see ploughing between Christmas and New Year, and even flowers growing in the open air. The transition from the comparative cold but variable first part of December will be gradual.

THE MISSING LINK.—Mr. Cox, President of the Midland Railway, is reported by the Belleville Intelligencer to have said, while addressing a Committee of the Belleville Council, that "the contract for the line from Peterborough to Omemee was already given out, which addition to the road, when completed, would build up a large business on the G. J. line.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The regular monthly meeting of the School Board was held on Tuesday evening last.

Present—Jas. Stevenson, Esq., chairman, and Messrs. Poussette, Dumble, Denne, McClelland, Rutherford, Stratton, Sawers, Robinson, Cox, Best and Toole.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

ENQUIRIES.

Mr. Denne asked if there was not a question of legality raised at the last meeting in reference to the report as to increase of salaries.

The chairman and other members had no recollection of any question being raised, but that it had been spoken of after the meeting was over.

Mr. Sawers asked what was being paid for an assistant teacher for Mr. Braden.

Mr. Braden stated that during this term an assistant had been employed three days at $1.25 a day.

ACCOUNTS.

Mr. Cole Barret, Janitor of the West Ward School, handed in an account of $1.50 for moving seats.

An account for fees of Auburn pupils at Douro School amounting to $13.25 was handed in. Both accounts were ordered to be paid when certified to.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Mr. Sawers gave notice of motion that at the next meeting of the board he would move for a re-adjustment of the salaries.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From the educational department, stating that an apportionment of High School grant amounting to $127.00, was placed to the credit of the board.

ATTENDANCE AT SCHOOLS.

The following reports of attendance at the institute and public schools were handed in:—

	On Roll.	Average.
Institute, for Oct.	168	99 2/10
Institute, for Nov.	165	160
Central School	562	462
E. Ward School	230	200
W. Ward School	178	142

COMMITTEE ON APPOINTMENTS.

Mr. Dumble, chairman of the committee on appointments, read the following report:—

The Committee on Appointments beg to report that they have considered the question of High School Teachers' salaries, by the Board referred to them, and they recommend that the salaries be as follows: Mr. Dixon, $1,100; Mr. Campbell, $1,000; Mr. Earl, $900; Mr. James, $800; Mr. McKee, $700.

Your Committee recommend that the above salaries be payable from and after the first of January next.

Mr. Rutherford asked why some of the teachers had their salaries raised and others had not. Mr. Campbell who was one of the most efficient teachers in the school was certainly as well entitled to an increase as others.
